SHOT BY FRIEND

Mark Tilton, 31 years old, a switch tender in the employ of the New York Central Railroad Company at the East Syracuse yards, was shot and possibly fatally injured by Edward G. H. Buchanan, of No. 1312 East Fayette street, also a switch tender, in the yard at 11:30 o'clock Monday.

One hour after the shooting Buchanan walked into the Police Station and gave himself up to Lieutenant of Police Charles Reasonberry. So far as is known the only motive for the act was the supposed theft of a leather cushion from the switch shanty of Tilton by Buchanan.

Both men worked on what is known to railroad men as the "ladder" in the westbound freight yards. Each "ladder" is in charge of three switch tenders, one at each end and one in the center, and each occupying a shanty. Buchanan's shanty is located at the "foot" of the "ladder," while Tilton's is in the center. The latter was one of the shanties supplied with leather cushions, which, it is said, are much coveted by the switchmen.

Tilton and another switchman, Ray Crandall, returned to the former's shanty about 11 o'clock, according to the latter. The cushion was missing. A brakeman in a caboose, on a siding nearby, informed them that Buchanan had taken it, and the two went immediately to the "foot" shanty. The door was open and Crandall, looking in, said: "We want our cushion."

At this point, according to the story given by Crandall to the police, Tilton pushed through the door and made a grab for the cushion.

"Get out of here," Buchanan is said to have shouted, and immediately pulled a revolver from his pocket and fired at Tilton.

In the close quarters of the shanty there was only small chance of a miss. Tilton, with a groan, fell to the floor. Grabbing his companion about the shoulders, Crandall dragged him from the shanty and, supporting him as best he could, he managed to walk the injured man some distance down the tracks in the direction of the yard office. At the Butternut creek bridge Tilton was unable to proceed further. Crandall laid him beside the track and ran to the "midway" yard office, where he notified the officials.

As soon as possible an engine was dispatched to the Butternut creek bridge, Tilton was placed in the cab, and he was rushed to Syracuse. At the James street crossing an ambulance from St. Joseph's Hospital met the engine and took the injured man to that institution.

With the appearance of Crandall at the "midway" yard office, Night General Yardmaster Lawson, Smith, notified the operator at the switchboard of the Independent Telephone Company, who by pushing a button, sounded one stroke on the fire bell.

This was the signal to the police of East Syracuse that they are wanted.

At this time Officers Brainard and Fritz were eating lunch at the Elk Hotel and hearing the warning bell, called the operator who told them of the shooting in the yards. With Deputy Sheriff Garrett W. Smith, the officers went to the yards, but instead of finding Buchanan sitting in his shanty, as he had been immediately after the shooting he could not be found.

Yardmaster Smith at once notified the Syracuse police and detectives were detailed to search the eastern section of the city, as it was believed that Buchanan had taken that direction.

At 12:30 o'clock this morning Buchanan walked into Police Headquarters. He approached Lieutenant Fessenden, who asked him what he wanted.

"I don't want anything," answered Buchanan, "but I guess you want me."

He then told Lieutenant Fessenden he was the man wanted for the East Syracuse shooting. He said that after it had occurred he walked towards the city as far as the Greenway Hotel and came the rest of the way in a street car. Officerman Paul Hosler placed him under arrest and he was locked up, pending the action of the East Syracuse officials.

Buchanan stated that he lived at No. 1312 East Fayette street. In his pocket was found a 32-caliber revolver, which he turned over to the Lieutenant. One chamber contained an empty shell.

Tilton, who is about 22 years old, lives in Fulton, but is boarding at the residence of Miss Julia Kanaley, No. 218 West Elm street, East Syracuse. Buchanan is about the same age and the two men are said to have been good friends.

At St. Joseph's Hospital surgeons said the bullet had passed through the abdomen and lodged in the deep muscles of the back. It was not removed. The man's condition was said to be serious and the surgeons were unable to state whether or not he would recover. Post Standard Monday.

LEE MEMORIAL HOSPITAL DEDICATED

Magnificent and Thoroughly Equipped Building, Fitting Memorial to the Memory of a Brave and Patriotic Citizen—Eloquent Addresses—Impressive Ceremonies.

Mrs. Victorine Lee, accompanied by the Hon. and Mrs. T. D. Lewis and Miss Sara Lewis, reached Fulton from New York City on Monday and the dedication of the Albert Lindley Lee Memorial Hospital took place this Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. It was Mrs. Lee's purpose to have had the hospital ready for occupancy in the early fall, and she returned from the Continent in October for the purpose of presenting her gift to the city. However, before the hospital was completed, the rigid winter weather set in, then Mrs. Lee was stricken with a severe illness, necessarily postponing the formal opening until today. Now everything is in perfect readiness and the hope to the sufferers in our community stands a perfect and enduring monument to the memory of General Lee, and to his widow's generosity. Nothing has been overlooked; nothing forgotten, to make it one of the most, if not the most perfectly arranged hospitals in this section of the State.

The dedication ceremonies were public, no one being disallowed, no invitations were issued, and the exercises were attended by a large number, several former residents of Fulton and long ago friends of General Lee being among the number. Three of General Lee's college friends were to have been present at the dedication, but they were unable to be present.

As many chairs as could be were placed in the men's ward—and this was where the simple yet impressive, dedication services were held. Mrs. Lee personally presented the deeds of the lot and the building to the city. Mayor Cothens accepting for the city. Mrs. Lee made a few fitting remarks in presentation, and she expressed the deepest gratitude to the Hon. T. D. Lewis and Mr. H. L. Paddeek for their assistance to her in bringing to completion her gift to the city. In fact, Mrs. Lee emphatically stated that, but for the Fulton would not have a hospital, as she was not able to attend to the details, and they had been tireless in their efforts and assistance.

Following is the program and the order in which it was carried out:

Program
"Remember Now Thy Creator"—Male Quartette. Messrs. N. H. Gilbert, Charles M. Allen, H. A. MacFarland and Albert L. Kraus.
Prayer. Rev. W. L. Sawtelle.
Presentation of Deed. Mrs. Victorine Lee.
Acceptance. Mayor Joseph H. Cothens.
Ladies' Auxiliary. Address by Mrs. Charles Olmsted.
Daniel F. Kellogg, Esq., New York. An Address of Appreciation. Hon. N. N. Stranahan.
Male Quartette—Song. Selected.

Mayor Cothens' Acceptance
Mrs. Lee: As Mayor of this city, and representing the people in an official way, and in their name, I gratefully accept from you, this beautiful building which you have had erected as a memorial to your late husband, General Albert Lindley Lee, of honored memory, and which you here present to the people of this city for a hospital, and on the condition that it will be used for hospital purposes only, and be forever known as the Albert Lindley Lee Memorial Hospital. In the name of the people I thank you for the generous gift, and assure you that we will always gladly comply with your request, and that you will always hold a place in the affections of the people of this city.

Woman's Auxiliary
Mrs. Charles Olmsted spoke as follows:
Within the last year and a half the name of Mrs. Victorine Lee has been much in our thoughts, and many times on our lips, when as members of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Hospital Association we have planned and worked for this beautiful new building made possible by person. To me he was always the father and something more, the most delightful of comrades and the faithful of friends. For years he shared with me, as much as he, an older person, could, the joys and griefs that come to men. His was the voice of good cheer in the darkness; the happy shout when victories were won; the sound and sure counsel always. How deep were his sympathies, how keen his capabilities, how profound his reasoning, how clear his views upon matters of personal and business policy and how delicately and beautifully were they expressed! At these and all other times he was the incarnate presentation of old time dreams of many, courage, of civility and of fidelity to duty; and none the less was their influence exerted because of a commanding distinction of bodily presence that uplifted and inspired. When he died a sun went down. And it is not easy for me nor could it be for anyone to break upon these deep and sacred memories with the harshness of speech.

General Lee was born, as you know, the eldest child of Dr. M. Lindley and Anne Case Lee, his father coming here from Orange County as a young doctor in the early days, and his mother, a sister of George, Samuel Henry, Charles, Cornelia, Memory and other children of Jonathan Case and Betsy Ferguson. He passed his boyhood here and his young manhood. He entered Union College when only fifteen years old and graduated there at the head of his class four years later, as his father did before him. The president of Union at that time was a warm personal friend of Dr. Lee—that famous and many-sided man, Eliphalet Nott—inventor, philosopher, shrewd business man and learned scholar—whom very many critics have declared to be the ablest and greatest of American college presidents. To his work in inspiring and stimulating the young men under him General Lee always bore ready witness, and he attributed much of his own position in later life to Dr. Nott's influence. After he left college he studied law at the Albany Law School and then practiced his profession for two years in Fulton. In all this early period General Lee displayed in a striking way the same noble traits that were so prominent in after life. He was always half a boy, full of joke and fun and chaff, fond of reading and inquiry and the discussion of social and public questions, warm hearted, high spirited, with a strong sense of justice, and a quick temper of which seldom in his earlier and never in his more mature years did he lose an absolute control. It was one quality of General Lee which throughout his life impressed people more than any other and gave to him that remarkable dominance which he invariably exercised over the men and women with whom he came in contact; it was the influence of repressed force, a conviction on the part of those he met that here was a man who despite his engaging and amiable qualities—more engaging than those of any other man I have ever known—could never be trifled with. He was a volcano full of sleeping fire, but upon whose and never could become either the social or the mental equal of the white man. Partly from a natural desire to begin life in a new country where opportunities would be greater and partly from eagerness to bear a personal share in the lively scenes in which anti-slavery and pro-slavery men were then actors on the western plains, he went to Kansas. He thrust into the arduous of the contest there, with all his energy, speaking at meetings, heading companies of armed men and everywhere asserting his qualities of leadership; and such was the impression made by him that he was quickly elected a Justice of the Circuit Court of the State. These Kansas years were in some respects the most interesting he ever knew. He was young, active and vigorous, and there was going on a great and stirring drama, all of which he saw and part of which he acted. In his court room then, at every form and ceremony of law was observed with as much precision as in the East and perhaps even more so, judge, jury and law were not infrequently with weapons, openly exhibited; and on one occasion when a verdict of guilty had been given in a capital case the death sentence was executed, owing to the exigencies of the times, within an hour after it had been pronounced. In a crowded street, at night, by the light of torches, men gathered to discuss the one absorbing topic of the day. Now upon a grassy knoll upon a corner, rising like a giant figure of John O'Sullivan Brown he who was hanged at Charleston fifty years ago—dressed in gray homespun, flannel shirt, an old felt hat and yarn stockings, and with his quaint dress and terrible earnestness and Old Testament speech seeming like a prophet of Israel. And then after he speaks his hearers separate, all of them unconsciously offering to what they had heard the old Greek tribute to the highest stretch of oratorical power. No one of them said "How well he speaks," but all of them said, "Let us free the slave."

It is not possible in this discourse, which must of necessity be brief, to review in detail General Lee's military career. With it I assume everyone here is already more or less familiar. He went out at the outbreak of the war as a major of a Kansas regiment of cavalry, which became widely known to fame as the Jayhawkers. The regiment represented, probably, as large a single collection as there was of men of this own peculiar kind in the West. They were rough and violent in the typical border warfare sort, but most of them, nevertheless, of an early religious training and fanatically devoted to Abolitionist principles. They were a kind of a cross between Cromwell's Ironsides and Morgan's Riflemen of our own Revolution. They would sit on their horses just before a battle, when overwhelming numbers confronted them and they knew that many of them were about to die, and sing stoutly, "When I Can Read My Title Clear to Mansions in the Skies." It was the old story that has been told a thousand times before in the world's history of Christian before Apollon—the small company standing against enormous odds and looking death in the face but upborne by the consciousness of a just cause and so conquering or going down to immortal fame.

Jennison, the original Colonel of the regiment, was a man who could not brook the restraints imposed upon him by his military superiors. He soon resigned and Major Lee took his place. When, in November, 1862, Colonel Lee's commission as Brigadier General was signed by President Lincoln, it was upon the joint recommendation of General Grant, General Rosecrans and General Alexander Hamilton, and the last-named, Colonel Lee's immediate chief, wrote regarding the matter to General Halleck, commanding the army:

"The pre-eminent services of Colonel Lee in the last few weeks have proved him the most daring, discreet and successful cavalry officer in this army. He has had the advance in pursuit of Pemberton's forces, has hung upon their rear, and with his own command has captured over 700 prisoners. This has not been accomplished by any piece of good luck, but by a skillful use of his force and a daring which has no equal in any cavalry operations in this department during the war. In thus pressing him for promotion, I speak but the unanimous voice of this whole army, from highest to lowest."

It was the delight of General Lee's men, as it was his own to make long and hazardous raids into the enemy's country, and it was for the conduct of such expeditions that he was chiefly noted. For one of the most conspicuous of these in the history of the war credit to him was due; but fate cruelly denied him its fame. He conceived the idea of taking a body of 2,000 picked horsemen, carrying with them a scant supply of provisions, and breaking through the shell of the rebel lines, going far into the South, tearing up railroad lines, breaking telegraph wires and destroying all the property they could and retreating before sufficient force could gather to stop them. He communicated his plan to the commander of his division, General McClelland, who sent him down the Mississippi on a steamboat to discuss it with the head of the department, General Grant, and his chief of staff, Rawlins—a man whom General Lee always declared was to a very considerable extent the real Grant—were impressed with the scheme and told Lee to go back and make preparations to carry it out. On his way to the steamboat from department headquarters, General McClelland, who sent him down the Mississippi on a steamboat to discuss it with the head of the department, General Grant, and his chief of staff, Rawlins—a man whom General Lee always declared was to a very considerable extent the real Grant—were impressed with the scheme and told Lee to go back and make preparations to carry it out. ## WOULD CONSERVE RESOURCES

Details of Important Subject Brought Up in Majority Leader's Proposed Constitutional Amendment—Agitation Regarding Corrupt Practices at Elections Brought to the Fore Again.
Reports of Split in Temperance Ranks Disclosed.

(Special Correspondence.)
Albany, April 13.—Considerable interest is shown throughout the state in the Merritt bill providing for water storage by means of reservoirs constructed on lands within the state for out lands which now are barred by the protective forest preservation section of the state constitution.
The bill was reported favorably by the judiciary committee last week, and its provisions if enacted into law would, it is generally believed here, materially contribute to the development of the state's vast natural resources. For years the need of legislation along the lines of the Merritt bill has been recognized by the lawmakers here familiar with the conditions in the vast territory affected in the state.

The Merritt bill was amended in the judiciary committee for the purpose of narrowing its scope in several minor respects.
Legislators Favor Merritt's Plan.
The importance of the project is so great that the discussions which will occur on it before it reaches the governor will attract more than ordinary attention. The clearest thinkers among the members of the senate and the assembly qualified to judge of the merits of the proposition agree that Mr. Merritt has in his measure solved in a masterful manner the difficult problems involved.

Assemblyman Linden Bates, Jr., of New York city, a thoroughly capable engineer and an authority on water power and water conservation, is one of the experts who have examined the Merritt plan and approved it. Mr.
Bates states that the bill, in his opinion, was better in its original form than it now is, after the judiciary committee amended it. He suggests that it be restored to its original form.

Almost coincident with the introduction of the Fowler and Cobb resolutions for the amendment of section 7 of article 7 so as to permit the use of the state's forest lands for what is considered the greater benefit of water power development through water storage came the report from the assembly judiciary committee of Majority Leader Merritt's resolution for the amendment of that section.
Not the whole of Mr. Merritt's resolution was reported, for on introduction and up to last Thursday morning it was an omnibus proposition, calling not only for water storage reservoirs within the forest preserve or on state lands, but also for permission to build roads, cut burned and fallen trees and to lease camp sites.

The water storage provision of the Merritt resolution with an added provision relating to procedure was reported favorably. Section 7 of article 7 of the constitution as it would read with the proposed Merritt amendment is as follows:

How the Merritt Amendment Affects Constitution.

"The lands of the state, now owned or hereafter acquired, constituting the forest preserve, as now fixed by law, shall be forever kept as wild forest lands. They shall not be leased, sold or exchanged or be taken by any corporation, public or private, nor shall the timber thereon be sold, removed or destroyed."

"But the legislature may provide by general laws for the use of such lands for storage reservoirs when necessary for municipal water supply or to regulate the flow of streams, provided that the quantity of such land so used shall never exceed 3 per centum of the total area of the forest preserve."

"Such lands shall not be used for water storage under any general law until after the appellate division of the supreme court of the department in which the lands affected are located shall in proceedings, the form of which shall be prescribed by the court, have adjudged such use necessary for the public welfare."

"The people, and with the consent of the court private persons, may come in as parties to such proceedings, and the court may in granting its consent to any such use impose such conditions as the public interest may require."

"In creating or using such storage reservoirs or appurtenances no insanitary conditions shall be created or continued, and no such land shall be used for manufacturing or power plant or for any other purpose except as specifically authorized in this section unless such plant is to be situated outside the Adirondack and Catskill parks and is to be owned and controlled by the state."

"A violation of this section may be restrained at the suit of the people or with the consent of the supreme court on notice to the attorney general at the suit of any citizen of this state."

These members of the judiciary committee who acquiesced in the report of the bill were J. S. Phillips of Allentown, Walters of Oneida, Ward of

New York, Howard of Troy, O. W.
Phillips of Monroe, Sullivan of Chau-tauque, Greenwood of Wayne, F. L.
Young of Westchester, Homan of Albany (Rep.) and Chittler of Dutchess (Dem.).

A Distinction.
The distinctive difference between the Merritt and the Fowler water storage amendment resolutions is said to be the state control feature of Merritt's and the practical state ownership feature of the Fowler resolution.

The judiciary committee presented a statement with the report of the Merritt resolution which Chairman J.
S. Phillips sent to the desk to be read.
The statement was an explanation of the cutting in half of the original Merritt amendment proposition whereby the timber cutting and camp site leases, etc., were stricken out and the water storage proposition left by itself.

Agitation Regarding Corrupt Practices.

William Church Osborn, treasurer of the Association to Prevent Corrupt Practices at Elections, appeared before the senate judiciary committee to explain the provisions of three bills introduced in the senate by Senator Wainwright and in the assembly by Assemblyman Phillips amending the corrupt practices law so as to extend the requirement of publicity of accounting to primaries and candidates for nomination and also to require the posting of the names of all paid political workers and that they wear badges showing by what party they have been employed.

One of the bills furthermore requires that committee treasurers must file all receipts and disbursements and state clearly the purpose of disbursements, and in the case of political workers, expenditures and disbursements must be specifically accounted for, whether the amount is $5, more or less.

These bills in their general outlines and purposes are based on the recommendations on this subject in the annual message of Governor Hughes to the legislature last January, and it appeared from the discussion between Mr. Osborn and the various members of the committee that they will be reported to the senate at an early day.

In support of his argument Mr. Osborn said that as to the election of 1908 statistics were compiled as to the actual amount paid by both parties for watchers and workers; that in that campaign the Republican party paid for its watchers and workers in the cities of New York, Buffalo and Rochester the sum of $77,104.44, of which $31,522.21 was in sums of $5 or less, and the names of the persons paid were in no instances given; that the Democratic party in the same districts paid for watchers and workers the sum of $107,885.04, of which $106, 460.15 was in sums of $5 or less; that in the rural districts similar general conditions were shown; that the representatives of the Republican party in the city of Yonkers in 1908 used regular printed forms showing that the whole or greater portion of the amounts received by the various committees were paid out in sums of $5 or less for watchers and workers at the polls and for sundries.

McInerney Rises to Fame.
Assemblyman John McInerney of Rochester has become famous through the passage of his fire insurance investigation resolution through the assembly. Mr. McInerney is one of the ablest trial lawyers in the legislature, and he is probably the best orator in the lower house.

Mr. McInerney says:
"There is a great moral issue involved in the matter of the investigation proposed by my resolution. The people of the state demand that certain business practices be curtailed or abolished, and an investigation of the grave questions involved, followed by proper legislation, will result in a vast saving of money to all persons who take out fire insurance policies in this state."

Mr. McInerney's associates in the legislature describe him as "the handsome man in the assembly," but the Rochester statesman modestly turns over that honorable title to ex-Lieutenant Governor Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler.

Patterson Explains Temperance Situation in State.

The Rev. James A. Patterson, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, today issued the following statement in denial that the temperance organizations of the state are at odds with one another in the fight for local option and other temperance reforms:

"We kindly ask the privilege of correcting a false report that is in circulation among the legislators at Albany to the effect that the temperance forces of the state are divided because a city local option bill and a county prohibition bill have been introduced.
Now, let us assure you with all the energy at command that there is no division among the temperance forces in this state at the present time. Those backing the county prohibition bill have always repudiated the principle of local option and consequently have never been a part of the Anti-Saloon league forces. The league has never been and never will be an annex of the Prohibition party or any other political party."

"We are not opposing the county prohibition bill, but are of the opinion that it is far in advance of the average sentiment in the Empire State at the present time."
"We intend to push the passage of the city local option bill with all possible energy until that simple home rule measure becomes a law. We propose to stand steadfastly by the friends of this measure regardless of the political party to which they belong."

FEDERAL CENSUS
STARTS FRIDAY

The Federal and Agricultural Census starts on Friday, April 15, and it is expected that it will be completed throughout the United States within 30 days, or by May 15. The Census takers are sworn to secrecy, and there is a penalty attached to the non-answering of the questions propounded by him. These questions are all prescribed by the Federal officials and aim to give Uncle Sam the very best information as to his whole family. This census is perhaps the most important one yet taken, as the 33 questions to be answered by each resident, whether native or foreign born, cover entirely the ground necessary to put the government in possession of all information it may require, come peace or come war.

The Times publishes the list of questions, complete, to be answered relative to each member of the family.
Study them and have your answers written down and ready for the census taker as soon as he appears at your door.

The Questions
Then the questions will come as follows:

Tell the relationship of each person in the family to the head of the family.

Tell their sex.

Color or race.

Age at last birthday.

Whether single, married, widowed or divorced.

Number of years of present marriage, if married.

How many children born and how many now alive.

Place of your birth.

Your father's birthplace.

Your mother's birthplace.

What year you immigrated to the United States, if foreign born.

Whether you are naturalized or alien.

Whether able to speak English, or if not give language spoken.

What's your trade, or profession, or job?

What is the general nature of the industry, business or establishment where you work?

Are you an employer, employee, or working on your own account?

If you are an employee were you working on April 15?

How many weeks were you out of work in 1909?

As To Education.

Can you read?

Can you write?

Have you attended school any time since Sept. 1, 1909?

Do you own or rent your home?

If you own it, is it free or mortgaged?

Do you live on a farm, is it free or mortgaged?

Then if you live on a farm what's the number of your farm schedule?
That is a census schedule which you should have received before the census man comes.

Are you a survivor of the Union or Confederate army or navy?

Are you blind (both eyes)?

Are you deaf and dumb?

That's all of the questions, but here's some rules that you will be expected to observe:

Your home is where you sleep.

Domestic servants and others living with their employer should be enumerated with the family.

Persons who will not be enumerated with the family by your census man: Those visiting temporarily; transient boarders or lodgers who have some other usual or permanent place of abode; persons working in your house, but not sleeping there; members of your family who are in jail, asylums, almshouses, homes for aged, reformatories or any other institution where they may be confined for some time to come.

Your Occupation?

If you have two occupations you name the one which gives you the best pay.

The purpose of the questions about whether you have been out of work is to find the number of people in the country who want to work and cannot find it.

In the case of women who are doing their own housework without other employment the census man will put down that she has no occupation.

The enumerator comes to your door with his book and his badge and after announcing himself proceeds with his work. He first writes on his blank sheet and number of your house. Then he asks how many families live there. Now you must give the name of each person of your family who lives with you on April 15.

He enters first the surname, then the given name and middle initial. He omits children born since April 15.

The local enumerators have been selected after a rigid test as to fitness and are thoroughly qualified.
But the best qualified man in the world could not successfully accomplish such a task unless the people enumerated co-operate with him. That is what the enumerators expect of all people, native born and foreign born.
Don't be embarrassed by any questions that may be asked you. Answer them freely. The census man don't want to know. But Uncle Sam does and the enumerator is simply a government agent to help him all you can in his trying task.

The Chamber of Commerce will ask that the enumerators be given every assistance to the end that every person in Fulton may be counted, and the exact population determined. It's up to the individual citizen to make the work of the enumerators effective and thorough. Help them all you can.

See that every resident is counted.
Bring Fulton's population up to the high water mark.

Meanwhile he is taking the risk of dying, or rather is compelling his wife and little girls to do so. ### PLEASANT POINT CLUB

The improvements at the Pleasant Point Club house and grounds are rapidly being completed, and every thing will be ready for the opening of the season. The garage has been completed and the new lighting system of acetylene gas now replaces the old kerosene system in the Club House, on the grounds and in the cottages, making a vast improvement over last season.

The house committee has visited the club and looked over the building with the idea of installing a large open fire place in the parlor. If this is found practicable it will make a great improvement.

About the only thing which the club lacks now is a protected dock. It is understood that the idea of putting in some sort of a protective breakwater was discussed at some length just at the close of the season last year and that the matter has been left in the hands of O. J. Coughlin of Syracuse. It is expected that at the opening of the season Mr. Coughlin will have some very novel break-water ideas to suggest.

The regular season at the club will open early in June and already reservations are being made for the months of July and August.

Rheumatic Pains

"My mother is a great sufferer from rheumatism, and Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills is the only remedy that relieves her."

MRS. G. DAVENPORT, Roycefield, N. J.

The pains of rheumatism are almost invariably relieved with Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. They also overcome that nervous irritation which prevents sleep because they soothe the nerves. To chronic sufferers they are invaluable. When taken as directed, they relieve the distress and save the weakening influence of pain, which so frequently prostrates. Many sufferers use them whenever occasion requires with the greatest satisfaction, why not you? They do not derange the stomach nor create a habit. Why not try them? Get a package from your druggist. Take it according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

A FITTING MEMORIAL.

To-day marks an epoch in Fulton's history. The bestowal of the magnificent memorial building upon this city by the will of the distinguished General Alfred Lindley Lee, is the most charitable and generous deed ever vouchsafed this community. This generation appreciates the spirit and the deed. Succeeding generations will view the almost imperishable memorial to a former citizen with feelings akin to veneration. Already are the dead providing comfort and care for the living. Mrs. Lee's beautiful example having inspired the late Darwin Stiles and the late Mrs. James Morrow to leave sums of money to assist in the maintenance of this institution, and as its tremendous importance more fully dawns upon other citizens with means, they may, in passing, leave behind them substantial tokens of good will to ward their less fortunate fellow-men who are exposed to suffering.

Truly Mrs. Lee's generosity has set an example most worthy of emulation.

W. C. T. U. INSTITUTE

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Oswego County will hold an institute in the Congregational church, Oswego, (East Side) Thursday, May 5, 1910. The session will open at 10 a. m. At the noon hour a basket luncheon will be served. The ladies of the church furnishing tea. They will also serve supper for which twenty-five cents will be charged.

Mrs. Mary Harris Armour, President of Georgia W. C. T. U., will give the evening address. Not since the days of Frances Willard, have we had so eloquent a speaker. She is as intense as LaFollette, eloquent as William Jennings Bryan. A dynamic force on the platform which is irresistible. For oratory and poem she is simply wonderful and no one who hears her will ever forget or regret it.

Fulton and Phoenix delegates can return after the evening address. It is expected that there will be large delegations from all Unions.

Mrs. S. M. Barker, President.

DEATHS

Donald J., aged 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Keller of Palermo, was instantly killed on Saturday by falling from a loaded wagon going down hill. He struck upon the horses' heels, sustaining a fracture at the base of the skull. The funeral was held on Tuesday.

Mrs. Cora Butts, wife of Frank Butts of Pennellville, died at the family home Wednesday. She was a well-known and highly respected woman and her death will be sincerely mourned. The survivors are three brothers, Joseph, William and John, two sisters, Mrs. John and Mrs. Charles Ingamells of Fulton, and two children.

Miss Ada Wright was called to Dwight, Ill., on Sunday night by a telegram announcing the sudden death of her father, Daniel E. Wright, a former resident of this city. He is survived by three sons, Clarence, of New York, William, of Nebraska and Victor of Dwight, Ill., and three daughters, Miss Clara Wright and Mrs. Mattie Chubb of Dwight, Ill., and Miss Ada Wright of this city.

HOW INVESTIGATION HELPS

The masterly investigation of Insurance Corruption by Charles E. Hughes rent the State from end to end. It shattered reputations, exiled corrupt men, sent purchasable legislators into retirement.

That was not all it did. It compelled the reorganization of the Insurance Department itself. As soon as the nervous Kelsey could be dispensed with, it put into his place a real man, under whom exposure and the correction of abuses go forward without further impediment than public expectation and his own sense of duty. Imagine Francis Hendricks or Lou Paya doing for the State what its Insurance Superintendent is daily doing.

We owe Mr. Hotchkiss to the Hughes investigation. How many men like him in public service, how many reorganized departments, strengthened, inspired and furnished with ideals of duty, might we not gain as lasting fruit of general investigation into legislative corruption.

Charles D. Lathrop.

The death of Charles D. Lathrop, at his home in New Rochelle, N. Y., April 11, caused profound sorrow among a large number of friends and acquaintances in this city. The deceased was a former resident of this county and was 62 years old. He succumbed to an attack of pneumonia. Mr. Lathrop was graduated from Fall River Seminary in 1870. He was also graduated from Syracuse University in 1874 and later became telegraph editor of the New York Daily Witness. He made exhaustive researches and subsequently wrote the general historical part of the histories of Niagara and Montgomery counties and of Lackawanna county in Pennsylvania. After this he became a member of the staff of The Syracuse Post. His principal newspaper work was assistant editor of The Northern Christian Advocate of Syracuse. He held that position for many years while Dr. O. D. Warren and Dr. J. E. C. Sawyer were respectively editors-in-chief of that paper. For the past few years Mr. Lathrop has been connected with The Riverside Press in New Rochelle.

Mr. Lathrop never married. He is survived by two sisters, the Misses Lucretia P. Lathrop and Ella Lathrop, both of New Rochelle.

The remains reached Fulton on Monday morning and were taken to the First M. E. church. At 1 p. m. the Rev. J. G. Conwell, the pastor, conducted the last solemn rites in a most impressive manner affording comfort to the relatives and friends of the deceased. The bearers were Attorney Morehouse of Oswego, Dr. H. L. Lake and Messrs. L. G. Foster, H. Putnam Allen, Fred Keeler and William Draper. In Mount Aduah the ritualistic service of the M. E. church was brought into requisition and the service concluded.

WAS WELL KNOWN

Financial reverses and business troubles caused Frank Blanchard, aged 56, while suffering from temporary insanity, to take his own life in New York city last week. The remains were brought to this city on Saturday for interment in Mt. Aduah, instructions for this disposal of his remains having been telegraphed by his sister who is at present in Cairo, Egypt.

The deceased was at one time a resident of this city, successfully conducting the Western Union telegraph office, the American Express office and a tobacco store in the store now occupied by Jeweler G. B. Farley. Later he removed to New York city. He is survived by his widow, one daughter and one sister.

MORRILL CENTENARY

Entire Nation Will Honor Memory of Famous Senator.
—Benefactor of Education.

On April 14, in all parts of the country, especially in the schools, for agriculture and the mechanic arts, the centenary of the birth of Senator Justin Smith Morrill, of Vermont, will be celebrated.

Senator Morrill was the author of the original land grant act of 1862 and of the supplementary legislation through which appropriations are made by which at the present time no less than 67 educational institutions are assisted. During the last few months frequent mention has been made in the District of the Morrill land acts in connection with the campaign waged to procure an appropriation to the administered through George Washington University. Senator Morrill has a claim on the gratitude of all Washingtonians for his conspicuous services as chairman of the committee on public buildings, in which capacity he did a large work in beautifying the Capitol. Senator Morrill was a prime mover in the completion of the Washington monument, after more than a quarter of a century of neglect. In the erection of the great building in which is housed the State, War and Navy departments, in the practical reconstruction of the Capitol by a system of marble terracing, which has restored the west front to something like artistic proportions, in having the old hall of the House of Representatives set apart as a stately hall, and above and beyond all these was his contribution in the erection of the great building for the Library of Congress.

Father of Congressional Library.
In 1875 Senator Morrill went to work to obtain a new home for the Library of Congress and bent his energies to the purchase of the land where the building now stands.

In Vermont the Morrill centenary will be celebrated in Montpelier, where a big gathering will be held in the House of Representatives, at the Capitol, April 14. At the University of Vermont, where Senator Morrill's name is honored in a building, the gift of his native State to the cause of agriculture, the centenary will be observed in connection with the annual commencement in June.

Senator Morrill was born in Stratford, Vt., April 14, 1810. He received only meagre advantages of education, and engaged in mercantile pursuits and in farming. Until he was 44 years old he had neither sought office nor held any public position other than Justice of the Peace in his home town, 3 miles from a railroad. Without solicitation on his part, he was nominated for the House of Representatives by the Second Vermont Congressional district. He was elected and took his seat December 3, 1855, commencing the longest continuous service on record in the annals of Congress. Thereafter, for almost half a century, Vermont spoke through him in the national council. From the House he was transferred to the Senate in 1886 and took his seat with a national fame as a statesman.

Helped Form G. O. P.
He was elected as a Whig, but the Whig party was in the throes of dissolution, and when he appeared in Washington it was as the representative of the new Republican party, in the organization of which in Vermont he had taken part.

His sixth election to the United States Senate, in October, 1896, at the age of 86 years, was an event without a precedent, which will probably remain without a parallel. The longest previous continuous term in Congress was that of Thomas H. Benton, of Missouri, which was thirty years.

In 1851 Senator Morrill married Ruth Swan, daughter of Dr. Caleb Swan, of Easton, Mass. Senator Morrill died December 23, 1896. Mrs. Morrill died the preceding May. Their son, James S. Morrill, now resides in the family home, Thomas circle, with his aunt, Miss Louise Swan.—Washington Post, April 14, 1910.

Mr. Elmer E. Morrill of the Morrill Press, left on Tuesday for Montpelier, Vt., to be present at the exercises. Mr. Morrill will meet Mr. James S. Morrill, a cousin, at Springfield, Mass., and they will proceed to Vermont together.

Ross shows the following arrests: Seven for public intoxication, three for petty larceny, two for burglary in the third degree, one for defrauding a hotelkeeper, four on the charge of being disorderly persons, one for criminally receiving stolen property and one on a so-called miscellaneous charge.

Nine convictions resulted, one prisoner was discharged, three were held for the Grand Jury and six cases were not disposed of.

Fines to the amount of $99 were imposed, and of this amount $41 was collected.

THE FAIR STORE

107 Oneida Street, Fulton, N. Y.

The crowds at The Fair Store, instead of diminishing are increasing daily as our bargain sales are announced. OUR BARGAINS ARE BARGAINS! The Fair Store prices cannot be duplicated. We do not know of any other store in Fulton that advertises so many price reductions for any one sale and lives up to the advertising. The greatest part of our advertisements are always quoted, not to promises, but to the description of the bargains we offer—descriptions as accurate as we can make them. We have arranged our stock so as to make your purchasing easy and satisfactory, but we strongly advise early morning buying. Many of our choicest bargains we cannot mention, as lack of space will not permit us, but come to our store in the next twenty days and see them for yourself, as seeing is believing.

Our entire stock is very large and up-to-date. We must reduce the same and this is the best time of the year to do it. Everybody MUST have goods and we MUST have the money. We also are going to have it if prices have anything to do with it. It will pay you to come a hundred miles to attend this special sale for the next twenty days, as it is an opportunity seldom offered. If you realize what a bargain is attend this sale. Our motto is: "More goods for same money; same goods for less money." Thanking you for past patronage, I remain yours truly,

It has become known that the Battle Island Pulp Company has purchased land to the south of the present Minetto dam from C. B. Benson and has presented a proposition to the Advisory Board of Engineers of the barge canal for the construction of a dam on the property acquired. The proposition as prepared by the Battle Island Pulp Company provides that the high and Minetto dams be reconstructed with no change in the height of their crests and the raising of the lower, the first or lower dam in this city. Such an arrangement, it is claimed, would greatly diminish the volume of the water power now owned by this city, but would in no way affect that of the Minetto-Meriden Company.

In consideration of the approval of its plan the pulp company agrees to waive all claim for damages arising from the elimination of the Battle Island dam, where they obtain a small portion of their power. It was generally thought here that the location of the dams had been finally settled at the meeting of the Advisory Board on March 22, and to-day's developments caused considerable surprise.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

quarters the horse on which he was riding down a steep road, stumbled and fell with the general under him. One of General Lee's ankles and part of his leg was crushed and he was laid up in the hospital for several weeks. When he emerged he found that General Grant, anxious to have the aid that had been planned immediately carried out, had ordered it executed. General Lee being disabled, by another officer, Colonel R. H. Grierson, of Iowa. Colonel Grierson with about 8,000 men, eight hundred miles into the heart of the hostile territory, utterly evading the army of the rebel General Pemberton. The start of the expedition was at Lincoln, Tennessee, and it rode the entire length of the State of Mississippi until it reached Baton Rouge, Louisiana. About this date, at about three o'clock, was "evicted" the work of General Lee. "What a work of General Lee," wrote the poem of "Grierson's Raid."

General Lee's services lasted throughout the entire war, his campaigns being wholly in the States adjoining the Mississippi River. At Vicksburg he was severely wounded in the face and head and upon his recovery was made chief of cavalry in the department of the Gulf. His last act of service was in command of the cavalry in the Red River expedition. Soon afterwards the war ended and General Lee received his honorable discharge.

About this time he met and married Mrs. Lee and settled in Louisiana, where he engaged in business, chiefly that of the growing of sugar cane, which was "extremely profitable" as all the southern staples were bringing what would now be considered fabulous prices. He was, however, for a time the owner and editor of the New Orleans Republican, and his life then as that of a man responsible for the conduct of such a paper, in that furious and bitter southern city was no less exciting and dangerous than it had ever been before. In 1870 he sold his interests in Louisiana and, retiring from business, he spent over twenty years thereafter in travel and the pleasures of a refined and cultivated leisure which he knew so well how to enjoy. He roamed Europe over, enjoying most perhaps his summers among the Alps, but making his headquarters in Paris, a city which he came to know intimately and where he formed the acquaintance of the leading artists, professional men and statesmen of the day, particularly among the latter, Gambetta and Thiers. There was at this time offered to him by President Grant the place of consul-general in Paris, a post which he declined. Out of the numerous Americans of national and social prominence travelling abroad, he added many to his already long list of fast friends and entertained them with an outpouring hospitality. But his greatest pleasure was in piloting through Europe people, preferably younger than himself, who were seeing the country for the first time; and fortunate indeed were those who were permitted to accompany him through the corridors of the Louvre, where every picture or statue provoked his historical recollection or apt allusion, or to stroll with him over the battlefield of Waterloo, or with him slowly climbing a Swiss mountain pass to recall the march of Hannibal. He was the most interesting of companions, poised and even tempered, his conversation abounding with anecdotes and suggestive remark and, sociability, ever uttered with an exquisite felicity of phrase and diction, and so full of him from whom it came. As Richard Steele said of the Lady Elizabeth Hastings, that to know him was a liberal education. He died at last, as he said, of doing nothing and re-entered business, this time as a partner in the house of Robert Goodbody & Company, in New York. He continued in this relation until the year 1901, when his general partnership in the firm changed as a special character; and he remained as a special partner up to the time of his death. To the conduct of these business affairs General Lee brought the same acumen that he invariably displayed, the same self-mastery and high ideals of conduct, and he won the respect and friendship of his business associates and their employees and the numerous clients of their house. "It deserves to be said here, too, that although when he entered the banking firm his fortune had been lessened by the losses which he and thousands of other men sustained in the years of depression, which ran with such severity in our country from 1890 to 1896, and which affected General Lee's ownership of Kansas lands, when he ceased active pursuits, so astute and far-sighted had been his handling of his investments, his wealth was more ample than ever."

As the autumn of his life drew on the dignity of his demeanor and the kindness of his spirit naturally increased. The dashing cavalier of Corinth and Champion's Hill and the assault on Vicksburg softened into the composed and reserved gentleman who only referred to his war experiences as if part of another life and who always thought it to be his duty to restrain the ardor and impetuosity of his younger friends. But now and again we heard, sometimes the rumble of a distant drum, his hours of relaxation in New York were mostly spent in the Union League Club, an institution of which he was a member from the time of his coming from the South. There in the long evenings with his books in the library or spent in the company of a few friends the dwindling hours of his life swept by. His unflinching bonhomie added to the natural influence exerted by the play of his well-stored and reflective mind made him the centre of an endeared and admiring circle, and when he passed away the one word spoken in the club was that a man had gone from it whose place never could be filled. Two years before his death there were indications to which he was not blind of the oncoming of chronic disease, and he knew that at his age this would probably be fatal. He placed the final touches upon the settlement of his affairs—always arranged anyway with painstaking method and order—and with philosophic calm awaited the end. A long uttered prayer of his was granted, that his final years should not be those of an enfeebled intellect and stricken body. He was alert and active up to the last week of his life, and at seventy-four his mind was the still unwasted equal of its own prime. His death when it came was like the flow of a great river as it passes majestically into the open sea.

Like everyone and everything he will be forgotten. The story of his wit and grace and charm will be less and less told and will finally be heard no more. But in the hearts of those who knew him there will live while life lasts the thought of the rare and generous soul that dwelt in the frame so stately and urbane; and they will confess to themselves and to each other that if they could wring from the gods a gift dearer than any other for those who bear their name or in whose veins their blood shall run in years to come, it would be that upon them might rest something of the strong power of friendship, so winning and so true; the fine sensitiveness of perception and sympathy; of the hand of help stretched out with the gliding veil of fate; the high resolves of honor; the fearless courage; the abiding common sense; the lambent humor; the fascination of manner that bound friends and passing acquaintances alike in enchantment; and the pure and sustained possession of an ideal American manhood that were true of Albert Lindley Lee.

An Address of Appreciation

The Hon. N. N. Stranahan said: The pleasant duty is assigned to me of expressing the thanks and appreciation of the citizens of Mrs. Lee for the bestowal of this beautiful hospital, together with its ample site, upon this community.

Our people accept your munificent gift with keen realization of its great service it will render to humanity, but it is not the practical consideration that gives us greatest pleasure. Our emotions are deeply stirred that the generous promptings of your kindly heart have brought the establishment of this graceful permanent memorial to your brave and chivalrous husband in our midst.

It requires no unusual flight of fancy to see him in his boyhood, tramping over this fair plateau, now the home of this handsome building, then overgrown with stately chestnut trees, when the October sun and air beckoned him aloft from his home by the river, to the joys of the nutting season, dear to the heart of every country boy.

Those of us who are native to this neighborhood and have passed the meridian of life, know as others cannot, the large place in the history of Fulton filled by the respected parents of Albert Lindley Lee.

It is not too much to say that his father, Doctor Moses Lindley Lee, was, in his time, easily our first citizen, and foremost, if not the first, in the county of Oswego. Socially, his rank was high. His contemporaries in the practice of medicine readily accorded to him the place of Dean of his profession. He possessed in rare degree the gift of political leadership and held successively the offices of Postmaster, Member of Assembly, Member of the Constitutional Convention, Senator and Member of Congress; a political career hardly equalled, I believe, in local annals. In the early days, he was prominent in the organization of a National Bank in Fulton and became its President. Fortunate in marriage, for his wife was the daughter of the much-respected Jonathan Case, a graduate of Union College, and with gentle and graceful manner, he was as fine a specimen of the "Doctor of the Old School" as can be found in life or fiction.

Born of such stock, given a University course, supplemented by the elevating and stimulating training for the law, it is little wonder that the son added lustre to the family name, reflected glory upon this quiet town of his birth, built a life filled with fortune, sweetest and honor; and yet, how common is it to witness fine equipment turned to ashes when not wisely employed. General Lee was given many talents and none were hidden in the earth.

His success was marked in many fields: a successful and prominent lawyer; a just judge, a splendid business man and financier; but of course it was as a soldier that his fame was widest.

The citizen-soldier of the great American war of the sixties appeals to the judgment and imagination of the world, for no epoch of its history has afforded such an opportunity for service in war by the man unskilled in military affairs. General Lee, for the most part, came not from academies and technical training of the military school, but were moulded from the raw recruit in the fiery crucible of war. Commanders made of experience might make ideal professors of strategy, but fight they could not and, after all, the business of a general is to fight and win battles. Words cannot, at this late day, add to their imperishable renown. Suffice it to say, the story of the youth going out from his home into that mighty struggle as a humble major, rising through merit and grim fighting, till, upon the recommendation of General Halleck, commanding the army, he was made a Brigadier General of Volunteers by President Lincoln, for valor in the field, will be cherished by good men and fair women as long as America and Americans endure.

One who makes reference to the life and character of General Lee and fails to note his singularly engaging personality would leave unnoticed, the which the most casual acquaintance with him plainly revealed. No person ever came within the sphere of his influence without perceiving the subtle charm of his mind and manner. As has been said of another, he had that indefinable thing called presence. He was a man of the world and had touched life at many points. Human nature was to him an open book. He was polished by half a life-time of old world travel. Art, literature, and polite society had given their refinement without making him a diletante. He brought into this work-a-day world the grace of a courtier without obsequiousness, and withal, his malice was of the virile sort, for beneath the touch of the velvet "love you felt the hand of mail. In face and figure he was the personification of manly dignity. I was blessed with his acquaintance for many years and, at the last, quite intimately. It has not been my lot to know a man to whom the words of Tacitus, descriptive of his father-in-law, the great Agricola, would so well apply: "His figure was tall and comely in his countenance there was nothing to inspire awe, but his character was engaging. You would readily have believed him a good man, and willingly, a great one."

And finally, Mrs. Lee, beneficent lady, I tender you the grateful thanks of this people, for your fine benefaction. May your days and nights be blessed with that ancient and holy promise, that "whoever shall give a cup of cold water unto one of these little ones, verily, I say unto you, he shall not lose his reward."

The operating room is very light and perfectly appointed, for surgery and for convenience. In fact, throughout the building one is impressed with the cheeriness and convenience of the rooms, corridors and wards. Mrs. Frank Platt will equip and furnish the operating room in memory of her father, the late Dr. Livingston, who, in his young manhood was a student in medicine with Dr. M. L. Lee, father of General Lee.

Mrs. Platt will place in the operating room a tablet on which will be inscribed, "In memory of Allan Cameron Livingston, given by his daughter, Mrs. Carrie L. Platt." The entrance in this room will be of the most modern and approved type. Mrs. Platt consulting in her purchases with the best surgical authorities in the metropolis, and no expense will be spared to make this room a model one.

The Memorial Room in the hospital is not yet completely arranged, but it will be a source of pride to Mrs. Lee and to her friends, as well as, to the general public when it is completed, and all of the portraits, marble busts, souvenirs, records, etc., connected with the history of General Lee are safely housed therein. Mrs. Lee purchased land surrounding the building so that the outlook for convalescents will be pleasing and the yard will be beautified in time, adding much to the section of the city in which the hospital is located.

WILL ORGANIZE FAIR ASSOCIATION

A letter to friends in this city from Mr. W. J. Pentelov of Corona, Calif., under date of April 3, announces that he would have plenty of ripe strawberries in his garden if the birds did not eat them up as fast as they ripened. Mr. Pentelov was about to cover the vines with a cotton netting, 50 yards being required to cover his berry patch, so that the birds could look but not carry the luscious fruit away.

Mr. Pentelov, who is President of the Board of Trade of Corona, says in part: The Riverside people are trying to organize a county fair association like our old reliable Oswego Falls fair. They want to start with about $20,000. A delegation will visit us tomorrow night at our Board of Trade meeting and try to interest our Board in the matter. I think now they will take hold of it and by next Fall will have a full fledged County Fair running in the City of Riverside. We had a school election last Friday to elect one of the three trustees and elected a woman, so we now have one woman on the board, which I think is a good thing; a step in the right direction. Last Winter the Legislature passed a primary election law, so that this Fall the County and State officers will be placed in nomination by primaries held in August. No conventions, or at least for nominating purposes. The County candidates are now busy looking for help at the primaries.

Yesterday one of the Republican candidates for Governor was here; four large automobiles wheeled into town and pulled up to the curb in the center of the town and the candidate and several others of the party spent an hour in addressing the people congregated around the autos. There are at least six candidates for Governor and they will all visit every town of any size in autos and ask the people to help them at the August primaries. In this way all will have an opportunity to see all the candidates and hear them and make your choice by the time of the primaries. This State is having a hot time between the machine and anti-machine Republicans; lots of insinuations.

FULTON TO HAVE CERTIFIED MILK

Will Be Delivered in Limited Quantity After May 1 from the Stranahan Farm—High Grade of Product.

The prospect that certified milk will be produced in this vicinity and sold in Fulton early in May, has awakened considerable interest in this city. The general knowledge of the subject seems to be very meager. Most people understand, in a general way, that it is a high grade of milk produced under healthful and cleanly conditions. We have thought that it might be of interest to our readers to know a little more of the subject.

The idea of producing certified milk is quite a modern one. It is believed that the pioneer in the work was a medical practitioner of Newark, New Jersey, who, a short time prior to 1900, conceived the notion of having milk produced for the use of invalids and infants of a high standard of nutrition and free from disease-breeding bacteria. The words "certified milk" he copy righted under the United States statutes, but it is understood that his attitude has been rather to encourage than repress production when done under good conditions, and for nearly ten years the number of communities in the United States using, in part, such a product has steadily increased. For some years the laws of the State of New York have recognized certified milk and regulated its production and sale. The agricultural laws of the State provide that "no person shall sell or exchange or offer or expose for sale or exchange as and for certified milk, any milk which does not conform to the regulations prescribed by and bearing the certification of a milk commission appointed by a County Medical Society, organized under and chartered by the Medical Society of New York, and which has not been pronounced by such authority to be free from antiseptics, added preservatives and pathogenic bacteria, or bacteria in excessive numbers. All milk sold as certified milk shall be conspicuously marked with the name of the commission certifying it."

It will thus be seen that certified milk can only be produced under the direction and seal of a County Medical Society, and the regulations for the management, for the feeding, housing and control of the dairy, as well as the method of handling the milk, its temperature, percentage of butter-fat, number of bacteria per cubic centimeter, care and character of utensils and dairy, and the innumerable elements entering into the production of strictly wholesome milk, are entirely under the direction of the commission appointed by such society.

It is a matter of scientific knowledge that the increase in bacteria in milk after leaving the farm and before reaching the customer is enormous, owing, no doubt, to the milk being dipped in the street from can to house-hold vessel and the operation of the temperature upon the milk while in the can. In producing certified milk, all of this is guarded against by the milk being bottled in the dairy at the farm, immediately upon being drawn from the cow, hermetically sealed by machinery, so that each bottle reaches the customer without any exposure to changes of temperature and the impurities of the street and air. It is the custom of milk commissions supervising the production of this milk to require frequent counts of the bacteria by skilled bacteriologists in order that no milk shall bear its seal that is not absolutely safe for consumption.

The amount produced in the country is very insignificant compared with the entire consumption of ordinary milk, as will be realized from the fact that only 9,587 quarts were produced last year from nineteen farms for use in New York City. But one farm is producing milk of this character for consumption in the city of Syracuse, and, of course, no attempt has been made to supply it in this county. The construction of a dairy plant, the cost of frequent chemical and bacteriological examinations, together with the great care required in handling the milk at the farm, sterilizing all utensils, bottles, etc., renders its production exceedingly expensive. In the city of New York it is sold at from fifteen to twenty cents a quart—the more expensive being a higher grade than the other—and the New York Commission report that even at these prices only a moderate profit accrues to the dairyman, since such milk ordinarily costs from seven to ten cents a quart to produce it at the farm. In the city of Syracuse it is sold for twelve cents a quart.

We learn that "Crystal Springs Farm," two and a half miles from town, owned by Mr. Stranahan of this city and managed by B. W. Coles, expects to deliver certified milk and cream after May 1st in this city, at ten cents a quart; 20 per cent. cream, 40c; 40 per cent. cream, 50c. Mr. Stranahan tells us he is doubtful whether it can be successfully produced for that price to the consumer, but this can only be proven by experiment. The milk will be handled exclusively by O. J. Coles of 814 Emory street, who will make daily delivery of milk and cream in this city. The supply will, necessarily, be limited, and it is expected that its consumption will probably be confined to people who realize the great importance of purity and cleanliness in this one of the chief articles of diet.

We learn that the Oswego County Medical Society will hold a special meeting in this city on the 20th inst. for the purpose of appointing a milk commission, under whose direction the milk will be produced and certified.

It is satisfying to the Times that there is sufficient enterprise in this locality to embark in such an undertaking, and that the medical profession realize the prime importance of hearty co-operation.

NIAGARA POWER AGAIN

Niagara Power again knocks at our door. At an adjourned meeting of the Common Council held on Thursday evening, A. Torney, E. M. White, for the Niagara-Oswego Company, presented a petition for a franchise to distribute electricity in this city for light, heat, power and other purposes. Accompanying the petition was a possible franchise which Mr. White seemed to think would amply protect the city and be acceptable to the parties of the first and second part.

Upon motion of Alderman Palmer, seconded by Alderman Wolkott, the petition was laid on the table, and the Council decided to hold a public meeting on the evening of Tuesday, May 3, at 8 o'clock, in the city hall, for the purpose of discussing the matter.

COMMISSION TO BE APPOINTED

This Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Masonic club rooms the Oswego County Medical Society will meet for the purpose of appointing a commission to certify milk and other commodities, in compliance with the law governing the matter.

INFORMATION CONCERNING THE COMET

Hon. S. B. Mead Tells of Celestial Phenomena and of Halley's Comet—Inability of the Human Mind to Comprehend

[Delivered before Chamber of Commerce by special request. It was the judgment of those present that the article should appear in printed form.]

I am not and never have been a student of celestial phenomena. I know nothing whatever in regard to theoretical and but very little about descriptive astronomy. I never but once attempted to gaze upon the heavenly bodies through a telescope. That was about four weeks ago, when Professor Wilcox and I spent an hour or two searching for the comet with the High School telescope. Our search was in vain, and I learned a few days later that there had been but one lens in that telescope for upward of seven years. In fact, my knowledge of things astronomical has been derived in a most cursory manner from general reading, but my attention is never called to these subjects that I am not thoroughly impressed with the fact that the human mind, except in a very narrow and circumscribed way, is utterly incapable of comprehending the magnitude and magnificence of the scheme upon which the Almighty has builded his works. I never call to mind my little knowledge of the solar and sidereal systems without realizing my insignificance and the utter inability of my mind to grasp the comparatively simple propositions that, in a way, are called to my attention nearly every day of my life. I think, however, it is well for all of us to occasionally lose ourselves amid the wonders of the universe, if for no other purpose than to teach us how small and insignificant an atom in the great scheme of creation we really are.

It is a scientific fact that only the strongest mathematical human mind can comprehend seven units. The Fiji Islander can only comprehend two, while to the man of average intelligence and education, the limit is three or four. That is, our minds are only capable of retaining a certain number of units at one and the same instant of time. Of course, we can, in a way, comprehend more than three or four units, but only by sequence from one number to another, by grouping or by association. When the opportunity affords, for instance, when near a railing studded with pickets, stand in front with closed eyes and open and shut them almost instantly and discover how many pickets you actually see. You will see a certain number standing out distinctly from the rest, although realizing that there is a much larger number. Try the same experiment by looking in the same manner at the rapidly revolving wheels of a wagon. You will see a certain number of spokes while the great majority of them will remain a blur, and in either case, the number you are certain to see will be three, possibly four, but whatever the number, that number will be the limit of your mind's ability to comprehend.

And yet, with such insignificant powers of comprehension, mankind is continually trying and will forever try and forever fail, to fathom the unfathomable works of the Creator. The human mind can only in a very slight degree comprehend or appreciate either time, distance, velocity or volume, and that only by comparison with the inconsequential examples afforded by human environment and this for the reason that we are compelled to consider infinite subjects with finite minds and our power of comprehension fails to master, save an infinitesimal fraction of the problems presented. The space allotted to human life is as a grain of sand compared with the number of grains of sand composing the vast system of suns and worlds that comprises the universe. The science of Geology teaches us that vast ages must have been consumed in the formation of the earth. Other vast ages intervened between its creation and the time it became fit to sustain the lowest form of life. It was peopled for other ages with hideous reptiles. What period was occupied in the creation or the evolution of man, we have no evidence upon which to predicate an opinion. A man sixty years of age can only comprehend the years that have passed by the sequence of events which have occupied that time. He recalls periods of his life by events important only to himself. His boyhood accounts for a quarter of that period; his time he has been married accounts for another portion and the time spent in the pursuit of this or that business accounts for other periods. Now, if a man should be sixty years old when he is born, or did he, at sixty years of age, first begin to comprehend events, there would be no way in which he could possibly comprehend his age.

Time is infinite. There was never any beginning and there will never be any end to time. If that portion of time hitherto occupied and which may hereafter be occupied by events of whatever nature, was preceded, (as it must have been) and will be followed (as it certainly will be) by a vast void interval. Then, as there can be no beginning and no end to a void, so there can be no beginning and no end, except to that portion of time so occupied. Therefore, time must be infinite and infinitely beyond the comprehension of the human mind.

Halley's comet, travelling from aphelion to perihelion at an average velocity of 165 miles a minute, occupies 38 years in accomplishing the journey of 3400 millions of miles. The earth is 8000 miles in diameter and 25,000 miles in circumference. The diameter of its orbit is 180,000,000 miles, and the circumference of its orbit is 540,000,000 miles. The mean distance from the earth to the sun is about 93,000,000 miles. These distances are so vast as to be incomprehensible, and yet 80 millions of millions of miles from the earth away out in infinite space, the Dog Star Sirius blazes. Millions of miles beyond Sirius the telescope reveals countless celestial bodies, the distance and volume of which we have no means of measuring, and on and on, millions on millions of miles, away and beyond the faintest telescopic star lies infinite space, the centre of which is everywhere, the boundary nowhere. What idea of these distances, written in millions, billions and trillions, can the human mind conceive, when the daily possible conception of One million it can have is the figure one followed by a row of six noughts?

Let us take an infant at its birth. Let us place it on an express train. Let us start the train in a direct line to the sun. Let the train run fifty miles an hour, day and night without cessation. When the infant arrives at the age of 70 years, the train will still lack 480,500 miles of having accomplished even 1-3 of its journey. Start the same train with Halley's comet at aphelion; run it at the same rate of speed; 50 miles an hour, it would reach perihelion 7524 years after the comet had made the complete circuit of its orbit. In other words, the comet would make 100 complete circuits of its orbit, the circumference of which is 6300 million miles, while the train was covering the length of the ellipse, while the journey to the Dog Star would occupy the same time, running at the same rate of speed, nearly 200,000,000 years. Even light travelling at the rate of 186,000 miles a second would only reach Sirius after a journey of over 13 years in duration. It follows, therefore, that should that sun become extinct today, the last ray of its light would reach the earth about July 1923.

The earth, revolving on its axis carries us 25000 miles every twenty-four hours, over 1000 miles an hour, and we are only conscious of its movement by the rising and setting of the sun. At the same time it is whirling around its orbit 540,000,000 miles in circumference, once every year, a speed of more than 600 miles an hour, and we only realize it through the changing seasons. Astronomers have lately discovered that the solar system and perhaps the sidereal system with it, is drifting north, (as they say,) although there can be no north or south in space, 300,000,000 miles a year, and our attention is in no manner attracted to the movement. Light travels with a velocity that would carry it 8 times around the earth in a second. What portion of velocity represented by these figures does the human mind comprehend?

While we are totally incapable of comprehending the velocity with which light travels, we are no less incapable of comprehending that it travels at all. And yet there must be and is, an interval between the sending and receiving of the message it conveys. The distant woodman strikes a blow with his axe, the axe is again up-lifted and per-

FEDERAL BUILDING BEING CONSIDERED

Representative Knapp's Appeal in Behalf of a New Post Office Building for Fulton May Prove Effective.

April 15, 1910.

Editor Times: At a hearing before the Committee on Public Buildings and grounds to-day Representative Knapp appeared in behalf of the proposed new public building at Fulton, for which a site has been purchased, and made a strong and convincing argument for the appropriation in the pending bill. He was accorded strict attention by the committee and it is believed that his effort was effective.

MARVELOUS ESCAPE

Mr. T. J. Redhead narrowly escaped death last week, an accident in the G. J. Emeny company's plant being the cause for his confinement to his bed for several days suffering with various cuts and bruises of more or less severity. Messrs. Redhead and Elmer Harper were engaged in moving a work bench in the manufactory when Mr. Redhead's shoulder came in contact with a shaft upon which several dozen ensilage knives were lying. The shaft was insecurely fastened and it fell when Mr. Redhead struck it, the knives falling around and on him. He was rendered unconscious and it was with difficulty that he was conveyed to his home where Dr. F. E. Fox dressed the painful cuts and bruises. Mr. Redhead is comfortable and will soon have entirely recovered from the ugly and unusual accident.

DELIGHTFUL TALK ON ALASKA

On Tuesday evening of last week Mrs. E. H. French was hostess and Mrs. Samuel Hunter, lecturer, at a gathering of the members of the Fortnightly Shakespeare club. Mrs. Hunter, who had spent several seasons in Alaska, talked most entertainingly and instructively of the natives, their country and their customs, and she exhibited a choice collection of curios native to the country, which she had gathered during her sojourn there.

Miss Franc LaLonde delightfully rendered a vocal solo, accompanied by Mrs. W. L. Sawtelle on the piano. The evening was one of rare enjoyment for all present.

NEW WATER MAINS

The present administration is doing a good work in extending the water service, new mains being laid in South Fifth street above Academy street, in Voorhes street, between Second and Third; in West Fifth between Broadway and Beech; in West Third, between Cedar and the extreme southern limits of the Stevenson property, and in Manhattan avenue, where about 575 feet of mains will be necessary.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Most interesting and instructive session at which matters of importance were discussed.

A regular session of the Chamber of Commerce was held last Friday evening in rooms located in the Reynolds block, 44 South First street. President Penfield, as is usual with him, presented a most entertaining program. He called on the chairmen of the several standing committees for reports, and most encouraging and instructive responses were received.

Mr. George E. True, of the Municipal and Public Improvements Committee, who, with Mr. William Hunter, had been investigating the cost of crosswalks in the park, reported that the expense would amount to $550 or $600. Action was deferred.

Mr. A. T. Jennings, of the Membership Committee, reported that 76 had recently joined the Chamber which was most encouraging news.

President Penfield hoped that the membership would continue to grow until the number would reach at least 250.

In the matter of new industries, Mr. Penfield reported that the full amount of the money asked for by the Progressive Knitting Mill Company had been subscribed and all arrangements completed for the possession of the Freeman Boat Company's building. Secretary Stout read a list of the subscribers to the funds raised.

Mr. William Hughes, a member of the Federal Building Committee, gave a concise report of the progress thus far attained by the officials in Washington regarding the Fulton enterprise. It was Congressman Knapp's judgment that something tangible might result to Fulton's advantage before long.

On motion of William E. Hughes, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, The necessity for a Federal building in Fulton being great, transcending in importance other interests in this community; and,

Whereas, Representative Charles L. Knapp of this Congressional District, who is most active in advocating, before the proper committees, the desire of the people of this city for a Federal building; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the Chamber of Commerce of the City of Fulton, in regular session assembled, return sincere and heartfelt thanks to Representative Knapp for the activity displayed and the earnest desire manifested to aid residents of this city to secure a suitable building in which to transact post office business; and be it further,

Resolved, That the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce place the foregoing resolutions on the minutes of this session and forward a copy of same to Congressman Knapp.

Hon. Sheldon B. Mead was called upon by President Penfield and in response gave most interesting data concerning Halley's comet, the full report of which will be found in another column.

On motion of Attorney Jennings, seconded by H. J. Wilson, Esq., a rising vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Mead for the excellence of the treatise presented.

At the conclusion of Mr. Mead's address a buffet lunch was served and a most enjoyable social time was enjoyed.

President Penfield requests the members to reserve the third Friday in each month for meeting together and hopes that the enthusiasm, which was such a marked feature of the session on Friday night, will continue.

CELERY FARM IN CICERO SWAMP

Four thousand acres of land in Cicero swamp have been purchased by the D. C. Carso company of New York. It will be drained and converted into a gigantic celery farm. The company, which it is understood, will operate the production, will be called the Syracuse Gardens company.

The land purchased lies west of what is known as the Bridgeport plank road, between Mico and Bridgeport, and runs west through what is called Long Island and terminates about where the South Bay road crosses the swamp. The land is also well suited for growing onions.

The land, which is about 23 feet above Onondaga lake, has great drainage possibilities. It was made a swamp by the damming of Onondaga creek in 1802. Dr. Stas Hubbell of Syracuse purchased some of the land a few years ago, and his personal efforts, secured an act of Legislature by which the dam was condemned and removed and a large portion of land was reclaimed, covering 400 to 500 acres there. Dr. Hubbell has now become interested in this new enterprise and his land has been incorporated in the tract to be operated.

Doctor Hubbell says that the consumption of celery was so much greater than the supply in the East that California and the Southern states had to be called on, and he believed that the possibilities in the establishment of this mammoth celery garden will be immense. The land, he says, contains 33 3/4 per cent, nitrogen, and is therefore equal to artificial fertilizer, being pure black muck. The work of reclaiming will begin at once.

WORLD-WIDE POPULARITY

It is an interesting and suggestive fact that the personage most discussed in the press and wherever men and women are gathered together at the present time is not the President of the United States or any civil potentate, European or Asiatic, but an ex-president, who, after a year of isolation, and immolation, as far as politics is concerned, has barely emerged from exile. He no sooner reached a modern city than he resumed his role of preacher and teacher to the half-mad subjects of a Mohammedan ruler, restless under the suzerainty of a nation that only a few years ago snatched them from barbarism and bankruptcy and did more for them than their rulers have been able to accomplish in 8000 years or since Egypt was the most highly civilized and progressive country of prehistoric times. A throned, and years is but a day in history, and it is still doubtful if any country on this planet is fit for self-government. Since only one man here and there can govern or direct his course with wisdom, where is the logic in supposing that the mass and unwise can govern itself? Of course, the agitators among the Philippines, the Cubans, the East Indians and other countries, under the benign rule of more stable governments, make it appear that these peoples are yearning for freedom and nationality, than which there are no words more beguiling. But to return to our ex-President. He leaves Cairo in a ferment and landing at Naples, finds himself in controversy with the Roman Catholic church which to him, as to all Protestants, is not "The Church," but "a church," but to all Catholics it is "The Church." The effect of the controversy will be to strengthen the popularity of Theodore Roosevelt in this country. The President who appointed a Catholic, Bonaparte, in his cabinet, who has appointed Catholics to high judicial positions and to high diplomatic posts, who has received their most distinguished prelates at the White House, who has addressed them from their churches and assisted in the dedication of their institutions cannot be placed in an imbecile false position to real Catholicism. A few more such episodes as those in Cairo and Italy will keep interest on the qui vive, if such stimulation can be imagined necessary, but can do little to add to the top-notch popularity of the most popular man in the world.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

TIMES MADE A SCOOP

Last Wednesday, an hour after the dedication ceremonies at the Lee Memorial hospital were over, the Times, with a complete report of the exercises and the speeches in full, was delivered to its readers in the city by special carriers. This was a record never before reached by a local periodical and was only rendered possible by the new type-setting machine recently installed in the Times office.

A great deal of appreciated praise has been bestowed upon the Times for its effort and its enterprise. No other paper covered the subject so completely, not seeming to deem it a matter of much import to the community, and no paper published in Fulton has ever before made so successful an effort to establish a record for up-to-dateness and accuracy.

Systematic work has already begun to establish at Washington the international exposition and celebration in 1915 at the completion of the interoceanic canal at Panama. Washington is the logical location for such an exposition. In the first place, it is the capital of the country. Then its location is central in that it is within easy reach of the bulk of the population of the country. The Panama celebration, while of interest to the whole world, is a peculiarly national affair which concerns the United States and the capital of this country is the proper place for holding it. San Francisco will come to Washington with a strong Pacific slope pull for the exposition, and probably with a subscription of five millions of dollars from California's multi-millionaires. This will doubtless be a powerful argument, but the United States Government will at its own expense and under its own management hold one great exposition at its capital. The building for the exposition here should in a large measure be permanent. The government is on the point of spending from thirty to fifty millions for government offices, and its object in doing this will be economy. It is now paying heavy rents to private individuals for non-fireproof, unsatisfactory office buildings.

Neither of the two great parties will back presidential candidates in the election which is to take place two years hence. The great states of Ohio and New York each have more than one candidate for both parties. Gov. Harmon of Ohio is a strong candidate for the Democratic nomination, and has materially gained in popularity since his election as gov-error. As a lawyer of great experience and a member of the Cleveland cabinet, and as holding a high executive office in one of the first states of the Union, he has all the qualifications of preparation and experience. There is perhaps no Democrat in Ohio who will effectively rival or oppose him, but besides President Taft, there are Garfield and Burton and others who measure up to presidential requirements. In New York the Democrats have the New York Mayor Gaynor, while the Republicans have an ex-president eligible for two more terms and a Republican governor who has attracted to his support all that is worth saving in the Republican party. There are many other states and many other distinguished men who measure up to the presidential standard.

The exposition fever has at length struck China. At Nankin, one of the oldest cities of the flowery kingdom, an exposition will be held, beginning on May 19. The Chinese of the different provinces are taking a keen interest in the project. Nankin is one of the most interesting cities in China. It was six hundred years ago the capital of the Ming Emperors. It is surrounded by a very high wall, forty feet in thickness, on top of which one may ride on donkeys or small Chinese horses, or be hauled in a gloriksha for twenty-two miles. The city has now two hundred thousand population, but probably during the reign of the Nings there were a million people within its walls. Much of the ground once occupied by Chinese houses is now given to farming.

There has been much said in criticism of the Interstate Commerce Commission. It is said that it has done things that it ought not to have done and left undone things that it ought to have done, but its recent decision that charges for upper berths in Pullman cars should be less than the charges for lower berths will doubtless meet with general approval. The Pullman Company will doubtless appeal, but the travelers of the next generation, or perhaps of the present, will in all probability be benefitted by the action of the Commission in reducing the price of restful sleep to tired travellers.

A very drastic law for the prevention of drunkenness in Washington and the District of Columbia has been presented by Senator Gallager of New Hampshire. It makes drunkenness in the capital city a misdemeanor and provides for the establishment of a hospital for drunkards where commitments shall be for not more than two years and the District authorities will have power to establish such an institution as an adjunct to the great Isaac Asylum above the Eastern branch of the Potomac. The inmates will be required to work.

COMING EVENT

The marriage of Mr. Charles Stiles of Philadelphia, Pa., son of Mrs. Frances Stiles, and a former resident of this city, will be united in marriage on Saturday with a very popular young society lady of the Quaker City. Mr. Stiles's many friends in this city will extend congratulations.

DAM QUESTION RE-OPENED

A large delegation of water users from this city were before the Advisory Board of Harge Canal engineers in Albany last week when the subject of raising the upper and leaving the lower dam was discussed. An unofficial vote of three members of the Board was taken, the other member being absent, and it is alleged that the decision was unanimously in favor of altering the plans as accepted, and raising the upper dam six feet, leaving the lower dam as it was before the Bradley Contracting Company raised a section of the dam.

The American Woolen company and the Oswego Falls Pulp & Paper company are anxious that the upper dam be raised but desire that the lower dam remain as it is. The lower dam interests feel that arrangement to be unjust and they are vigorously opposing the latter plan.

It is believed that a decision will be rendered by the Canal Board within a short time now, the work having reached a stage where something definite must be known. Minetto, Oswego and Fulton are awaiting the decision with anxiety and impatience.

The manufacturers along the lower level have gone to great expense in constructing wheel pits, etc., to care for the additional head way of water, as was decided in the first approved plans, and a change will to them mean a great disappointment, hardship and expense. On the other hand the Oswego Falls Pulp & Paper Company threatens to bring a $1,000,000 suit for damages to their property if the lower dam is raised.

PERHAPS A NEW BRIDGE

There is a more and more urgent and insistent demand for a new upper bridge to take the place of the antique and unsafe structure over which some of the heaviest teaming in the city must be done.

Mayor Connors has looked into the matter of cost and he believes that a modern, adequate bridge could be built for between $70,000 and $80,000, of which amount the city would pay two thirds and the county one third. The matter of the new bridge will be held in abeyance until the accountants complete their work on the city books and the bonding limit of the city becomes established for a certainty.

The west side residents are desirous of the new bridge. The American Woolen company is compelled with heavy loads to drive over the lower bridge, the Beebe people have practically guaranteed a satisfactory service over the new bridge; the Fair Association and the patrons of the Lackawanna, all of these interests demand that the bridge, for so long a period condemned, shall be replaced with a new structure.

WILL OPEN MAY 15

State Superintendent of Works Stevens announces that the Oswego canal, between Three River Point and Fulton, will open May 15th.

INDEPENDENT BASEBALL TEAM

Alderman H. Freeman Johnson, the manager of the Independent baseball team, announced that M. B. Mulcahey has donated to the team tomorrow night's receipts of his bowling alleys. The money received will be used in purchasing outfits for the team.

Mr. Johnson says that the team is practicing and will be in fine condition for the opening game on Memorial Day at the new resort, which is to be located at Stop 28 on the Syracuse, Lakeshore & Northern Railroad.

If Attorney General Wickersham had held all the corporation jobs attributed to him by his political enemies, he wouldn't be able to look a trust-buster in the face.

BILLS SIGNED BY GOVERNOR

Governor Hughes has signed two of Assemblyman Sweet's bills, one authorizing an increase in the rate of interest on city bonds of Fulton from 4 to 4 1/2 per cent, the other authorizing Fulton to issue $20,000 in sewer bonds to bear 4 per cent interest.

Speaker Cannon is the only man we know of who can be down and out and right on the job at the same time.

MARRIED

Miss Gertrude Shears and W. L. Morse, both of Syracuse, were married yesterday by Rev. John G. Cornell, pastor of the First Methodist church.

Miss Adelaide M. Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eber Gardner, was united in marriage on April 12, with Mr. Fred J. Campbell, at the home of the parents in Volney. The wedding was largely attended by the young couple and they received congratulations both sincere and strenuous. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell will make their home in this city after a brief bridal trip.

The marriage of Mr. Marvin Thomson and Miss Ina Hannum took place on Monday at the home of the bride's brother in Lynden. Mr. Thomson and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sears of this city making the trip from Fulton by automobile. The ceremony was solemnized in the presence of very few intimate friends and relatives. After congratulations and a dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Thomson and Mr. and Mrs. Sears left by automobile for Syracuse, Mr. and Mrs. Thomson leaving later for Chicago. Mr. Thomson is one of the best known business men in this city and his bride is very popular with a wide circle of acquaintances. She is possessed of rare qualities of disposition, is tactful and a most enjoyable comrade. The Times extends hearty congratulations and best wishes.

The Herald of Sunday contains the following wedding announcement of interest to Fulton young people, as the groom, who is a son of Rev. and Mrs. C. C. Townsend, formerly of this city, was very popular with his associates during his five years residence here. The Times and Mr. Townsend's many friends extend hearty congratulations. Announcements have been received in Syracuse of the marriage of Miss Christine Elizabeth Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Iram C. Reed of No. 1615 Harrison street to William Wallace Townsend. The ceremony took place at noon on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Eugene W. Murray sister of the bride, in Newark, N. J., where Mrs. Reed has been ill for the last five weeks. The ceremony was performed by the groom's father, the Rev. Charles C. Townsend of Potsdam, only the immediate families being present. At 5 o'clock a wedding supper was given at the home of Mrs. William L. Morgan, another sister of the bride. Many telegrams of congratulation and beautiful presents were received from friends in this city. Miss Reed was a member of the class of 1910 of Syracuse university and of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority. Mr. Townsend is a graduate of the university of the class of 1909 and a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity. Mr. and Mrs. Townsend left for a short wedding trip to the South, and on their return will be at home to their friends at No. 1615 Harrison street, this city.

It has been a long time between churches for the Democrats.

ROOT IN CONFERENCE

Talks Primary Bill with Vice-President Sherman and Cobb.

Utica, N. Y., April 18.—State Senator Cobb, majority leader in the upper branch of the Legislature, came to Utica this afternoon for a conference with United States Senator Root, who was here to speak at the Republican Club dinner to-night. Vice-President Sherman was invited and joined the conference. At the end of the hour's discussion Senator Cobb went immediately to the depot and boarded the Empire State Express for Albany.

It was stated at the close of the conference that the meeting was with the purpose of expediting primary legislation at Albany. All three were agreed that something should go forward in the Legislature at the earliest possible moment, and each of them will exercise his influence to that end. There will be further conference at Albany and New York, in which the leaders will participate.

It is hoped to align all elements among the Republican representatives in the Legislature in support of a direct primary measure that would be generally satisfactory. This is regarded as being the most important matter before the Legislature.

It was stated at the close of the conference that the personnel of the legislative investigating committee was not discussed.

MRS. LEE EXPRESSES

Mrs. Victorine Lee has sent the following letter to Mr. H. L. Paddock, vice president of the Fulton Hospital Association, expressing her appreciation for what was done by the association and the Woman's Auxiliary at the time of the formal dedication:

Hotel Belmont, New York, N. Y., April 16, 1910.

H. L. Paddock, Esq., Fulton, N. Y.
Dear Mr. Paddock: Upon my return to New York and in taking leave of the matter of the hospital I wish to express formally to the officers of the Hospital Association my sincere pleasure over the manner in which the dedicatory services of the hospital were conducted. I wish to thank you and the Association and the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary and all others who helped to make the occasion a success for their work in doing so and for their general labor in behalf of the hospital undertaking. To you, Mr. Paddock, and to Mr. Lewis I feel especially grateful for your kindness and assistance to me personally in the matter; and I trust and believe that for years to come you will live to give to the work of the hospital the same generous care that you have bestowed upon its erection.

Yours very faithfully,
Victorine Lee.

Several new rules have been made for the government of the five department and the discussion relative thereto brought forth the suggestion that card playing and gambling on Sunday be prohibited in the new code. Chief Waugh comes to the front with the statement that since he has been chief there has been no card playing in the engine house on Sundays, nor will there be any so long as he retains his office. The fire ladders are a decent, orderly body of men and the Times does not believe that there is any foundation in fact for the stories circulated relative to Sunday card playing in the official home of the firemen.

Members of the Minority Party at Albany Express Deep Anger at the Announced Intention of Forthcoming Committee to Look into Rumors Concerning Administrations of Former State Engineer and Former Attorney General—Callan Wants State to Buy Maltese Cats—Clement's Ideas on Excise Reform.

(Special Correspondence.)

Albany, April 20.—Developments here indicate that the forthcoming legislative investigation of charges of alleged corruption will be aimed by the majority party to make a sweeping attack on various members of the Democratic party in addition to following trails leading to alleged illicit practices on the part of members of the Republican party.

The indications are that Jotham P. Allds, former majority leader of the senate, will ask to testify concerning all that he may know as to improper legislative practices on the part of members of both political parties. Allds, it is said here, will seek to gain revenge on some of the men who voted to find him guilty a few weeks ago when the roll was called in the senate on the charges of Benn Couger of Gorham.

Two possible phases of activity on the part of the legislative committee which is to investigate legislative corruption and the general business of the state departments were advanced today by a man who may be one of the members of the committee. These were the letting of contracts for state roads and the possibility of enforced contributions to campaign funds by candidates for office.

Both these matters, if taken up by the committee, are likely to bring Democrats into the limelight whose bright glare recently has been turned full on Republicans both in and out of office. Complaints about the letting of contracts while Frederick Skene was state engineer have been many. It has been common gossip that many expensive state roads have been built of inferior material and have worn out in a few months where they should have lasted years. Whose fault this was never has been claimed authoritatively, nor have rumors that contractors who were "rich" politically got fat jobs in the exclusion of others been run to earth. Information is that the legislative committee is likely to undertake an investigation of this matter.

Already there is a resolution before the assembly calling for official investigation of Chairman Conners' challenge to Charles F. Murphy of Tammany that candidates for the supreme court were "shaken down" by Tammany before they got their nominations.

This also is scheduled for investigation by the special committee, and that body may not rest with the candidates for judicial office, but put legislators and others on the stand to tell if they had to contribute to the Tammany war chest. The mere probability of such an inquiry has excited bewilderment and no little anger on the part of some of the members of the Democracy here.

Senatorial Candidacy of Ralph W. Thomas.

The Republicans of the Thirty-seventh senatorial district, comprising the counties of Chenango, Madison and Otsego, met in convention at the court house here April 12 and nominated Professor Ralph W. Thomas of Colgate university to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Jotham P. Allds. The special election will be held Thursday, April 28.

Professor Ralph W. Thomas has gained a name for himself throughout the state as a public speaker. He now occupies the chair of elocution and oratory at Colgate university and is recognized as an able teacher and scholar. His boyhood was spent in Brooklyn, and he was baptized in the same church and at the same time as Governor Hughes. When a young man he entered Colgate university and was obliged to work his way through the four years of the college course, after which he graduated with high honors.

Taught Law in Albany.

Coming to Albany, he studied law in the offices of Mead & Hatt and was two years later admitted to the bar in that city. After teaching in the Albany academy for several years he was appointed an examiner under the state superintendent of education. During this time he was often heard in public lectures, and his marked ability in this work reaching the ears of the Colgate university faculty, he soon received a call there. He left Albany to take up that position about fifteen years ago. While living in this city he married the daughter of Henry C. Southwick.

Professor Thomas was appointed by Governor Odell a member of the state board of charities, which position he now holds. If elected senator he will have to resign from the board. Since leaving Albany he has become one of the most popular Republican campaign speakers in the state.

Callan's Latest Exploit.

Assemblyman Albert Callan of Columbia county is rapidly winning the reputation of being the leading wit of the lower house.

One day last week he offered the following resolution and made an impassioned oration in its support:

"Whereas, It is reported that through the activity of certain rodents, better known as mice, large quantities of stamps have been surreptitiously removed from the postoffice of the assembly and that the clerk of the assembly has good reason to believe that such pernicious activity has been caused by the fondness of such rodents for sugar, which is one of the component parts of the mucilage on the adhesive part of such stamps; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the clerk of the assembly is hereby empowered to secure two large Maltese cats, who shall be actively employed in the detection and destruction of such rodents, under the supervision and direction of the sergeant-at-arms; and be it further

"Resolved, That such money as is necessary for the purchase, maintenance, upkeep and proper guardianship of such felines be appropriated out of the state treasury."

Mr. Callan said it was a privileged resolution demanding immediate consideration, but Chairman Merritt of the ways and means committee objected on the ground of economy, and the resolution failed.

The Governor's Program.

Now that Governor Hughes has secured action on his proposed legislative graft investigation he has begun his campaign for the enactment of the remainder of his legislative program, which one of his supporters in the senate declared today to be as follows: Enactment of a direct nominations bill.

Acceptance of the gift of Mrs. E. H. Harriman for a state park on the west shore of the Hudson.

Extension of the jurisdiction of the public service commissions to the telegraph and telephone companies.

Adoption of a new charter for New York city.

Extension of the forest preserve.

Development of the state's water power resources for the benefit of the state.

Protection of the streams of the state from pollution.

Reduction in the number of elected state officers.

Betterment of the condition of the alien population.

More strict regulation of the use of automobiles.

None of these has been enacted into law as yet. It is probable that the direct nominations bill, which has been introduced by Senator Hittman and Assemblyman Green, will be vigorously attacked by the several organization leaders. Sneaker Wadsworth Important Excise Developments.

The statement of State Excise Commissioner Clement in his recent report relating to the increase in the number of his deputies has caused a mild sensation among some of the liquor interests of the state. In some instances the belief is expressed that the increasing of his number of inspectors or deputies is the first step toward the establishment of a state constabulary board to perform other police services than those relating particularly to excise cases.

Commissioner Clement says: "If by the proposed increase in the special agent force it is intended so to change the character and enlarge the scope of departmental supervision and work as to constitute the special agent force practically a limited state constabulary having oversight and control over the liquor traffic alone a serious question is presented involving a radical change in the policy of the state in the extension of state control in the place of local control or home rule, but limiting it in its application to the liquor traffic, which is only one of the several causes that contribute to disorder in the community."

"Are we prepared to concede that so far as local police supervision of the liquor traffic is concerned home rule—so long highly cherished in declaration—is successful only in theory and in practice a failure because of the indifference of the people to an extent that justifies intervention by the state? "The remedy is not to change the system, but to change the men higher up, who are responsible in nine cases out of ten, for police demoralization. This can only be done by intelligent action on the part of the people who rule. It cannot be done by those who serve our law-changing the law."

What is a cold in the head? Nothing to worry about if you treat it with Ely's Cream Balm. Neglected, the cold may grow into catarrh, and the air-passages be so inflamed that you have to fight for every breath. It is true that Ely's Cream Balm masters catarrh, promptly. But you know the old saying about the ounce of prevention. Therefore use Cream Balm when the cold in the head shows itself. All druggists, 50c., or mailed by Ely Bros., 55 Warren St., New York.

NORTHERN NEW YORK CONFERENCE

Many Important Changes—Rev. Charles L. Peck Appointed Pastor to First M. E. Church—Rev. F. A. Miller Returned to State Street Church—List of Appointments.

The Northern New York Conference, once closed with the reading of the appointments of pastors to various churches on Monday morning. The session was very important in that many changes were made. The most radical change was in the doing away with one District, thus abolishing one District Superintendent, leaving four in all, and including Oswego in the Ontario District. The salaries of the Superintendents real estate owned by the church in the district totals between $10,000 and $12,000 more than the total contributions since 1904. Following are the appointments of clergymen for the Ontario district: Altmair, S. L. Kennedy; Amboy, H. W. Markham; Central Square, Evan Evans; Cleveland, H. B. Fox; Coxsack, F. C. Schorge; Ellisburg, D. R. Smith; Fernwood, P. O. Wilcox; Florence, to be supplied; Fulton, First church, Charles L. Peck, formerly of Asbury church, Watertown; State street church, Fulton, F. A. Miller; Hannibal, Henry Hughes; Lansing, L. L. Davies; Lee Center, S. W. Durmont; Laurel, W. J. Shaw; Mannsville, C. V. Havens; Mc Connellsville, J. G. Benson; Mexico, G. F. Shepard; Minetto, C. F. Miller; Mt. Pleasant, R. E. Jones; New Haven, F. M. Church; New London and State Bridge, R. W. Conklin; South Bay, J. W. Wilson; North Mexico, to be supplied; Northwestern, A. L. Webster; Orwell, Alonzo Hand; Oswego Center, C. H. Carter; Oswego, First church, E. H. Joy; Trinity church, F. L. Knapp; Parish, A. E. Moody; Painesville, W. T. Clemens; Pulaski, Frederick Maunder; Redfield, F. J. Fulton; Rome, First church, E. B. Topping; Liberty street church, E. H. Scott; Sandy Creek, W. M. Hydon; Scriba, L. L. Davies; South Hannibal, to be supplied; Steubenville and Westernville, Alfred Lewis; Taberg, Joseph Lobb; Vermillion, S. B. Cleves; Vernon, J. W. Laird; Verona Center, M. E. Duesler; Verona, Adelbert Warner; Westville, F. W. Dunning; Westmoreland, C. A. Miller; West Sandy Creek, D. C. Haven; Williamstown, F. W. Dunning.

The Rev. Charles E. Miller, pastor of the Arsenal Street Church, Watertown, was elected District Superintendent for the Ontario District, to succeed Rev. Loucks. Mr. Miller is very well and favorably known throughout this section, having been pastor of a Methodist church in Oswego not many years ago. His appointment gives general satisfaction. The district are valued at $339,550 and the parsonages at $64,200. The will be correspondingly increased. From now on the districts will be designated as the St. Lawrence-District, the Black River District, the Ontario District and the Mohawk District. In the divisions certain changes have been made, a part of the old Oswego District and the former Utica District going with the Black River District, a part of the former Utica District going to the Ontario and Mohawk District. The change in the names of the district is made with the idea of having the districts designated by the names of bodies of water near the same.

The Rev. Dr. A. C. Loucks, District superintendent for the Oswego District, delivered a very full report on the condition existing at the present time in his district. According to his report the Oswego district comes very near heading the list of the five districts for general prosperity. It is far above the average of the five districts and in many items heads the list.

Dr. Loucks paid a fine tribute to the work of the pastors in his district during the past year and also called attention to the hearty cooperation of the laymen along all lines. He stated that many of the churches had materially improved their property and specified a number which had been remodeled and redecorated.

In discussing the finances of the district he stated that in 1905 the total amount raised in the district was $69,000 or about $10.87 per member. In 1906 this had increased to $11.08 per member, in 1907 to $12.20, in 1908 to $11.74 and in 1909 to $12.51. At the present time the churches in the district are valued at $339,550 and the parsonages at $64,200. The Methodist Episcopal Church is well known in this section, where he began his ministry at New Haven. He is a graduate of Syracuse University and has filled some of the most important pulpits of the conference. For the last five years he has been pastor of Asbury M. E. Church of Watertown and during his pastorate the society has built a chapel costing nearly $50,000 and planned for the erection of a church which when complete will be the finest Methodist Episcopal church in this section of the country. Mr. Peck is known as a strong preacher and has an attractive personality. Mrs. Peck is one of the leaders of the work of the women of the conference, being especially prominent in missionary work.

It is very gratifying to all who know Rev. and Mrs. F. A. Miller, that Mr. Miller has been returned to the pastorate of State street church for another year. Mr. Miller is deservedly popular with his congregation and the whole people in this city. His heart is in his work and he is a great factor for good in this community. The Times cordially welcomes him back to the charge which he has held for three years.

Deaconess Mrs. Brown of the First Methodist church was consecrated by Bishop Moore during the conference last week, and she will continue her excellent work here.

Among those from Fulton who attended the sessions of the conference were Messrs. W. A. Butts, H. L. Paddock, F. E. Goodjon, J. H. Howe and Dr. D. E. Lake from the First church and Messrs. E. R. Redhead and W. H. Klein from State street church.

UNFAIR TO DECENCY—The Syracuse Herald of Sunday has the audacity to announce that married white women, with families, are generally regarded as respectable, are keeping appointments in quiet sections of Fulton with colored men from near by towns.

For the sake of the women in this city who "are generally regarded as respectable," the Times would say that there are none such meeting colored men in Fulton.

Such statements give readers an erroneous opinion of the status of morality in Fulton; and they reflect discredit upon the community.

DR. NODYNE'S SUDDEN DEATH

Trolley Strikes Automobile at "Stop 28" and Hurls Noted Veterinary Surgeon to His Death.

The most shocking fatality that has ever befallen a well known resident of this city, occurred on Tuesday morning about 11:30 o'clock at Stop 28, when Dr. E. H. Nodyne, State Veterinarian for Oswego County, and milk and meat inspector for this city, was struck by a limited car on the Syracuse, Lakeshore & Northern railroad, and instantly killed, death being caused by a fracture at the base of the brain.

Dr. Nodyne left his office at 7 o'clock on Tuesday morning to go to the farm of Frank McCaffrey, one mile east of Stop 28, for the purpose of inspecting a herd of cattle. He completed his work about 11 o'clock, telephoned his wife soon after that he would be home to dinner promptly at 12 o'clock as he had a hurried call to make, and with his pet dog, Peggy, in the car with him he started for home. The trolley was approaching from the south and Dr. Nodyne, having his car hood up, thus preventing his hearing the trolley whistle, if it was blown according to law. He was seen by several workmen on the Tilden farm, leisurely driving toward Fulton. His car was making perhaps 6 miles an hour and it was thought by the men who saw him that he would stop at the crossing. Instead of doing this he drove onto the track just as the limited car in charge of Motorman Mike Tubardy and Conductor Mike Brannan whizzed upon him at a speed of perhaps 50 miles an hour.

The motor car was struck broadside by the car and broken into many pieces; the driver was thrown far away from his car and his dog was hurled a hundred feet from its master. Besides the fracture at the base of the brain, a 4-inch cut on the right temple, smaller cuts on the right eye-brow, upper lip, four fractured ribs on the right side and the right shoulder dislocated, were also sustained by the deceased. Merciful death came too suddenly for suffering.

A work car standing near the trolley station in this city was at once telephoned for and in it the body was brought to this city where it was taken to Cole's undertaking parlors, and viewed by Coroner H. P. Marsh and Dr. Russell. Later it was taken to the desolate home in Rochester street.

Dr. Nodyne was about 40-years of age and was a graduate of the Ontario Veterinary college, coming to this city about ten years ago from Sodas, where he had practiced his profession. His rise in this community had been rapid, his reputation in his special line of work being the best and he was also known throughout the State as an expert in meat and milk matters, having read papers several times before the State organizations with which he was identified. He had done a magnificent work in this city in bringing the quality of meat and milk up to a high standard.

The deceased was a member of the Elks lodge of this city and he had a host of friends who were pleased with his advancement and proud of his achievement. He had within the past year purchased a house in Rochester street, between First and Second streets, where he and his wife resided. Dr. Nodyne was the last of his immediate family, the only relatives surviving him being an aged aunt and cousin of Rochester, who will be present at the funeral services.

The very deepest sympathy of the community goes out to the young widow who was devotedly attached to her husband and who was always so tenderly and thoughtfully cared for by him. She is but a child in years and the blow has proven almost too great for her frail constitution to bear. The future looked so rosy to the young couple and the awakening has been so rude for her that time alone can soften the blow. When told by Dr. Gladman of her husband's death she could not realize it, having talked with him over the telephone but a few brief moments before.

The funeral services will be held at the home on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Rev. George C. Wadsworth officiating. The services will be under the auspices of the Elks.

APPOINTED TO SUPREME COURT

Governor Hughes will Succeed Justice Brewer in the Country's Highest Tribunal—Will Be Governor Until October.

Governor Charles E. Hughes will succeed the late Justice Brewer in the Supreme Court of the United States. His nomination was sent to the Senate by the President, immediately after the receipt of an acceptance of his offer from the Governor.

Mr. Hughes will be promptly confirmed, but will not relinquish his present office until October. The court meets for the fall and winter term on October 10. This arrangement has the full approval of President Taft, and was a material factor in Governor Hughes's acceptance of the place tendered him by the President last Friday.

Members of both political parties in the Senate expressed themselves as highly pleased with the nomination and predicted that there would be no opposition to confirmation.

The following official statement of the tender of the nomination and its acceptance was given out at the White House:

"The President by letter of April 22 tendered the appointment to the Supreme Bench to succeed Justice Brewer to Governor Charles E. Hughes of New York. By letter of April 24 Governor Hughes accepted."

"In the President's letter to Governor Hughes he told him that as the Supreme Court would adjourn its hearings this week, the person appointed would not be called upon to discharge any judicial functions until the opening of the October term on the second Monday in October and that, therefore, if Governor Hughes could accept, he might continue to discharge his duties as Governor until his qualification on the day of the opening of court in October next. This was a material factor in Governor Hughes's acceptance."

"Accordingly, if the nomination is confirmed, as there is every reason to believe it will be, Governor Hughes's qualification will not take place until October."

President Taft was much elated over the success of his tender to Governor Hughes and he expressed his gratification as follows:

"I am very much delighted to secure Governor Hughes for the bench. He is a man of wide experience and marked ability, and it is a mighty valuable thing to have on the great bench of the Supreme Court a man of affairs. Governor Hughes is forty-eight years of age, I think, and even if he should retire at seventy he will have had twenty-two years of solid usefulness on the bench."

Members of the New York delegation in Congress who are supporting Governor Hughes in his efforts to put through a legislative programme at Albany which will respond to public sentiment and redeem the party pledges do not believe that the appointment will in any way retard the Hughes movement in New York.

"In fact," said one of the most prominent members of the New York delegation to-night, "I believe the action taken to-day will strengthen Governor Hughes and make more certain the complete success of his administration. It is a notice to the people of New York that the national Republican administration believes in the high character and great ability of Governor Hughes."

When it was suggested that the nomination of Governor Hughes might result in the elimination of the Governor from active participation in the forthcoming political campaign in the Empire State, the New York member said:

"Of course, I am not able to say what course Governor Hughes will take in political affairs after the adjournment of the Legislature. I am convinced that his appointment to the Supreme Court means that Theodore Roosevelt will be the unanimous choice of New York Republicans as leader of the party. His influence and his personality will be felt in the approaching campaign, and I see an opportunity for the warring factions to get together under a banner of Roosevelt leadership."

Of course, Governor Hughes's legal record is being scanned to-night to determine, in so far as possible, his attitude on the great constitutional questions pending in the highest court. His authorship of the law creating the Public Service commission and his public declarations in favor of adequate federal control of the interstate railways are taken to indicate a breadth of mind, and a progressive view in accord with the progressive spirit of the Republican party.

On the other hand his fearless veto of the 2-cent fare bill is pointed to as indicating his determination to do exact justice, and the small likelihood of his progressive views carrying him beyond the point of impartiality.

Some of the advocates of the income tax amendment regret that the Governor should have committed himself to the proposition that it can be continued as authorizing the taxation of the income from state securities, but among those who disagree with his views there are a number who believe he will see the matter differently after consultation with his colleagues on the Supreme Court bench and from the national eminence which service in that court implies.

Governor Hughes's colleagues expressed themselves as follows when they learned of his acceptance of the proffered honor:

"I am delighted," said Chief Justice Fuller.

"A fine appointment," said Justice Harlan.

"I am delighted to hear it," declared Justice White.

"Governor Hughes is a man of high character and great ability," was Justice McKenna's comment.

Justice Lurion smiled; no longer would he be the newest member of the court.

Among members of the Supreme Court bar the unanimous expression was that Governor Hughes will make an excellent judge.

No official in Washington was more pleased than Attorney General Wickersham over Governor Hughes's acceptance. He expressed himself as delighted over what had occurred and as confident that the Governor will make an excellent judge. As soon as he learned that the Governor had actually accepted, Mr. Wickersham sent the following dispatch to him at Albany:

"I want to express my great personal satisfaction that you have accepted the appointment to the Supreme Court."

Speaker Cannon declined to comment on the appointment, but Representative Champ Clark said that it was a good appointment. "Governor Hughes is a strong man," said Mr. Clark.

President Taft had been warned in advance that Governor Hughes might not be able to accept because his service as Governor of the state of New York had practically depleted his small private fortune and he felt the necessity of again entering the practice of law in order to earn a competence for himself and his family. This did not deter the President, however, and he had optimistically awaited a reply.

The first overtures regarding the appointment are said to have been conducted through Senator Root, of New York. It was not until Friday last that the President wrote a formal letter offering the place to the Governor. That fact was carefully guarded. Governor Hughes deliberated over the matter for a day and wrote his acceptance.

But the Governor will not have to take up his work on the bench until the second week in October. By that time, his friends say he has told them, he feels that everything he could accomplish here will have been accomplished. The work remaining for the Executive will be practically routine work. His legislative programme will have been passed on finally; his record will have been made. There will be a new candidate for Governor in the field, and after election his policies will remain to be considered, and all that relates to the next session of the Legislature will be shaped by the successful candidate.

The salary of judge of the Supreme Court is $12,500 a year, through there now is a bill before Congress to make it $17,500, the salary of a justice of the Supreme Court in the 1st and 2d districts in this state. This, to be sure, is almost beggarly beside the yearly income the Governor could make if he took up the practice of law in New York. The money element, though, seems to have been the one least considered by him in reaching his decision. He is a poor man, and acknowledges it freely. He has a large family and children to put through college. His four years as Governor have cost him about $12,000 a year over the salary, but that has been due to the fact that as Chief Executive of the state he has been obliged to maintain a certain degree of state in his establishment.

GOVERNOR SIGNS FULTON BILLS

Governor Charles E. Hughes has signed Assemblyman Sweet's bill upon which public hearings were given recently in this city. One of the bills grants permission to the Common Council to issue $20,000 worth of sewer bonds at a rate of interest not to exceed 4 1/2 per cent, thus making it possible, it is believed, for the Council to provide the means for the extension of the west side sewer system.

Assemblyman Sweet's other bill affecting Fulton amends the city charter so as to provide for a maximum rate of interest upon city bonds not to exceed 4 1/2 per cent.

SMALL POX SCARE

Polack Dies in Hospital With Dreaded Disease—Many Persons Exposed

A Polack with a temperature of 104, was found in a shack in the southern section of the city by Census Enumerator Whitaker on Tuesday of last week and he was conveyed to the hospital. On Thursday it became apparent that something out of the ordinary in typhoid cases was to be found in this case, and accordingly Health Officer Cusack was notified by the physician whose suspicion was aroused. Drs. Cusack and Russell, with Dr. Whitaker, visited the patient and diagnosed the case as one of small pox of the most virulent type. The hospital was at once quarantined, nurses and patients vaccinated, the shack in which the man had been living, together with as many of its twenty-five or thirty inmates as could be located, was also quarantined and every possible measure was taken to stamp out a possible spread of the disease. On Thursday night the man died. His body, wrapped in a bichloride soaked sheet, was buried in a box in Mt. Adnah cemetery for the public welfare on the following day.

As soon as the nature of the disease was known, consternation came the habit throughout the city and with the many doctors figuring in the case, so opposite in their statements and the facts so difficult to ascertain, nervous ones were in a maze of doubt and fear.

No one knew who had been exposed; no one knew where the dreadful disease might next break forth, but at the same time doubt held fast in check. The near future, with no more cases developing, will lead to the belief that the case was not small pox.

It should be said, however, that Health Officer Cusack did perfectly right in his handling of the case. If it were small pox he has exerted every effort toward preventing the spread. If it was not a contagious disease, he has only erred in his zeal for the public welfare, on the side of safety. Nothing has been left undone by him to prevent the spread of possible contagion: 500 virus points have been ordered for vaccination purposes, and parents should look to it that they and their children are vaccinated, before the Board of Health issues a mandate to that effect, compelling all to undergo the ordeal. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure any time, and should more cases follow the person thus protected will stand a better chance than the one who neglects to take advantage of the remedy.

CONFERENCE OF CITY OFFICIALSMayors of State Will Discuss Municipal Health Problems at Schenectady—First of Kind in State.

Schenectady, April 26.—As the result of a referendum vote of the mayors of the state, taken recently at the suggestion of Mayor Charles C. Duray of this city, a conference of the chief magistrates and other officials of Second and Third Class Cities will be called to consider those phases of municipal administration pertaining to public health. The conference, which will be strictly informal and unofficial in character, will be held in this city, probably on Thursday and Friday, June 9 and 10. The mayors were unanimous in the selection of Schenectady as the place and the early part of June as the time for the conference. Pursuant to the suggestion of a considerable number of the mayors, Mayor Duray has appointed the following advisory committee on arrangements:

Mayor James B. McEwan of Albany, Mayor Elias P. Mann of Troy, Mayor Otto Pfaff of Oneida, Mayor Seely Conover of Amsterdam and Mayor John K. Sague of Poughkeepsie. Local committees will arrange the details of the conference and for the entertainment of the visiting officials and their wives, and the expenses of the conference will be borne by the citizens of Schenectady.

For many years it has been the practice of the heads of practically all the departments of municipal and county governments and several state officials to hold annual gatherings to discuss problems appertaining to their respective offices. It is a surprising fact, however, that no conference of mayors, who have more questions of public welfare to contend with than any other official, outside of a few state and federal officials, has ever been held in New York State. The idea has been discussed many times, but the movement lacked some person to take the initiative. Mayor Duray's suggestion of a practical plan was the spark that kindled an enthusiastic response. In a letter to the mayors of all the second and third class cities, Mayor Duray called attention to the benefits that would be derived from a conference where the ideas of experienced and experienced executives as to the most effective plan of public health administration could be exchanged. As a result of his calling for an expression of opinion, already the mayors of two-thirds of the cities have unanimously endorsed the plan and have promised to support the conference by attending and participating. In view of the constantly increasing interest that the citizens of the state are taking in the conservation of health through national, state and municipal governments and the impetus that has been given to the work by recent health conferences and the activity of federal and state officials, practically all of the mayors in their replies expressed the opinion that a gathering to discuss and bear discussed by men of national and international prominence the municipal administration of matters pertaining to public health will result in great good to every municipality in the state. Many predict it will be the beginning of a series of annual conferences of mayors to be held in different cities in the state.

Already the conference promises to be the most important gathering of municipal officials ever held in New York State. Federal, state and municipal officials and the very best experts in the country will present, from a scientific standpoint the most important phases on municipal activities having to do with health matters and the mayors of the municipalities interested will be asked to take part in the discussions. Among some of the subjects to be discussed will be the following:

1. Municipal Hospital Care of Contagious Diseases.
2. Municipal Duties in the Conquest of Tuberculosis.
3. The Housing Problem and Health.
4. The Prevention of Disease by the Elimination of Dust—Modern Methods of Street Cleaning and the Care of Public Buildings, Including Proper Ventilation.
5. What the Small City Can Do to Protect the Food Supply of its People.
6. The Organization and Work of an Effective Health Department.
7. The Protection of Life vs. the Protection of Property—The Health Inspector, the Policeman, and the Fireman.
8. Where Shall We Get the Money for Municipal Health Activities?

The conference will open probably on Thursday afternoon, June 9, with a luncheon tendered to the visiting mayors and officials, following which will be a brief program. In the evening a public meeting will be held in one of the opera houses at which prominent federal and municipal officials will discuss health and municipal problems. Morning and afternoon sessions will be held on the following day and in the evening the conference will close with a banquet at which federal officials and celebrated experts will be the principal speakers. This program will be interspersed with smokers, luncheons, automobile rides and trolley trips.

SERVED HIM RIGHT

Headquarters Erastus T. Tefft Post, G. A. R., Brooklyn, April 12, 1910.

Comrade: We have sought our former comrade, Norm G. Cooper, in his flight through Brooklyn. We intend to treat him in a manner which he will long remember. Come to the Post on Saturday evening, April 16, and help us do it.

Yours in F. C. & L., C. A. Lester, Commander.
Charles H. Hawhurst, Adjutant.

The above notice brought out many of my dear comrades including Richard Esmond and Robert McNulty of New York and H. A. Cozzens of Brooklyn. It was delightful to meet all who were present but my chief joy was in meeting the three Oswego county "old boys" mentioned above. Cozzens was in my regiment (24th N. Y. Infantry) and was badly shot on the 29th of Aug., 1862, at Second Bull Run; his brother was killed by his side. I was wounded and taken prisoner in the same charge upon the confederacy, so we had warm love for each other. The three named were very admirable soldiers whom Oswego county may rightly join me in praising. I know no reason now against my being in Fulton about May 6th, to meet my dear old comrades E and H on the forty-ninth anniversary of our leaving Fulton for a soldier life in 1861. Hooran! Yours, Norm G. Cooper.

COMMERCE IS HUMAN SERVICE

Commerce is no longer exploitation. It is human service, and no business concern can hope to prosper which does not meet a human need and add to human happiness. The indiscriminate giving to the poor was a mistaken policy. It tended to make poverty perpetual. Now we aim to give just one thing, and that is opportunity.

Business aims to render life safe and secure. To supervise wisely the great corporations is well, but to look backward to the days when business was polite pillage and regard our great business concerns as piratical institutions carrying letters of marque and reprisal, is a grave error, born in the minds of little men. Charity and piracy are things of the past. They were always closely akin, for pirates were very charitable and even in their train were troops of sturdy beggars.

Business will yet do away with graft and begging. Reciprocity, co-operation and mutuality are the important words now. Laws for the regulation of trade should be most carefully scanned. That which hampers, limits, cripples and retards must be done away with. That which gives freedom, security and peace be encouraged. We are moving toward the sun-rising; and no man can guess the splendor and the riches and the beauty that will yet be ours. Let America lead the way.

Elbert Hubbard.

CANAL OPENING DATE

State Superintendent of Public Works, F. C. Stevens has announced that the Oswego canal, excepting that portion between Three River Point and Lock No. 11 at Fulton, will open on May 16. The Erie, Champlain, Cayuga and Seneca canals will also open on that date.

Apparently, nearly 40 per cent of the corporations haven't filed their reports in Washington and are liable to huge fines. Possibly these fines will be so great that the government will be willing to omit the tax.

TRICKED THE SAVAGE.

The Explorers Forced Him to Lead Them to Water.

A party of explorers, four in number, were traveling across the sandy plains of Western Australia. They had been struggling on for weeks and were now greatly in need of water. Their two camels had not had any water to drink for nearly a fortnight. After a time they came to a deserted camp hidden among some trees.

While they were looking at the still smoldering campfires they were startled by some dreadful yells, and a shower of spears, thrown by a number of black savages, came flying about them.

The savages made the travelers so angry that they rushed after the blacks, who fled in all directions. After a stern chase they found one of the savages up a tree. As he would not come down, one of the travelers climbed the tree after him.

Presently a branch of the tree gave way, and they both came tumbling down, but without hurting themselves much.

The travelers asked the black man where they could find some water, but he would not say.

Then they tried to get friendly with him and gave him some food. But, although he enjoyed the food, he would not tell them where water was to be found.

Then one of them had an idea. He took some tinned meat, mixed into it a handful of salt and gave it to the hungry savage. The black soon cleared it up and seemed to enjoy it, much to the amusement of the travelers. Then they sat down and waited.

In about an hour the savage began to get fidgety and wanted to leave them, but they would not let him go. Presently he began to wail: "Water! Water!"

Jumping up, he ran to the densest part of the scrub, followed by the white men.

Clearing away some twigs, he revealed a hidden pool of clear water. That is the way the spring was discovered.

A HENRY CLAY STORY.

Fate of the Resolution Instructing Him How to Vote.

Adlai Stevenson in "Something of Men I Have Known," commenting on Henry Clay, tells the anecdote:

Possibly since the foundation of the government no statesman has been so completely idolized by his friends and party as was Henry Clay. Words are meaningless when the attempt is made to express the idolatry of the Whigs of his own state for their great chief. For a lifetime he knew no rival. His wish was law to his followers. In the realm of party leadership a greater than he hath not appeared. At his last defeat for the presidency strong men wept bitter tears. When his star set it was felt to be the signal for the dissolution of the great party of which he was the founder. In words worthy to be recalled, "when the tidings came like walling over the state that Harry Percy's spur was cold the chivalrous felt somehow the world had grown commonplace."

The following incident along the line indicated may be considered characteristic. While Mr. Clay was a senator, a resolution, in accordance with a some time custom, was introduced into the Kentucky house of representatives instructing the senators from that state to vote in favor of a certain bill then pending in congress. The resolution was in the act of passing without opposition when a hitherto silent member from one of the mountain counties, springing to his feet, exclaimed, "Mr. Speaker, am I to understand that this legislature is undertaking to tell Henry Clay how to vote?" The speaker answered that such was the purpose of the resolution. At which the member from the mountains, throwing up his arms, exclaimed, "Great heaven! and sank into his seat. It is needless to add that the resolution was immediately rejected by unanimous vote."

The Aged and Infirm One.
The Haldane family has always been noted in England for its famous walkers, and the present head of the family tells this story of one of his ancestors:

This old gentleman, having been prayed for by a clergyman as "this aged and infirm servant," immediately suggested a little walk with his surprised clerical friend. The latter consented, and the "aged and infirm" Mr. Haldane took him for such a tremendously long walk that when the clergyman returned, utterly exhausted, he fell asleep and could only with difficulty be awakened to conduct a religious service.—London M. A. P.

Profanity of His Profession.
"Who is that scientific gent in room 15?" asked the scrub lady.
"I dunno," answered the broom gentleman. "But he's a funny one to swear. You ought to hear him. When he saw a lot of mold on top of his ink he said, 'Believe me just that way.'"
—Chicago Tribune.

Safer.
"Those two statesmen are so angry they won't speak."
"Well," answered Senator Sorghum, "that's better than starting a controversy."—Washington Star.

Quite Fresh.
She—Did you see many fresh faces at the opera the other night? He—Oh, yes. Some of them had only just been made that evening. — Boston Transcript.

That Lame Back Means Kidney Disease

And to Relieve the Lame and Aching Back,
You Must First Relieve the Kidneys

There is no question about that at all—for the lame and aching back is caused by a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder.
It is only common sense, any way
—that you must cure a condition by removing the cause of the condition. And lame and aching back are not by any means the only symptoms of derangement of the kidneys and bladder. There are a multitude of well-known and unmistakable indications of a more or less dangerous condition. Some of these are, for instance: Extreme and unnatural lassitude and weariness, nervous irritability, heart in-regularity, "nerves on edge," sleeplessness and inability to secure rest, scalding sensation and sediment in the urine, inflammation of the bladder and passages, etc.

DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills are an exceptionally meritorious remedy for any and all affections or diseased conditions of these organs. These Pills operate directly and promptly—and their beneficial results are at once felt.
They regulate, purify, and effectually heal and restore the kidneys, bladder and liver, to perfect and healthy condition—even in some of the most advanced cases.

THE OLD GRAND ARMY BOYS

You may talk about the Masons, And the Odd Fellows, and such, You may call them so fraternal As to fairly beat the Dutch, You may praise them if you choose to, With their mystic rites and noise, But they cannot hold a candle To the old Grand Army boys.

For a man that has the memory Can learn all about the craft, He can get degrees and pass words, That would make a funeral laugh, And be loaded down with symbols; But for true fraternal joys They can never hold a candle To the old Grand Army boys.

You may talk about your badges, But the one that has the call Is the star, the flag and eagle, That is far above them all. It was won when cannon thundered, Mid the battle's smoke and noise, So there's nothing holds a candle To the old Grand Army boys.

Why, they fought and bled together, And they shared the prison pen, And they faced the front in battle With the touch of manly men. Then the compact was cemented, Mid the conflict's crash and noise, So there's nothing holds a candle To the old Grand Army boys.

They fraternal? Well, I reckon, And their charity's all right, Are they loyal? They have proved it, For they left their homes to fight, And the Nation owes them homage For the peace it now enjoys, For there's nothing holds a candle To the old Grand Army boys.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANKS

President Taft Urges Members of Committee to Take Speedy Action

President Taft recently met the two committees on Postoffices and Post Roads at the White House, and impressed on them the necessity of speedy action on the postal savings bill now before the House committee. The President has made it clear to his callers that he has by no means lost interest in the measure and expects it to follow closely after the railroad bill. It is understood that Representative Weeks assured him that the House will have an early opportunity to vote on the bill. This will require some diplomacy on the part of the Representative from Massachusetts. The sub-committee to which the bill was referred does not favor it and has voted to report it adversely to the full committee. Two members, however, signed a minority report, and it is expected that this minority report will be adopted by the full committee and presented to the House. The sub-committee which had the bill under consideration is composed of Representative Gardner, of New Jersey, chairman; Representatives Huff, of Pennsylvania; Durey, of New York; Hamer, of Idaho; Moon, of Tennessee, and Small, of North Carolina. It is understood that Representatives Durey and Hamer favor the bill and have signed a minority report, while Representative Gardner and the two Democrats, Moon and Small, voted against the measure. Representative Huff is non-committal.

Members of the committee who favor the bill declare it will receive a favorable report in an amended form and that it will have to be changed on the floor of the House in order to make it satisfactory to the President. As it will be reported to the full committee the bill will limit the amount which may be deposited in the savings banks by an individual to $300. This is thought by many advocates of the measure to be entirely too small a maximum, and an attempt will be made to increase the amount so as to allow a deposit of at least $1,000.

Representative Murdock, of Kansas, declared that he was prepared to offer a resolution to discharge the committee from further consideration of the bill in case it was not reported within a reasonable time. He insists that there are many more than enough men in favor of the bill to carry a motion of that character. It is considered most improbable, however, that the advocates of the bill will be forced to resort to such a method to obtain action.

WANT FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS

(Oswego Times)
The summons and complaint in an action brought by Harmon Boucher against George Stackhouse, to recover $500, has been filed in the County Clerk's office, and a warrant of attachment on certain of the defendant's property issued.

Mead & Stranahan represent Mr. Boucher. He claims that Mr. Stackhouse, who lived in Syracuse, entered into a contract with him to take care of the latter's farm, near Fulton, for $50 a month, house rent free, and part of the farm products. The contract, the complaint alleges, was to run from March 1st to December 1st. On the strength of it Mr. Boucher claims that he moved his family from Dutchess county to Fulton. He hasn't yet seen any of Mr. Stackhouse's money, he says, and the latter, he also claims, has gone to East Orange, N. J.

AN OCCASION FOR REPRIMAND

Mark Twain said that he has always taken woman's part. "For instance," he relates, "I once strongly reprimanded a woman out in Hannibal, Mo. Here was the occasion: "So this is a little girl, eh?" I said to her as she displayed her child to me. "And this sturdy little urban in the bib belongs, I suppose, to her contrary sex?" "Yassah," the woman replied. "Yassah, dat's a girl, too." — Every-body's.

The Old Moss Room.

Alvin Adams when the express business was in its infancy had an office and two horses in New York city. One of these horses was a fine, fast animal and the other an old, broken down nag. Packages that were to be delivered immediately he sent out behind the fast horse. Of goods that didn't have to be rushed he would say, "Leave them for the old boss." In every express office to this day there is an "old boss" room, where undelivered and unclaimed packages are kept. Argonaut.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

State has 7,032 Liquor Licenses.

There are 27,882 liquor licenses outstanding in this state, or one for each inhabitant. Representative liquor dealers and brewers went on record last year in favor of such limitations to the law as would reduce this number of licensed places to a minimum of 1 to each 500 inhabitants. The report continues:

"Many disinterested citizens who have given the subject much thought favor a ratio of 1 to each 750, while others believe that the proper ratio is 1 to each 1,000 of population. While I do not recommend drastic changes in the law in this respect, I deem it for the best interests of the state that the issuance of licenses for new places should be restricted and that such changes in the law should be enacted as will operate gradually to decrease the number of licensed places until a basis has been reached that is consistent with law observance and law enforcement."

Breaking It Gently.

"We women have still much to fight for," said an equal suffrage orator. "Our battle will be long and difficult. Well, let us frankly admit it—there is nothing to be gained by such rose colored phrases as William White employed."

"William White's brother had killed a man in cold blood."

"Well, William, how about your brother? a visitor to the town asked him one day after the trial."

"Well, said William, 'they've put him in jail for a month.'"

"That's a rather light sentence for a cold blooded murder, said the man."

"Yes, sir," William admitted, "but at the month's end they're going to hang him."

Official Paper of City of Fulton.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 27, 1910.

Twenty years ago practically no cotton was manufactured in the South. Now it is said that fifty per cent of all the cotton manufactured in this country is manufactured south of the Mason and Dixon line. As it is well known, a large part of the raw cotton raised in the world is shipped from the South. Probably within another twenty years the South, while remaining the greatest cotton producing section in the world, will also become the greatest cotton manufacturing center in the world. Then, and not until then, will the South attain its maximum prosperity. Cotton may not be "king," as was the boast fifty years ago, but it is surely the greatest natural monopoly in the world. The cotton grown abroad is inferior to that of the South. That grown in India, Egypt and China is useful in its way, but it is at best but a poor substitute.

A certain riser of the Census has it that Governor Patterson of Tennessee has pardoned 152 murderers, 108 blind tiger operators and 126 carriers of concealed weapons, during his term so far. The Governor ought to have an effective, if not a very desirable constituency, when he runs for re-election.

Beef from Australia pays freight and tariff and sells from three to six cents cheaper than American beef in the New York market, and it is said that it is a better quality of beef than furnished by the beef barons of Chicago.

A little row among Republicans is always productive of a big justification among Democrats, and then they get up a still bigger row, as Mr. Taft says.

WEDDED A NEGRESS

George A. Fleischmann, a white farmer, aged 38, residing near this city, was united in marriage with Mrs. Minnie Coleman, a negress, aged 34, in Syracuse last week. Dr. Cornwell, pastor of the First Methodist church in this city having refused to officiate. A negro preacher in the Salt City was finally pressed into service and the oddly assorted pair were united. A few days later the bride was sentenced to the penitentiary for 40 days for bringing young girls to Syracuse for immoral purposes and for keeping a house of doubtful repute in Syracuse. Mr. Fleischmann has returned to his home near this city.

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS

Try to Find Plan to Satisfy Oneida Street Property Owners—Water Waste Stopped

The Board of Public Works is trying to evolve some plan whereby the aggrieved tax payers on Oneida street may be satisfied in their claims for damages, owing to change of grade last year, and they are facing a vexatious problem left them by the last administration. The city has no money to pay the damages claimed nor does it see its way clear to secure funds at any nearby time. If, with out litigation, a compromise to the advantage of the city can be made, that will probably be the end. A committee composed of one from the taxpayers, one from the Board of Public Works and one to be selected by them, to adjust the loss.

Superintendent Martin is working strenuously with an eye single to the good of the city. The street sweeping is done at 4 a. m. this Spring and the Times has yet to hear one objection. When business for the day commences the streets are clean and the dust does not annoy anyone.

Recently two blocks of water mains were laid under Mr. Martin's superintendency, a team being employed two hours and ten men being on the job for two days.

That the water pressure is better since the inspection of the city recently, is unquestioned. Many leaks were stopped, extravagances reduced, and foolish wastes reduced to a minimum. Several broken mains have been repaired in different sections of this city. A half inch pipe in Phillips street school, running since the school house was built, was discovered and stopped. Recently Superintendent Martin visited a home in a section of the city and found a faucet in the kitchen, which was broken off last September, had been allowed to run unchecked until the visit of the official. The spattering of the water on the kitchen floor all these months apparently had not annoyed the housewife and as long as she did not own either the house or the water, why bother to have the landlord replace the faucet. Mr. Martin sent a plumber to the house and a new faucet was installed.

PLAY BALL

A baseball franchise for Fulton has been accepted by H. B. Bidwell, H. F. Johnson and Warren Tilden. Mr. Bidwell will be manager of the team and hold one-third of the franchise. Messrs. Johnson and Tilden holding the remaining two-thirds. The season will open about May 20, after two weeks of practice work. The team will be a member of the Central New York Baseball League recently organized.

Alderman H. F. Johnson and Mr. Tilden are preparing a Summer resort with many attractions at Stop 23, which will be a feature of this locality for people who enjoy outdoor sports. It will be kept orderly so that family parties may enjoy the beauties of nature at the park, and baseball and all sports will draw large crowds from every near-by section reached by the trolley.

Music was rendered, songs sung and stories told.—Rochester Advertiser.

Mrs. O. J. Jennings

Adelaide Augusta McGraw was born on Sept. 26, 1841, the daughter of William and Pauline Dickinson McGraw. She was educated at Fallley Seminary in Fulton and at the Canandaigua Female Seminary. Showing from an early age unusual talent in drawing and painting, a talent which was further developed by later study, and despite the frail health which was life long with her, she has left some meritorious art works.

In 1863 she was married to Capt. O. J. Jennings of Fulton, and they made their home here and in Dunkirk, N. Y., until 1898, when removal was made to a farm near Port Royal, Va. Mrs. Jennings united with the First Baptist church of Fulton early in her married life and was an earnest believer in the truths of Christianity and a loyal Christian.

She was a faithful friend; of kindly and gracious nature; charitable in her judgments and speech; self-sacrificing in life and deed. In January, 1908, she suffered a paralytic stroke and in November, 1909, a second shock, the end coming peacefully on April 15, 1910, when she quickly fell into the long sleep. Interment was made in Pinehill Cemetery, Bowling Green, Va. She is survived by her husband and daughter, Miss Pauline Jennings, of New York city, who were at the funeral, and both witnessed the love and devotion of the neighbors who came with beautiful flowers and heartfelt words of admiration for the dear one gone from their midst. Rev. S. S. Wave gave a beautiful tribute to her memory at the home, and at the grave the Baptist minister and the pastor of the Christian church of Bowling Green, closed the services. I can testify that husband and daughter have been especially devoted, tender and self-sacrificing in their care of the sweet invalid whom my wife and I found years ago to be beautiful in her ways and tender as a child in her actions. Miss Pauline had been seriously ill a month in New York and from a sick bed journeyed to her sorrowful Virginia home. God help the mourners.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.
The angel of death, whose coming we all know to be inevitable, yet for whose advent we are never fully prepared, has again invaded the precincts of our fraternity, and our beloved comrade, Grove H. Dutton, has passed from our midst to answer the final roll call.

We deeply deplore his loss, as being that of an important link in the chain that held together in fraternal bonds the comrades of our Post. We shall ever miss his genial presence at our gatherings; his words of wisdom in our deliberations, his jovial sayings in our moments of pleasantries; his earnest and patriotic teachings, and his ever ready councils for the good of our order.

Our comrade has run his race and attained the goal to which we all are tending; he has gone from us, leaving behind him the respect and love of all with whom he associated, and is now at rest in Mount Ararat, among those whom he loved, and whose resting place it was his melancholy pleasure to bedeck with the flowers of Spring. May his rest be as sweet as his patriotism was earnest.

To his family, whom the ties of consanguinity entitle the more earnestly to mourn, our fraternity has but little of this world's consolation to give. We can only point them to the hope of immortality which is promised in the sacred word, bidding them look forward to a happy reunion in that glorious land where frailties are unknown and the just are made perfect.

Resolved, That Post D. F. Schenck be draped for the usual period in honor of our departed comrade; that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Post and that an engrossed copy hereof be given to the family of our deceased comrade.

John W. Distin,
Nicholas Lester,

Committee.

Loudly shouted warnings failed to penetrate her ear and she must have been ground to death but for Father Landsman's frantic signaling to the engineer who put the brakes on and as the engine slowly passed Mrs. Bullis the wheels grazed her cloak. She was in quest of an ear trumpet when she so nearly lost her life as the result of her affliction.

CHAPTER XIV. ON THE RIVER.

NO word was spoken during this cautious, extraordinary voyage underground. The pseudo Julius supported his charge in the stern of the boat. Peter Brutus sat in the bow, a revolver in his hand, his gaze bent upon the opaque waters ahead.

At last the boat crept out into the rainy, starless night. He drew the skirts of his own mackintosh over his shoulders and head. The night was so black that one could not see his hand before his face.

At least two of the occupants opened up their throats and lungs and gulped in the wet, fresh air.

It was now that he began to wonder, to calculate against the plans of their silent escort. Whether were they about? The occasional creak of an oar, a whispered oath of dismay, the heavy breathing of followers, the soft blowing of the mist—that was all; no other sound on the broad, still river.

Truxton began to chafe under the strain. His uneasiness was increased by the certain conviction that before long they would be beyond the city, the walls of which were gradually slipping past.

He considered their chances if he were to overturn the frail boat and strike out for shore in the darkness. This project he gave up at once. He did not know the waters of the banks between which they glided. They were past the walls now and rowing less stealthily. Before long they would be in a position to speak aloud. It would be awkward for him.

Suddenly the boat turned to the right and shot toward the unseen bank. They were perhaps half a mile above the city wall. Truxton's mind was working like a trip-hammer. He was recalling a certain pond, settlement north of the city, the quarters of fishermen, pouchers and horse traders. These people, he was not slow to surmise, were undoubtedly hand in glove with Marlanx. If not so surely connected with the misguided committee of ten.

He had little time to speculate on the attitude of the denizens of this unwholesome place. The prow of the boat grated on the pebbly bank, and Peter Brutus leaped over the edge into the shallow water.

"Come, on Julius—hand her over to me!" he cried.

As he leaned over the side to seize the girl in his arms Truxton King brought the butt of his heavy revolver down upon his skull. Brutus dropped across the gunwale with a groan, dead to all that was to happen in the next half hour of more.

Leaning forward, he had the two amazed oarsmen covered with the weapon.

"Hands up! Quick!" he cried. Two pairs of hands went up together with strange oaths. Truxton's eyes had grown used to the darkness; he could see the men quite plainly. "What are you doing?" he demanded of Loraine, who, he blind him, was laughing in the garments of the unconscious Brutus.

"Getting his revolver," she replied, with a quaver in her voice.

"Good!" he said exultantly. "Let's think a minute," he went on. "We don't dare turn these fellows loose, even if we disarm them. They'll have a crowd after us in two minutes."

"We'll keep the boat. There! Now push off, Newport!" For King had recognized his guard in the witch's hovel in the person of one of the oarsmen.

"What the devil!" began Newport, but King silenced him. The boat slowly drifted out into the current.

"Now row!" he commanded. With his free hand he reached back and dragged the limp Brutus into the boat. "God, I believe he's dead!" he muttered.

"Can you swim?" demanded King.

"Not a stroke," gasped Newport. "Good Lord, pol, you're not going to dump us overboard? It's ten feet deep along here."

"Pull on your left, bard. That's right. I'm going to land you on the opposite shore."

Two minutes later they ran up under the western bank of the stream, which at this point was fully 300 yards wide. Under cover of the dead, lying form of Peter Brutus was pulled out and transferred to the shoulders of his companions.

"Good night," called out Truxton King cheerily. He had grasped the oars.

"I'll row over to the east side," announced King to the girl, "but I don't like to get too close to the walls. Some one may have heard the shouts of our friends back there."

Not another word passed between them for ten or twelve minutes. She peered anxiously ahead, looking for signs of the barge dock, which lay somewhere along this section of the city wall.

At last the sound of rapidly working rowlocks came to the girl's ears. "They're after us," grated Truxton in desperation. "They've got word by friends one way or another. By Jove, I'm nearly fagged too! I can't pull much farther. Hello! What's this?"

The side of the boat caromed off a solid object in the water, almost splitting them into the wind-blown river.

"The docks!" she whispered. "We struck a small scow. I think. Can you find your way in among the coal barges?"

He paddled along slowly, feeling his way, scraping alongside the big barges which delivered coal from the distant mines. At last he found an opening and pushed through. A moment later they were riding under the stern of a broad catboat, plumb up against the water lapped piles of the dock.

Standing in the bow of the boat, he managed to pull himself up over the slippery edge. It was the work of a second to draw her up after him. He gave the boat a mighty shove, sending it out into the stream once more.

In a few minutes loud curses came from the river, proclaiming the fact that the pursuers had found the empty boat. Afterward they were to learn that Newport's shouts had brought a boat load of men from the opposite bank, headed by the janitor, in whose place Loraine was to have encountered Marlanx later on, if plans had not miscarried.

By this time King had located the open space which undoubtedly afforded room for the transfer of cargoes from the dock to the company's yards inside the walls. Without hesitation he drew her after him up this wide, sinister roadway.

The pursuers were trying for a landing, noisily, even boisterously. It struck Truxton as queer that these men were not afraid of alarming the watchmen on the docks or the men at the gate above. Suddenly it came to him that there would be no one there to oppose the landing of the miscreants. No doubt hundreds of men already had stolen through their gates during the night, secreting themselves in the fastnesses of the city, ready for the morrow's fray.

They rushed up the narrow railway chutes and through one of the numerous gateways that opened out upon the barge docks. No one opposed them. No one was standing guard. From behind came the sound of rattling footsteps. Lightning flashed in the sky, and the rumble of thunder broke over the desolate night.

"They'll see us by the lightning," gasped Truxton, almost ready to drop from faltness and exhaustion.

Following a vivid flash of lightning, two shots were fired by the men who were now plunging up through the gates, a hundred yards or more away. The same flash of lightning showed to King the narrow, muddy street that stretched ahead of them. Instead of doing the obvious thing he turned sharply to the left, between the doors of freight cars. Their progress was slow.

At last they came to the end of their rope. They were literally up against the great city wall.

A car door stood open in front of them. He waited for a second flash of lightning to reveal to him the nature of its interior. It was quite empty. Without hesitation he clambered in and pulled her up after him. They fell over on the floor, completely fagged.

A few minutes later the storm broke. He managed to close the door against the driving torrents.

"We've fooled them," he managed to whisper close to her ear. "They won't look here. You're safe, Loraine. God, I'd like to see any one get you away from me now!"

She pressed his arm. Then she was fast asleep.

He sat with his back against the side of the car, a pistol in one hand, the other lying tenderly upon the drenched hair of the girl whose head rested upon his leg. She had slipped down from his shoulder. He did not have the desire or the energy to prevent it. Manfully as he had fought against the impelling desire to sleep, he could not beat it off. His last waking thought was of the effort he must make to reach Dangloss with the warning.

Something stirred in the far end of the car—a still small noise as of something alive that moved with the utmost wariness. A heavy, breathing body crept stealthily across the intervening space, so quietly that a mouse could have made but little less noise.

An instant later the bluish flame of a sulphur match struggled for life growing stronger and brighter in the hand of a man who stood above the sleepers.

CHAPTER XV.
THE GIRL IN THE RED CLOAK.

INSIDE of an hour after the return of the frightened, quivering groom who had escaped from the brigands in the hills Jack Tullis was granted permission by the war department to take a hundred picked men with him in the effort to overtake and capture the abductors of his sister. The dashed groom's story hardly had been told to the war department before he was engaged in telephoning to General Brazz and Baron Dangloss. A hurried consultation followed.

Baron Dangloss was sadly upset. Three prominent persons had been stolen from beneath his nose, so to speak. He was beside himself with rage and dismay. This last outrage was the climax. The old man adored the sister of Jack Tullis. He was heartbroken and crushed by the news of the catastrophe.

Captain Hane of the dragons was put in charge of the relief party. The party was armed and equipped for a bitter chase. Word had been sent to Serros, the capital of Dawsbergen, asking the assistance of Prince Dautan in the effort to overtake the abductors. A detachment, it was announced in reply, was to start from Serros during the afternoon bound for the eastern passes.

Baron Dangloss rode to the southern gate with the white faced, suffering Tullis. "We will undoubtedly receive a communication from the rascals this afternoon or tomorrow," he said gloomily. "They will not be slow to make a formal demand for ransom, knowing that you and your sister are possessed of unlimited wealth. Hello! Who's this?"

A man who had ridden up to the gates, his horse covered with foam, was demanding admission. The warders halted him unceremoniously as Dangloss rode forward. They found that he was one of the foremen in the employ of the railway construction company. He brought the disquieting news that another strike had been declared, that the men were ugly and determined to tear up the track already laid unless their demands were considered and, furthermore, that there had been severe fighting between the two factions engaged on the work. He urgently implored Dangloss to send troops out to hold the rioters in check.

"What is your name?" demanded the harassed minister of police.

"Poisson," replied the foreman. He lied, for he was no other than John Cromer, the unsavory husband of Anna Cromer of the committee of ten.

"Come with me," said Dangloss. "We will go to General Brazz. Good-bye and good luck, Tullis!"

At that very moment Loraine Tullis was comparing notes with Truxton King in the room beneath the armor's shop. Count Marlanx was hiding in the trader's inn outside the northern gates. The abductors themselves were scattered about the city, laughing triumphantly over the success of the ruse that had drawn the well-armed American away on a wild goose chase to the distant passes of Dawsbergen. More than that, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon a second detachment of soldiers left the city for the scene of the riots in the construction camps, twenty miles away.

Surely the well-laid plans of the Iron Court were being skillfully carried out!

All afternoon and evening men straggled in from the hills and surrounding country, apparently loath to miss the early excitement attending the ceremonies on the following day. Sullen strikers from the camps came down, cursing the company, but drinking noisily toasts to the railroad and its future. The city by night swarmed with reveling thousands. The bands were playing, the crowds were singing and mobs were drinking and carousing in the lower end.

At 3 o'clock in the morning word flew from brothel to brothel, from lodging house to lodging house, in all parts of the slumbering city. A thousand men crept out into the streets after the storm, all animated by one impulse, all obeying a single decree of injunction.

They were to find and kill a tall American! They were to keep him or his companion from getting in touch with the police authorities or with the royal castle, no matter what the cost!

At 6 o'clock a stealthy whisper went the rounds, reaching the ear of every vagabond and cutthroat engaged in the unending vigil. Like smoke they faded away. The silent watch was over.

The word had sped to every corner of the town that it was no longer necessary to maintain the watch for Truxton King. He was no longer in a position to give them trouble or uneasiness.

The 20th dawned bright and cool after the savage storm from the north. "I don't like the looks of things," said Baron Dangloss true and again. His men were never so alert as today and never so deceived.

"There can't be trouble of any sort," mused Colonel Quinox. "These fellows are ugly, 'tis true, but they are not prepared for a demonstration."

"Colonel, we'll yet see the day when Graumark regrets the economy that has cut our little army to almost nothing. What have we now all told?"

Three blinkeys, as the town boys put it, fewer than 800 in the fortress. I have a hundred policemen. There you are. Today there are nearly 200 soldiers off in the mountains on nasty business of one sort or another. God, if these ruffians from the railroad possessed no more than pistols they could give us a merry fight. There must be a thousand of them. I don't like it. We'll have trouble before the day's over."

By 11 o'clock the streets in the neighborhood of the plaza were packed with people. At 12 the castle gates were to be thrown open for the brilliant cavalcade that was to pass between these cheering rows of people.

Shortly after half past 11 o'clock certain groups of men snatched the positions in front of certain buildings on the south side of the square, a score here, a half score there, others below them. They favored the shops operated by the friends of the committee of ten; they were the men who were to take possession of the rifles that lay hidden behind counters and walls.

From the distant castle came the sounds of shouts, crawling up the long line of spectators for the full length of the avenue to the eager throng in Regentz circus, swelling and growing louder as the news came that the prince had ridden forth from the gates. Glad voices cried out tidings to those in the background. The prince was coming!

Bonny, adorable Prince Robin! On came the splendid phalanx of guardsmen, followed by rigid infantrymen in measured tread. The great coach of gold, with its half score of horses, rolled somberly beneath nature's canopy of green, surrounded on all sides by proud members of the royal guard. Two carriages from the royal stables preceded the prince's coach. In the first were the Duke of Perse and three fellow members of the cabinet. The second contained Baron Dangloss and General Brazz.

The curtains in a house at the corner of the square parted gently. A hawk faced old man peered out upon the joyous crowd. His black eyes swept the scene. A grim smile crept into his face. He dropped the curtains and walked away from the window, tossing a cigarette into a grate on the opposite side of the room. Then he looked at his watch.

The man who stood in the middle of the freight car looking down in wonder at the fugitives was a tall vagabond of the most picturesque type. No rag-muffin was ever so tattered and torn as this rakish individual. His clothes barely hung together on his lank frame.

Long, thin lips curled into a smile of delicious regard. His sides shook with the quiet chuckle of understanding. He was thinking of other days and nights and of many walks in faroff lands and of countless journeys in which he, too, had had fair and gentle company—short journeys, yes, but not to be forgotten.

He lighted the stub of a tallow candle. Ah, how envied this great, sleeping wayfarer! How beautiful his mistress! How fortunate the lover! They slept. How tired they were! Whence had they come?

Why should he stay here to spoil their waking hour? No. He would surrender his apartment to them.

Softly he tiptoed to his own corner of the car. He gathered up his belongings—an ancient violin case, a stout walking stick, a goodly sized pack done up in gaudy cloth, a well worn pair of sandals with long, frayed laces. As gently he stole back to the door. He tossed a kiss to the sleeping girl, his dark gypsy face aglow with admiration and mischief, and was about to blow out the light of his candle. Then he changed his mind.

With a determined shake of his head and a new flash of the eye, he calmly seated himself and began to open his ragged pack.

At last his small store of food lay exposed. Without hesitation he divided the pieces of smoked venison, giving one part to himself, two to the sleepers, then the miller's bread and the cheese and the bag of dates he had bought the day before.

Again he blew a kiss to the prettiest girl he had ever seen. Snuffing his candle, he dropped to the ground and closed the door against all spying, un-civil eyes.

Daybreak found him at the wharf gates. Coming to an empty first car direct from the quarries, he resolutely seated himself upon its edge and, with amiable resignation, set about devouring his early meal, all the while casting longing, almost appealing, glances toward the next car but one. Busy little switch engines began chugging about the yards. The railroad at least was exhibiting some signs of life.

Down through the maze of side-tracks whistled the little train, out upon the main line with a thin shriek of greeting, past the freight houses. It was then that Sir Vagabond sat up very straight, a look of mild interest in his eyes. Interest gave way to perplexity, perplexity to concern. What's this—leaving the city? He wasted no time. Clutching his belongings to his side, he vaulted from one hand, nimbly landing safely on his feet at the roadside.

He thought of the luckless pair in the empty "box."

Suddenly he stopped, his chin up, his hands to his sides. A hearty peal of laughter soared from his lips. The joke was on them. It was rich. The more he thought of their astonishment on awakening the more he laughed.

His immense levity attracted attention. Four or five men approached him from the shadows of the freight houses, ugly, unsimiling fellows. They demanded of him the cause of his unseemly mirth. With tears in his merry black eyes he related the plight of the pretty sleepers. They piled him with questions. He described the couple, even glowingly. Then the sinister fellows smiled. More than that, they clapped each other on the back and swore splendidly.

And so it was that the news spread over town at 5 o'clock that Truxton King was where he could do no harm. It was well known that the train would make forty miles an hour down the steep grade into the lower valley.

When Truxton King first awoke to the fact that they were no longer lying motionless in the dreary yards he leaped to his feet with a startled shout of alarm. With frantic energy he pulled open the door. For a minute he stared at the scudding walls of stone so close at hand, incomprehensibly. Then the truth burst upon him with the force of a mighty blow. He staggered back, his jaw dropping, his eyes glaring.

"Great God, Loraine! We're going! We're moving!" he cried hoarsely. She shot to her feet and lurched to his side. "Don't fall out!" she almost shrieked.

Suddenly the train shot out into the open, far spattered valley. Truxton fell back dumfounded.

"The country!" he exclaimed. "We've been carried away. God in heaven! The prince—he is lost!" He was beside himself, raging like a madman. He had shouted to her that he must get back to the city.

"You would be killed!" she cried, clutching his arm fiercely. "You never can jump, Truxton. See how we are running. If you jump I shall follow. I won't go on alone. I am as much to blame as you."

A small station flew by. "Rona, seven kilometers to Edelweiss." He looked at her in despair.

"We're going faster and faster," he grated.

A LAUGH ALL AROUND.

And as usual, those who laughed last laughed best.

"Common decency is cheap abroad," said the man who had just returned from his first trip to Europe. "During all the time I was on the continent I was subjected to discourtesy in but one instance, and I think I got away with it then, at that."

"We were crossing one of the Swiss passes by diligence, or coach, and stopped off for luncheon at some little town. It was hot, and I suppose I made rather a comical sight in my shirt sleeves and black glasses, with a handkerchief over my collar, as I stepped out of the vehicle to the road. I suppose, too, that the brand of French in which I tried to ask questions was pretty ragged."

"Anyway, a group of young Frenchmen waiting in a carriage while their team was changed saw to me their long lost original scream, and the way they laughed was convincing. If not flattering. They weren't backward about pointing out the real racy bits in the picture either, and they only laughed harder when I glared at them mildly. Another American and I trudged off for lunch, and when we came back there was the bunch ready to take up the howl at me again. I looked at my compatriot and he at me. I don't think either of us put the idea in words, but we began."

"We began to laugh. We fell into each other's arms and laughed. We held each other up and laughed. We laughed till the tears rolled down our cheeks. We laughed till we couldn't stand. We rolled into our coach, still laughing, taking inspiration for each outburst from a glance at the Frenchmen."

"Well, sir, that bunch of Frenchmen just wilted. First they closed their mouths; then they lost their grins; then each one began squinting at the other, trying to make out what was wrong. Before we'd been at it two minutes they all discovered they needed a drink and speared off to the little hotel. We laughed till we saw the last of them, and then we laughed at the way we had turned the trick."—Chicago Tribune.

MAKING ICE.

The Process is Simple, Though It Puzzled the Negro.

A salubrious in which were a white man and several negroes had just left the wharf near an ice factory at the foot of Main street, Annapolis, and was headed on the mouth of Severn river, toward a point on the Chesapeake.

"Ye-eh, thir," an old time colored man was saying. "I like to git a job workin' round that air ice plant and see 'em make ice with fire."

"I'll tell you how it is done, if you would like to hear my explanation," said the white man.

"Ye-eh, thir, I like to hear 'bout it." "Well, in the first place, they have a tank of ammonia, to which a small amount of heat is applied. It does not take much heat to convert the ammonia into vapor, and even that heat is used up in causing the liquid to expand into a gas, or become latent, as it is called, so that the temperature is not materially affected.

"Now, suppose the ammonia gas occupies a hundred times as much space as the liquid. It is evident that the liquid contains a certain amount of heat, which is afterward distributed over a hundred times the space first occupied. A cubic foot of the liquid becomes a hundred cubic feet of gas, and it is plain that a cubic foot of gas will contain only one-hundredth part of the heat originally in a cubic foot of liquid; hence the gas is much colder than the liquid.

"Now, this gas or vapor is allowed to flow through pipes covered with salt water, which becomes extremely cold, but does not freeze, owing to the presence of salt. The fresh water desired to be frozen is put into large metal cans and placed in the cold salt water and allowed to freeze.

"There is nothing mysterious about the process. It is, in fact, very simple. Do I make myself clear? Do you understand my explanation?"

"Ye-eh, thir, yo' explanation's plain, but I sutenly would like to see 'em make that air ice with fire."—Washington Star.

His Quaint Suggestion.

A Frenchman who appears to have been of a thrifty turn of mind conceived the idea in 1873 that too much valuable time was being wasted in cleaning sardines when preparing them for the market. He found a way of preparing them without cleaning them, and on this he took out letters patent. Apparently he had some slight misgivings as to whether the public would be perfectly suited with his invention, and so in his claim he makes this parenthetical entry:

"Fish put up by this process may be slightly unpleasant to the customer at first, but he soon gets used to it."

A Wife's Early Lesson.

A curious custom used to accompany an Anglo-Saxon betrothal. After the giving of the ring the father gave the son-in-law one of his daughter's shoes, with which the son-in-law bit his wife on the head to teach her subjection! Later on a more moderate (if castigation was suggested, and three blows with a broomstick became the custom!—"The Months of the Year," by Rev. Pemberton Lloyd.

A New Scheme.

"Send for branch of promise, eh?"

"Yep."

"Any defense?"

"Temporary insanity, and I expect to prove it by the love letters I wrote."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Pimpernel.

The common pimpernel, "poor man's weather glass," has the disadvantage of being a native plant and has been almost completely expelled from our flower gardens in favor of exotics which are rarer, but lack much of being as pretty. The pimpernel is a charming little flower which opens about 8 in the morning and closes late in the afternoon, but has the remarkable peculiarity of indicating a coming shower by shutting up its petals.

A Spiny Monster.

For sheer ferocity of appearance, unredeemed by any milder facial attributes, a lizard called after "Moloch horridus," Moloch horridus is prominent among reptiles. The body of this Australian reptile is so covered with spines that, as it has been put, nature seems to have endeavored to ascertain how many spines could be inserted on a given area. But, unlike its tutelary deity, who seems really to have spelled himself Moloch, the lizard does not demand the blood of children. It is, indeed, vegetarian and only very in that it has a curious faculty of absorbing and drying up water. A specimen placed in a shallow dish attracted the water like a piece of blotting paper.—Westminster Gazette.

OSWEGO POST OFFICE RECEIPTS.

The annual report of the Post Office Department for the year ending March 31st, 1910, shows that the receipts of the Oswego office were $61,292.76, the largest in the history of the office. Last year the total receipts of the office were $48,749.41, an increase during the year of $12,543.35. There is nothing in a community that more fully indicates its prosperity and advancement than the receipts of the Post Office.

LOCAL OPTION BEATEN.

Albany, April 26.—The Gray bill, extending the local option provision of the Excise law to cities, was considered to the legislative graveyard today, the Assembly, by a vote of 52 to 84, refusing to take the bill from the Excise Committee.

"What will we do with him?" inquired the Charleston News and Courier, referring to Mr. Roosevelt. What, rather, will he do with us?

Local and Personal

A son, Cyril, has been born to Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Hammond.

Milk Dealer Ben Ingamells is confined to his home by illness.

Miss Helen O'Hare, cashier in the O'Brien store, is confined to her house by illness.

Mr. Murray Shipman will open his 5c and 10c store in the Tucker block, First street, next week.

The sad fatality which befell Dr. E. H. Nodyne on Tuesday morning is one more burning argument in favor of the abolishment of the grade crossing.

Dr. Murray, a competent veterinarian from Syracuse, is in charge of Dr. E. H. Nodyne's business and will attend to cases until his business affairs can be cared for by his widow.

Mr. A. DeBarber writes friends in this city that he is located at North Yakama, Washington, where he has invested considerable in unimproved real estate. Mr. William Harrison is with Mr. DeBarber.

The O. Henderson & Co., store, No. 109 Oneida street, is fast forging to the front as one of the best and brightest dry goods stores in this city. Novelties and staples are selected with care by the management and the prices are low for the very desirable merchandise offered.

Senators Hale and Aldrich have signified their intentions of retiring from the Senate next March at the expiration of their present terms. These two Senators have dominated the Senate for several years, but it is thought that Cummins of Iowa, La Follette, of Wisconsin and Beveridge, of Indiana, will be the trio to direct the future actions of the Senate. The Senate will therefore be in the hands of the Republican insurgents, to a large extent.

Unfamiliar Ground.

The tourist who had secured a guide within a few moments after his arrival in Rome spoke crisply to the man. "I've only got an hour or so to spare for Rome," he said, "and I want to see just two things—one's St. Peter's, and the other is the Forum. Take me to them both as quick as you can."

The guide engaged a carriage, into which the tourist jumped, and after a few words from the guide to the driver the equipage started off at the brisk rate. Suddenly it stopped, and the tourist, seated, his fire of questions abruptly.

"Hop out," he said to his guide, urging him by a slight push. "Now, which is this—the Forum or St. Peter's?"—Exchange.

A Turkish Custom.

Upon the graves of the dead in the Turkish cemeteries little "vessels" of water are placed for the benefit of the birds, and some of the marble tombs have basins chiseled out for the same purpose, the superstition being that birds carry messages about the living to the dead and, like everything else in Turkey, are suspected of being spiteful unless something is done to curdy their favor.

and to travel considerably.

On the bench all that would be different. The Governor and his family have tastes distinctly quiet. His friends say he will be able to regulate his life in Washington so that his stated income will enable him to live in comfort, in a modest and retiring fashion, which was characteristic of the man and his family before he was dragged into public life by the gas and insurance investigations.

The Governor's friends say that as the situation finally was analyzed by him there was only one alternative to accepting the President's appointment. That was the private practice of law. The Governor is a keen lawyer, a student of law and the kind of lawyer who gets inspiration and pleasure from working out a good case. But the more he studied the matter the more apparent it became to him that, with his views on public service there was a duty awaiting him in this appointment which it would be almost pure selfishness for him to evade. The mere opportunity to make money, his friends say, did not appeal to him at all. The opportunity to resume his private practice was not without allurements. But taking up private practice meant taking up the daily grind of a big office, filled with important cases of varied interest. Anything in the nature of public service the Governor could do would be purely a side issue, and, it might be, not always free from misconception.

TO CERTIFY MILK

On Wednesday afternoon a meeting of the Oswego County Medical society was held in the Masonic club rooms for the purpose of appointing a committee to certify milk and other products in Oswego county. Mr. N. N. Stranahan of this city, who has a large herd of registered Holsteins, proposes to distribute certified milk in this city and vicinity at the low price of 10c per quart for the commodity, and it was for the purpose of inspecting this product that a commission was appointed by the society, composed of the following physicians: Dr. E. J. Cusack, president of the society; Dr. H. M. Dodge and Dr. H. W. Schmitt, all of this city.

The milk supply from Crystal Springs Farm, owned by Mr. Stranahan, will be under the supervision of the commission and tests will be made of the milk twice a month to see that no bacteria appear from time to time.

The project of certified milk has met with speedy approval in the city. It was voted by the society to give $25 to assist in the jubilee celebration of Dr. Jacoby, the noted New York physician.

WOMAN WILL CLEAN CITY

An exchange says of Miss Lucy Salmon, sister of the late Henry Salmon of this city, and a sister of Mr. Kirk Salmon of Williamsburg, Va.: Professor Lucy Maynard Salmon, professor of history at Vassar college, has been appointed by the Chamber of Commerce of Poughkeepsie as the head of a committee to clean up the town.

Professor Salmon sprang into civic prominence some months ago, when she appealed to the local chapter of the D. A. R. to take pride in Poughkeepsie and try to make it a city of beauty rather than devote themselves to aims farther away. She declared that the energy which was expended upon work of less moment by the women of Poughkeepsie would transform the town and make it one of the finest in the State.

The Chamber of Commerce, interested in Miss Salmon's ideas, requested her to undertake the work of cleaning up the city, acting as the head of a committee. She accepted and promised to have the place in spick and span order by Memorial Day.

Her intention is to make a tour of the city, to examine back yards and investigate drainage conditions. She has asked the aid of the press, the public schools and every church in Poughkeepsie in her crusade and every pastor, Catholic, Protestant and Jewish, has promised to extend assistance from his pulpit.

In addition to this Miss Salmon will go into the homes and will personally urge the women of families to help in the work. She expects not only to have yards cleaned out, but houses cleaned up, mothers instructed in the principles of sanitary care of their children and the children themselves started on the road to keeping themselves in order.

BENEFIT FOR MEMORIAL ROOM

FOUR HUNDRED INVITATIONS ISSUED FOR A PARTY IN ELKS' HOME.

Aid For Woodbury Room in Lee Hospital—Cards, Music and Readings to be Enjoyed.

Four hundred invitations have been issued by Mrs. N. N. Stranahan, Mrs. C. H. David, Mrs. C. F. Foster and Miss Grace J. Tucker, for a party to be given in the Elks' home, 133 South First street, on Saturday afternoon of this week, for the benefit of the W. L. Woodbury room in the Lee Memorial hospital. Military music will be enjoyed by those who care for cards, twenty-five tables having been arranged on the second floor for that purpose, and for those who do not care for cards a delightful program of music and readings is being arranged by Mrs. J. H. Howe, this program to be presented in the drawing-room on the first floor. The party will be a pretty, unboasted affair and very few regrets are being received from either the city or the out-of-town guests.

Mrs. D. A. Waterman will greet the guests as they arrive, and it is expected that each will deposit her mite on the salver at Mrs. Waterman's side. The Misses Louise Stranahan and Mary Marvin will then show the ladies to the dressing room.

After the guests are received by their hostesses, they may inspect the beautiful home of the Elks, and then follow incitation as to the method of entertainment they prefer. Those who will play cards are expected promptly at 3 o'clock. Refreshments will follow the entertainment.

Mrs. T. H. Marvin is chairman of the committee on refreshments; Mrs. J. H. Howe chairman of the committee on music; Mrs. E. R. Redhead, Mrs. Lydia Dilts, Mrs. F. A. Gage, Mrs. C. K. Howe and Mrs. A. P. Tucker, will assist the hostesses, and everything is being arranged for the comfort and convenience of the guests.

The Elks are indeed to be commended for their generosity and public spiritedness in permitting the party to be held in the home. The cause is a worthy one; each member felt it to be so and willingly gave consent to the doors being thrown open in aid of the project. The home is beautifully arranged and expensively furnished, making an ideal place for the holding of the affair, which promises to be the most brilliant one of the season.

Dr. Woodbury was a very charitable man in his life-time, and his acquaintances, neighbors and friends are pleased with the opportunity to assist in the honoring of his memory. In this desire the lodge of Elks are heartily interested and this spirit has made possible the delightful gathering conceived by the committee.

INQUEST RESUMED

The coroners inquest in the case of the late Dr. E. H. Noddyne, who was killed last week Tuesday at Stop 24, was resumed before Coroner Marsh on Monday. Nothing new was brought out at the inquest and both sides were represented. From all that can be gleaned from the eye witnesses to the fatality, it was caused by the fallibility of man and to grade crossings. However, the blame may be fixed, Dr. Noddyne's death is one more sacrifice to grade crossings.

WATER POWER BILL PASSED

It Regulates The Construction Of Dams By Government

Washington, May 3.—Unmindful of the important principle governing water power sites which President Roosevelt sought to establish, the House today passed the Stevens bill to regulate the construction of dams across navigable waters. It was Mr. Roosevelt's contention that the power resulting from the creation of a dam belonged to the nation and that the government should retain in perpetuity the power to regulate and control the rates which should be charged the consumer for such power.

The bill passed today lacks that essential, and it is extremely probable that even if it should get through the Senate in its present form, which is doubtful, it will be vetoed by President Taft. The Stevens bill brings within the provisions of the law all streams under the control of the United States and limits such grants to periods of fifty years.

It names the Secretary of War and the chief of engineers as a board to consider a comprehensive plan for the improvement of the waterways, with authority to designate the location of dams. It also confers on these officials authority to arrange for such charge for the privilege granted as shall reimburse the government for any actual or contingent expenses which may be incurred.

The Secretary of War is directed to collect charges for those privileges which are the direct benefit of ownership and maintenance by the United States of storage reservoirs, forested watersheds and lands situated at the headwaters of navigable streams, but it contains no recognition of the right of the government to regulate the charges made to consumers.

BOOST CLUB MEETS

The Boost club held a meeting in the City Hall on Wednesday evening at which considerable business was transacted. There was a goodly attendance.

The second week in May was designated as the general clean-up week for Fulton and citizens are requested to place their lawns and yards in attractive order and to remove any nuisances that may exist.

Mr. M. A. Stranahan, chairman of the illuminating committee, was requested to secure an estimate on the cost of lighting the lower bridge by gas and electricity and also the cost of installing and maintaining a strong light at either end of the upper bridge.

A committee composed of Messrs. J. G. Murray, T. H. Marvin and C. C. Benedict was appointed to provide play grounds for the youths of Fulton and also to raise the necessary funds for the securing of the same.

The question of a public sales day was discussed and Mr. Anson Salisbury gave a most interesting description of how they are conducted in the west. A committee to look into the matter was appointed as follows: Messrs. G. L. Hill, H. A. Allen, J. J. Little, E. L. Beckwith, Mr. Salisbury to counsel the committee. The matter of paper blowing in the streets from packing cases, etc., the unpacking of goods on the main walks of the city, the displaying of foods in an unsanitary manner in the stores, the absence of street signs from many corners and the advisability of replacing street signs with new steel ones, all came in for discussion.

It was announced that the Boost club envelopes were ready and might be secured from Secretary W. H. Hornbrook.

Mr. Payne is confident that the tariff is one of those institutions that improve on acquaintance.

COMMON COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

NIAGARA ONTARIO FRANCHISE REQUEST PRESENTED TO COUNCIL

After Listening to Opposition An Adjournment Was Taken Until Thursday Evening

At the regular monthly session of the Common Council last evening, a public hearing was given the Niagara Ontario Power Company, which had asked for a franchise to distribute electricity within the corporate limits of the city.

City Clerk MacNamara was instructed to read the proposed application, afterwards Attorney Giles S. Piper and Claude E. Guile, representing the Fulton Light, Heat & Power Company, also, as taxpayers, opposed the granting of the franchise, pointing out that there should be no competition to corporations furnishing public utilities, for if a satisfactory service is not provided the Public Service Commission is empowered to compel the operating company so to do at a reasonable cost.

It was asserted that two companies could not live long in Fulton, the result would be an absorption by one or the other, and the small taxpayer would finally pay the cost.

Attorney E. M. White of Phoenix, on behalf of the company seeking the franchise, asserted that the Niagara Ontario Power Company was ready to furnish electricity to Fulton, if permitted.

Mr. Theodore Webb spoke in favor of granting the franchise, but thought a maximum rate should be incorporated in the franchise per horsepower. L. W. Emerick of the local company stated that his company was in a position to furnish power to all applicants.

G. G. Chauncey thought that the matter of power rates should be carefully guarded by the aldermen.

Mayor Connors invited former Mayor Quirk and F. A. Gage, both of whom have been antagonists to the Niagara Company to speak, but they declined.

Aldermen Palmer and Malone desired the matter adjourned until the June meeting, but Smith, Johnson, Newton and Wolcott favored an adjournment only until Thursday night, when the matter will again be discussed.

A motion to pay $200 toward band concerts in the park this summer was laid on the table.

Bills were audited and ordered paid.

ALDERMAN JOHNSON SECURES FLAGMAN

Alderman H. Freeman Johnson states that he is in receipt of a letter from Division Superintendent W. C. Hartigan of the New York, Ontario & Western Railroad Company to the effect that he has instructed Station Agent Frank W. Richardson to take immediate steps towards providing a flagman for the Broadway crossing. Mr. Johnson has had the matter in charge for several weeks and feels exceedingly gratified.

The Broadway crossing is considered by many citizens as very dangerous, as the view both ways is obstructed to a great extent. Much shifting of cars take place at all hours and this practice adds to the danger.

MARRIED

Dewey-Baumier

The marriage of Mr. William E. Dewey, son of Mrs. N. J. Waugh of this city, and Miss Edith A. Baumier of Clinton, was solemnized at the State street Methodist parsonage on Tuesday evening, the Rev. F. A. Miller officiating. Mr. Dewey is a Syracuse motorman and the young couple will make their home in the State city.

Cole-Harris

The marriage of Town Clerk George Cole of Volney to Miss Anna V. Harris of the same town, was solemnized at the State street parsonage on Wednesday evening, the Rev. F. A. Miller being the officiating clergyman. Mr. Cole was in a predicament when it came time to issue himself a marriage license. The position was an unprecedented one, but he looked into the law, they appointed Mr. Willis Streeter deputy town clerk, showed him how to issue a license and paid him the fee of $1 and the deed was done. Mr. and Mrs. Cole are receiving the congratulations of their many friends.

Chubb-Chubb

On Saturday last, April 30, at St. Mark's Rectory, Syracuse, Miss B. M. Chubb, one of Fulton's popular school teachers, was united in holy matrimony to the Rev. C. F. Chubb, who recently came from the Southern States and is now a resident of this city. Miss Florence Slauson was bridesmaid and Mr. George Chubb, groomsmen. The Rev. Mr. Wilson officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Chubb will continue to reside in Fulton. Mr. Chubb, besides being a minister is a builder and carpenter of 20 years' experience. The honeymoon will be spent in Western New York.

Duff-King

The Binghamton Press of May 2, contains the following item of interest to Fultonites: Yesterday afternoon at 11 o'clock Ernest M. Taft and Miss L. King of Fulton, N. Y., were united in marriage by Rev. C. F. Chubb of the First Side Congregational church, at the home of the groom, the ceremony taking place at the parsonage, 206 Robinson street. The couple were not attended. The wedding march was played by Mrs. C. J. Taft. About a score of relatives and immediate friends of the bride and groom were present at the ceremony. At the conclusion of the wedding ceremony, a wedding dinner was served. The newly married couple left on the 3:40 train for their honeymoon, and will be at home to their friends after June 1, at 402 S. Third street, Fulton, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. Taft are well known and very popular in this city where Mr. Taft is a member of the firm of Taft & Hulett, paper and paint dealers. They are receiving the hearty congratulations of their many friends.

Clean Up Week

The Boost club of Fulton make appeal to the men, women and children of the city to clean up their premises completely before the 15th inst. The week ending May 14th has been designated as "Cleaning Up week," but the present is here to soon to begin. Let every family and every member of the family interest themselves in making the front and rear of their yards as cleanly and attractive as possible by removing all rubbish and accumulation of every kind and seeing that the lawn is mowed, the edges cut and a general tidy appearance maintained. We hope all will appreciate the importance of cultivating some flowers about their residences, but unless they can be successfully cultivated and cared for, we would suggest that neatness is more important to the appearance of the city than ornamentation. Cleaning up is contagious, and if you clean up your own premises your neighbor is very apt to catch the spirit. We appeal with confidence to the public spirit and civic pride of Fultonians to make this city look brighter and more attractive than it has ever looked before.

N. N. Stranahan, Chairman, F. W. Richardson, President.

NEW POSTAL BANK BILL

House Measure Differs from Senate's in Several Particulars

Washington, May 3.—A postal savings bank bill, which will command the support of a number of regular Republicans, was introduced in the House today by Representative Gardner, of New Jersey. Mr. Gardner is chairman of the sub-committee of Postoffices and Post Roads, which has been considering the Senate bill for some time. The committee has thus far been unable to agree on a report to the full committee, and Representative Gardner, who entertains strong views on the subject, has taken the bit in his teeth and decided to present a measure of his own.

It differs in several material respects from the bill passed by the Senate and will hardly meet the approval of many in the upper body. It provides for the appointment of a board of trustees, as in the Senate bill, but it differs in that it requires that all savings deposits be placed in national banks, excluding state banks and savings institutions.

Instead of requiring the trustees to establish a country-wide system of postal banks, it gives them discretion to establish the banks where, in their judgment, they are needed. The bill also reduces the total amount which may be deposited by an individual from $500 to $300. As soon as the total amount of deposits reaches $2,000,000 the bill provides that 85 per cent. be withdrawn from the banks and deposited in government securities, but no maximum rate of interest which the securities must pay is stipulated. The Senate bill provides that only securities which bear not less than 2½ per cent. interest shall be so utilized.

There has been no change in the attitude of the House leaders in regard to postal savings banks. They admit that they do not favor the legislation, but they realize that they will be forced into it by the President and the strong public sentiment in favor of this system.

K. A.," Harold P. Andrews; "Brotherhood," Prof. L. D. Wilcox; "Alms of Our Fraternity," Alfred P. Draper; "Place of Fraternities in High School," Prof. M. M. Dodge; "Reminiscences," A. Lewis Rice.

"The Holy Father lovingly sends apostolic benediction to you and your diocese on the anniversary of your consecration."

FACTS FOR FARMERS

Lackawanna Railroad Issues Free Booklet "Facts for Farmers". Written by Dewitt Carpenter of Homer, N. Y.The latest addition to the Back-to-Farm Propaganda is a booklet entitled "Facts for Farmers, To the Farmer, By a Farmer, For the Farmer" published by the Lackawanna Railroad from its offices at No. 90
West Street, New York city.The free distribution of this booklet is another evidence of the general interest being taken by the railroads of this country in the agricultural question.The Lackawanna has joined the movement for the education of farmers living in the territory contiguous to its right of way, and expects to develop for demonstration purposes model farms in order to show farmers how maximum crops may be produced. It plans to have the farms in locations convenient to students and farmers, where they may see the application of scientific knowledge of the raising of crops.
The handling of dairy products will also be a feature of the experiment.The booklet in question is written by Mr. Dewitt Carpenter, a practical and successful farmer of Homer, New York, and on its title page bears a letter of endorsement of H. J.
Webber, Acting Director of the New York State College of Agriculture, Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y. It is not only exceedingly practical but the sympathetic way in which the matter is presented is both interesting and refreshing. It is evidently the product of many years of thoughtful consideration and study by a practical working farmer. By its briefness and direct simplicity, it, in a measure, takes the place of slower educational processes and with its large circulation should be of decided value to the farmers of this country.In an easy and popular manner the author explains to the farmer the significance and practical application of the recent brilliant discoveries in the agricultural world.The old query as to why a crop of clover should enrich the land, finds its answer in the discovery that bacteria is a source of nitrogen and that clover and other leguminous plants possess the mysterious power of extracting from the air and of storing in little pockets on their roots, this great essential to all plant growth.Many farmers may be surprised to learn that the main object in "rotting potatoes" is not to kill the weeds, although their destruction is one of the minor beneficent results of the operation. Mr. Carpenter explains how the stirring of the soil forms a "dust mulch", the prime object of which is to prevent the moisture from beneath escaping to the surface and air by capillarity.In an equally practical and interesting way, the author discusses the questions of humus, liquid fertilizers, absorbents, etc., in the light of recent agricultural discoveries and their application to "run down" farms

NOT A CHARITY

It is time to get rid of the idea that life-insurance is a quasi-charitable or benevolent institution. It is no more a matter of charity than is fire-insurance. No sane financial man would accept a mortgage on property not insured; and when the man asked insurance on his life he was simply following out the same general commercial policy of sound financing. It is true that life-insurance had its rise in benevolence, and its first manifestation was a passing of the bat for the afflicted family. But now it is a matter of business. A life-insurance policy is a commodity. Its value lies in the ability of the company to keep its contract. Elbert Hubbard.

Syracuse. About thirty members attended the meeting.The extension of the civil service

stantia, Oswego County, was re-

HAS DONE IMPORTANT WORK.

Financial Administration of State Institutions and Departments Subject of Statement Praised by Governor Hughes and Legislative Leaders.
Modification of Indirect Tax System Hinted At.

[Special Correspondence.]

Albany, May 4.—While it was well nigh lost sight of in the recent investigations and the reports of the legislative commissions on telegraph and telephone companies, direct nominations and employers' liability law, one of the most important legislative investigating commissions of 1909 presented its report to the legislature through Senator Cobb and Assemblyman George H. Whitney. This is the joint committee of the senate finance and assembly ways and means committees appointed to investigate the financial needs and administration of state institutions and state departments, to inquire into and report as to the advisability of the creation of a separate state board of control to suppress, unify and coordinate the financial management of the state's charitable, penal and reformatory institutions, to audit the claims for special counsel appointed by former Attorney General Jackson, but not audited and settled when he went out of office, and to report upon the question of classification and equalization of salaries of state employees.The committee was made up of Senator J. P. Aldis, then senate leader; Senator George H. Cobb, at present senate leader, and Senator S. J. Ramsperger, for the senate, and Majority Leader Merritt, Assemblyman George H. Whitney, James S. Parker, C. Smith and Minority Leader Frisbie, for the assembly. Senator Aldis was chosen chairman and Mr. Whitney vice chairman.

New York's System Good.

According to the committee's report, the opinions both of what may be styled the "outside philanthropists" and the executive administrators of state institutions agree that with slight modifications of existing law no more comprehensive method of exchange of information may prevail between the state departments. New York state's methods of purchase of supplies is to be preferred to the "coordinated body" in vogue in Illinois and other western states.Due to the committee's inquiry and suggestions, data were accumulated in advance of the meeting of the legislature of 1910 which enabled the appropriation bills to be introduced early in the session, giving time for intelligent and careful consideration for these, the most important bills of a legislative session. The committee also worked out a plan, somewhat similar to that employed in the federal congress, whereby in the future heads of all state departments and state institutions must send to the state controller before Dec. 15 in each year their "departmental budgets and estimates" for the ensuing year. These must be transmitted by the comptroller to the legislature on the opening day of its session, so that the data assembled this year by the joint committee will be available for future finance and ways and means committees every year.

Work Praised by Governor.

A bill embodying these suggestions was drafted and introduced in the legislature. This passed both branches and is now upon the statute books.
Governor Hughes and the legislative leaders are inclined to think this constitutes one of the best pieces of constructive legislation added to the laws of New York state since the public service commission law.While the data mentioned were assembled the committee made personal inspection of the property acquired by the state in Rockland county for the new Letchworth colony for epileptics, for the new state school for boys on Lake Mohawk, in Westchester county; also the site for the proposed new state hospital on the opposite side of the same lake, the Ward's Island state hospital, where crowded conditions prevail; the condition of the state hospitals on Long Island, the new Great Mendow state prison near Comstock, in Washington county; the new state fair buildings at Syracuse and some of the general institutions in the other parts of the state.

Report on Appropriations.

These inspections enabled the committee to make intelligent recommendations to the finance and ways and means committees as to what appropriations for present and future institutions were needed this year and what might be postponed without sensitive inconvenience or damage to the state or its wards.For the first time in years the committee caused to be compiled a complete "civil list" of the state employees. This was in preparation for the salary classification, but the committee says it has not been able to finish this branch of its work within the time allotted. It does, however, admit that inequality exists in salariesof state employees and discusses the cause therefor as follows:"Your committee has accumulated the data upon which an intelligent scheme of salary classification and a proper equalization of salaries can be suggested."While the committee was not directed specifically to inquire into the general financial policy of the state or to make recommendations as to future financial policy, its inquiries led up to certain suggestions to the legislature, among which were that a direct tax sufficient to meet interest and sinking fund requirements on canal and highway improvement bonds might be justifiable because this $150,000,000 of state debt was specifically authorized and directed by direct vote of the people of the state.

State's General Financial Policy.

The advisability of a modification of the indirect tax system if state revenues pile up faster than state revenue is hinted at, with a recommendation that a "graduated succession tax" might be an "effective remedy." The report of this phase is as follows:"At present the state is dependent entirely upon a system of indirect taxation for its revenues, and any system of indirect taxation, in by force of circumstances varying in its net productive result. Certain classes of our indirect taxes have raised more revenue during the last fiscal year than they did during some of the other years, so that with reasonable economy the needs of the state for the ensuing year can probably be provided for from the present sources of taxation.""But it should be pointed out to the legislature and the people of the state that, while thus far we have been able, because of the growth of the state, to provide out of the current income for the sinking fund of the canal debt, the sinking fund to take care of the highway improvement bonds and at the same time to make reasonable additions and proper repairs to our several charitable and penal institutions as well as to progress work upon the great educational building which is being erected and make a somewhat extensive appropriation for a new state prison, yet it becomes apparent that, as each year necessarily increases the amount of the outstanding canal debt and also increases the amount of the highway improvement debt, in the near future the demands needed for interest and also for the sinking funds will absolutely compel some modification of the financial policy of the state."

To Appeal Franchise Cases.

Attorney General O'Malley has received permission from the appellate division, fourth department, to appeal to the court of appeals in the cases brought by the Lehigh Valley Railroad company and the Buffalo Gas company attacking the franchises for 1909, involving a further return by the state board of tax commissioners as to how they arrived at their valuations. The appellate division held by a vote of 3 to 2 that the return filed was insufficient.

Ate Poultry Kept in Cold Storage Four

Years.

"I have brought down poultry from the region of the St. Lawrence, where I spend my summers, put it in the cold storage warehouses and consumed it from time to time for a period of two years and suffered no harm from it, am still alive and consider the experiment successful," said District Attorney Winslow, speaking for the cold storage people at the hearing before the assembly committee on agriculture on the Coughlin and Ebbs anti-cold storage bills which require labeling and a time limit on all classes of cold storage food products like poultry, game, fish and eggs.

Favored by the Speaker.

The Meade-Phillips bill in its original form provided for the direct election of county, city and ward committees. The incorporation of the state committee in the list of party committees to be directly elected was favored by Speaker Wadsworth, who has virtually accepted all the provisions for primary reform up to the elimination of the convention. This feature of the Hinman-Green bill will be opposed by many members of the Republican organization.

The White Rats Bill.

The so called White Rats bill, which was introduced early in the session, has been reported to the senate. The bill prevents booking agencies from charging actors for whom they have secured places more than 5 per cent of their salaries. It also makes binding contracts between a theatrical manager and an actor.The measure to prevent messenger boys under twenty-one years of age from working after 10 o'clock at night or before 5 o'clock in the morning has been reported to the assembly.The assembly has passed the Thoma bill providing for the retirement on half pay of teachers in state institutions of thirty years' professional experience and others who are incapacitated.
The maximum pension is $1-060 and the minimum $300.

Bills Signed by Governor.

Governor Hughes signed the bill of Assemblyman A. L. Smith providing that persons who sell or furnish cocaine or ecaine as permitted by law on a physician's prescription shall at the time of sale give to the purchaser a certificate stating the seller's name and address, the name and address of the physician on whose prescription the drug was furnished, the date of sale and amount sold.Governor Hughes has signed Assem-

Insure Your Life Today

Delays Are Dangerous

There's Smith, the lawyer. He is now in the prime of life and his growing business will net him a large income for many years—IF HE LIVES. But he's an improvident fellow and never saves a dollar. He doesn't seem to realize that his brains constitute his capital, and that his income will cease at his death. He should take a large policy payable to his family in installments, so as to continue the earning power of his life after his death.

All these people need life insurance—You, of course, are an exception to the universal rule.

BRILLIANT CAREER ENDED

Malcolm F. McClure Passes Away in Newark, N. J.—Talented Journalist.

Messrs Langdon C. J. A. and John Foster of this city were in Newark, N. J., last week attending the funeral of their nephew, the late Malcolm Foster McClure, a son of their sister, Mrs. David McClure. The going out of the young life has caused the profoundest sympathy for the bereaved parents and friends of the deceased, who was known by many in this city, where he had frequently spent some time during the summer months at the family cottage at Indian Point. The Newark, N. J., Daily News of April 27, contains the following notice:

Malcolm Foster McClure died at his home, 193 South Seventh street, at an early hour this morning. Death was due to pneumonia, the disease having attacked Mr. McClure scarcely more than a week ago. His development was rapid, and for the last three days the patient was most of the time in a comatose condition. The end was peaceful, the heart being permanently stilled as the sick man slept.

Only twenty-five years of age, Mr. McClure was a writer for whom the future held forth the brightest prospects. Born in Newark, January, 1885, the son of David McClure, for many years principal of the Chestnut Street Public School, Mr. McClure received his earliest education at the hands of a private tutor. After three years of preparation he entered Columbia School, South Orange graduating therefrom in 1902. In the fall of that year he matriculated at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, with the intention of making the practice of medicine his life work.

Medicine, however, was not Mr. McClure's bent. Even while he studied, his predilections were toward literature and the writing of verse and prose had more charm for him than pondering tomes on physiology and anatomy or acquiring a knowledge of the alleviating effects of herbs or drugs.

After two years Mr. McClure determined that medicine was not his vocation and he left college to take up newspaper work. Before embarking in the latter field, however, he went to Europe with his parents and upon his return became engaged in advertising work. Two years' experience in this line did not wear him from his desire to be a writer and he took up reportorial work, becoming attached to the News staff in September, 1906.

It did not take long for Mr. McClure to demonstrate he possessed natural talents out of the ordinary. As a worker he was conscientious, energetic and tireless; as a writer he was versatile, his style ranging from the patois, which appealed directly to the heart, to a wit, which sparkled with spontaneity. Nor were his writings confined to the newspaper columns. With his father he collaborated in writing a three-act drama, which is called "The Profligate," and it is recent and familiar history that he wrote the book and lyrics of "In Khorassan," a comic opera, of which the music was written by Harry S. Cyphers. "In Khorassan" was produced at the New Auditorium on March 31 and April 1 last, and the judgment of competent critics was to the effect that the young authors had given evidence of possessing unusual ability in constructing the piece.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon, in all probability, and the interment will be in Fulton, N. Y., where Mr. McClure's parents have a summer home.

Nervous Collapse

"I have traveled for thirty years continually. I lost a great deal of sleep, which together with constant worry left me in such a nervous state that finally, after having two collapses of nervous prostration, I was obliged to give up traveling altogether. I doctored continually but with no relief. Dr. Miles' Nerve came to my rescue. I cannot describe the suffering which this Nerve saved me. Whenever I am particularly nervous a few doses relieve me."

A. G. C. LIBBY, Wells, Me.
There are many nervous wrecks. There is nervous prostration of the stomach, of the bowels, and other organs. The brain, the kidneys, the liver, the nerve centers are all exhausted. There is but one thing to do—build up the nervous system by the use of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve. Its strengthening influence upon the nervous system restores normal action to the organs, and when they all work in harmony, health is assured. Get a bottle from your druggist. Take it all according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

CHANDLER REMINISCENT

He Greets Comrades of the Civil War in His Usual Warm-Hearted Manner

The following letter has been received from S. E. Chandler, a former well known resident of this section, by Veteran F. C. Mosher. It will be read before the boys of Companies E and H at their annual reunion to be held in this city on May 6. Mr. Chandler's letters are always well worth the perusing and this spicy reminiscence is no exception to a long established rule. It would be a pleasing notice for each comrade present at the reunion on Friday, to write the absent one a few lines at least, sending their address that he might know where to locate them in his thoughts.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 24, 1910.
My dear old Comrade, I recently received a letter from N. G. Cooper, who was at the time stopping at Kismunee, Florida, in which was a letter from you. After reading your letter I forwarded it to A. P. Chase at 714 Van Buren st., Milwaukee, Wis. Comrades Cooper, Chase and I have been keeping in touch with each other for the past three years, and when I read your letter I felt that we could crowd over and let you in to the game—making it a four handed one—and in fact I don't see but what there is room for all survivors of dear old Company E to "get in." Of course it would crowd the tent considerably, but what of that. Those little "dog" tents that were out only homes during the Summer of '62, and from that time on till the win-up in April '65. Let's see, they were made of sections, about 5 1/2 or 6 feet square, buttoned together, two pieces stretched over a tent pole, supported by stakes about three feet high with a section buttoned on at the rear; "bliss" formed the tent which was ready for occupancy. Of course we had to button on a piece in front of it rained, but, in good weather it was all right as it was. Plenty of fresh air, a rubber poncho spread on the ground, then our blankets, and it was ready for business. At the head of our bed were our few "duds" (the fewer the better), but safely tucked away were our arms and accoutrements, and last, though not least, were our haversacks, canteens, coffee "bitches" and skillets. The bitches were generally made out of a discarded fruit or tomato can, and the skillet out of a half canteen and both as black as the ace of—O, yes—spades. Inside of the haversacks could generally be found a few hard tack, a hunk of pickled pork or fresh beef and a sack of coffee and sugar mixed, for if we did not mix it when we drew it, tea chances to one, we would eat the sugar and drink our coffee "straight." So long as we had our health we were—as a rule—contented and happy, waiting for the war to cease.

Lieutenant S. L. Hill of our old Company went out as adjutant of the 24th New York Cavalry and was a prominent figure in that regiment up to June 2nd, '64, when he was wounded by a ball passing through his right forearm. As he left the regiment for the rear, Colonel Newberry told him to have either reinforcements or ammunition sent to them. While he was having his arm attended to at division headquarters, the General asked, "What division is that firing at the front?" "It's the 24th New York Cavalry and they want reinforcements or ammunition and the 24th don't care a damn which." We, who knew him can imagine just about how he looked when he said it. Then you know, in a general way, just about how "cheery" a man feels when he is back out of danger with a good clean flesh wound, one that is not painful or dangerous, but one that will pass him to a place of safety and—in a word—to "God's Country" for a few weeks. I know by experience how this is. The bullet that passed through my left side August 16th, '64, while in the intrenchments before Petersburg gave me this feeling and during the time I was absent from the regiment I could feel that there was no thought on the part of the "boys" that Chan was "playing off sick."

There were three times during my army service that I felt a keen degree of satisfaction. First was when in May '63 we (the 24th Infantry) were ordered to proceed to Elmira to be mustered out on account of expiration of term of service.

Second was August 16th, '64, when I was back out of danger after being wounded, as narrated above; and third, when we were ordered to "cease firing," for Lee had surrendered. This occurred Sunday morning at about 11 o'clock, April 9th, '65, at Appomattox Court House, Va. I was carrying the colors at the time and there were three holes shot through the flag after we were ordered to cease firing. After that historical event, it was just a question of time when we would be permitted to go home. No fear of the firing lines with comrades dropping around us.

I presume Company E will have a reunion on May 6. If so, tell the boys that I am still in the ring, with the same old story of good health, a story that I've told at every reunion of the company for—I don't know how many years.

I'd like, ever so much to hear from you and in fact, I'd like to hear personally from every one of the Company E boys. With best wishes for your health and prosperity, I will close.
Chan.

Just then his gaze alighted on the pathetic breakfast. He stared as if hypnotized. Was he going mad? An instant later he was on his hands and knees examining the mysterious feast. She joined him at once. No two faces ever before were so puzzled and perplexed.

"By heaven," he exclaimed, "I see it all! We've been deliberately shanghaied! We've been bottled up here and shipped out of town. Don't touch that stuff! It's probably full of poison. Great Scott, what a clever gang they are!"

Whereupon he proceeded to kick the unoffending breakfast out of the car door. To their dying day they were to believe that the food had been put there by agents of the great conspirator.

"Hello!" said he. "We're slowing up." He looked out and ahead. "There's a bridge down the road a bit—yes, there's our same old river! They're running slow for the bridge. We can swing off, Loraine. Now's our chance!"

The train was barely creeping up to the bridge. He eloped her in the strong crook of his left arm, slid down to a sitting position and boldly pushed himself clear of the car, landing on his feet. Staggering forward with the impetus he had received, he would have fallen except for a mighty effort. A sharp groan escaped his lips as he lowered Loraine to the ground. She looked anxiously into his face and saw nothing there but relief.

"Come along," said the man briefly. "We must try to reach that station back there. There I can telegraph in. Oh! His first attempt to walk brought out a groan of pain.

He had turned his ankle in the leap to the ground. "Lean on me!" she cried despairingly. "Nonsense!" he said, with grim stubbornness. "I don't mind the pain. We'll not stop, my dear—not till we get word to Dangloss."

At a wagon road crossing they paused to rest, having covered two miles. Her little cry of joy caused him to look up from the swollen ankle, which he was regarding with dubious concern. An ox cart was approaching from the west.

"A ride!" she cried joyously. They stopped the cart and bargained for a ride to Roum. The man was a farmer, slow and suspicious. He begged.

"The country's full of evil men and women these days," he demurred. "Besides, I have a heavy enough load as it is for my poor beasts."

Miss Tullis conducted the negotiations. "We are bound for Edelweiss. Can you get us there in two hours?"

"With these beasts, poor things? Never!"

"It will be worth your while. A hundred garvoss if you carry us to a place where we can secure quicker transportation."

road to Roum so bravely that there seemed some prospect of getting a telegram through in time. At Roum they learned that the operator had been unable to call Edelweiss since 7 o'clock.

In time the city gates came in sight, far up the straight, narrow road. It seemed to the quivering Americans that the gates were mocking them by drawing farther away instead of coming nearer.

Near the gates, which were still open, it occurred to him in a single flash of dismay that he and Loraine would be recognized and intercepted by Marlaux watchers.

It was she who had the solution. They might succeed in passing the gates if they hid themselves in the bed of the cart, underneath the thick canvas covering. The farmer lifted the cloth, and they crawled down among the melons.

"To the tower!" cried the anxious Truxton.

"Impossible!" shouted the farmer. "The streets are roped off, and the crowds are too great."

"Then let us out as near to the tower as possible!" cried the other.

"Here we are!" cried the driver a few minutes later, pulling up his half dead oxen and leaping to the ground. Off through an alley they hurried.

They came to the crowded square a few minutes later. The clock in the cathedral pointed to 12 o'clock and after the catastrophe had not yet taken place. They were in time. Everywhere they heard glad voices crying out that the prince was coming.

"Great God!" cried Truxton, stopping suddenly and pointing with trembling hand to a spot across the street. "There she is! At the corner! Stop her!"

He had caught sight of Olga Platunova. The first row of dragoons was already passing in front of her. Less than 200 feet away rolled the royal coach of gold.

"An anarchist!" shouted King hoarsely. He looked like one himself. "The bomb! The bomb! Stop the prince!"

Colonel Quinnox recognized this bearded, uncouth figure and the dying, terrified girl at his heels. King was dragging her along by the hand.

Quinnox alone prevented the dragoons from cutting down the pallid madman who stumbled blindly toward the coaches beyond.

"Stop the coach!" cried King. Faintly seized the crowd. Olga Platunova stood alone, her eyes wide and glassy, staring as if petrified at the face of Truxton King.

He saw the object in her wavering hand. A plain, white faced farmer in a smock of blue was crossing the street with mighty bounds, his eyes glued upon the arm of the frail, terrified anarchist. If he could only arrest that pained, uncertain arm!

But she hurried the bomb, her hands going to her eyes as she fell upon her knees.

CHAPTER XVI
THE THROWING OF THE BOMB.

THE scene that followed beggars all description. A score of men and horses lay writhing in the street; others crept away screaming with pain; human flesh and that of animals lay in the path of the frenzied, panic-stricken holiday crowd; blood mingled with the soft mud of Regent's circus, slimy, slippery, ugly!

Olga Platunova—there was nothing left of her! We draw a veil across the picture of Olga Platunova after the bomb left her hand. No one may look upon the quivering, shattered thing that was once a living, beautiful woman.

Down in an alley below the tower a trembling, worn team of oxen stood for a day and night, awaiting the return of a master who was never to come back to them. God rest his simple soul!

Truxton King picked himself up from the street, dazed, bewildered, but unharmed. The revolutionists had begun the assault on the paralyzed millions of the government.

He looked back toward the gory entrance to the circus. There was Marlaux, mounted and swinging a saber on high. Ahead was a mass of surging, armed with the white faced, pained prey from the court of Graustark. From somewhere near the wall they

Olga Platunova fell came a harsh, penetrating command: "Cut them off! Cut them off from the castle!"

It was his cue. He dashed into the street and ran toward the carriages, shouting with all his strength: "Turn back! It is Marlaux! To the castle!"

Then it was that he saw the prince. The boy was standing on a seat on the royal coach of state, holding out his eager little hands to some one in the thick of the crowd that surged about him. He was calling some one's name, but no one could have heard him.

Truxton's straining eyes caught sight of the figure in gray that struggled forward in response to the cries and the extended hand.

"Aunt Loraine! Aunt Loraine!" He now heard the name the boy cried with all his little heart.

Two officers struck at the mouth, desperate American as he lifted the girl from the ground and deliberately tossed her into the coach.

"Turn back!" he shouted. A horseman rode him down. He looked up at the plunging animal's hoofs clattered about his head. "Vos Engo, with drawn sword, was crowding up to the carriage door, shouting words of rejoicing at sight of the girl he loved.

He caught a glimpse of her, holding the prince in her arms, her white, agonized face turned toward the mob. Distinctly he heard her cry:

"Save him! Save Truxton King!" From the sidewalks swarmed well armed hordes of desperadoes, firing wildly into the ranks of devoted guardsmen. Truxton fled from the danger zone as fast as his strained ankle would permit him. Bullets were striking all about him.

Some one was shouting his name behind in the scurrying crowd. He turned for a single glance backward. Little Mr. Hobbs, pale as a ghost, his cap gone, his clothing torn, was pausing at his elbow.

Soldiers came riding up from behind, turning to fire from their saddles into the throng of cutthroats led by the grim old man with the bloody saber. In the center of the troop there was a dying carriage. The Duke of Perse was lying back in the seat, his face like that of a dead man.

"The prince is safe!" shouted King joyously. "They'll make it! Thank God!"

Colonel Quinnox turned in his saddle and searched out the owner of that stirring voice.

"Come!" he called. Even as King rushed out into the roadway a horseman galloped up from the direction of the castle. He pulled his horse to his haunches almost as he was riding over the dodging American.

"Here!" shouted the newcomer, scowling down upon the young man. "Swing up here! Quick, you fool!"

It was Vos Engo, his face black with fury. Quinnox had seized the hand of Mr. Hobbs on seeing help for King, and was putting him up before him. There was nothing for Truxton to do but to accept the timely help of his rival. An instant later he was up behind him and they were off after the last of the dragoons.

"If you don't mind, count. I'll try my luck," grunted the American. Holding on with one arm, he turned and fired repeatedly in the direction of the howling crowd of rascals.

"Ride to the barracks gates, Vos Engo!" commanded Colonel Quinnox. "Be prepared to admit boys but the royal reserves, who are under standing orders to report there in time of need."

Over his shoulder Vos Engo bled to his companion: "It was not Mr. Hobbs, my friend, nor philanthropy on my part. I was commanded to come and fetch you. She would never have spoken to me again if I had refused."

"She! Ah, yes, I see! She did not forget me!" cried Truxton. "Understand, it is not for you that I risk my life."

"I understand," murmured Truxton, a wry smile on his pale lips. "You mean, she is going to pay you in some way for picking me up, eh? Well, I'll put an end to that. I'll drop off again. Then you can ride on and tell her—I wouldn't be a party to the game. Do you catch my meaning?"

"You would, eh?" said the count angrily. "I'd like to see you drop off while we're going at this!"

"I've got my pistol in the middle of your back," grunted Truxton. "Slow up a bit or I'll scatter your vertebrae all over your system. Pull up!"

"As you like," cried Vos Engo. "I've done my part. Colonel Quinnox will bear witness." He began putting his horse down. "Now you are quite free to drop off."

Less than a hundred yards behind loomed a riderless horse. The dragoons who had sat the saddle were lying far back in the avenue, a bullet in his head. Hobbling to the middle of the road, the American threw up his hands and shouted briskly to the bewildered animal. Five seconds later King was in the saddle and tearing along in the wake of the retreating guard.

"We need such a king as King!" cried Colonel Quinnox as he waited inside the gates for the wild rider.

General Branza, with a few of his men, bloody and heartick, was the last of the little army to reach safety in the castle grounds.

The fortress, with all guns, stores and ammunition, was in the hands of the Iron Count and his cohorts.

Baron Dangloss had been taken prisoner with a whole platoon of fighting constables. This was the last appalling bit of news to reach the bottled, disorganized forces in the castle grounds.

A wise as well as a cruel man was Marlaux. He lost no time in issuing a manifesto to the stunned, demoralized citizens of Edelweiss. Scores of criers went through the streets during the long, wretched afternoon, announcing to the populace that Count Marlaux had established himself as dictator and military governor of the principality pending the abdication of the prince and the beginning of a new and substantial regime. All citizens were commanded to recognize the authority of the dictator.

Toward evening, after many consultations and countless reports, Marlaux removed his headquarters to the tower. He had fondly hoped to be in the castle long before this.

The cells and dungeons in the great old tower were now occupied by bruised, defeated officers of the law. Baron Jasto Dangloss, crushed in spirit and broken of body, paced the blackest and narrowest cell of them all.

At 9 o'clock on Sunday morning a small group of people gathered in the square. A meeting was soon in progress. A goods box stood over against the very spot on which Olga Platunova died. An old man began haranguing the constantly growing crowd.

In the group might have been seen most members of the committee of ten.

In the midst of his harangue the hand of William Spantz was arrested in one of his most emphatic gestures.

Peter Brutus was approaching at the head of a group of allies, all armed. "One moment!" called out Peter Brutus, lifting his hand imperatively. The speaker ceased his mouthings.

"Count Marlaux desires the immediate presence of the following citizens at his office in the lower I shall call off the names." He began with William Spantz. The name of each of his associates in the committee of ten followed.

Ten minutes later every member of the committee of ten, except Peter Brutus, was behind lock and bar, to gether with their shivering associates, all of them dumbly muttering to themselves the awful sentence that Marlaux had passed upon them.

"You are to die at sunset. Graustark still knows how to punish assassins. There is no room in Graustark for anarchy. I shall wipe it out today."

"Sir, your promise!" gasped William Spantz. "We are your friends—the true party of!"

"Enough! Do not speak again! Captain Brutus, you will send criers abroad to notify the citizens that I, Count Marlaux, have ordered the execution of the ringleaders in the plot to dynamite the prince, at sunset in the square. Away with the carrion!"

Then it was, and not till then, that the committee of ten found him out! Then it was that they came to know Peter Brutus!

The unrecognizable corpse of Olga Platunova had been buried in quicklime outside the city walls. There was something distinctly gruesome in the fact that half a dozen dead graves were dug alongside hers hours before death came to the wretches who were to occupy them.

At 3 o'clock the Iron Count coolly sent messengers to the homes of the leading merchants and bankers of the city. They, with the priests, the doctors, the municipal officers and the manufacturers, were commanded to appear before him at 5 o'clock for the purpose of discussing the welfare of the city and its people.

Marlaux stated his position clearly. He left no room for doubt in their minds. The struggle was in his hands. Without hesitation he informed the leading men of the city that he was to be the Prince of Graustark.

Where constipation, liver derangements, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, a constant tired feeling—mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help. They work in nature's own way. ## AEROPLANE ONLY HOPE

James J. Parker in Bankruptcy Proceedings—Liabilities of $2,853 With No Assets.

Utica, April 30. — Schedules in bankruptcy of James J. Parker, the Fulton machinist, whose failure was announced yesterday, have been referred to Referee N. B. Smith at Pulaski and a call for a meeting of the creditors will be issued next week.

Parker's schedules show liabilities of $2,853, of which there is $608 due three creditors with claims listed as secured. They are: Fulton, Sarah E. Morn, $229; G. F. Taft, $113; Phoenix, J. H. Loomis & Sons, $175; Lyons, Peter Knobloch, $300. These creditors are secured by chattel mortgages and mechanics' liens. The claim of the Lyons creditor covering the aeroplane upon which Parker has applied for a patent, but which, he says, is of no value.

Among the unsecured creditors are: Fulton—A. Z. Wolter, $38; George L. Wood, $40; S. Lipsky & Son, $42; E. A. Putnam, $50; T. H. Marvin, $33, the First National Bank, $375; F. E. Fox, $40; E. A. Gladman, $31; S. A. Russell, $75; George Johnston, $260; Stranahan & Van Buren, $27; G. J. Emery & Company, $142. Oswego—The Oswego Hardware Company, $73.

There are a few Syracuse creditors and some in Fulton with claims for small amounts. The Wellsted Paper and Canvas Company, of London, England, and S. C. Griffin, of Fulton, have claims against Parker for damages because of a fire which happened in Fulton in 1908. Griffin's claim is for $50.

There are no assets which will be of value to the creditors unless Parker's aeroplane proves a winner and his estate gets a patent from the Patent Office in Washington.

THE PANAMA-CANAL

Can't May Be Open in 1914—Review of Work Done

Six years ago to-day work was commenced by our government with a force of about 5,000 American laborers. This force has been increased each year until at the present time there are nearly thirty nine thousand names on the pay roll. The number of cubic yards of earth and rock has increased from less than half a million yards the first year to thirty five millions for the year ending December 31st, 1909, with a total amount to date of one hundred and four millions cubic yards. The total excavation dry and wet, as originally planned was estimated 103,700,000 cubic yards, in addition to what had been done by the French companies. Since this estimate the President has enlarged the canal to accommodate the increased size of dreadnaught, to 174,000,000 yards; thus leaving 70,000,000 to be removed to complete the canal; during the years 1908-1909 over 7,000,000 cubic yards were taken out. At this rate it will require not to exceed two more years to finish excavation.

The entire length of the canal from deep water in the Atlantic to deep water in the Pacific is about fifty miles, while its length on land is about forty miles. A vessel in passing through it from the Atlantic side will enter a channel of some 500 feet, bottom width, in Simon Bay follow this for seven miles to Gatun, there enter a series of three locks and be lifted 85 feet to the level of Gatun Lake. It will sail at full speed through this lake for a distance of about 24 miles to Barro Colorado, and here enter the Culebra cut, sail a distance of nine miles in a channel with bottom width of 300 feet to Pedro Miguel there to enter a lock and be lowered 30 feet to a small lock at an elevation of 55 feet above sea level. A distance of one and one half miles to Miraflores where it will be lowered by two locks to the sea level, passing out into the Pacific through width of 500 feet. The depth of the approach on the Atlantic side will be 41 feet where the tidal oscillation does not exceed 14 feet and on the Pacific side the oscillation is 23 feet. The depth will be 45 feet at mean tide.

One of the most important features of the canal is the Gatun dam which will form Gatun Lake by impounding the waters of the Chagres and other streams in size. It will be 1 1/2 miles long and same distance wide and have an elevation of 115 feet above sea level. The interior of the dam is formed of a natural mixture of sand and clay dredged by hydraulic process from pits above and below the dam and placed between masses of rock on either side and thoroughly intrapped. To care for the floods which so often occur a spillway lined with concrete some 1200 feet long and 300 feet wide cut through a hill of solid rock. The spillway will be fitted with steel gates operated by machinery for regulating the water level of this lake and extending through the locks of Culebra cut and connecting the locks of Pedro Miguel.

There will be twelve locks in the canal all duplicate with a combined lift of 85 feet; length of 1000 feet and width of 110 feet, operated by electricity. The lock gates are made of steel, 7 feet thick, 65 feet long, from 40 to 80 feet high and weigh from three to six hundred tons each. Electricity will be used to tow all vessels into and through the locks, operate all gates and valves, power being generated by turbines from the head created by Gatun Lake. The time to pass a vessel through the locks is estimated at three hours and through the entire canal, twelve hours. At the present rate of progress all the excavation can be completed in two more years and allowing two years for building of locks and all other work; it is claimed that vessels can go through by 1914 at the furthest. This gain in time has been brought about by the superior skill shown in the great improvement of the dredges and other machinery used. No less than 100 steam shovels have been in constant use, requiring over 4,000 cars and 70 locomotives to remove the earth and rock. There has been expended to this date $220,000,000, and it is estimated it will require $175,000,000 to complete the canal. H. N. G.

BANQUET A SUCCESS

Covers Laid For 200 at Banquet of Methodist Bible Class.

The banquet given the victors in the recent attendance contest in the Brotherhood class of the First Methodist church, by the defeated side, on Friday evening, was a positive success from start to finish. Music, decorations and menu all combining to give the 200 men in attendance a most delightful evening. The Rev. C. L. Peck, the new pastor of the church and the newly elected teacher of the class, was detained out of town until 9:30 o'clock, but upon his arrival at the church he was tendered an informal reception and addressed the guests in happy vein.

On Thursday evening Mr. Peck's former parishioners in Ashbury church, Watertown, gathered at the church and presented their retiring pastor and his wife with a chest of silver and $50 in gold as a token of their esteem. All Watertown regrets the loss of Rev. and Mrs. Peck, but Fulton is to be congratulated upon acquiring so really cultured and desirable an addition. To the First Methodist church in particular their coming is like unto a benediction.

HEARST BRINGS ACTION FOR LIBEL

NEWSPAPERS THAT PUBLISHED MAYOR GAYNOR'S SPEECH ARE INVOLVED

Action for Half a Million Also Brought Against the Associated Press.

New York, May 2.—A crop of libel suits has sprung from the speech of Mayor Gaynor last Thursday evening at the dinner of The Associated Press and the American Newspaper Publishers' association at the Waldorf. Actions for $100,000 each against the

New York Times and the Brooklyn Daily Eagle have already been filed by Clarence J. Shearn, acting for William Randolph Hearst, and more writs will be issued to-day against newspapers in various parts of the country which published the Mayor's speech. Moreover, Mr. Hearst has brought suit against The Associated Press for $500,000 for sending the Mayor's speech to its members, including Mr. Hearst's New York American, which published it in full, with the statement that it was furnished by The Associated Press.

One of Mr. Hearst's associates said yesterday that the editor's counsel was considering what action he should take with regard to the Mayor himself. No civil suit will be brought against the Mayor, it was said, but counsel for Mr. Hearst are trying to decide whether an action for criminal libel will lie.

DEATHS

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Barrett. Twice within thirty-six hours death invaded the home of Mrs. Lillian Thurston in Syracuse and removed Mr. and Mrs. George W. Barrett, her father and mother. Undertaker I. E. Marsh was called to Syracuse on Saturday to care for the remains of Mr. Barrett and his widow was critically ill at the time, passing away on Sunday evening. The bodies were removed to the home of the son, Mr. William H. Barrett, West side, from where the funeral services were held on Tuesday, the Rev. Charles Olmstead officiating. Interment was made in Mt. Adnah. The aged couple were formerly well known in this city where they resided until a few years ago, when they went to Syracuse to make their home with the daughter.

cause to make their home with the daughter.

Malcolm Foster McClure. The remains of Malcolm Foster McClure, whose death in Newark, N. J., was briefly mentioned in last week's Times, were brought to this city on Sunday morning for interment in Mt. Adnah. Prof. and Mrs. David McClure and a representative from the Newark, N. J., Evening News accompanied the remains. Undertaker Brown met the body at the depot and the bearers were six former school friends of the deceased. The Rev. J. G. York officiated at the interment services. A wealth of floral tributes from school friends, personal friends and co-workers on the newspaper, accompanied the body. The excellent likeness of the deceased, which appears in another column of this edition, is published through the courtesy of the Newark Evening News. The deepest sympathy of their many friends in this city goes out to the parents bereaved of their only child.

Leland J. Whitaker. After an illness of three weeks with typhoid fever, L. J. Whitaker, aged 28, United States express agent in this city and an athlete well known throughout the State, passed to rest at his home in Cayuga street on Thursday morning. His sickness and death was particularly sad as he was in the prime of life and the future looked very bright for himself and family. He was buying a little home for them and success seemed within his grasp. The funeral services were held from the late home Saturday morning, the Rev. J. G. York officiating, and the body was taken to Hamilton on the noon train for interment. A delegation from Fulton lodge of Elks, of which the deceased was a member accompanying the remains and invoking the burial ritual at the grave. The deceased was a graduate of St. Lawrence University, having studied three years in Colgate seminary. In both colleges he was the head and front of athletics, excelling in football, basketball and baseball. For several seasons he was a favorite pitcher with the old Empire League and came to Fulton first in that capacity three years ago; he was also an alumnus of New York Epsilon Chapter, Phi Kappa Psi. The immediate survivors are the widow, two daughters, Dorothy and Grace; his mother, Mrs. Whitaker; one sister, Jennie and one brother, William, all of South Fallsburg, and one brother, Frank, of Albany, all of whom were present when death came.

Carlton S. Pritchard. Carlton S. Pritchard, a well known resident of the town of Volney, and for many years residing in Palermo, died last Thursday evening at the Fulton city hospital of chronic heart trouble and a complication of dropsy. He was born at Phoenix sixty-seven years ago. When twenty years of age he married Elizabeth Burritt and moved to Palermo. Subsequently he lived in Utica ten years; returning eighteen years ago to Gilbert's Mills, where he resided the remainder of his life, except the last three years, which were spent in Volney. He was a man of deep and tender sympathies with his friends, and very conscientious in the discharge of what he conceived to be his duties. He was buried beside his wife, who preceded him five years ago, in Volney cemetery Friday morning, the Rev. Sharp officiating at the grave. Immediate burial was necessary because of a small pox quarantining established at the hospital about a week previous to his death. The regular funeral service was conducted Sunday at 3 o'clock in the Bristol Hill church by Rev. Arthur Phillips of Boston, of the Reorganized Church of Christ; Mr. Pritchard having been a devout member of that faith. Miss Babcock and Miss Barnes effectively rendered the song, "With there be any stars in my crown," at the commencement of the service; and at the close Miss Babcock sang the beautiful solo, "Face to face."

Among the floral tributes was a beautiful Easter lily presented by the W. C. T. U. of Fulton, of which Mrs. Loomis is a member. The survivors are two daughters, Mrs. Earl Loomis of Volney, and Mrs. Eva Horton, of Boston, Mass.; and one son, Mr. Clinton Pritchard, of Palermo.

CARD OF THANKS. We take this opportunity to thank the friends who so kindly extended assistance and words of sympathy in our late bereavement and assure them that their kindness has been greatly appreciated.

Mrs. and Mrs. Earl D. Loomis.
Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Pritchard.

CARD OF THANKS. I wish to express to all the many friends who have been so very kind and thoughtful to me in every way in my bereavement, my most sincere and heartfelt thanks.

MEMORIAL ROOM BENEFIT PARTY

OVER 200 LADIES. PRESENT—A BRILLIANT SOCIAL AND FINANCIAL SUCCESS

Military Eulogy and a Delightful Literary and Musical Program Presented by Local Talent

The benefit party given in the Elks' Home on Saturday afternoon for the Woodbury memorial room in the Albert Lindley Lee Memorial Hospital, was the largest and most enjoyable recent happening in this city. Big in the generosity of the Elks, who provided the house and the fittings; big in the execution of the plans by the committee, who conceived the party; big in the co-operation of the public, and big in the result attained. The weather was propitious, over two hundred guests responding to the invitations sent out, and $80 was netted the project from the entertainment. The out-of-town guests present were Mrs. Cornelia Dean and Miss Grace Hubbard, Phoenix; Miss Genevieve Austin and Miss Annie Marlow, Syracuse.

The guests were received in the magnificent lodge room by Mrs. N. N. Stranahan, Mrs. C. H. David, Mrs. C. Frank Foster and Miss Grace J. Tucker. The room presented a very bright and attractive appearance with its patriotic decoration of flags. Twenty-five tables were arranged for military eulogy, their red, white and blue shield place-cards and their various forts, with red pennants flying, added to the brilliancy of the scene. At the conclusion of the novel and exciting game it was found that Mrs. Job Bennett, Mrs. Fred Rice, Mrs. F. J. MacNamara and Mrs. Albert E. Kraus had taken the most forts, and they were awarded the king prizes, beautiful brooches, painted by Mrs. Stranahan. The consolation prizes, consisting of lemon bon-bon boxes, filled and decorated with tiny flags, were awarded the ladies who had taken the fewest forts—Mrs. J. H. Brooks, Mrs. Charles Brooks, Miss Mary Marks and Mrs. F. L. Jennings. The spacious drawing room and parlor on the first floor of the building were well filled with guests who did not care for cards, and they were delightfully entertained with a musical and literary program arranged by Mrs. J. Harroun Howe, the numbers of which were as follows:

Quartet—Minuetta, Miss Stair, Mrs. Joy, Miss Guile, Miss Hodges, Mrs. Allen.
Piano duet—Waltz—Faint Liszt.
Mrs. Sawtelle, Miss Elder.
Reading—Quarrel Scene.
Mrs. Sanford, Miss Lounsbury.
Solo—(a) Rose in the Bud.
(b) Roses.
Mrs. Forrester.
Reading—Selected.
Miss Lounsbury.
Solo—The Letter.
Mrs. Car Roma.
Piano solo—Impromptu, No. 4.
Mrs. Schlappi.
Solo—(a) Cross Roads.
(b) A Little House.
D'Hardelet.
Mrs. Shaver.
Reading—Selected.
Mrs. Sanford.
Quartet—Scarlett Sarafan.
Mrs. Joy, Miss Guile, Miss Hodges, Mrs. Allen.

The tea room was presided over by Mrs. T. H. Marvin, and at the close of the program the guests were served sandwiches and tea by the Misses Helen Marvin, Gertrude Whitaker, Antoinette Hill, May Brooker and Dorothy Webb. The party was successful from every standpoint and the ladies who conceived the entertainment and arranged the detail wish to include in the responsibility for its success all who assisted in any way toward it: The Elks for the use of the Home and furnishings; Janitor Simons for many helpful acts; Mr. E. P. Cole, for the use of tables and chairs; Mr. A. S. Brown for the use of a piano; the Masonic Club for the use of chairs; Mr. Bruce Steele for many gracious deeds, and the public which so heartily responded toward making the memorial room possible.

It is gratifying to the ladies, who, prompted by reverence for the memory of the aged physician whose life was filled with deeds of charity, decided fittingly to commemorate his memory in furnishing and endowing the room in the Lee Memorial Hospital, that so many spontaneous evidences of approval of the project have been received from former patients and friends. Among those who have generously and unsolicited aided the cause are the orrill brothers, Mrs. S. B. Whitaker, Mrs. N. N. Stranahan, Mrs. Lydia Ditts, Mrs. W. L. Woodbury, Mrs. G. E. Mason, Mrs. John Barker, Sr., Mrs. H. J. Galpin, Oxford; Mrs. John Farrell, Mrs. Arvin Rice, Mrs. J. K. Steele, Miss Gertrude Farrell, Mrs. Wiloughby and Messrs. William and Westal Wiloughby, Washington, D. C., Mrs. W. J. Pentelow, Corona, Calif., Mrs. Edward Osborne, Mrs. F. A. Gage and the members of the Nestline Club.

DEAN COMFORT DEAD

Dr. George Fisk Comfort, founder of the College of Fine Arts, of Syracuse University, and organizer of the Metropolitan Museum of Arts in New York and the Syracuse Museum of Fine Arts, died suddenly on Thursday afternoon at the residence of his son, Ralph M. Comfort, No. 145 Lincoln street, Montclair, N. J. He had been ill only a few days.

Dr. Comfort was one of the most familiarly known figures in Syracuse. His long white beard, his polite and polished manner and his eagerness to be of assistance to all who visited the Art museum in the Carnegie library building, made his a marked personality. His love for the museum and interest in its welfare were almost pathetic. He fought for and worked for its existence as earnestly as though it had been his own, and his devotion to the cause of art in Syracuse ceased only with his life.

He was happiest when in the midst of the art treasures which he had with infinite pains gathered together and he knew the story of each object, however small, which was contained in any one of the cases.

MISS KNAPP WINS

Fulton was keenly interested in the European contest inaugurated by the Journal, in as far as it concerned the Misses Lella Knapp and Francis LaLonde and there was rejoicing and regrets upon the part of the friends of the victor and the vanquished. Miss Knapp won out at the eleventh hour by a substantial majority, and she also polled the largest vote of any contestant in any district, entitling her to the privilege of selecting the chaperon to accompany the party. It is reported that Miss Knapp will select her mother to make the tenth member of the party to sail on July 4, for a six weeks tour of the continent.

Miss LaLonde is entitled, with five others, to a trip to the Bermudas at the expense of the newspaper.

PULPWOOD COMING

George W. Buskey has made a contract with the Battle Island Paper and Paper Company to transport 25,000 cords of pulpwood from this city to the company's mill by water. Eleven boats are ready for this trade and two more are expected from Buffalo by lake in the near future.

Mr. Buskey says that the boats will use the hydraulic canal from a point near the upper bridge. The State must prepare the way and give the boats six feet of water in the old ditch. It may be necessary to place the State dredge in there. The big towbarge Ewing that was in the ice all winter with a cargo of pulpwood is expected here tonight or tomorrow, and the steamer Georgetown arrives at Ha Ha Bay tonight to load for this city—Oswego Times.

INSTITUTE INCORPORATED

Albany, May 5.—The Oswego Institute of Oswego was incorporated to-day with the Secretary of State. The capital stock is fixed at $50,000 and among the directors for the first year are D. A. Wright and Glen Wright of Rochester. The institute is incorporated to deal in books, etc., and its particular line of work will be in the line of a correspondence course training for prospective candidates for government positions for the civil service examinations.

BASEBALL SEASONS OPENS

The baseball season at Tilden Park, Stop 28, opened very auspiciously on Saturday and it was difficult for the spectators to realize that the game they witnessed on that day was practically a try-out of new men. The game was practically flawless and the greatest enthusiasm on the part of the spectators was evidenced, auguring well for the support of the team by local fans. The trolley company gave splendid service on Saturday and Sunday with their fifteen minute, open car schedule.

The dancing pavilion is a mammoth affair, nearly completed, and the other attractions at the park are approaching a stage that will permit the wheels to go round as soon as the weather moderates and summer arrives. Tilden park is destined to become a very popular resort. Alderman Freeman Johnson and Mr. Tilden expressing the determination to maintain a high class place.

COUNCIL GRANTS FRANCHISE

The Common Council met on Friday evening and redeemed their pre-election pledges by granting a franchise to the Niagara-Oswego Power Company, officered by Simon B. Storer, W. H. White and M. S. Powell. The terms of the franchise are published in full on another page of this edition and they should be read carefully by all prospective users of the fluid from this source.

The keen demand for the granting of the franchise seemed to have died with the counting of the ballots on election night and it is not believed that sufficient demand or interest can be created to persuade the Public Service Commission that competition or additional power is necessary in Fulton at this time.

The franchise was granted by a vote of five to one, Alderman Malone of the Second Ward being the only one to vote no.

KING EDWARD DEAD

The death of King Edward, following a two weeks attack of bronchitis, occurred at the palace in London on Friday, and the civilized world shares with England in mourning the passing away of a kind and just ruler and a champion of universal peace. His death came at a crisis in the political history of England and it is believed that worry and care relative thereto hastened the death of the chief guardian.

The new King, Prince George, eldest son of King Edward, ascended the throne immediately upon the death of his illustrious parent, and coronation ceremony followed on Saturday, the scene being most impressive in its pomp. The new king is not a favorite with his people and his is not an enviable lot at present. His father was so greatly beloved by his subjects that he must indeed have the wisdom of a serpent and the harmlessness of a dove to successfully succeed him with the masses.

Ex-President Roosevelt was to have been entertained by the dead King within a few days, in a manner unprecedented in its magnificence. Instead Mr. Roosevelt will probably be appointed by President Taft to become the special representative at the final obsequies, to occur probably on May 17.

FULTON CLAIM AFFIRMED

Electric Light Company Gets $337,155 Both Sides Appeal

Albany, May 6.—The pioneer case in the Court of Claims, involving water rights in connection with the barge canal, has been affirmed by the Appellate Division, third department. The claim is that of the Fulton Heat, Light and Power Company against the State, arising out of a permanent appropriation, of the company's property by the State.

The State claimed that the barge canal was an improvement of the navigation of the river, and that the claimant was not entitled to any damages for water rights taken from it. The total claim made by the claimant was $3,428,028.26.

The Court of Claims held that the rights were concerned by the appropriation by the State made in 1826, when the old Oswego canal was constructed, and that the barge canal was not an improvement of the navigation of the Oswego river at this point, but the construction of an independent waterway.

An award was made of $294,000, which with interest, amounted to the sum of $337,155.28 at the time of the entry of the judgment. The claimant appealed on the ground of the insufficiency of the award and the State on the ground of its excessiveness. An appeal may be taken to the Court of Appeals and the rights will not become finally determined until a decision has been given by that court.

EX-PATROLMAN BLODGETT ARRESTED

Justice may start with slowness but when she once gets under way in Oswego county she casts her leaden heel and scores a Marathon record. This fact was established last week when within an hour and forty minutes after an indictment had been found against ex-Patrolman William Blodgett, now of Seattle, Wash., Sheriff Taft had received word that his orders had been carried out and the man was in jail in that city. Blodgett left Fulton without leave from his superior officer several weeks ago and he has absented himself ever since. It has been rumored that he carried with him information as to who liberated Daisy Mahar from the local lock-up last Fall.

Under Sheriff Dennis and Special Deputy Sheriff Charles Knight of Oswego, left on Monday for Albany to secure requisition papers, and they will then proceed to Seattle after Blodgett, who will be brought to Oswego for trial on the serious charge. The cost of bringing back the indicted man will be a trifle over $1,400 to the county.

HAVENS FORGOT TO FILE EXPENSES

Washington May 7.—Representative James S. Havens, Democrat, of Rochester, who defeated Aldrich, admitted today that through a misunderstanding of the terms of the law he had failed to file his election expenses within the legal limit of ten days.

Havens said that his campaign cost $3,700. Of this $500 was turned over to the County Committee and the remainder was expended for postage.

TRUXTON KINGA Story of ...GraustarkBy GEORGE BARR
M'UTCHEONCopyright, 1909, by George Barr
M'UTCHEON
Copyright, 1909, by Dodd, Mead & Company

"I will rule Graustark or destroy her. Those of you who do not expect of desire to live under my rule, which I promise you, shall be a wise one, may leave the city for other lands," he said calmly. "Just as soon as my deputies have completed the formal transfer of all your belongings to the crown treasury—all, I say, even to the minutest trifle. Permit me to add in that connection, gentlemen, the transfer will not be a prolonged affair."

They glared back at him and subsided into bitter silence. "I am well aware that you love little Prince Robin. Now, respecting young master Robin, I have no great desire to kill him."

He waited to see the effect of this brutal announcement. His hearers stiffened, and—yes, they held their breath.

"He has one alternative—he and his lords. I trust that you, as sensible gentlemen, will find the means to convey to him your advice that he seize the opportunity I shall offer him to escape with his life. Let me interrupt myself to call to your attention the fact that I am punishing the anarchists at sunset. To resume, the boy may return to America, where he belongs. I will give him free and safe escort to the United States. If he chooses to accept my kindly terms, all well and good; if not, gentlemen, I shall starve him out or blow the castle down. It may interest you to hear that I expect to establish a new nobility in Graustark. I trust I may now be addressing at least a few of the future noble lords of Graustark. Good day, gentlemen."

At the castle the deepest gloom prevailed. It was like a nightmare to the beleaguered household, a dream from which there seemed to be no awakening. Colonel Quinox, as commander of the royal guard ruled supreme. General Brazz tore off his own epaulettes and presented himself to Quinox as a soldier of the file.

Prince Robin, quite recovered from his fright, donned the uniform of a colonel of the royal dragons, buckled on his jeweled sword and, with boyish zeal, demanded at a council of war Colonel Quinox's reasons for not going forth to slay the rioters.

"Your highness," said the colonel bitterly, "the real army is outside the walls, not inside. We are a pitiful handful, less than 300 men all told, counting the wounded. Count Marlanx heads an army of several thousand."

"He wants to get in here so he can kill me. Is that so, Colonel Quinox?" The prince was very pale, but quite calm.

"Oh, I wouldn't put it just that way, your highness."

"Oh, I know! You can't fool me! I've always known that he wants to kill me. But how can he? Nobody can. He ought to know that. He must be a fool!"

"We must get word to Tullis," cried several in a breath. A dozen men volunteered to risk their lives in the attempt to find the American in the hills. Two men were chosen by lot. They were to venture forth that very night.

"My lords," said the prince as the council was on the point of dissolving, "is it all right for me to ask a question now?"

"Certainly, Rob-in," said the prince minister.

"Well, I'd like to know where Mr. King is."

"He's safe, your highness," said Quinox.

"Well, you run in and tell Aunt Lorraine this minute that Mr. King sends his love to her and begs her to rest easy. See if it doesn't cheer her up a bit."

At night two attempts were made by Haddan and another subaltern to leave the castle to reach Tullis, but both sorties proved failures. A day later Marlanx sent two men under a flag of truce to offer his infamous ultimatum. His offer of a safe conduct for the inmates of the castle knew full well the count would doom the lad to instant death if he should get him in his possession.

A single distant volley at sunset had puzzled the men on guard at the castle. They had no means of knowing that the committee of ten and its wretched friends had been shot down like dogs in the public square. Peter Brown was in charge of the squad of executioners.

CHAPTER XVII.

TRUXTON EXACTS A PROMISE.
TRUXTON KING had been in a resentful frame of mind for nearly forty-eight hours. In the first place, he had not had so much as a single glimpse of the girl he now worshiped with all his heart. In the second place, he had learned, with unpleasant promptness, that Count Vos Ego was the officer in command of the house guard, a position as gravely responsible as it was honorable.

He had, of course, proffered his services to Colonel Quinox. The colonel, who admired the Americans, gravely informed him that there was no regular duty to which he could be assigned, but that he would expect him to hold himself ready for any emergency. In case of an assault he was to report to Count Vos Ego.

But he was not satisfied. Lorraine had not come forward with a word of greeting or relief—in fact, she had not appeared outside the castle doors.

Toward dusk on Monday, long after the arrival of the refugees, he sat in gloomy contemplation of his own unhappiness, darkly gloowering upon the unfriendly portals from a distant stone bench.

A brisk guardman separated himself from the knot of men at the castle doors and crossed the plaza toward him.

Judge the dismay and anger when the soldier, a bit shamefaced himself, briefly announced that Count Vos Ego had issued an order against loitering in close proximity to the castle.

Truxton's cheek burned. He saw in an instant that the order was meant for him and for no one else, he being the only outsider likely to come under the head of "loiterer."

Truxton turned to him with a frank smile. "Please tell Count Vos Ego that I am the last person in the world to disregard discipline at a time like this."

His glance swept the balcony, suddenly becoming fixed on a couple near the third column. Count Vos Ego and Lorraine Tullis were standing there together, unmistakably watching his humiliating departure.

The next morning he encountered Vos Ego near the grotto.

Catching sight of Vos Ego, he hastened across the avenue and caught up to him.

"Good morning," said Truxton. Vos Ego did not smile as he eyed the tall American. "I haven't had a chance to thank you for coming back for me last Saturday. Allow me to say that it was a very brave thing to do."

"I do not like your words, Mr. King, nor the way in which you glare at me."

"I'm making it easier to tell you the agreeable news, Count Vos Ego," that's all. Take your hand off your sword, please—some other time perhaps, but not in these days, when we need men, not cripples. I'll tell you what I have discovered, and then we'll drop the matter until some other time. Frankly, count, I have made the gratifying discovery that you are a miserable cur."

Count Vos Ego went very white. "As you say, there is another and a better time. We need dogs as well as men in these days."

Truxton strode off to the stables, picking up Mr. Hobbs on the way.

"Hobbs," he said, "we've got to find John Tullis; that's all there is to it."

"I dare say, sir," said Mr. Hobbs, with sprightly decisiveness. "He's very much needed."

"I'm going to need him before long as my second."

Later on much of Truxton's good humor was restored and his vanity pleased by a polite request from Count Halfont to attend an important council in the "room of wrangles" that evening at 9.

Very boldly he advanced upon the castle a few minutes before the appointed hour.

He came upon Lorraine Tullis at the edge of the terrace. She was walking slowly in the soft shadows beyond the row of lights on the lower gallery. He knew her at a glance, this slim girl in spotless white.

"Lorraine," he whispered, reaching her side in two bounds. She put out her hands, and he clasped them. Plainly she was confused. "I've been dying for a glimpse of you. Do you think you've treated me?"

"Don't, Truxton!" she pleaded, suddenly serious. "You must not come here. I saw—well, you know. I was so ashamed! I was so sorry."

He still held her hands.

"Yes; they ordered me to move on, as if I were a common loafer," he said, with a soft chuckle. "But where have you kept yourself?"

"I have been ill, Truxton—truly, I have," she said quickly, uneasily.

"You told Vos Ego to ride back and pick me up," he persisted. "He told me in so many words. Now, I want a plain answer, Lorraine. Did you promise to reward him if he—well, if he saved me from the mob?"

"No," she said in a low voice.

"What was it, then? I must know, Lorraine."

"I am very, oh, so very unhappy, Truxton," she murmured.

"I came near spoiling everything just now," he whispered, hoarsely.

"What?"

"I almost kissed you, Lorraine. I swear it was hard to keep from it. That would have spoiled everything."

"Yes, it would," she agreed quickly. "I'm not going to kiss you until you have told me you love Vos Ego."

"I—I don't understand!" she cried, drawing back and looking up into his face with bewildered eyes.

"Because then I'll be sure that you love me."

"Be sensible, Truxton." "I'll know that you promised to love him if he'd save me. It's as clear as day to me. You did tell him you'd marry him if he got me to a place of safety."

"No. I refused to marry him if he did not save you. Oh, Truxton, I am so miserable! What is to become of all of us? What is to become of John and Bobby and you?"

"I—I think I'll kiss you now, Lorraine," he whispered almost tremulously. "God, how I love you, little darling! You must make me a promise."

"Oh, Truxton, don't ask me to say that I'll be your— She stopped, painfully embarrassed.

"That will come later," he said consolingly. "I want you to promise, on your sacred word of honor, that you'll kiss no man until you've kissed me."

"Oh," she murmured, "I—I cannot promise that! I am not sure that I'll ever—ever kiss anybody. What is it you really want me to say?" she asked, looking up with sudden shyness in her starry eyes.

"That you love me—and me only, Lorraine," he whispered.

"I will not say it!" she cried, breaking away from him. "But," as she

"THAT YOU LOVE ME AND ME ONLY, LORRAINE."

ran to the steps, a delicious tremor in her voice. "I will consider the other thing you ask."

King was ushered into a large, sedately furnished room. A score of men were there before him—sitting or standing in attitudes of attention, listening to the words of General Brazz. King's entrance was the signal for an immediate transfer of interest. The general bowed most politely and at once turned to Count Halfont with the remark that he had quite finished his suggestions. The prime minister came forward to greet the momentarily shy American.

"The council has been extolling you, Mr. King," said the prime minister, leading him to a seat near his own. Truxton blushed. Involuntarily he glanced at Vos Ego. That gentleman started, a curious light leaping into his eyes.

"Here's the situation in a nutshell," went on the prime minister. "We are doomed unless succor reaches us from the outside. We seem unable to warn John Tullis, who, if given time, might succeed in collecting a sufficient force of loyal countrymen to harass and eventually overthrow the dictator. I am loath to speak of another alternative that has been discussed at length by the ministers and their friends. The Duke of Perse, from a bed of pain and anguish, has consented us to take steps in the direction I am about to speak of."

"We can appeal to Russia in this hour of stress, but we will have to make an unpleasant sacrifice. Russia is eager to take over our new issue of railway bonds. Hitherto we have voted against disposing of the bonds in that country, the reason being obvious. St. Petersburg wants a new connecting line with her possessions in Afghanistan. Our line will provide a most direct route—a cutoff, I believe they call it. Last year the Grand Duke Paulus volunteered to provide the money for the construction of the line from Edinburg north to Balak on condition that Russia be given the right to use the line in connection with her own roads to the orient. You may see the advantage in this to Russia. Mr. King, if I send word to the Grand Duke Paulus, agreeing to his terms, which still remain open to us, signing away a most valuable right in what we had hoped would be our own individual property, we have every reason to believe that he will send armed forces to our relief on the pretext that Russia is defending properties of her own. That is one way in which we may oust Count Marlanx. The other lies in the ability of John Tullis to give battle to him with our own people carrying the guns. Lieutenant Haddan has told us quite lately of a remark you made which he happened to overhear. If I quote him correctly, you said to the Englishman Hobbs that you could get away with it, meaning, as I take it, that you could succeed in reaching John Tullis. May I not implore you to tell us how you would go about it?"

Surprising,
What Kodol Will Do

For you, when you need it. But the longer you neglect indigestion, the more you will suffer before Kodol can restore Good Digestion.

And, of course, indigestion if neglected long enough, brings on serious diseases in which Kodol cannot benefit you. Some of these there is no help for at all.

There are, in fact, very few ailments which cannot be traced directly to impure blood. And impure blood is always due to a disordered stomach.

Use Kodol and prevent Nervous Dyspepsia. Kodol will effectually assist Nature to secure a complete restoration of good digestion. It does this by at once digesting all food in the stomach and keeping it digested, until the stomach is rested and can resume its own work. Kodol removes the cause—and the effect quickly removes itself.

When it is recalled that Apoplexy, Heart Disease, Cancer—and even Consumption—are due to poor digestion and poisons thus transmitted to the blood, and throughout the system—the importance of maintaining good digestion is at once realized.

We knew what Kodol would do before ever the first bottle was sold. If we did not know just what it would do, we would not guarantee it the way we do.

It is easy for you to prove Kodol—the next (or the first) time you have an attack of indigestion. And you will certainly be surprised at the results. It is perfectly harmless.

There can be no harm in trying something that may do you a great deal of good—when it costs you nothing if it doesn't.

Our Guarantee
Go to your druggist today and get a dollar bottle. Then after you have used the entire contents of the bottle if you can honestly say that it has not done you any good, return the bottle to the druggist and he will refund your money without question or delay. We will then pay the druggist for the bottle. Don't hesitate. All druggists know that our guarantee is good. This offer applies to the large bottle only and to last one in a family. The large bottle contains 2½ times as much as the fifty cent bottle.

Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

BUSINESS BALLAST

By Elbert Hubbard

WHEN Henry Selfridge, of Chicago, was starting that great American store in London, he found that he was flying a trifle light, and needed a little business ballast—in other words a little financial accommodation was required. On applying to his bankers they asked to see Mr. Selfridge's life insurance policies. When he sent his secretary over with the documents, aggregating an even million dollars, the moneyed men winked, blinked and gasped for breath. One of the policies was in the Equitable for an even three hundred thousand dollars. Now, be it known that the Equitable never writes a policy like that without not only examining the man physically, but looking up his moral record with a fine tooth-comb. The dope fiend, the boozier, the rounder, the bouncer, and the gent who follows the ponies, cannot pass. Your record must be clean and you must be engaged in a business that serves society. You must be benefitting your fellow men, not exploiting them. The safe man is the useful man. So when our Threadneedle Street friends saw those Selfridge policies, they suddenly awoke to the fact that they were dealing with a man who knew exactly what he was doing. The life insurance policies were his certificates of character. The bankers sent back the policies, with word that Mr. Selfridge could have anything he wanted, on his own terms. But in the two days delay the wind had veered; the buyers were mobbing the store with £. s. d., and Selfridge found himself in funds; and then he had the joy of thanking the money-bags and informing them that he wanted nothing. All wise men who can get life insurance nowadays do. It stiffens the vertebrae, sweetens the love of wife and kiddydeens, commands the confidence of your colleagues and enables you to look trouble squarely in the eye and cause it to beat it for the bush. Life insurance is a privilege. If it is within your reach today, secure it today. Tomorrow may be too late.

HE WAS MISSED

The following letter from N. G. Cooper explains why his many friends were disappointed in not seeing him at the reunion held in this city on Friday. He was missed greatly and an earnest hope is extended for his speedy and complete recovery:

Rockville Center, N. Y., May 6, 1910.

Editor Times: A few days ago I caught cold and lumbago got me in its grip, my back went back on me so I could not go to Fulton this week. The spirit was anxious to fly, but the flesh was in torture. I had looked forward for months to being with Co's. E. and H. today and am near to tears over the disappointment.

Forty-nine years ago on May 3, I believe, Co. E. was sworn into the State service and the private soldiers commenced earning eleven dollars a month. Most of them attended church service morning and evening May 5th when special exercises were held and on the 6th we formed in line near the Case house where a fine flag was presented to the company and a good thank-you speech was made by Capt. O. J. Jennings.

A bouquet and bible were given to each comrade and we meandered over to the railroad depot at Phillipsville, escorted and followed by hundreds of people who wished to see a safe return to their loved ones. There would have been more tears shed by many of them had I known that it was the last farewell.

I would like to write something interesting but I feel too blue.

Miss Pauline Jennings wrote me a few days ago that she was going with her father to Richmond where he expected to have an operation performed, as a last resort, and I fear that at his age it is dangerous. Dr. McGuire, who has probably operated upon him, is one of the most successful surgeons in the United States, an splendid gentleman in his treatment of rich and poor patients, who come under his care. This skillful reputation gives me hope that the daughter and father may have years of comfort yet in lovingly caring for each other.

I have quit plan making but we expect to be in Fulton before long.

Yours,
Norm G. Cooper.

Mrs. Helen B. Emens was happily surprised last week when a cousin, Mr. Seymour Phelps, whom she had not seen in twenty-five years; called upon her. Together they visited the old scenes and friends in Hannibal.

An unexplained fire broke out in the parlor of the farm house owned by Mr. Fred N. Pierce, four miles south of Fulton, on Saturday morning early and the house was entirely destroyed, together with the furnishings, piano, etc. The house had been unoccupied for some time and the only theory is that tramps had entered the building and carelessly set fire to the house with matches. There was some insurance.

The will of Mrs. Cornelia W. Nichols, offered for probate in Syracuse last week, leaves an estate of $35,000 of which $5,000 goes to her aged father of Lyons, Edwin J. Andrews, and the balance is divided among her three children, the two sons, Harry and William, sharing alike, while $5,000 more is left the only daughter, Miss Mary Nichols, the mother stating in the will that the daughter is left the additional sum because she is a woman and not likely to add to her income.

The Senior Ball given in Church's hall on Friday evening, was a very pretty success. The patronesses were Mesdames L. D. Wilcox, T. H. Marvin, T. H. Webb, F. L. Darling and Miss Daisy Dunsberry and Dr. H. M. Doane. The hall was transformed into a place of beauty, blue and gold, the class colors, being harmoniously blended and artistically arranged. Buell's orchestra furnished music for the dancing which was enjoyed until a late hour by about 75 couples. Refreshments were served late in the evening. The committee in charge of the well executed plans was composed of James Brooks, Leonard Roy, Vera Cordonnier, Elva Martin and Mary T. Farley.

Ten Doctors Said He Would Die

"In 1903 we wrote you regarding my husband, who was suffering from heart trouble. He was superannated by the North Georgian Conference. Ten doctors at different times said he would die. You advised Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy and Restorative Nervine; we did as advised, and improvement was apparent from the very first. He recovered and the Conference in 1904 gave him a charge. He never felt better, although he has very heavy work and does a great deal of camp meeting work. I am so glad we took your advice and gave him the medicine, and feel that I ought to let you know of the wonderful good results from its use."

MRS. T. S. EDWARDS,

Miner, Ga.

This proves what Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy will do. Get a bottle from your druggist and take it according to directions. It does not matter whether your heart is merely weak, or you have organic trouble, if it does not benefit you take the empty bottle to your druggist and get your money back.

BIG CIRCUS AT SYRACUSE

Barnum & Bailey Show to be Seen There on Wednesday May 25.

Announcement is made that on Wednesday, May 25, the Barnum & Bailey Greatest Show on Earth will visit Syracuse. This is the best news of the day to those who are fond of the circus form of amusement. For fifty-five years, this has been the leading show of the world. This year it comes forth with an entire new equipment which cost the management $3,500,000.

The main performance is given in three rings, on two stages, on an immense Roman race track and in the dome. The climax of the program is the appalling performance of espartado, a mad Frenchman, who leaps from the dome of the tent and lands on his bare chest. Additional thrills are given by Jupiter, a pure-white Arabian horse. It rides to the dome of the tent in a balloon and descends amid a Niagara of exploding rockets and fireworks. Then there is Charlie the First, beyond all question the most remarkable animal that ever came to the notice of scientists. Charlie the First is merely a chimpanzee, but he has become the greatest bicycle rider and acrobat in the world. He does an act on one of the stages that is the wonder of the age.

In the menagerie is found the most remarkable zoological exhibit ever seen outside of the interior of the African jungle. It is Bumbino, the first and only baby giraffe ever born or exhibited in America. Only once before in history has the stork visited the giraffe pen of a captive zoo of animals. That event happened over fifty years ago in London, England. The youngster died before it could be placed on exhibition. Bumbino is only three feet tall, less than one-seventh of its mother's height. The youngster is worth its weight in gold. On the list of performers are the names of 400 of the world's most talented performers. The new parade is a marvel of interest. It is a panorama of a thousand wonders. There are three miles of it.

Here is an opportunity for the people of Fulton and vicinity to see the greatest circus ever organized. The railroads will lower the rates of fare and special excursions will be run.

BILIOUSNESS AND CONSTIPATION

For years I was troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, purify the stomach, liver and blood, helping the system to do its work naturally. Mrs. Rosa Potts, Birmingham, Ala. These tablets are for sale by E. A. Putnam.

Contractor Charles McDermott expects within a few days to place 200 more men on the large canal construction work. Two pumps to drain the coffer dam were started on Tuesday. The river is slowly lowering and soon work can be commenced with vigor. The work on the level between Rochester and Oneida streets must be completed this season to prevent interfering with the opening of the canal next Spring.

On May 18 the distribution of certified milk in this city from the Crystal Springs farm owned by Mr. N. N. Stranahan, will commence. Mr. O. J. Coles will be the distributing agent and all who desire milk of this highest grade, or cream for any purpose, should communicate with him by telephone or by card. The product of this perfectly equipped dairy where cleanliness reigns supreme is destined to become very popular even at the slightly increased cost to the consumer.

On the surface it may appear that the Board of Public Works is yet accomplishing great things, but when it becomes known that the business men comprising this Board, meet practically every night in the week to deliberate and consult as to how the public may be best served by them and given the best value for the taxpayers' money they are to expend, the rankest grout must give them a goodly meed of gratitude and praise. There is no going it blind with this Board, they feel every inch of their course.

PRIZE-SPEAKING CONTEST

HIGH SCHOOL SCHOLARS WIN SUBSTANTIAL RECOGNITION FROM JUDGES

Messrs. Edgerton and Carroll Head the List of Young Men Scholars, While the Fortunate Young Ladies Were the Misses Cordonnier and Frawley.

The High School prize-speaking contest last Friday evening in the First M. E. Church was attended by an assemblage which filled the sacred edifice to the doors. The efforts put forth by the scholars, which were greeted with abundant applause, furnished indubitable evidence that there is such a thing as honorable failure—efforts that lack the one thing that makes for the award of the judges. The assemblage showed a vigorous appreciation of each of the contestants at the conclusion of their recitations and the young women were more substantially rewarded by beautiful bouquets of flowers.

Four prizes could only be awarded somewhat to the regret of Prof. Elmer W. Smith of Colgate University, who became chairman of the Judges' Committee, and who was sorry that more could not be bestowed. The professor commended the High School faculty for the excellence manifested in the training of the scholars, and bestowed honors as follows:

Alfred Edgerton, who with excellent voice and clear enunciation, gave a portion of act iv. of Bulwer Lytton's "Richelieu"—first prize.

Edward E. Carroll, who presented "The Man Without a Country" (Edward Everett Hale), afforded the audience unlimited pleasure and won for himself the second prize.

Miss Vera Cordonnier secured the first prize awarded to young women by a clever recital of "Fourteen to One" (Elizabeth Stuart Phelps). Based on one of the many picturesque and probably historic incidents of the War of the Rebellion.

"The King's Confession"—a Marion Crawford creation—won for Miss Mary T. Frawley the second prize.

The judges were Prof. Elmer W. Smith, Colgate University; Dr. W. K. Wickes, Syracuse High School, and Miss Florence Butler of Syracuse University.

The prizes will be awarded at the commencement, which will be held in the First M. E. Church on Thursday evening, June 23. Class night exercises will be held in the Foster Theatre on Wednesday evening, June 22.

It was the consensus of opinion among those present who were inclined to be critical that Miss Daisy Lounsbury, the teacher of elocution in the High School, was most thorough and practical in her method of instruction and was deserving of a large measure of credit for the splendid showing made by the pupils.

At the conclusion of the Mass, Mr. and Mrs. Adams went to the home of the bride's parents where a bridal breakfast was served, the couple leaving later in the day for Buffalo where they will spend their honeymoon. They will make their future home in this city.

SHOT DAUGHTER AND SELF

(Syracuse Journal, Monday)
Mrs. Emma Tilley Chapman, wife of Charles F. Chapman, Chief of Police in Baldwinville, yesterday shot and fatally wounded her 15-year-old daughter, Hazel E. Chapman, and then sent a bullet into her own head, dying instantly. Miss Chapman died two hours later in spite of everything that medical skill could do.

The tragedy happened at 6:30 o'clock at the family home, No. 27 Division street, and Mrs. Chapman's act was undoubtedly due to temporary insanity, brought on by ill health.

Mrs. Chapman, who was 47 years old had undergone an operation for a growth on her face about a year ago and since that time had given evidence at various times that her mind was unbalanced. In fact, it is said that she had attempted to do violence to her daughter on a previous occasion and a tragedy such as occurred yesterday had been feared by the family and every precaution to guard against it had been taken. Her condition became worse about two months ago and she was sent to the Syracuse Hospital for Women and Children, only returning from that institution two weeks ago.

Mr. Chapman, aroused by the shots, rushed into his daughter's room. He saw his wife lifeless on the floor, but Hazel appeared to be sleeping. He called her by name and when she did not answer went over to the bed and then saw a spot of blood upon the pillow. He went at once to the telephone and called Dr. George Hawley. The doctor and father worked unceasingly over the girl until 8:30 o'clock, when she died without ever waking from the sleep in which she had been when her mother fired the fatal shot.

A double funeral will be held from the house on Wednesday afternoon, with burial in Riverview cemetery, the Rev. George Ford of the Baldwinville Baptist church, officiating.

RENEWING OPTIONS

Attorney S. C. Huntington, of Pulaski, who had charge of making the searches and securing options on land in the Eastern end of the county, to be used in the development of Salmon river for power purposes, said Monday that the company behind the scheme were renewing their original options for eighteen months, making them effective until January 1st, 1912. One of the leading members of the company is C. A. Lux, of the Beebe syndicate. Between now and the time the new options are to expire it is believed that sufficient capital can be secured to finance the proposition.

EDDY TRIAL CALLED

The trial of George Eddy for the murder of John Reid in Pulaski last Fall, opened in Pulaski on Monday, Justice DeAngelis presiding. The prisoner makes a very favorable impression upon all who are in attendance at the trial and the memory of the villain who destroyed the sanctity of his home and made the present trial a necessity, is not held in high esteem.

Up to 3 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon but eight jurors had been secured, all married men with families, and it is not believed that the trial proper will open before Thursday morning.

Following are the jurors selected up to the hour of going to press: Frank Brownell, farmer, Richland; William Ruprecht, farmer, Palermo; married; Robert J. Northrup, piano tuner, Oswego, married; George E. Sickles, carpenter, Fulton; married; Leonard L. Copeland, farmer, Scriba, married; Robert Follis, farmer, Amboy, married; Christopher C. Davis, farmer, Scriba, married; Maurice, Seanton, farmer, Granby, married.

SPEAKER CANNON ON COLLEGES

New Haven, Conn., May 12.—Speaker Cannon of the House of Representatives writes to the Yale Daily News as follows in response to the question: "Does a college course help win success?"

"To a bright young man, who has anything in him, a college course is not necessarily fatal to success. That is my view of it. The college fellow becomes familiar with a great many theories from instructors who in the main abound in theories and theories only. You do not know a great many of them who could take charge of a large business, or build one up to a grand success. You could not learn to do that in any university or college in the country.

"The common school system, the high school course, gives the average individual at least fair equipment for practical success in business or in various callings that men follow who live by the sweat of their faces. That is about all that the average man will utilize.

"If he goes along four or five or six or eight or ten years getting something more, he is losing a very valuable part of his life; but if he is a real student, a real specialist—and he must become a specialist if he is going to devote his life to research and investigation—the college course is necessary for him in that he becomes proficient in his specialty.

"There is always a question as to whether the average student will survive the spoiling effects of a college course. However, you could not stop the collegiate or university course if you were to try.

"The human animal, on the average, is not worth his salt if he is incapable of making his own way.

"The greater rewards come in business, not in politics. A good business man is much better off than a poor politician. The business man has better chances for advancement and receives greater remuneration."

INGENIOUS MODEL EXHIBITED

A very ingeniously constructed model, showing the relative position of Halley's comet, the earth, sun, and the planets, is now on exhibition in the store window of Morton & Shattuck, and is worthy of a critical inspection. The execution of this model is the result of an inspiration on the part of Attorney S. B. Mead, who has given celestial phenomena careful investigation, as may be recalled by those who read an exhaustive article from his pen on this subject in The Times about three weeks ago.

The model prepared by Mr. Mead gives a most intelligible conception of the conditions that now exist in illimitable space, and the comet whose vagaries have caused so much uneasiness, if not grave anxiety, on the part of the unconscionable of this age.

The comet and the earth are approaching each other at a speed of 43 miles a second. The time of transit is expected to be 33 minutes showing that the tail where the earth will pass through it, is 150,000 miles wide.

The transit will begin at exactly 10:50 p. m. Wednesday and will be concluded at 11:43 p. m.

Anyway, the first installment of strawberry shortcake escaped the blizzard.

Contractors Building the New Car Line Look For an Active Summer.

Minetto, May 16.—The Ontario construction Company, having the contract for building the Oswego-Fulton extension of the Syracuse, Lake shore & Northern electric road, has built an office here and has a big steam shovel ready to begin excavating. The line comes out into Benson avenue, just West of Daniel Dubois's big barn, where they take a strip about 120 feet wide of R. L. Clark's property. Mr. Clark's barn has been moved to the west. The old base ball grounds in Main street are to be crossed by the line, which comes out into Main street and will continue past the factory to a point North of the Minetto bridge, where it will again take to the private right of way.

A big plant is to be sent by the contractors to a point just South of Oswego, and work will be started from that point also.

It is understood that every effort will be made to have the road completed before snow has come again and cars in operation.

The company has talked of building a railroad bridge near Battle Island, but the corporation also holds a right of way over the lower bridge in Fulton, and by placing a single track on that structure would have a continuous line through to Syracuse before the holidays.

COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY

Semi-Annual Meeting—Important Matter Discussed

The semi-annual meeting of the Medical Society of Oswego County was held yesterday in the Masonic club rooms in this city. There was a fair average attendance of members from all parts of the county.

Dr. E. W. Crispell of Whitestown, the vice-president of the society, read a paper on "Pleurisy." Dr. W. H. Kidder of Oswego took for his subject "Spinal Reflexes," while Dr. C. A. Sheridan of the same place addressed the members on "Earache." "Fresh Air in Surgery" was the subject chosen by Dr. Thomas P. Scully of Rome and Dr. Coon of Syracuse read a paper on "The Feet."

The afternoon session was largely consumed by a discussion of the Board of Supervisors fixing for Corner's physicians a minimum fee of $15 for a post mortem dissection and $3 for a post mortem examination. Formerly the Corner's physician received for this work $25 for a post mortem dissection and $5 for a post mortem examination. The society passed a resolution to the effect that it was the sense of the society that the old schedule should be restored by the Board of Supervisors.

OPENING BASE-BALL SEASON

FULTON AND ANSBURN CLUBS WILL CROSS BATX NEXT FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Season Will Be Formally Opened at Athletic Park, West Side—Citizens Band Will Furnish Music—Large Attendance Desired.

The formal opening of the base ball season will occur next Friday afternoon, May 20, at 3:30 p. m.

This will be welcome news for the local fans, and in fact for all who take pleasure in witnessing a fast game of ball.

The contest next Friday will be between the Fulton Club and the Auburns, and if the weather permits can not fail to be enjoyable and well worth attending.

The local and the visiting clubs will be escorted to A park on the west side by the Citizens Band, leaving First and Oneida streets about 3 o'clock and the game will be called at 3:30. The services of the band will be brought into requisition throughout the game.

It is hoped the attendance next Friday afternoon will be sufficiently large to encourage the local management to keep in step with other places of like size to Fulton and furnish clean, healthy sport.

NEW WRECKING OUTFIT

Within the next week the wrecking outfit of the Ontario division of the New York Central will be augmented by the addition of a new fifty-ton industrial crane. During the past few years, with the heavy increase of freight traffic and the complications which ensued, the local wrecking masters found themselves handicapped by the lack of power of the wrecking cranes, and were unable when a serious wreck occurred to clear the track without calling on the main line for assistance.

The new crane will be of sufficient weight and power to cope with any wreck which may occur in the future without unnecessary loss of time.

The twenty-five-ton crane which it supersedes, will be relegated to a division of less importance than the Ontario.

GraustarkBy GEORGE BARR

Company

Truxton had turned a brick red. Shame and mortification surged within him. He was cruelly conscious of an undercurrent of irony in the premier's courteous request. For an instant he was sorely crushed. A low laugh from the opposite side of the room sent a shaft to his soul. He looked up. Vos Eugo was still smiling. In an instant the American's blood boiled.

"I did say I could get to John Tullis. I'll start tonight."

His words created a profound impression, they came so abruptly.

"Send for Mr. Hobbs, please," said

Truxton. "There should be three of us," addressing the men about him.

"One of us is sure to get away."

"There is not a man here—or in the service—who will not gladly accompany you, Mr.

King," cried General Brax quickly.

"Count Vos Eugo

is the man I would choose. If I may be permitted

the honor of naming my company," said Truxton,

grinning inwardly

with a malicious

joy. Vos Eugo turned a yellowish

green. His eyes

bulged.

"I am in command of the person of his royal highness," he stammered, suddenly going very red.

"I had forgotten your present occupation," said Truxton quietly. "Pray pardon the embarrassment I may have caused you. After all, I think Hobbs will do. He knows the country like a book."

Mr. Hobbs came. That is to say, he was produced. It is doubtful if Mr.

Hobbs ever fully recovered from the melody commonly known as stage fright. He had never been called Mr.

Hobbs by a prime minister before,

nor had he ever been asked in person

by a minister of war if he had a family at home. Afterward Truxton King was obliged to tell him that he had unwaveringly volunteered to accompany him on the perilous trip to the hills. Be sure of it, Mr. Hobbs was not in a mental condition for many hours to even remotely comprehend

what had taken place.

But Mr. Hobbs was not the kind to falter once he had given his word.

"We'll be off at midnight, Hobbs," said Truxton.

"As you say, Mr. King, just as you say," said Hobbs, with fine indifference.

As Truxton was leaving the castle

ten minutes later a brisk, eager faced young attendant hurried up to him.

"I bear a message from his royal highness," said the attendant, detaining him. "Prince Robin has asked for you, sir."

"I'll see him," said King promptly,

as if he were granting the audience.

CHAPTER XVIII.
BY THE WATER GATE.

It was a vast, lofty apartment, regal in its subdued lights. An enormous golden bed with gorgeous hangings stood far down the room. So huge was this royal couch that Truxton at first overlooked the figure sitting bolt upright in the middle of it.

An old woman advanced from the head of the couch and motioned Truxton to approach.

"I am deeply honored, your highness," said the visitor, bowing very low.

The prince's legs were now hanging over the edge of the bed. His eyes were dancing with excitement.

"I want you to find Uncle Jack, Mr. King," said Bobby eagerly. "And tell him I didn't mean it when I banished him the other day. I really and truly didn't." He was having difficulty in keeping back the tears.

"I shall deliver the message, your highness," said Truxton, his heart going out to the unhappy youngster.

"Americans always do what they will," said the boy, his eyes snapping.

"Here's something for you to take with you, Mr. King. It's my lucky stone. It always gives good luck."

He unclasped his small fingers. In the damp palm lay one of those peculiarly milky, half-transparent pebbles common the world over and of value only to small, impressionable boys. Truxton accepted it with profound gravity.

"And when you come back, Mr. King, I'm going to knight you. I'd do it now, only Aunt Lorraine says you'd be worrying about your title all the time and might be attracted from your mission. I'm going to make a banner of you. That's higher than a count in Graustark. Vos Eugo is only a count."

Truxton started.

"I shall be overwhelmed," he said. Then his hand went to his mouth in the vain effort to cover the smile that played there.

"My mother used to say that American girls liked titles," said the prince, with ingenuous candor.

"Prince Robin, may I?" he glanced uneasily at the distant eaves—"may I ask how your Aunt Lorraine is feeling?"

"She acted very funny when I sent for you. I'm worried about her."

"What did she do, your highness?"

"She rushed off to her room. I think Mr. King, she was getting ready to cry or something. You see, she's in trouble."

"She's worried about her brother, of course, and you."

"That same night a Graustark mountain passed the sentinels and brought news of the disturbance in Edelweiss."

In a flash it occurred to John Tullis that Marianx was at the bottom of this devilry. The abduction of Lorraine was a part of his plan! Prince Danton advised a speedy return to the city. His men were at the command of the American. Moreover, the prince himself decided to accompany the troops.

Before sunrise the command, now five or six hundred strong, was picking its way down the dangerous mountain roads toward the main highway. Fifteen miles below Edelweiss they came upon the company of soldiers sent out to preserve order in the railroad camps, which was, of course, a further re-enforcement.

The sound of shooting in the distance struck their ears. Instantly the entire force was alert. A dozen shots were fired in rapid succession, then single reports far apart. The steady beat of horses' feet were now plain to the attentive company. There was a quick, inclusive call to arms. A squad stood ready for action.

A small group of horsemen came thundering down the defile. Three minutes after the firing was first heard sentries threw their rifles to their shoulders and blocked the approach of the riders.

A wild, glad shout went up from the foremost horseman. He had pulled his beast to its haunches almost at the muzzle of the guns.

"Tullis!" he shouted, waving his hat.

John Tullis ran toward the excited group in the road. He saw three men, one of whom was about his age.

"Thank God, we've found you!" cried the horseman.

"King!" exclaimed Tullis, suddenly recognizing him. A moment later they were clasping hands.

"What has happened, King? Where have you been? We looked for you after your disappearance."

"That's ancient history," interrupted the other. "How soon can you get these troops on the march? There's not a moment to be lost."

"Good glory, man, tell me what it is! What has happened? The prince—what of him?" cried Tullis, grasping King's arm in the clutch of a vise.

"He sends his love and recalls the order of exile," said King, smiling, then seriously. "Marianx has taken the city. It was all a game, this getting rid of you. The prince and the others are besieged in the castle. Thank God, we got to you in time! Back here a couple of miles we came upon a small gang of robbers. We had a bit of shooting, and I regret to say, no one was bagged."

"Lorraine—where is she, King?"

"Don't tremble like that, old man. She's safe enough in the castle. Oh, it was a fine game Marianx had in his mind!"

While the troopers were making ready for the march Truxton King and Hobbs related their story to eager, horrified groups of officers.

Finally the battalion, augmented by the misguided company from the deserted railroad camps, moved swiftly into the defile, led by young Rabot, Truxton King rode beside the brother of the girl he loved, uttering words of cheer and encouragement.

"The Countess ingenuously—has anything been heard from her?" asked Tullis. He had been thinking of her for days and nights.

"Well, nothing definite," said King evasively.

CHAPTER XIX.
THE RETURN.

FROM the highlands below the Monastery Captain Haas and his men were able to study the situation in the city. The impracticability of an assault on any one of the stubborn, well guarded gates was at once recognized. A force of 700 men, no matter how well trained or how determined, could not be expected to surmount walls that had often withstood the attack of as many thousands. The wisdom of delaying until a few thousand loyal though poorly armed countrymen could be brought into play against the city appeared at once to Prince Danton and John Tullis.

POSTAL LEGISLATION

An agreement on a postal savings bank bill having practically been reached by the Republican members of the House Committee on Postoffice, the leaders have decided, at the instance of the President, to hold a caucus on that measure before the sundry civil bill is finally disposed of, probably some day this week. If the caucus can agree on a bill for which a good working majority will stand, Representative Weeks, chairman of the committee, will ask the Rules Committee to bring in a rule where by the postal savings bank bill can be debated and voted on in one or two days. This will pave the way for the anti-injunction bill, on which the President has set his heart.

The House Committee on Postoffice reported favorably two bills urgently recommended by the Postmaster General—one providing that the postal receipts now returned to the sender of a registered letter or package need not be sent unless requested by the sender, and the other that says the enactment of these measures will reduce the postal deficit several hundred thousand dollars.

BILIOUSNESS AND CONSTIPATION

For years I was troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, purify the stomach, liver and blood, helping the system to do its work naturally. Mrs. Rosa Potts, Birmingham, Ala. These tablets are for sale by J. A. Putnam.

BAD ACCIDENT WITH AUTO

Oswego Times, Thursday.—Hayden W. Barnes of East Tenth street had a serious accident on the State road near the Lansing road yesterday afternoon when he was thrown from an automobile and struck against a barb wire fence. Mr. Barnes was cut with a demonstrator of the Hupmobile from Fulton and was running along the State road when the machine started toward one side of the road. Mr. Barnes threw his weight on the steering wheel and threw the machine over so sharply that it ran off the other side of the road. As the machine left the road it crashed into a barb wire fence and Mr. Barnes and the chauffeur were thrown through the windshield against the fence. The demonstrator got off luckily with only a few bruises and scratches but Mr. Barnes struck against the barb wire with his throat. There was one long gash starting near the blood vessels under the left ear and running down under the chin and a similar gash starting under the right ear and running parallel to the other gash. This second cut started within an eighth of an inch of the jugular vein so that the accident lacked just that much of being a fatal one.

The injured man was taken to the office of Dr. Baxter in Scriba where the wounds were dressed and he was then brought to his home in this city. He is confined to the house today but no serious results are now expected.

The machine was considerably damaged, one lamp being torn off, the steering gear wrecked and the windshield splintered.

The railroad bill in the Senate is travelling on a freight schedule.

TRADING STAMPS

Bill Requiring Trading Stamps to Show Their Real Value

Albany, May 14.—Among the bills of general interest just introduced in the legislature are the following: Assemblyman Goldberg. Amending the Penal law by substituting a new article, 208, for the present one in relation to trading stamps. It requires trading stamps and other similar devices to show the redeemable value, which can not be less than one cent and can not be different for merchandise and money. The bill otherwise restricts the issue of trading stamps by such requirements as the issuance of a written or printed statement to the receiver of the stamps of the persons issuing them, the persons obligating themselves to redemption and the name of the receiver of the stamps.

The bill requires bonding of persons firms and corporations issuing trading stamps to dealers, in the penal sum of $25,000, the bond to be filed with the County Clerk of the county in which the stamps are issued, and persons to be entitled to institute suit to recover on the bond for default in redemption of the stamps. Violation of the provisions of the bill is to be a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $100, and in default of payment of the fine by imprisonment for not less than thirty days; one-half of the fine to go to the informer.

MEMORIAL SERVICES HELD

Sweet offering the resolution of respect and the Assembly adjourned out of respect to his memory. On Monday services for the late Senators John Raines, Patrick H. McCarren and William T. O'Neil were held in the Assembly chamber, which were attended by both houses of the legislature.

Witherill's Greatest Annual May Sale of Manufacturers' Samples and Overstocks

The Witherill Sale of Sales! The Premier Bargain Event of the Entire Year! Probably never again such chances for saving! Certainly not for another year! Opportunities which only the short-sighted can afford to overlook!

Once a year, during May, we get the best of the surplus stocks and carefully made samples from the manufacturers who supply us with our regular lines. We pay about a third to a half the regular prices for them and we share the saving with you. The MANUFACTURER stands the loss.

The rebuilding, coming just at the time of this annual sale, compels us to offer even greater bargains than usual. Many of our choicest reserve stocks have been included, as we haven't room on the upper floors to carry them now. More than your money's worth in every instance. We want you to SEE these bargains. Actual personal investigation will convince you that we have underestimated rather than overstated their value.

Don't Miss This Grand Opportunity for Saving on Women's Sample Suits

A suit sale that will amaze the entire buying public of Central New York. THE LOSS, IN MOST CASES, IS THE MANUFACTURER'S, NOT OURS. Be sure to come, whatever the weather. You may never have such chances for saving again. ## CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

MANY PRACTICAL AND USEFUL SUGGESTIONS MADE AT SESSION

Condition of Roads Leading to City to Be Inspected and Efforts Made for Their Improvement—President F. W. Richardson of the Boost Club Wants Names of Streets Placed in Conspicuous Places.

The session of the Chamber of Commerce last Friday evening was not devoid of interest, although the attendance was not large because of the inclemency of the weather.

There were informal discussions which were in the line of seeking betterments for our city and its inhabitants; indeed, the outlying districts were included, viz: the roads leading into our city, bridging forth suggestions for the amelioration of the condition, especially in the town of Granby, so that the barriers to trade in the direction of Fulton would be removed. A committee composed of Messrs. A. W. Witsie, J. J. Redhead, Attorney H. J. Wilson, and others, was appointed to investigate and suggest a remedy.

Among the necessities of our city requiring immediate attention was the proper enforcement of the Curfew ordinance, and Attorney H. J. Wilson was dubious, from the philosophy of the section, that the police department could do any better than to exercise proper discrimination, which they were now doing, in its enforcement. It was difficult to determine after nightfall whether a boy or girl was under or over 16, the legal age of accountability. Mr. Wilson thought that instead of making a criminal of a child, it would be far better to hold the parents or guardians responsible and impose a penalty upon them for each and every violation on the child's part.

Mr. F. W. Richardson, president of the Boost Club, spoke of the condition of some of the streets in the south end of the city and the desirability of placing the names of each street in a conspicuous place on the corners, so that a stranger could find his way without difficulty. The proper lighting of the bridges too, was a matter of such importance that it should receive the immediate attention of the city officials.

Mr. G. B. Fairman of the west side requested that some action be taken by the Chamber to induce the Beebe Syndicate to place a booth on the corner of Broadway and First streets for the shelter and convenience of west side patrons, who might desire to take the electric road. At present there were none such, and prospective passengers were exposed to the rain in summer, which falls on the just and unjust, and later in the season to the wintry blasts "which were not tempered to the shorn lambs."

President Penfield was requested by the Chamber to take the matter up with the proper officials and try to obtain relief.

The summer season being practically at hand, it was deemed advisable to adjourn the regular sessions of the Chamber until the Fall, or subject to the call of the President.

President Penfield has a faculty for seeking new lines of information for the benefit of the Chamber. He proposes, whenever the Fall season opens, to exchange speakers with some of the cities so that our municipality may gain some advantage through the experience of others and our sister cities learn what Fulton is doing in the way of bettering its commercial and social conditions.

At the close of the business session delicious refreshments were served by Messrs. Darling and Moran.

HOSPITAL BENEFIT SUPPER
The annual benefit May supper will be held in the City Hall on Saturday evening of this week from 5 to 8 o'clock. The tickets have been placed at 25c., although the menu will be more elaborate than is usually served at one of these teas.

The proceeds from the tea will be applied to purchasing needed articles for the Albert Lindley Lee Memorial hospital, and it should and undoubtedly will be, largely attended. The ladies in charge of the arrangements and menu are making every effort to have this tea eclipse all former efforts in point of excellence and result and their efforts will be crowned with success.

The class of 1910 will be the largest class ever graduated from the Fulton High school and the Alumni Association is desirous of welcoming so large a number into their ranks in a fitting manner. The plan as outlined at present is to dine at the Clark House directly after the exercises in the church; a reception at the Citizens club rooms and then a dance in the City Hall. President Carr of the Alumni Association will preside as toast master at the banquet.

The committee from the graduating class to act in conjunction with the officers of the Alumni Association in arranging the detail for the banquet and reception is composed of Messrs. Alfred Edgerton, Synon Frawley, Ralph Brown, Charles Evans and Edward Carroll.

CONVENTION ADJOURNS

On Friday the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. L. H. Seamans, Oswego; vice presidents, Miss Anna S. Davis, Rome; Mrs. E. S. Brown, Fulton; Mrs. S. M. Barker, Oswego; recording secretary, Mrs. L. Lewis, Oswego; treasurer, Miss S. E. Whitney, New Haven. The convention of the societies adjourned to meet next year in Camden.

POSTMASTER HUGHES

RE-APPOINTED

Endorsed by the Largest Patrons of the Office and the Political Leaders in City and County.

Postmaster Hughes on Monday received a telegram from Senator Chauncey M. Depew, informing him that the Senate that day had confirmed his re-appointment to the postmastership of Fulton.

In his petition for re-appointment, Mr. Hughes had the unanimous backing of the large patrons of the local office, the manufacturers and business interests of the city, also, the political leaders in city and county.

Since Mr. Hughes's appointment four years ago he has labored with an eye single to the best interests of the department and the patrons of the post office, his ambition being to become a first-class postmaster even though he might be serving in an office technically described as second-class. He has made many suggestions to his superior officers along the line of betterment of conditions and they have been favorably acted upon and gratefully accepted by the patrons.

It is very gratifying to Mr. Hughes that his efforts have been appreciated both by the department and by the patrons of the office and he is hopeful that within a short time the proposed new Federal building, for which the site has been purchased, may be erected, as with improved facilities even better service may be given.

Mr. J. T. Hargrave will remain as assistant postmaster, having been efficient, popular and painstaking during the four years in which he has served in that capacity.

squads of men were sent without delay into the hills and valleys to call the panic-stricken, wavering farmers into the fold. John Tullis headed the company that struck off into the well populated Ganlook district.

Marianx, as if realizing the nature of the movement in the hills, began a furious assault on the gates leading to the castle. The watchers in the hills could see as well as hear the conflict that raged almost at their feet, so to speak.

The next morning Captain Haas announced to his followers that Marianx had begun to shell the castle. Big guns in the fortress were hurling great shells over the city, dropping them in the park. On the other hand, Colonel Quinnix during the night had swung three Gatling guns to the top of the wall; they were stationed at intervals along the wall, commanding every point from which an assault might be expected.

That night recruits from the farms and villages began to straggle into the camp. They were armed with rifles, ordinary shotguns and unique blun-derbusses, swords, staves and aged lances. All were willing to die in the service of the little prince. By the close of the second day nearly 5,000 men were encamped above the city.
Late that night John Tullis rode into camp at the head of a great company from the Ganlook province. He had retaken the town of Ganlook, seized the fortress and recruited the entire fighting strength of the neighborhood.
More than that, he had unlimbered and conveyed to the provisional camp two of the big guns that stood above
the gates at the fortress.

Marianx trained two of his big guns on the camp in the hills. From the fortress he threw many futile shells toward their place of shelter. They did no damage; instead of death, they brought only laughter to the scornful camp. Under cover of night the two Ganlook cannons were planted in a position commanding the southeastern city gate. It was the plan of the new besiegers to bombard this gate, tearing it to pieces with shot.

The knowledge that Marianx had no big guns except those stationed in the fortress was most comforting to Tullis and his friends. He could not destroy the castle gates with shells, except by purest chance. He could drop shells into the castle, but to hit a gate twenty feet wide? Never!

Truxton King was growing baggard from worry and loss of sleep. He could not understand the abominable, criminal procrastination. He was of a race that did things with a dash and on the spur of the moment. His soul sickened day by day. John Tullis, equally unhappy, but more philosophical, often found him seated upon a rock at the top of the ravine, an unlighted pipe in his fingers, his eyes intent upon the hazy castle.

"Cheer up, King. Our time will come," he was wont to say.

Then came the night before the proposed assault on the gates. The guns were in position, and the cannonading was to begin at daybreak. Truxton was full of the bitterness of doubt and misgiving. Was she in love with Vos Engo? Was the count's suit progressing favorably under the fire of the enemy? Was his undoubted bravery having its effect upon the wavering susceptibilities of the distressed Lorraine?

The sound of a voice in sharp command attracted his attention. There was a bright moon, and Truxton could see other pickets hurrying to join the first. A few moments later several trespassers were escorted through the lines and taken directly to headquarters—a man and two women, King observed.

John Tullis was staring hard at the group approaching from the roadway.
One woman walked ahead of her companions. Suddenly he sprang forward with a cry of amazement.

It was the Countess Ingomede.

Her arrival created a sensation. In a moment she was in the center of an amazed circle of men. Tullis, after his first low, eager greeting at the edge of the fire circle, drew her near to the warmth giving flames. Prince Danton and Captain Haas threw rays and blankets in a great heap for her to sit upon. Every one was talking at once. The countess was smiling through her tears. "Make room for my maid and her father. They are colder and more fatigued than I," she said, lifting her tired, glorious eyes to John Tullis, who stood beside her.
"We have come from Balak. They suffered much that I might enjoy the slender comforts I was so ready to share with them."

"Thank God, you are here!" he said in low, intense tones. She could not mistake the fervor in his voice nor the glow in his eyes.

"I knew you were here, John. I am not going back to Count Marianx. It is ended."

"I knew it would come, Ingomede.
You will let me tell you how glad I am some day."

"Some day, when I am truly, wholly free from him, John. I know what you will say, and I think you know what I shall say in reply." Both understood and were exalted. No other word passed between them touching upon the thing that was uppermost in their minds.

Food was provided for the wayfar-ers and Tullis' tent was made ready for the countess and her maid.

The countess' story was soon told.
Sitting before the great fire, surrounded by eager listeners, she related her experiences.

She had been seized on the night of the ball as she started across her father's garden, and, escape had become possible only through the aid of Joseph and the girl's father. Farmer's wives told them of the newly formed army and of its leaders. She determined to make her way to the camp of those who would destroy her husband, eager to give them any assistance that her own knowledge of Marianx's plans might provide.

One bit of information she gave created no end of consternation among the would-be deliverers of the city. It had the effect of making them all the more resolute; the absolute necessity for immediately regaining control in the city was forced upon them. She told them that Count Marianx had lately received word that the Grand Duke Paulus was likely to intervene before many days, acting on his own initiative, in the belief that he could force the government of Graustark to grant the railway privileges so much desired by his country. Marianx realized that he would have to forestall the wily grand duke. If he were in absolute control of the Graustark government when the Russian appeared he, and he alone, would be in a position to deal with the situation.

"The grand duke may send a large force of men across the border at any time," said the countess in conclusion.
"Count Marianx is sure to make a decisive assault as soon as he hears that the movement has begun. He had hoped of starting them out, thus saving the castle from destruction, but as that seems unlikely his shells will soon begin to rain in earnest upon the dear old pile."

Truxton King was listening with wide open ears. As she finished this dreary prediction he silently arose to his feet and, without a word to any one, stalked off in the darkness. Tullis looked after him and shook his head sadly.

"I'll be happy on that fellow's account when daybreak comes and we are really at it," he said to Prince Danton, who knew something of King's affliction.

But Truxton King was not there at daybreak. When he strode out of the camp that night he left it behind forever.

The unfortunate lack of means to communicate with the occupants of the castle had been the source of great distress to Captain Haas. If the defenders could be informed as to the exact hour of the assault from the outside they could do much toward its speedy success by making a heroic sor-tie from behind their own walls. A quick dash from the castle grounds would serve to draw Marianx's attention in that direction, diminishing the force that he would send to check the onslaught at the gates.

Truxton King had all this in mind as he swung off down the mountain road, having stolen past the sentries with comparative ease. The danger from Marianx's scouts outside the city was not great; they had been scattered and beaten by Haas' recruiting parties.
He stood in more danger from the men he would help, they who were the watchful defenders of the castle.

It must have been 2 o'clock when he crossed the king's highway, a mile or more above the northern gates, and struck down into the same thick undergrowth that had protected him and Hobbs on a memorable night not long before.

At 3 o'clock a dripping figure threw up his hands obligingly and laughed with exultation when confronted by a startled guardman inside the castle walls and not more than fifty yards from the water gate. He shouted a friendly cry as he advanced toward the man, calling out his own name.

Ten minutes later he was standing in the presence of the baggard, nerveracked Quinnix, pouring into his actonished ears the news of the coming attack. The colonel lost no time in routing out the sleeping guardsmen and reserves and in sending commands to those already on duty at the gates.

When the sun peeped over the lofty hills he saw inside the gates a restless, waiting company of dragoons ready for the command to ride forth.

Meantime King had crossed the grounds with Colonel Quinnix on the way to the castle. He was amazed, almost stupefied, by the devastation that already had been wrought. A dozen or more balls had crashed into the facade, leaving fissures, gigantic holes, marking the path of the ugly messengers from Marianx. Nearly all of the windows had been wrecked by riflemen who shot from the roofs of palaces in and about the avenue. Two of the smaller minarets were in ruins. A huge pillar in the lower balcony was gone. The terrace had been plover up by a single ricocheting shell.

"Great God!" gasped King. "It is frightful!"

"They began bombarding yesterday afternoon. We were asked to surrender at 8 o'clock. Our reply brought the shells, Mr. King. It was terrible.
After the first two or three shells we found places of shelter for the prince and his friends. They are in the stone tower beyond the castle. The most glorious courage is shown. Count Vos Engo guards the prince and the ladies of the household. Alas, it was hunger that we feared the most. Today we should have resorted to horse's flesh. There was no other way. We knew that relief would come some day.

John Tullis was there. And now it is today! This shall be our day, thank God!"

Attendants sped to the tower, shouting the battle tidings.

The prince came tumbling down the narrow iron stairs from his room above, shouting joyously to Truxton
King. No man was ever so welcome.
He was besieged with questions, hand-shakings and praises. Even the Duke of Perse, hobbling on crutches, had a kindly greeting for him. Tears streamed down the old man's cheeks when King told him of his daughter's safe arrival in the friendly camp.

But just now Truxton was staring at the narrow staircase. Vos Engo and Lorraine were descending slowly.
The former was white and evidently very weak. He leaned on the girl for support.

Count Haffont offered the explanation. "Vos Engo was shot last week through the shoulder. He is too brave to give up, as you may see. It happened on the terrace. There was an unexpected fusillade from the housetops. Eric placed himself between the marksmen and Miss Tullis. A bullet that might have killed her instantly struck him in the shoulder.

King never forgot the look in Lo-raine's eyes as she came down the steps. Joy and anguish seemed to combine themselves in that long, intense look.

She gave him her hands. The look in her tired eyes went straight to his heart. Vos Engo drew back, his face set in a frown of displeasure.

"My brother," she asked, without taking her gaze from his eyes.

"He is well. He will see you today."

"And you, Truxton?" was her next question, low and quivering.

"Unharmed and unchanged, Loraine," he said softly. "Tell me, did Vos Engo stand between you and the fire from the hill?"

"Yes, Truxton," she said, dropping her eyes as if in deep pain.

"And you have not broken your promise to him?"

"No; not have I broken my promises to you."

"He is a brave man. I can't help saying it," said the American, deep lines suddenly appearing in his face. Swiftly, he turned to Vos En-go, extending his hand. "My hand, sir, to a brave
man!"

Vos Engo stared at him for a moment and then turned away, ignoring the friendly hand. A hot flush mounted to Lorraine's brow.

Vos Engo's response was a short, bitter laugh.

Garrett Bros. Annual Carriage and Wagon Sale

We ordered our spring stock of Carriages and Wagons early expecting to have a spring opening but the fact of an early spring and the rapidity with which the goods were sold did not give us a chance to show the assortment of vehicles that we wished to at that time.

We are merging the opening into this sale and will have a new stock of Carriages and Wagons made especially for the occasion.

Some styles will be entirely new and we invite you to call and inspect them.

May 31 to June 4

We will have a nice assortment of Buggies, Surries, Road Wagons, Spring and Delivery Wagons
and will sell them at prices which will induce you to buy if you are in the market. If you are not ready to buy we wish the pleasure of showing you the goods anyway.

Before going into the wagon business we tried out the Columbia and Curlieright lines in our liveries and found them to be good and we have stuck to them both in selling and using.

They are the very best we have ever had and our customers say the same. We could easily handle any number of makes, but why? We have the right goods at the right prices, and our satisfied customers give evidence that we have the right line.

TO RECOGNIZE FATHER

North Country Minister Inaugurates "Father's Day" in His Church

Watertown, May 19.—The Rev. H. W. Robinson of the Middle Road Congregational church, up in the town of Rutland, has originated what he calls "Father's day" as a companion date to "Mother's day," originated by Mrs. Anna Jarvis of Boston. Two weeks ago Mr. Robinson's church observed "Mother's day" and last Sunday he conducted a "Fathers' day" service.

The church was decorated with flowers and all of the aged men of the congregation and their descendants were brought together in the chapel. The minister's sermon dealt with the sacrifices made by fathers for their children and the reverence in which they should be held. Following the service flowers were carried to several aged men who were unable to be present because of infirmity.

SPEED TRAP IN HANNIBAL

Automobile Drivers Must be Careful Within That Village.

Autolists on the Hannibal turnpikes must look to their speedometers in the future. At a meeting of the Village Board of Hannibal this week a bylaw was enacted regulating the speed limit of autos within the corporation to eight miles an hour. Violators of this law, so the Village Board says, will be severely punished. It is said that it is the purpose of the Board to establish speed traps in the village.

SAVES AN IOWA MAN'S LIFE

The very grave seemed to yawn before Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Iowa, when, after seven weeks in the hospital, four of the best physicians gave him up. Then was shown the marvelous curative power of Electric Bitters. For, after eight months of frightful suffering from liver trouble and yellow jaundice, getting no help from other remedies or doctors, five bottles of this matchless medicine completely cured him. Its positively guaranteed for stomach, liver or kidney troubles and never disappoints. Only 50c. at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

CANOEING IN THE ADIRONDACKS

There is probably no section of the country as favorable for either long or short canoe trips as the Adirondack Mountains. One may make a trip of from a few miles to over one hundred miles, never passing through the same lake or stream twice, and do it in entire comfort, camping en route or putting up at the hotels or public camps. It is a sport that is constantly growing in favor with visitors to the Adirondacks and for the convenience of tourists the New York Central has issued a very attractive and comprehensive folder, containing detail maps in colors and giving complete information regarding routes, guides, boats, and in fact everything that anyone needs to know about canoeing in the Adirondacks. It will be sent free on request by the Adirondacks Department, Grand Central Terminal, New York.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will clear the sour stomach, sweeten the breath and create a healthy appetite. They promote the flow of gastric juice, thereby inducing good digestion. Sold by E. A. Fulton.

The Postoffice Department has just issued a new postal card called the blue card because a blue instead of a black ink is used in the lettering and also in the cut. Like the old card, the new one bears a cut of the late President McKinley in the upper right hand corner, but the design is a new one. The paper is a blue white, and differs in color and texture from the old style card.

Official Paper of City of Fulton.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 25, 1910.

All of President Taft's troubles have not been confined to his cabinet. Matrimony has invaded his kitchen and carried off his cook; the administration now has died, and Mrs. Taft has had three changes in the administration of her social regime and has recently employed her third social secretary.

Is the tariff issue a moral or an immoral one? This appears to be a pertinent question, for one side characterizes the other as pirates, bandits and thieves, while the other comes back with cowards, demagogues and anarchists.

Now that there is talk of reducing the charges for Pullman sleeping car accommodations, that company resorts with the suggestion that while everything else has gone up in price, it has not raised its rates in twenty years.

Elder Bryan rises to protest against the appointment of Governor Hughes to the Supreme Bench. As protestant and objector the common law candidate of the Democratic party has never been more fully wrong, and that is saying a lot.

Any reports of Republican dissension make the 1912 call of duty sound louder than ever to W. J. Bryan.

DEATHS

Frederick Cook.
Frederick Cook, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Cook of West Second street, died on Tuesday. Burial will be made in Oswego.

Fred Wilson.
Fred Wilson of Oswego died in the hospital on Monday morning. The body was taken to the E. S. Brown undertaking rooms and from there to Oswego.

Anna S. Green.
The death of Anna S., aged 34, wife of Mr. Earl Green, occurred at the home in Second street on Monday after a painful illness of four months. The deceased was known to her friends prior to her marriage as Dollie Dresser, having made her home for many years with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Dresser. The immediate survivors are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. William McLough, of Kingston, Ont., one sister, Minnie, of Solway, the husband, and the aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. Dresser. The funeral services will be held from the late home on Thursday at 2:30 p. m. and 3:00 p. m. from the Episcopal church, the Rev. A. H. Grant officiating.

Edwin B. Abbey.
Supervisor Edwin B. Abbey of the First and Sixth Wards, died suddenly on Wednesday afternoon at his home in Seneca street from pneumonia, having been ill but a few days. The deceased was a contractor and mason and was very popular with a large circle of friends and acquaintances, having been elected twice as Democratic supervisor from his district. He was a veteran of the civil war and a member of Post Schoenck, G. A. R. The funeral services were held from the late home on Saturday afternoon, the Rev. C. L. Peck officiating. Interment was made in Mt. Adnah. The immediate survivors are the widow and one son.

Butler S. McKinstry.
The community was saddened on Friday morning to learn that Butler S. McKinstry, aged 62, one of the best known business men and most popular residents of this city had been stricken with paralysis while attending prayer meeting in the Presbyterian church on Thursday evening and that no hope for his recovery was entertained. On Saturday morning he passed to rest at his home in Academy street without having regained consciousness. The deceased was born in Montour Falls, removing to Oswego while yet a young man and engaging in the clothing business. About sixteen years ago he came to Fulton where he and Harry A. Allen formed a partnership in the clothing business. Ten years ago he went into business for himself and was active until two years ago when he suffered a stroke of paralysis from the effects of which he never fully recovered although he was at his store every day. He was a Falley seminary student and actively engaged in baseball in the earlier days when the Fulton team was recognized as one of the best in the State. He was prominent in musical and social circles, was a trustee in the Presbyterian church and his life was most exemplary. His death caused deep regret to all who knew him. The funeral services were held from the late home on Tuesday afternoon, the Rev. W. L. Sawtelle officiating. The numerous floral tributes from friends in this city and elsewhere and the large number who gathered at the home to pay a last tribute of respect to the memory of the deceased, attested to the large place he held in the community. Burial was made in the family lot in Mt. Adnah. The immediate survivors are the widow, one daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth McCully, a granddaughter, Frances McCully, and two brothers, Frank of Oswego, and Eugene of Binghamton.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

At a meeting of the Trustees of the Presbyterian Society of Fulton and Granby, held Monday, May 23, 1910, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, in view of the loss we have sustained by the decease of our friend and associate, Butler S. McKinstry, and of the still heavier loss sustained by those who were nearest and dearest to him; therefore, be it

Resolved, That it is but a just tribute to the memory of the departed to say that in regretting his decease we mourn for one who was in every way worthy of our respect and regard.

Resolved, That we sincerely condole with the family of the deceased on the dispensation which it has pleased Divine Providence to afflict, and direct them for consolation to Him who orders all things for the best and whose chastisements are meant to mercy.

Resolved, That this heartfelt testimonial of our sympathy and sorrow be forwarded to the family of our departed friend and printed in our city papers.

C. C. Benedict, Clerk.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends and neighbors, the G. A. R., Columbia Circle, the Auxiliary, the S. of V., the Mason's Union, the M. of E., the Board of Supervisors and all who sent flowers. We also wish to thank the Rev. C. L. Peck, the organist, the singers and all others who so thoughtfully assisted us in our bereavement.

Mrs. Victoria Abbey, Willis Abbey.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the First M. E. Church will meet with Mrs. J. J. Morrill on Thursday, June 2nd, at 3 p. m.

Miss Ethel Patterson was the guest of honor at a five course dinner given on Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock by the Misses Jennie and Hazel Guile at their home in Broadway. A china shower in connection with the dinner was an unexpected innovation and most pleasing to the bride-elect. The color scheme throughout was green and white. A huge bouquet of white carnations rising from a wreath of smilax graced the center of the table, and green ribbons led from each place-card to the smilax wreath, a bouquet of valley lilies attached thereto and surrounding the smilax centerpiece, were the favors for the guests. The guests were cleverly served by the Misses Muriel Breads and Leontine Porter. During the dinner a table was arranged with the china pieces to be presented Miss Patterson by the guests, and upon entering the parlor after dinner a clever presentation speech placed Miss Patterson in possession of the beautiful gifts.

COMMON COUNCIL

The Common Council last night voted to amend paragraph seven of the franchise granted on May 3 for the distribution of electricity through the public streets, which relates to the giving of a bond to indemnify the city from all harm, suits, etc., as the result of the construction of the distributing system.

The franchise, as granted on May 3, provided for a bond to be kept in life during the construction of the system, while the amendment requires a bond during the life of the franchise. The Council officially requested the Board of Works to forthwith fix the sum less than which the franchise shall not be sold to the highest bidder was designated as June 17.

There were four bids received for the $20,000 worth of sewer bonds, and as Isaac W. Sherrill of Poughkeepsie made the highest bid, $20,178 the bonds will be delivered to him on the first day of June.

He located there forty-two years ago and now is a wealthy retired lumber merchant. He has spent two winters in Florida and intends this Summer to tour New York State in his automobile.

Dr. E. J. Cusack motored to Vermillion on Sunday morning and brought his mother, who was observing her 80th natal anniversary, on that day, to his home in this city. Later she accompanied her son to Granby Center, where four sons and their families delightfully celebrated together the birthday of the venerable parent.

Oswego Times, May 23, 1885: Lawn tennis has set its net on the fine grounds in the Eastern part of the public park in Fulton and the merry voice of fair maiden and gentlemen are in the air. — Guy Pratt had a fine party of boys and girls to take tea with him on his sixth birthday, Wednesday afternoon. A gleeful time was had.

Those who are interested in educational matter in our city should make some effort to secure the excellent model, showing the relative position of Halley's Comet with the earth and sun. The model was most ingeniously constructed by the Hon. S. B. Mead on scientific principles and is now on exhibition in Morton & Shattuck's window. It conveys most useful information at a glance and would be an interesting souvenir for posterity.

Next Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock the W. H. M. S., of the Presbyterian church will serve the last tea before vacation in the church parlors. The public is cordially invited to attend. The ladies entertaining will be Mrs. H. A. Allen, Miss Bernhard, Miss Blodgett, Mrs. Boorman, Mrs. Breed, Mrs. Butler, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Wilbur Calkins, Mrs. Perry Calkins, Mrs. Callendine, Mrs. Curtis, Mrs. Cusack, Miss Foreman, Mrs. Gage, Mrs. Hallock, Mrs. King, Mrs. Lee, Mrs. R. Allen, Miss Adkins, Mrs. G. Andrews.

An eminent authority states that there are to be found in our cities, especially where the population is congested, many grades of milk, and it is often impossible to prevent the sale of that which is deleterious in quality unless by regulations which control the methods of production. But not to exclude dangerous milk and those grades which are known to be highly dangerous to life, leaves a Board of Health lamentably weak in dealing with this important question. There is a way of getting good results, send your order to O. J. Coles, 314 Emory street, phone 2518, and secure milk which has been certified to by a Board of Physicians practicing in this city.

VERDICT OF CORONER MARSH

Declaring that no criminal blame can be attached to anyone for the death of Dr. Edward H. Nodyne, the Fulton Veterinary Surgeon, who was killed at Stop 28 in a collision with a fast limited on the Syracuse, Lakeshore & Northern Railroad, on April 26, Coroner Marsh, has just made public his findings.

After reviewing the voluminous testimony taken at the inquest, Coroner Marsh sets forth the facts of the accident briefly. "Dr. Nodyne," he says, "in the pursuit of his vocation, returning from a professional call in town along the highway which leads to the Oswego river, at the so-called Square Decking, and crossing the Syracuse, Lakeshore & Northern Railroad at Stop 28, in his automobile, was struck by Car No. 204 of the aforesaid railroad, his car demolished and himself killed.

"The Doctor was about 40 years of age and had been in the practice of his profession in Fulton for several years and was familiar with the roads and railroads and crossings in that section of the country.

"From the evidence of the witnesses it appears that the day of the accident was a stormy one. It had rained and a high wind was blowing from the South. Car No. 204, in approaching the crossing at the time of the accident, was coming from the North, and the Doctor in his automobile was going toward the West.

"There are three witnesses who were standing near the crossing, being engaged there in labor on a summer dance pavilion, and saw the Doctor in his automobile and the trolley car approaching each other; saw the collision; saw the dead body and identified it as that of Doctor Nodyne.

"From the evidence of the witnesses it would appear that the Doctor did not hear any warning signal at the crossing; that he was studying some problem, or in an abstract state of mind and did not recall that he was in the neighborhood of a crossing. Of course, this is problematic, but from the way he approached the crossing and the way he drove his car, it would appear that this was the case.

"On the other hand, the witnesses who were on the trolley car all unite in giving evidence to the fact of the unusual crossing whistle not only being blown, but being duplicated, and that every possible means were used, after it became evident to the motorman that a collision was possible, to avert that end by shutting off the power and applying brakes.

"Also one of the witnesses who was standing near the dance hall, Mr. Johnson, says that he heard the crossing whistle, showing that the evidence of an unprejudiced person bears out the fact that it was blown.

"From the above statement and the evidence upon which it is based, I find that Dr. Edward H. Nodyne, came to his death in the Town of Volney, about half past eleven o'clock, a. m., of April 26, 1910, from fracture of the base of the skull consequent upon a collision between trolley car No. 204 of the S. L. S. & N. R. R. and his automobile, and I further find that no criminal blame rests upon any person in this matter."

SHALL WOMEN VOTE?

If they did, millions would vote Dr. King's New Life Pills the true remedy for women. For banishing dull, lagged feelings, backache or headache, constipation, dispelling colds, imparting appetite and toning up the system, they're unequalled. Easy safe, sure. 25c. at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

GRANTED A DIVORCE

Herbert G. Woolworth, proprietor of a string of five and ten cent stores extending throughout the country, has been granted a divorce from his wife, Martha G. Woolworth, the charge being that she had taken another husband in Chicago. The divorce was granted in Syracuse.

On the calendar for the June Special Term in Syracuse is a divorce action brought by Eva Hines against Thomas P. S. Hines. They were married in Fulton, August 15, 1903, and Mrs. Hines claims that her husband has been traveling around to various cities, including Oswego, with another woman.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help.

They work in nature's own way. They do not merely flush the bowels but tone up the liver and stomach to fulfill the proper function. ## REV. SAWTELLE'S RESIGNATION

FORMAL NOTIFICATION TO MEMBERS OF THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Members Requested to Attend Meeting in Church This Wednesday Evening to Take Action When the Usual Committee Will Probably Be Appointed.

Sunday morning at the conclusion of the morning services in the Presbyterian church, the Rev. W. L. Sawtelle, for eight years pastor of the church, announced that he had a communication to read to his congregation, and he read the following letter to the Session and Congregation of the First Presbyterian Church, Fulton, N. Y.

My Dear People: The time has come for me to surrender back to you the disposition of the office which you entrusted to me eight years ago. This very Sabbath completes eight years of services with you. I now herewith do tender you my resignation of the pastoral office of this church, to take effect at some time in the near future, the exact date as yet undetermined; and I ask you to join with me in petitioning the Presbytery of Syracuse to dissolve the relationship now existing between us. It is not necessary that I should say more nor indeed can I. It is so hard to work out a problem with one's own heart beating protest all the time. But he who professes fidelity to a high conception of his ministry, and who preaches that a man should at least do his duty, must break camp and march on when it is the voice of God that calls him. No lesser motive could have moved me from this church in which I have been so happy, for which I have self let me thank you for the love that you have given both of us, and let me assure you that nothing shall separate us from the blessed memories of our fellowship with you.

And now I cannot refrain from expressing the hope that he who shall receive from you the call to minister here in holy things shall come to you better equipped, mentally and spiritually, than any of his predecessors have been. May he be a man of God's own choosing, a man rarely furnished for the work of God among you, a man worthy of the love and loyalty that you have ever given to those called to minister in this church.

"The Lord bless you and keep you; the Lord make his face to shine upon you, and be gracious unto you; the Lord lift up his countenance upon you, and give you peace. Amen."

Yours with affection,
William Luther Sawtelle
May 29, 1910.

In response to a formal call for a meeting on Wednesday evening to take action upon Mr. Sawtelle's resignation, it is probable that it will be accepted and that a committee of three members will be appointed to go with Mr. Sawtelle to a meeting of the Presbytery to be held in the South church, Syracuse, on June 6, and at that time upon the joint petition of the pastor and the committee from the church, the Presbytery will dissolve the relationship now existing between pastor and people. The Presbytery will then appoint some member of the church to fill the vacant pulpit after the resignation takes effect, and will also appoint some minister within the bounds of the Presbytery to be the moderator of the session of the Fulton church until a pastor is elected and is here with the church.

Mr. Sawtelle will be given a letter from the Presbytery of Syracuse to the Presbytery of Chemung in which the First Presbyterian church of Elmira is located, and at the next meeting of the Presbytery of Chemung he will be received as a member and arrangements made for his installation as pastor of the Elmira church.

The congregational meeting Wednesday evening will probably appoint a pulpit committee whose duty will be to seek a successor to Mr. Sawtelle whose resignation will probably take effect on July 1. Mr. Sawtelle will spend a portion of this week in Elmira when more definite arrangements will be made.

The news of Mr. Sawtelle's resignation, while not unexpected, caused profound regret on the part of all classes in this city. Not only is Mr. Sawtelle popular with his congregation but he holds the respect and love of all with whom he is acquainted. His personality and his flawless character, coupled with his splendid quality of mind, have made for him a niche in our social, religious and educational life to remain distinctly his own, who ever may succeed to the vacant pastorate. While his friends here deeply regret that he could not find it his duty to remain longer in this city of which he was so vital a part, they cannot refrain from congratulating Elmira that her boundaries are to become his home.

Mr. Sawtelle has filled the dual and difficult positions of one of Fulton's daughters and the pastor's wife with such rare tact and helpfulness that regret at her departure is second only to that felt at Mr. Sawtelle's loss.

Summer suits, straw hats, new shirts, belts, ties, socks, etc., just received at McKinstry's, 114 Oneida street.

MEMORIAL DAY SERVICES

Memorial Day was dreary, cold and rainy and it was an effort for the veterans to make their annual pilgrimage to the graves of former comrades. More rode in carriages and fewer walked than ever before, and it was in verity a "thin blue line" that performed the labor of love. It was a reflection upon the thoughtfulness of our citizens so fortunate as to possess automobiles and carriages that any veterans took the weary march in the village of Fulton, the president, Mr. W. J. Peach, issued a call two weeks ago for volunteers with automobiles to transport the veterans to the cemetery and back to their hall, and not a blue coated defender of the Union walked in that village. In this city they performed their duty to the dead and then marched back to Grand Army hall in the dreary rain.

At 1 o'clock the line reformed and marched to the First M. E. church. The audience was not as large as it would have been had the weather been more favorable. Those who were privileged to hear the address of the Hon. N. N. Stranahan were pleased to note that Mr. Stranahan had lost none of his former oratorical power. He spoke to the grizzled veterans on a theme which brings cheers from a patriotic community; the love of liberty, guarded by constitutions and secured by union—that which is our national inheritance—a sentiment which was a better to defend and which has made this country an intelligent and patriotic community.

Another feature of the services was the reading of Lincoln's address at Gettysburg, in obedience to a recent order issued by the Department Commander.

OFFICIAL REPORT ON CERTIFIED MILK

Dr. Willis W. Waite, official bacteriologist for the city of Syracuse, has made his first report upon the certified milk produced by Crystal Springs Farm, now being sold in Fulton. The sample was taken from the dealer's wagon at random and was found to contain two hundred bacteria per cubic centimeter. Certified milk must contain not to exceed ten thousand per cubic centimeter. Dr. Waite adds to his report the following note: "This is the best sample of milk I ever remember to have analyzed and I congratulate the dealer on such a record at the beginning of the season."

This report was first noted in the Fulton Times. Dr. Waite, however, is very gratified to hear that Mr. Stranahan, proprietor of Crystal Springs Farm, who has taken the keenest interest in the certified milk, proposition and who spared neither time, expense nor effort in producing the conditions necessary to the maintenance of this high record. J. Coles, Emory street, is the distributor of the milk and it comes to the consumer bottled and sealed and direct from the refrigerator to his wagon each morning.

GOVERNOR HUGHES DETERMINED

Governor Hughes is determined that the people who have so strongly intimated that they wanted direct primary legislation enacted, shall have the right, if it lies within his power to secure the boon. He has, therefore, called a special session of the legislature to consider the Cobb compromise bill which last week was passed by the Senate but killed in the Assembly.

It is very gratifying to the electors in this Assembly and Senatorial districts that the representatives have tried to carry out the expressed wishes of their constituents, and without shadow of wavering. This point has not escaped the attention of the electorate nor of the governor.

PULASKI'S OLD HOME WEEK

A citizens meeting was recently held in Pulaski to discuss the feasibility of celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of the settlement of Pulaski by holding Old Home week early in August. Considerable interest in the project has been manifested and Supervisor M. J. Terry was elected chairman of a committee to arrange for the gathering and to report progress at a public meeting to be held on June 10.

DR. BACON POPULAR

Dr. Charles J. Bacon entertained his brother physicians in this city at dinner on Wednesday evening prior to his removal to Syracuse where he will make his future home, having decided to retire from the active practice of his profession. Advantage was taken of the hospitality of the genial host by the Physicians Association to present him with a magnificent gold trimmed umbrella. Dr. H. P. Marsh having been elected spokesman by his colleagues, paid Dr. Bacon high tribute, causing profuse blushes to mount brow-ward upon the departing physician who had been very popular with his brother physicians throughout his residence in this city, and whose departure is sincerely regretted.

Drs. Marsh, Wells and Anderson were appointed a committee by the Physicians Association to prepare suitable resolutions of regret at Dr. Bacon's removal from Fulton.

FOREIGNER STABBED

Dr. L. F. Joy was called on Friday evening to a building belonging to a St. Clairburg and a young man, surrounded by older men, all in one room. Upon examination Dr. Joy found that the young man was suffering with an ugly gash in the abdomen which extended to a dangerous depth. All in the building refused to discuss the matter but it was gleaned that the stabbing was done two or three hours before medical assistance was called and that the injured man and his assailant had been drinking together in different saloons during the afternoon. Dr. Joy ordered the injured man taken to the hospital and the search for his assailant continues.

FIREMEN TO VISIT FULTON

The Oswego County Volunteer Firemen's Convention will be held in this city on Aug. 3-4. A committee composed of Messrs. H. K. Burdick, M. F. Lewis, Reuben Parks and J. M. Caffrey, has labored diligently to bring this convention to Fulton and their efforts have been successful. A meeting will be held in the law offices of Hillick & Gilman on Friday evening of this week to make additional arrangements and to plan the detail work.

SCHOOL CHILDREN PARADE

The spectacle of seventeen hundred school children in line on Friday afternoon when the annual field day was held, was most inspiring. It is doubtful if Fultonians ever saw a more fascinating sight than that presented by the different grades in the schools, headed by their teachers, each school at grade with pennants of bright color and two bands and two drum corps enlivening the march.

TILDEN PARK

Monday would have been a gala day for the sport lovers of this vicinity had the weather been more propitious as a large crowd had planned to attend the opening of Tilden Park at Stop 28. As it was the attendance was large, the evening attendance being especially so, and the trolley service was of the best, the cars running until long after midnight to bring the pleasure seekers to their homes.

CHAPTER XX.

THE LAST STAND.

SOON after 5 o'clock a man in the topmost window of the tower called down that the forces in the hills were moving in a compact body toward the ridges below the southern gates.

One hundred picked men were to be left inside the castle gates with Vos Engo, prepared to meet any flank movement that might be attempted. Three hundred mounted men were selected to make the dash down Castle avenue straight into the camp of the sharpshooters. It was the purpose of the house guards to wage a fierce and noisy conflict off the avenue and then retire to the castle as abruptly as they left it, to be ready for Marlanx should he decide to make a final desperate effort to seize the stronghold.

The dash of the 300 through the gates and down the avenue was the most spectacular experience in Truxton's life. He was up with Quinnox and General Brax, galloping well in front of the yelling troops. These mounted carabineers, riding as Redskins, swept like thunder down the street, whirled into the broad, open arena beyond the duke's palace and were upon the surprised ruffians before they were fully awake to the situation.

They came tumbling out of barns and sheds, clutching their rifles in nervous hands, aghast in the face of absolute destruction. The enemy, craven at the outset, threw down their guns and tried to escape through the alleys and side streets at the end of the common. Firing all the time, the attacking force rode them down as if they were so many dogs.

After ten or fifteen minutes of this desultory carnage it was reported that a large force of men were entering the avenue from Regent's circus. Quinnox sent his chargers toward this great horde of foot soldiers, but they did not falter, as he had expected. On they swept; 2,000 or 3,000 of them. At their head rode five or six officers. The foremost was Count Marlanx.

Quinnox saw now that the Iron Count was determined to storm the gates and gave the command to retreat. Waving their rifles and shouting defiance over their shoulders, the dragons drew up, wheeled and galloped toward the gates.

Scarcely were the massive portals closed and the great steel bars dropped into place by the men who attended them when a low, dull explosion shook the earth as if by volcanic force. Then came the crashing of timbers, the cracking of masonry, the whirling of a thousand missiles through the air. Before the very eyes of the stunned, bewildered defenders, dismounting near the parade ground, the huge gates and pillars fell to the ground.

The gates had been dynamited. Then it was that Truxton King remembered. Marlanx's sappers had been quietly at work for days drilling from the common to the gates. It was a strange coincidence that Marlanx should have chosen this day for his culminating assault on the castle. The skirmish at daybreak had hurried his arrangements no doubt, but none the less were his plans complete. The explosives had been laid during the night. The fuses reached to the mouth of the tunnel across the common. As he swept up the avenue at the head of his command, hawk faced and with glittering eyes, he snarled the command that put fire to the fuses.

A moment later his vanguard streamed through the aperture and faced the deadly fire from the driveway.

At last they began to advance across the grassy meadow. When one man fell under the fire of the guardsmen another rushed into his place. Three times the indomitable Grantarkians drove them back and as often did Marlanx drag them up again, exalted by the example he set.

"Gad, he is a soldier!" cried Truxton. "Hello! There's my friend Brutus. He's no coward either. Here's a try for you, Brutus."

He dropped to his knees and took deliberate aim at the frenzied heathen. The discovery that there were three bullets in Brutus' breast when he was picked up long afterward did not affect the young man's contention that his was the one that had found the heart.

The fall of Brutus urged the Iron Count to greater fury. His horse had been shot from under him. He was on his feet, calling to his men to follow him as he moved toward the stubborn row of green and red. Buffeted about by his ears, but he gave no heed to them.

The commander of the guard gave the command to fall back slowly toward the castle.

Firing at every step, they crossed the parade ground and then made a quick dash for the shelter of the long balconies. Marlanx, down in the parade ground, was fairly pushing his men into the jaws of death.

Truxton King's chance to pay his debt to Vos Engo came after one of the fiercest, most determined charges. The young count had been fighting desperately for some time. His weakness seemed to have disappeared. As the foe fell back in the face of desperate resistance Vos Engo sprang down the steps and rushed after them, calling others to join him in the attempt to complete the rout. Near the edge of the terrace he stopped. His leg gave way under him, and he fell to the ground. Truxton saw him fall. He leaped over the low balustrade, dropping his hot rifle, and dashed across the terrace to his rival's assistance. A hundred men shot at him.

"It's my turn!" shouted the American. "I'll square it up if I can. Then we're even!"

He seized the wounded man in his strong arms, threw him over his shoulder and staggered toward the steps.

"Release me, curse you!" shrieked Vos Engo, striking his rescuer in the face with his fist.

"I'm saving you for another day," said King as he dropped behind the balustrade with his burden safe.

There were other witnesses to Truxton's rash act. In a lofty window of the north wing crouched a white faced girl and a grim old man. The latter held a rifle in his tense though feeble old hands. Now and then the old man would sight his rifle and fire. The girl who crouched beside him was there to designate a certain figure in the ever changing mass of humanity on the bloody parade ground. Her clear eyes sought for and found Marlanx; her unwavering finger pointed him out to the old marksman.

She saw Vos Engo fall. Then a tall, well known figure sprang into view, dashing toward her wounded lover. Her heart stopped beating. With her hands to her temples she leaned far over the window ledge and screamed—screamed words that would have filled Truxton King with an endless joy could he have heard them above the rattle of the rifles.

The corner of the building had shut out the picture. It was impossible for her to know that the man and his burden had reached the balcony in safety. Even now they might be lying on the terrace, riddled by bullets.

The old man roused her from the stupor of dread. He called her name. Dully she responded. Standing bolt upright in the window, she sought out the figure of Marlanx and pointed rigidly.

"Ah," groaned the old man, "they will not be driven back this time! They will not be beaten. It is the last charge! God, how they come! Our men will be annihilated!—Where is he? Now! Ah, I see! Yes, that is he! He is near enough now. I cannot miss him!"

Marlanx was leading his men up to the terrace.

At the top of the terrace the Iron Count suddenly stopped. His long body stiffened and then crumpled like a reed. A score of heavy feet trampled on the fallen leader, but he did not feel the impact.

A bullet from the north wing had crashed into his brain.

"At last!" shrieked the old man at the window. "Come, Miss Tullis; my work is done."

"He is dead, your grace?" in low, awed tones.

"Yes, my dear," said the Duke of Perce, a smile of relief on his face. "Come, let me escort you to the prince. You have been most courageous."

A group of terrified women were huddled in the far corner of a nearby room. The Duke of Perce held open the door for Louise Tullis, but she did not enter. When he turned to call she was halfway down the top flight of stairs, racing through the powder smoke toward the landing below.

At every step she was screaming in the very agony of gladness: "Stand firm! Hold them! Help is coming! Help is coming!"

A last look through the window at the end of the hall had revealed to her the most glorious of visions. Red and green troops were pouring through the dismantled gateway, their horses surging over the ugly ground rills and debris as if possessed of the fabled wings.

Her brother was out there, and all was well. She was crying the joyous news from the head of the grand stairway when Truxton King caught sight of her.

He was powder stained and grimy. There was blood on his face and shirt front.

"You are shot!" she cried, clutching the post at the head in the stairs. "Truxton! Truxton!"

"Not even scratched!" he shouted as he reached her side. "It's not my"—He stopped short even as he held out his arms to clasp her to his breast. "It's some one else's blood," he finished resolutely. She swayed toward him, and he caught her in his arms.

"I love you—oh, I love you, Truxton!" she cried over and over again. He was faint with joy. His knees spoke the adoration he would have cried out to her if emotion had not clogged his throat.

"Eric," she whispered at last, drawing back in his arms and looking up into his eyes with a great pity in her own. "Is he—Is he dead, Truxton?"

"No," he said gently; "badly hurt, but—"

"He will not die! Thank God, Truxton. He is a brave—oh, a very brave man!"

Leaderless between the deadly fires, the mercenaries gave up the fight after a brief stand at the terrace. The prince reigned again.

A BRIEF TRIBUTE

By Rev. J. E. C. Sawyer, D. D.

It was with deep sorrow that I read in the Northern Christian Advocate, the announcement of the death of Charles D. Lathrop. When I became editor of the Northern in May, 1892, Mr. Lathrop had for several years been its assistant editor, and I retained him in that position till his failing health led him to resign it.

We thus enjoyed for several years an intimate association which grew into a most precious friendship. He was an able journalist, of wide experience, lofty ideals, superior intellectual ability, loving his work and systematically and earnestly conscientious in his devotion to it. But he was much more than that. To a rare degree modest and with stranger heart and intense moral enthusiasm.

His enjoyment of his favorite books amounted to a passion, and he was an ardent lover of nature in all her moods. Always a delightful companion, he was most charming in a woodland ramble or on a boating or fishing excursion. I have many most delightful memories of our outings together, and before my eyes as I write is one of my own little snapshots photographs of him with a field glass hanging at his side. His vision penetrated to the soul of things. Our days together were happy ones in work as well as play. He was a rare spirit, a loyal and great-hearted friend, a stainless, humble unselfish, knightly soldier of the cross. Newtonville, N. Y.

Nervous Prostration

"I suffered so with Nervous Prostration that I thought there was no use trying to get well. A friend recommended Dr. Miles' Nerveine, and although skeptical at first, I soon found myself recovering, and am to-day well."

MRS. D. I. JONES,

5800 Broadway, Cleveland, O.

Much sickness is of nervous origin. It's the nerves that make the heart force the blood through the veins, the lungs take in oxygen, the stomach digest food, the liver secrete bile and the kidneys filter the blood. If any of these organs are weak, it is the fault of the nerves through which they get their strength. Dr. Miles' Nerveine is a specific for the nerves. It soothes the irritation and assists in the generation of nerve force. Therefore you can hardly miss it if you take Dr. Miles' Nerveine when sick. Get a bottle from your druggist. Take it all according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

TIME'S DERELICTS

An Advertisement by Elbert Hubbard

A GREAT WRITER once said, "Nothing is more disgraceful than that an old man should have nothing to show that he has lived long except his years." How true is this and yet how often do we look about us and see dozens of Time's Derelicts who must depend upon the State, the Community, or worse yet, their own families, for the ordinary comforts that old age requires. In youth our every impulse is to expend rather than conserve. But should we not let wisdom play a part, and consider what future life will mean without that independence that now means so much to us while all is sunshine! When the World smiles, emulate the example of the Bees and hoard your Honey. To be free for all time, see that in youth you make arrangement for your Old Age. THE EQUITABLE LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY of the United States will contract to insure your savings. You need not put away great sums. Meeting of the Common Council.
Present, Mayor Connors, Aldermen Palmer, Malone, Johnson, Smith, Wolcott, Newton.

Alderman Palmer introduced the following and moved its adoption:

Whereas, the Common Council of the city of Fulton did on the 3rd day of May, 1910, pass a resolution granting a franchise or permission and consent to supply electricity within the city of Fulton for light, heat, power and other purposes, and for that purpose to construct, maintain and operate the necessary poles, and other appliances and structures in, through, upon, under and over the streets, avenues, alleys, highways, and bridges of the city of Fulton, to which resolution on file in the office of the City Clerk reference is hereby made, and the terms and conditions thereof, and which franchise or resolution required the Board of Public Works to immediately fix a sum which in its judgment is a fair compensation to the city for such franchise, and that such franchise be sold at public auction on the 24th day of May, 1910, at eight o'clock p. m., for a sum not less than that fixed by the Board of Public Works, except by a unanimous vote of the Common Council, and

Whereas, the Board of Public Works has failed to fix a sum less than which said franchise shall not be sold, and said franchise not having been sold as therein required on the 24th day of May, 1910, Now, therefore, be it Resolved, that paragraph seven of said franchise be, and the same hereby is, amended to read as follows:

The grantee of this franchise, its successors or assigns, shall at least ten days before any work of construction or erection of any poles, towers, wires, cables or other structures is commenced execute and file with the Clerk of the City of Fulton a bond to the city in the penal sum of ten thousand dollars, with sufficient surety to be approved by the city attorney or by the Common Council, conditioned that the city indemnify and save harmless the city of Fulton from all loss, costs, expenses and liability which the city may in any manner incur by reason of the erection, construction or of the erection, construction or maintenance of any of the structures or appliances to be erected or maintained hereunder or by reason of any work of construction or repair in connection therewith, which said bond shall be kept in force during the term for which this franchise is granted.

Be it further Resolved, That in all other respects said franchise be in the form as provided in said resolution of May 30, 1910.

Be it further Resolved, That the Board of Public Works be, and it hereby is, requested to immediately fix the sum which, in its judgment, is a fair compensation to the city for such franchise, and that said franchise as hereby amended be sold at public sale by the Common Council at the highest bidder at the City Hall in the city of Fulton, N. Y., on the 17th day of June, 1910, at eight o'clock p. m., for a sum not less than that fixed by the Board of Public Works, except by a unanimous vote of the Common Council, and that notice of the sale of said franchise be published for at least two weeks in the Fulton Times and the Observer.

THE OCCIDENT AND ORIENT UNITE

In Buffalo Bill's Wild West and Pawnee Bill's Far East Which Comes to Syracuse June 16

The interesting announcement is made that Buffalo Bill's Wild West and Pawnee Bill's Far East will exhibit as indicated above. A remarkable event is announced in the leave-taking from public life of the old scout, "Buffalo Bill," who is making a last bow to each city he visits—a valedictory. It is further stated that arrangements have been made with officials of the railroads to run reduced rate excursions on that date, thus affording residents of this vicinity an opportunity to visit the exhibition at a minimum of expense. Two vast enterprises are now allied under one management. The union of Buffalo Bill's Wild West with Pawnee Bill's Far East brings together two great factors in outdoor entertainment. While, of course the general style of the combined entertainment remains the same as when they were separate units in public amusement, there will be many features entirely new to the style of exhibition. The Far East contingent will be represented in an Oriental spectacle of great beauty and splendor; introducing many picturesque types which inhabit the romantic East. In this

He has gone on the principle that he had a right to buy something on the other side of the ocean and after paying for it, take it home; but in doing this he ran up against a law for the benefit of certain United States manufacturers or tailors or dress-makers or jewellers, and worse than that, he ran up against a custom-house that is for enforcing the law. There are many other phases to this question, but these are enough. The fact that the defendant in the case was once governor of a state emphasizes the situation; that is all.

EDWIN B. ABBEY

Chandler Recalls Memories of By-Gone Days.

Editor Times: I just learned of the death, in your city, of Edwin B. Abbey, formerly of Company A, 24th N. Y. Cavalry. He was one of the "kids" of Company A, and like the majority of them, was a faithful follower in the performance of duty. The following is a copy of his official record as it appears in the descriptive book of Company A.

74—Edwin B. Abbey, age 19; height, 5 feet 4 inches; complexion, light; eyes, blue; hair, black; born in Hastings, New York; occupation, musician; enlisted 21st of Dec. '63; Fulton, N. Y., by A. Taylor; term 3 years. Under head of remarks it is recorded that he was appointed bugler the 28th of Dec. 1863.

My impression was at the time he was in the army, and has always been since, that he was not as old as his record shows, but those boys had a wonderful gift of "amplifying" their ages in order to pass inspection. I did not think he was over 16 years old, and the letter telling of his death informed me that he enlisted at the age of 17 years. He did not serve as bugler all the time as he much preferred a place in the ranks, where he always performed his duties faithfully and cheerfully. He numbered every man in the Company as his friend, and so far as he was known outside of Company A, he was equally popular.

During the winter of '64-5 the regiment was in winter quarters, the men in their little 6x12 log houses with canvas roofs and the officers in their more pretentious quarters made of old lumber picked up around the country. Every cabin having its fireplace for cooking and warmth. I call to mind, one day Abbey, or "Ed," as he was called in Company A, was on guard in front of Colonel Newcomb's quarters. The Colonel's fireplace which was built of brick, didn't seem to go to the smoke much preferring to go up the flue. Finally the Colonel came out doors declaring in very emphatic language that he had endured that smoke just about as long as he could and that he'd have the blank fire place torn out. Ed knew he had no right to address the Colonel while on guard, but he concluded to take the risk. "Colonel," said he, "I'm a brick mason and I know what all your fire place and can fix it so it will draw." The Colonel, who was a strict disciplinarian, said, "Call the Corporal of the guard." Ed thought sure he had gotten him, but he soon had the Corporal of the guard there, who was told by the Colonel to bring another man to relieve this sentinel. When he was relieved the Colonel said, "You go to your quarters, take off your 'traps,' and get a trowel or a shingle, or any thing you like and come here, and fix that fire place." Well, Ed not only fixed the Colonel's fire place, but he overhauled others that had a tendency to smoke.

I have only kept in touch with Colonel Abbey since the war by occasionally seeing his name in the Times, but if he made as good a citizen as he was a soldier (and I'm sure he has) Fulton has lost a good man. Minneapolis, Minn., May 26, 1910.

DEWINE SENTENCED TO AUBURN

Thomas N. Dewine, formerly city clerk of Oswego, last week pleaded guilty to grand larceny, second degree, and Justice DeAngelis sentenced him to Auburn prison for a term of not less than one and one half years nor more than four years. Dewine was taken to Auburn and will work in the broom shop. He leaves unprovided for a wife and seven small children. Dewine paid back to the city the entire amount of his defalcation. A striking contrast to the above case is that of Albert W. Waterfield, for 12 years clerk of the village of Solvay. His shortage totalled $4,051.93, and upon his making good the shortage no prosecution is contemplated. Why one official should be prosecuted and made to pay the penalty and another man go free is too complex a problem for the lay mind.

READY FOR BUSINESS

The McKinstry clothing store, 124 Oneida street, is reopened and ready for business with a complete line of men's and boy's clothing, furnishing goods etc.

PRESENCE OF MIND

A favorite saying with Napoleon Bonaparte was that "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." I met a drummer recently who told me that he had lived in New York city all his life and that a man had to be on his guard every minute there or he lost his life. My wife and I walked and crossed the streets of Syracuse State Fair week and at Albany and New York during the Hudson River celebration safely by being nerved up to it every minute. In those places policemen made drivers slow down. Once in New York we came very near getting caught by an electric car as it turned a corner. The next day after we came along on the Hudson River railroad a smash-up occurred there, one man being killed, and nine persons injured. The powerful engine that drew our immense excursion train was derailed just as we were entering the Syracuse station. In all of our travels we never came so near losing our lives as we did last Fall at the Lee Stop, on First street, Fulton, returning from the Grange picnic at Long Branch. The conductor assisted my wife down the steps and as we were crossing the roadway a "honk" sounded close by. She being nearly across gave a bound ahead and just cleared the track. I was crossing the roadway, just behind her and looked to the right and saw that the auto was just upon us. I gave a bound backward as the auto with two men in it sped between us. It was in the day time and those men couldn't help but take in the situation and instead of turning to the left and going around the car or holding up a quarter of a minute they dashed upon us barely giving us a chance for our lives. I am afraid more than one chauffeur will carry the mark of Cain upon his brow. If we had both been killed those men couldn't have been identified. A sneak will skip so you can't take his number but a man will halt his machine and act the part of the good samaritan.

A Chicago citizen suggests that a law be passed for auto's to wear bells as a continual warning as he is tired of being stared in scudding across the streets. In 1876 during the Centennial in Philadelphia the horses on the streets had to wear bells all Summer. According to the papers more auto men with their friends are being killed than other people, but, in conclusion, the auto is here to stay. The man at the helm needs to give it his undivided attention and to have his brain as free from the effects of stimulants as an engineer on a train. P. T. Barnum began his career with a one horse show and blacked up frequently to act the part of a minstrel. On one occasion he happened to be outside without his coat trying to adjust the ropes to the tent when a big fellow got in his way and Barnum ordered him off. The bally with an oath drew a revolver and was about to shoot when Barnum quickly bared his arm and said, "look, I am just as white as you are." Barnum's presence of mind saved his life.

THE OLD SAYING

That "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" is proven true in the care of teeth.

Bodily ills come from bad teeth and a foul mouth.

Save money, pain and trouble by having the teeth fixed before the trouble begins.

Natural colored crowns for badly decayed front teeth, also natural colored fillings that are as permanent as gold.

Bridge-work a specialty. Plates that fit made and repaired. All operations conducted under strictly antiseptic conditions and by modern painless methods. All work guaranteed for 10 years. Call and let me explain. Examinations free.

A printed chart giving directions for the "proper care of the teeth" given free to every patient.

BLODGETT IN SEATTLE

Under Sheriff John Dennis returned on Monday from Seattle, and without ex-Patrolman William Blodgett, although it is believed that he will soon be returned to Oswego and tried on the charge of assisting in the liberating of Daisy Mahar from the local jail.

A rumor is current to the effect that a confession has been secured from a local character to the effect that he, not Blodgett, liberated the woman, although no credence is placed in the story.

NEW LAW FOR DRUNKENNESS

"Furnishes Humane and Rational Restraint and Treatment," says Mayor Gaynor of New York

Mayor Gaynor in signing the bill passed by the legislature to provide a farm colony for inebriates for New York City said that "I view it more as furnishing a humane and rational manner of restraining and treating inebriates, rather than let them go from bad to worse, and finally be sent to prison for some crime. It has behind it good men and women and I should be reluctant to refuse to accept it on behalf of the city." The measure signed by Mayor Gaynor now goes to Governor Hughes, and friends of the measure are very hopeful of favorable action on his part.

Mr. Bailey B. Burritt, Assistant Secretary of the State Charities Aid Association, in speaking of the measure yesterday, said, "that if this bill becomes law it will place New York City in the position of being the first city in America to undertake to deal comprehensively with the problem of drunkenness. It will be greatly to the credit of Mayor Gaynor's administration," said Mr. Burritt, "to have inaugurated such a plan and if the plan is followed out this experiment will be watched with eager eyes by every city in the country, for drunkenness and the dependency caused by it is a serious and vexing problem to the authorities of every city."

The bill signed by Mayor Gaynor does much more than provide a farm colony for inebriates," Mr. Burritt continued. "It changes radically the method of procedure in all cases of arrest for public intoxication. It provides a Board of Inebriety for the City of New York which shall have general supervision of the problem of public intoxication. When a man is arrested a field officer of the board looks up the case to determine whether the man is a habitual or an occasional offender. If it is found that the man has not been arrested for intoxication within a year he is released at once, or as soon as he is sober, without the necessity of his going to court. This saves him from public disgrace and relieves the court of the case. For the next offense within a year a man may be put on probation. If probation fails he may be fined and placed on probation and be allowed to pay the fine in installments. It is estimated by friends of the measure that very many cases can in this way be kept from being committed to any institution. If, however, the man does not respond to any of these he may be committed to a farm colony to be established by the Board for a period not less than three months nor more than six months. Here he will have medical treatment and be required to work under healthful conditions and restored to healthfulness so far as possible. If he becomes a habitual offender he may be committed for a period not to exceed three years."

This bill has been given much thought by sociologists, by the medical profession and by lawyers. It was originally prepared by the State Charities Aid Association and it has been discussed pro and con during two sessions of the legislature. It is considered by all as a distinct step in advance and if it becomes law and is put in practice it will be eagerly watched by other cities in the state. Indeed plans are already under way in other cities to secure a similar law next year.

CHURCHES AND STREETS DARK

Breaks in Niagara Power Interrupt Sermons and Travel

WIRES STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Trouble Occurs on Line West of Rochester—Rapid Transit Cars Stopped and Street Lights Put Out

[Post Standard Monday]

Interruptions in the transmission of electricity on the high tension wire of the Niagara, Lockport & Ontario Company last evening put most of the Syracuse churches and streets in darkness for short periods and stopped the trolley cars. Rev. Dr. John Hunter, the emcee, Scotch clergyman, had to halt twice in his sermon at the First Universalist Church and continue his discourse with the aid of a lamp. At the Calvary Baptist Church the lights went out and as the sexton was about to relight the candles with a candle obtained in the cellar, the electric lights again started up. He went back to the cellar with the candle, and then another spell of darkness. The service was then closed.

Rev. W. G. Hull of Brown Memorial Methodist Episcopal church was delivering his sermon when the church was thrown in darkness. The gas jets were lighted. The Central Baptist Church is supplied with current from the Y. M. C. A. and was about the only place of worship in the city which escaped annoyance. The periods of darkness, however, were short. The first came soon after 8:30 o'clock and continued about 8 minutes; the second shortly before 9 o'clock. Lights in hotels and lunch rooms and offices were affected and the illumination for about half an hour was interrupted.

The power operating the cars of the Syracuse Rapid Transit Railway Company was not cut off at the first interruption, but beginning at 8:53 o'clock all cars were at a stand still for about five minutes. The cars of the Syracuse, Lakeshore & Northern and Syracuse & South Bay roads continued in operation being supplied with current from the steam plant at Lyons.

The street lights in all parts of the city went out several times. During a part of the time it was raining and thousands of people were on the streets.

At the Solway substation of the power company it was stated that the current was interrupted only eight or ten minutes altogether. The trouble, it was explained, was due to lightning striking the high tension transmission wires somewhere between Mortimer, five miles west of Rochester, and the power plant at Niagara Falls. It was said that no permanent damage was done. At 10 o'clock it was stated at both the plants of the Syracuse Lighting Company and the Rapid Transit Company that no trouble had been experienced after 9:30 o'clock.

BRILLIANT SOCIAL EVENT LAST WEDNESDAY EVENING IN M.
E. CHURCH

Solemn and Unique Wedding Service
Which Linked the Young Lives—Effective Floral Decorations—Enjoyable Musical Program—Reception at Home of Bride's Parents.

Last Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock in the First Methodist church, Miss Ethel Lucile Patterson, and Mr. Walter Maurice Dunham were united in marriage, the Rev. S. T. Dibble of Ogdensburg, assisted by the Rev. C. L. Peck, speaking the sacred words that linked the young lives. The ring service was used. The church had been artistically decorated by the friends of the young couple, vines and white chiffon forming a most unusual and effective combination at the altar rail and the choir rail. As the guests were assembling Miss Hazel Gault, charmingly rendered "Because" by D'Har- delot, and "I for you and you for me," arranged for the Mendelssohn Spring Song. As the bride party entered the church, a shower of confetti and rice was thrown by the friends of the bride, the Misses Mabel Hodges, Lella Church, Hazel McDermott, Lena Abbott, Ethel Bonner and Mrs. Keith rendered the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, continuing the soft music during the service. Mrs. J. H. Howe was at the organ.

As the beautiful bridal chorus pealed forth, Rev. S. T. Dibble and Rev. C. L. Peck entered the edifice from the left of the altar and the groom and his best man, Mr. Gardner Dunham, entered from the right of the altar, meeting at the chancel. The ushers preceded down the main aisle, Messrs. B. D. Barrow, Willis Morin, Donald McChesney, James Robinson, DeForest Underhill and Frank Morin. They were followed by the bridesmaids all gowned in white mull, the gowns being presented by the bridesmaids by the bride, and they gracefully carried ropes of smilax. Miss Janet McChesney of Syracuse made a most winsome flower girl in her simple gown of white mull and carrying a basket of white carnations.

Miss Mildred Dunham, sister of the groom, was maid of honor. She wore white mull trimmed with needle work and carried an arm bouquet of valley lilies, white carnations and maiden hair ferns.

The bride entered on the arm of her father and she was given away by him. She was becomingly and girlishly gowned in white Mesaline satin over taffeta, with garniture of pearl trimming and rare lace. She wore a tulle veil and carried a shower bouquet of valley lilies, bride's roses and maiden hair ferns.

After the ceremony a reception to about two hundred guests was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Patterson, in Oneida street. The home had been prettily decorated with running pine and cedar and bridal wreath. The guests were met at the door by Masters Willis and Marshall Penfield and directed to the dressing rooms. They were then received by Mr. and Mrs. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Dunham and the bride and groom. After congratulations a three course bridal collation was served. The spacious porch surrounding the house had been enclosed and lighted and many of the guests were served there, the young ladies who assisted in serving the guests were the Misses Ruth Cox, Gertrude Lake, Irma and Leah Paige, Marion Shattuck and Marjorie Fairgrieve.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunham left amid a shower of confetti and congratulatory for Syracuse by automobile spending their honeymoon at Twin Maple Camp, Fourth Lake. They will make their future home in Greene, N. Y., where Mr. Dunham holds a responsible position as pattern maker and designer for the Lyon Iron Works. Their home is furnished and ready for their occupancy.

Mrs. Dunham is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Patterson. She is a graduate of Fulton High School and took special work at Syracuse University. Twenty members of the church society attended the wedding and reception in a body. Mr. Dunham is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Dunham, a graduate of the local High School and of Pratt Institute. He is an expert in his special line of work and has a splendid future before him. The very best wishes of a large circle of friends go with the young couple to their new home.

RELATIONS TO BE DISSOLVED

ESTIMATE OF WORTH PLACED ON RECORD BY MEMBERS OF CHURCH

Resolutions Adopted by Members of the First Presbyterian Church on The Resignation of the Rev. W. L. Sawtelle.

As the pastoral relation existing between this church and the Rev. William Luther Sawtelle is about to be dissolved by mutual consent, we, the members of the Presbyterian church and congregation desire to place on record our sense of the worth of his ministry among us.

The work of this church has been harmoniously developed along many lines, and we realize that he has done that for us which has placed us under lasting obligation.

Conspicuous among the things for which Mr. Sawtelle's pastorate has been marked is the building up of a missionary interest, in which men, women and children have shared alike. The visible witness to this are the Missionary to China, who for the past six years has represented us upon the foreign field, and the Academy among the mountains of Tennessee which owes its beginning largely to his initiative, and is to a considerable degree dependent upon us for its maintenance. The growth of the missionary interest has not, however, been limited to these two fields of effort. All the benevolences of the church have received a corresponding impetus, while, at the same time our current expenses have been provided for in a like spirit of liberality. A comparison of the figures of eight years ago with those for the year just closed shows that in that time our benevolences have more than quadrupled. It is only fair to say that this and has been attained by no sensational or drastic methods, but by the fostering of a spirit of mutual helpfulness and interest in the spread of Christ's Kingdom. Led by our pastor we have with him been laborers together for God.

No feature in the life of a church is more significant than that which concerns the work among its young people—those who are the pledge and hope of its future, and here again Mr. Sawtelle has been blessed with a large measure of success. The Communicants' class has taught in sacred things those who were about to come to the Lord's table for the first time, and others have been led to a thoughtful consideration of this great act of life—while all have been made to think simply, yet earnestly, of their personal relations to their God and Saviour. The parents in the congregation could testify feelingly to Mr. Sawtelle's appreciation of his responsibilities as a pastor to the children of the church. Not a lone have the names of our young people been added to the church roll, but from the college boy who carried about with him his pastor's kindly letter, to the youngest child who answered his greetings at the church door—all have felt that it was not only their minister but their friend who has ascended the pulpit from Sabbath to Sabbath. And in this department of the church life grateful recognition should be made of the work of the pastor's wife—in her acceptable and persevering efforts as a Sabbath School teacher and a leader in the missionary work, Mrs. Sawtelle has left her mark upon many young lives which will not readily be effaced.

For eight years Mr. Sawtelle has gone in and out before us as a man of God. We of his congregation have felt assured of the sincerity of his interest in the joys and occupations of our daily lives, and in the dark day of sorrow he has come into our homes and helped bear our burden. We recognize that his friendliness for the members of his church has been impartial—we have shared his affectionate regard without distinction as to class or individual. And he has so filled his place as citizen and member of the community that those of other creeds have honored the Christianity of his profession, and with us lament his departure and wish him God-speed to his new home.

Subscribers who do not receive the Times on each Wednesday afternoon will please report the fact to the Times office.

But it is as the preacher of a simple and living faith that Mr. Sawtelle has made his most signal mark upon the history of this church—we have not only been intellectually quickened as we have listened to his sermons, but our spiritual life has been deepened and our faith upon eternal things strengthened as he has spoken to us of the things of God.

Could the question of this call have been left to our decision the unanimous voice of the congregation would have asked him to continue as our pastor for an indefinite period, but a larger field calls him away to wider opportunities for growth and usefulness in the Master's service and we realize that our duty is that of unselfishness to him and the church to which he goes.

And how as the paths, in which we as pastor and people have journeyed in such harmony, are about to divide, we would offer to Mr. Sawtelle our grateful thanks for all that he has been enabled to do for us as a church. May succeeding years bring to him and his an ever increasing measure of the love and favor of God, and may the memories of these eight years be to us an inspiration to greater devotion to the cause of Him, "Whose we are and whom we serve."

Miss May Gardner,
W. J. Lovejoy,
John Hunter,
Committee.

PRICE CONSIDERED RIGHT

The Niagara Power franchise, is about the fairest price ever placed upon a local franchise. Every franchise so far has been bestowed upon whomsoever might seek it, and the city's assets have thus been squandered.

If it will pay the Niagara-Oswego Power Company to operate in Fulton at all, they will be able to pay the $2,000, the price fixed by the Board, being but a yearly rental of $50 per year for each of the 40-years composing the term for which the franchise is granted.

The Common Council will sell the franchise to the highest bidder on June 17.

A SPLENDID REPRESENTATIVE

Assemblyman T. C. Sweet has made a record during his first term as representative from Oswego county of which his constituents are justly proud. His ability was recognized at Albany from the first and he was given committee assignments rarely ever accorded a first-come. Mr. Sweet has been vigilant in the interest of his constituents and he may take pride in the fact that his vote has been registered on the right side of every question submitted since his election. He has been in perfect accord with Governor Hughes and his reform policies, knowing that in so doing he was carrying out the wishes of those to whom he is indebted for his election. He has been non-partisan in his every act, thus making friends of even his political enemies, and it would indeed be difficult to pick a man who could win the allegiance of him from Oswego county Republicans from winning alike the respect and admiration of even those who may differ from him. He represents the progressive, desirable element in politics in the State to-day, and his usefulness to his party has but commenced. If he continues the course he has thus far pursued in private and public life.

JUDGE FANNING TO PRESIDE

Charles E. Bender, formerly of Fulton and now of Oneida withdrew his former plea of "not guilty" to grand larceny, 2d degree, and was given a suspended sentence in Supreme Court last week. Bender was accused of having sold a piano for $75 on which a Syracuse firm had a claim. Bender has made good the money received on this sale.

Attorney O. M. Reilly of Phoenix appeared in the excise cases against Michael Carey, Hiram Krum and Earl Willis and asked that they be tried before Special County Judge Fanning of Fulton. The reason for this request is that the preliminary proceedings for revoking the licenses in these cases had been held before Judge Rowe and he had heard all of the evidence once. The decision was reserved.

POSTAL BANK BILL SAFE

House Leaders Say They Have the Votes to Pass it.

The regular Republican leaders of the House announce that they were assured of sufficient votes to bring in a special rule for the passage of the postal savings bank bill in practically the same form as it came from the Republican caucus. A careful canvass has been made, and it was said positively that enough Republicans would support such a rule to insure its adoption.

Chairman Weeks of the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads states that it had not yet been determined just what sort of rule would be asked and what limitations it would place on consideration of the bill. The committee met last Monday and reported the bill to the House.

Many letters mailed in the United States addressed for delivery in foreign countries, which are subject to our Postal Union postage rate, are prepaid only two cents; the senders of the letters being under the impression, it is presumed, that our two-cent domestic postage rate is applicable to said letters.

The only foreign countries to which the two-cent letter rate applies are Canada, Cuba, Mexico, Newfoundland, the Canal Zone, the Republic of Panama, the city of Shanghai China, Germany (by direct steamers only), England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland. To all other countries the rate is five cents for the first ounce or fraction thereof, and three cents for each additional ounce or fraction thereof, which must be fully prepaid or the letters become liable on delivery to a charge equal to double the amount of the deficient postage. For instance a single-rate letter prepaid only two cents would be subject on delivery to an additional postage charge of six cents.

As charges for postage due on short-paid letters give rise to much annoyance, delays and complaint, it is hoped that patrons will observe the foregoing instructions.

CHAPTER XXI
"YOU WILL BE MRS. KING."
It was late in the day when Truxton King was summoned to the devastated state chamber to be made a baron, and the prince completed the American's reward by presenting him with an ancient gold seal ring, one of the crown jewels. Late that night it was reported at the castle that a large force of men were encamped on the opposite side of the river. A hundred campfires were gleaming against the distant uplands. "The Grand Duke Paulus" exclaimed Count Halfont. "Thank God he did not come a day earlier. We owe him nothing today, but yesterday—ah, he could have demanded much of us!" In one of the wrecked approaches to the terrace, surrounded by fragments of stone and confronted by ugly destruction, sat a young man and a slender girl. There were no lights near them. The shadows were black and forbidding. His arm was about her; her head nestled securely against his shoulder, and her slim hands were willing prisoners in one of his. She was saying: "Truxton, dear, I did not love Eric Vos Rago. I just thought it was love. I never really knew what love was until you came into my life. That's what made it so hard. I had let him believe that I might care for him some day. And I did like him. So I—" "You will never, never know how happy I am, Lorraine!" he breathed into her ear. "I hope I shall always bring happiness to you, Truxton," she murmured, faint with the joy of loving. "You will make me very unhappy if you don't marry me tomorrow." "I will marry you, Truxton, when we get to New York," she said, but not very firmly. He saw his advantage. He held her close for a long time, his face buried in her hair. "Listen, darling! Won't you say you'll be my wife before I leave Graustark? I want you so much. I can't go away without you." She hesitated. "When are you going, Truxton? You—you haven't told me." "It was what he wanted. 'I am going next Monday,' he said promptly. As a matter of fact, he had forgotten the day of the week they were now living in. "Monday? Oh, dear!" "Will you?" "I—I must cable home first," she faltered. "That's a mere detail, darling. Cable afterward. It will beat us home by three weeks. They'll know we're coming." "I must ask John, really I must, Truxton," she protested faintly. "Hurry!" he shouted—in a whisper. "He is so desperately in love he won't think of refusing anything we ask. Shall we set it for Saturday?" They set it for Saturday without consulting John Tullis and then fell to discussing him. "He is very much in love with her," she said wistfully. "And she loves him, Lorraine. They will be very happy. She's wonderful!" "Well, so is John. He's the most wonderful man in all this world." "I am sure of it," he agreed magnanimously. "I saw him talking with her and the Duke of Perse as I came out awhile ago. They were going to the duke's rooms up there. The duke will offer no objections. He'll permit his daughter to select his next non-in-law." "I shall be sorry to leave Graustark," she said dreamily after a long period of silent retrospection. "I've had the happiest year of my life here." "I've had the busiest month of my life here. I'll never again say that the world is a dull place. I shudder when I think of what might have happened to you, my princess sweet heart, if I hadn't come to Edelweiss. I would not have found you." Peeling her trembling in his arms, he went on with whimsical good humor: "You would have been eaten up by the ogre long before this, or perhaps you would have succeeded in becoming a countess." "You will be Mrs. King." "As it is, I shall be a baroness." "In Graustark, but not in New York. That reminds me. You'll be more than a baroness—more than a princess."

You will be a queen. Don't you catch the point? You will be Mrs. King." The Grand Duke Paulus was distinctly annoyed. He had traveled many miles, endured quite a number of hardships, and all to no purpose. When dawn came his emissaries returned from the city with the lamentable information that the government had rejected itself, that Mariani's sensational revolution was at an end and that the regents would be highly honored if his excellency could overlook the distressingly chaotic conditions at court and condescend to pay the castle a visit. The grand duke resolved that he would visit the castle in a very informal way, extend his congratulations and offer his services, which he knew would be declined with thanks. Incidentally he would mention the bond issue; also he would find the opportunity to suggest to the ministry that his government still was willing to make large grants and stupendous promises if any sort of arrangement could be made by which the system might be operated in conjunction with branch lines of the imperial roads. And so it was that at midday he rode in pomp and splendor through the city gates, attended by his staff and a rather overpowering bodyguard. The grand duke, with all the arrogance of a real personage, was late. It was not for him to consider the conditions that distressed the court of Graustark—not at all. He was a grand duke and he would take his own time in paying his respects. When he finally presented himself at the castle doors a sleepy group of attendants actually yawned in his presence. No one had slept during the night just passed. Excitement and the suffering of others had denied slumber to one and all, even to those who had not slept for many days and nights. Now the reaction was upon them. Relaxation had succeeded tension. When the grand duke entered the great, somber throne room he was confronted by a punctiliously polite assemblage, but every eye was as heavy as lead and as prone to sink. The prince sat far back in the great chair of his ancestors, his sturdy legs sticking straight out in front of him. The grand duke advanced between the respectful lines and knelt at the foot of the throne. "Arise, your highness," piped Bobby, with a quick glance at Count Halfont. It was a faint, faraway voice that uttered the gracious command. "Graustark welcomes the Grand Duke Paulus. It is my pleasure to—!" A helpless look came into his eyes. He looked everywhere for support. The grand duke saw that he had forgotten the rehearsed speech and smiled benignly as he stepped forward and kissed the hand that had been extended somewhat uncertainly. "My most respectful homage to your majesty. The felicitations of my emperor and the warmest protestations of friendship from his people." With this as a prologue he engaged himself in the ever pleasurable task of delivering a long congratulatory address. After five minutes of high sounding platitudes he again turned to the prince. It was then that he received his first shock. Prince Robin was sound asleep. His head was slipping sideways along the satin back of the big chair, and his chin was very low in the lace at his neck. The grand duke coughed emphatically, cleared his throat and drew very red in the face. The court of Graustark was distinctly dismayed. "His majesty appears to have—ahem—gone to sleep," remarked the grand duke tartly, interrupting himself to address the prime minister. "He is very tired, your excellency," said Count Halfont, very much distressed. "Pray consider what he has been through during the—" "Ah, my dear count, do not apologize for him. I quite understand. Ahem! Ahem!" Still, he was very red in the face. "I will awaken him, your excellency," said the prime minister, edging toward the throne. "Not at all, sir!" protested the visitor. "Permit him to have his sleep out, sir. I will not have him disturbed. Who am I that I should defeat the claims of nature? It is my pleasure to wait until his majesty's nap is over. Then he may dismiss us, but not until we have cried 'Long live the prince!'" For awhile they stood in awkward silence, this notable gathering of men and women. Then the prime minister in hushed tones suggested that it would be eminently proper under the circumstances for all present to be seated. He was under the impression that his serene highness would sleep long and soundly. Still backed and uncomfortable, the court sat and waited. No one pretended to conceal the blisful yawns that would not be denied. A drowsy, listlessly languid feeling took possession of the entire assemblage. The prime minister sat at the foot of the throne and nodded in spite of himself. John Tullis, far back near the wall, had his head on his hand, bravely fighting off the persistent demon. Prince Danton of Dawsbergen was sound asleep. The grand duke was wide awake. He saw it all and was equal to the occasion. After all, he was a kindly old gentleman and, once his moment of mortification was over, he was not above charity. Bobby's poor little head had slipped over to a most uncomfortable position against the arm of the chair. Putting his finger to his lips, the grand duke tiptoed carefully up to the throne. With very gentle hands he lifted Bobby's head, and, slightly tensed, stuffed a throne cushion behind the curly head.

"DEAR LITTLE MAN! GOD BLESS HIM!" the sleeping boy far back in the chair of state. Incidentally he decided to delay a few days before taking up the bond question with the ministry. The grand duke was not an ordinary diplomat. In one of the curtained windows, far removed from the throne, sat Truxton King and Lorraine Tullis. All about them people were watching the delicate little scene, smiling drowsily at the grand duke's tender comedy. No one was looking at the two in the curtained recess. Her hand was in his; her head sank slowly toward his loving shoulder. Her heavy lids drooped lower and lower, refusing to obey the slender will that argued against complete surrender. At last her soft, regular breathing told him that she was asleep. Awaiting his opportunity, he tenderly kissed the soft brown hair, murmured a gentle word of love and settled his own head against the thick cushions. Everywhere they dozed and nodded. The grand duke smiled and blinked his little eyes. He was very wide awake. That is how he happened to see the prince move restlessly and half open his sleep bound eyes. The grand duke leaned forward with his hand to his ear and listened. He had seen the boy's lips move. From dreamland came Bobby's belated "Good night!"

"Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy has cured me of heart disease of over 20 years' standing. I was so bad that I could not do my work, and could scarcely draw a full breath without fainting or smothering. The doctor told me he could do no more for me; then I commenced taking the Heart Remedy. I shall never forget that night. I slept better than I had before in months. I kept right on getting better, until I was perfectly well."
MRS. LAURA RUSSELL,
Logan, Iowa.
When the heart action is weak, it fails to pump the blood through the lungs with sufficient rapidity. Then the lungs do not absorb the proper amount of oxygen, although they may be taking in a normal amount of air. The result is shortness of breath, smothering spells, difficult breathing, oppressed feeling in chest. Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy strengthens the heart nerves and muscles, and in this way increases the circulation.

Official Paper of City of Fulton.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 3, 1910.

The statement of the Treasury Department for May foreshadows a surplus at the end of the present fiscal year, June 30. Receipts for the eleven months ended May 31 were nearly $48,000,000 in excess of those for the eleven months of the preceding year. On the other hand, expenditures decreased nearly $9,000,000, compared with those for the same period in 1909-1908. In place of last year's deficit on May 31 of $69,735,000 there was, therefore, a deficit of only $13,275,000 on May 31 last. May brought in a surplus of $3,425,000. June is always a month of relatively heavy receipts and light disbursements. Its surplus ought to reduce the apparent deficit of the year to less than $5,000,000.

According to a pre-arranged plan, William J. Connors, enjoying the sobriquet of "Fingey," has retired from the position of chairman of the Democratic State Committee, and has been succeeded by John A. Dix of Washington county. The election for chairman was held at the Hoffman House, New York, last Thursday afternoon. Mr. Connors, it is stated, retired in the best of humor, and as he welcomed Mr. Dix to the chair, said: "You've got a good job. But it isn't a cinch at that." If one were to read between the lines it would seem that the list of perils that pestered the Apostle Paul might look mild beside the array of pitfalls which wait for the feet of those who try to make straight the paths of Democratic party triumph. It will be necessary for the newly-elected party general in the next campaign to dodge all the sharpshooters among the up-State organizations and keep some of his indiscreet friends from exploding the ammunition magazine in his own camp. "Charlie" Murphy of Tammany fame has succeeded in fusing a new conscience into the leaders of the party, and the Democratic organs throughout the State fairly ooze satisfaction.

The United States Attorney-General has been instructed to prosecute the American Sugar Refining Company for violation of the Sherman Antitrust law. The government will seek to show that this concern is engaged in monopolizing the entire sugar trade of the country, and is, therefore, a combination in restraint of trade within the meaning of the Sherman law. The investigation of the affairs of the company, made with a view to instituting this prosecution, was begun last December, and is now approaching completion. This suit will be wholly independent of the prosecution growing out of the case of George H. Earle, Jr., as receiver of the Real Estate Company of Philadelphia, against the American Sugar Refining Company and of the prosecution of the Sugar Trust for violation of the customs laws, both of which are now pending in the courts. The so-called Philadelphia suit is now before the Supreme Court on appeal, with the argument set for the October term, and the prosecution for violation of the customs laws is going on in the federal court at New York. It is the belief of the officials of the Department of Justice that it can be shown that the American Sugar Refining Company is an unlawful monopoly, and that it can be compelled to resolve itself into its component corporations or forced into the hands of a receiver. Of course, there has long been a popular belief that this company constituted a monopoly, or trust, but there is a wide difference between a popular belief and legal proof. The Department of Justice will not await the decisions in the Supreme Court of the cases pending against the American Tobacco Company and the Standard Oil Company before instituting the Sugar Trust prosecution, but, with the evidence in hand, will begin a vigorous prosecution as soon as the investigation now being made can be completed, probably within two weeks.

While Governor Hughes has not surrendered his convictions regarding the Hinman-Green bill, he has expressed a willingness to sign the Cobb Primary measure. The latter bill, as it passed the Senate, promised a substantial measure of the variety of direct nominations advocated by the Governor—covering the nominations of Congressmen, State Senators and Assemblymen and county officials—differing from the Hinman-Green bill in that it did not provide for the choice of candidates for State and judicial offices at direct primaries. There is a similarity of party committee provisions, the ballot required and the method of safeguarding the primaries. It is true that while the Cobb bill will not meet all the requirements of the Hinman-Green measure, yet there is enough in it of advantage to the electors, and its application can not fail to improve the present political conditions.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CHAIRMAN
The Democratic State Committee met in New York city on Wednesday and elected John A. Dix of Washington county, chairman to succeed "Fingey" Connors. The meeting was largely attended and harmony was the keynote.

Mr. Dix slipped the knife a little higher up his sleeve as he pleaded for harmony and propounded Democratic State victory in the Fall. Mr. Connors hid his knife away more securely as he talked harmony and was sure nothing but Democrats would have a look-in in the Empire State after the Fall election. Judge Bulger of Oswego also talked harmony and sheathed his razor. He fails to find any possible chance for Republicans anywhere this year. Whether these speeches were in the nature of warnings or of threats, it behooves Republicans to sit up and take notice.

Get a Swinging Couch Hammock, such as you see in Earl S. Brown's show window, and enjoy yourself during the hot summer days.

Why not drift? You will imagine life to be one grand, sweet song if you spend your idle moments on the Oswego river in one of the boats or canoes rented by the Manhattan Boat Livery, North First street. They are in perfect condition and may be rented reasonably. Try a trip in one.

Caroline M. Seeley
Caroline M. Seeley, aged 71, died on Monday at her home in Buffalo street. The funeral services were held from the late home and the Free Methodist church this Wednesday afternoon. Interment in Mt. Auburn.

Henry L. Joy
Dr. L. Fowler Joy was called to Ilion on Wednesday by the death of his father, Henry L. Joy, aged 92, and a veteran of the Civil War. The Utica Press, in speaking of Mr. Joy's death, says in part: "Henry L. Joy, one of Ilion's best known, and oldest residents, died this morning after a brief illness. A fall which he sustained last winter is believed to have hastened the end. He had a varied career and was in many respects a remarkable man."

In 1843 Mr. Joy was married to Miss Harriet Brown of Vermont, who died a few years later. In 1857 he married Miss Mary Paine of Massachusetts, who died in 1893. He leaves eight sons. Two were by his first wife, Frank L. Joy, treasurer of the Western branch of the Home Insurance company in Chicago, and Arthur C. Joy of Ilion. The sons by his second wife are Dr. Eugene F. Joy of Oswego; Charles Joy, a druggist in Boise City, Idaho; Dr. Milton Joy of Cazenovia, Henry L. Joy of Ilion, Dr. Fred Joy of Omaha, Neb.; and Dr. Louis Joy of Fulton. He also leaves a half-sister, Mrs. Adeline Farr of Philadelphia, Pa.; and two half-brothers, Edwin M. Joy of Iowa City and Charles Joy of Philadelphia.

Mr. Joy was a man of much ability and strength of character. He was well informed on many subjects and was a most interesting conversationalist. From his own experiences he could draw many illustrations and relate many incidents. He enjoyed exceptionally good health and in his old age was far more vigorous than many younger men. By the people of Ilion he was universally esteemed and respected. He had a gentle character that were admirable.

Mrs. Washburn
The Roseland, La., Herald of May 20, contains the following obituary notice of Mrs. Washburn, who was formerly Miss Amelia Wells of this city and who is survived by two brothers, Messrs. Will and Jay Wells, of this city:

Mrs. A. J. Washburn, aged 58, an old resident and highly esteemed lady, died at her home Wednesday morning about 4 o'clock, of heart trouble, superinduced by dropsy. She had been ailing some months, and her death though sudden, was a great shock to a devoted husband, daughter and neighbors. Deceased was the wife of A. J. Washburn, the extensive truck grower, and a woman of excellent traits of character, good and kind to those in distress, and possessing many friends. She leaves a disconsolate husband and married daughter, Mrs. Ira Kornhaus, and grandchildren, who live at Gullett's Station.

Deceased was born in Fulton, Oswego county, N. Y., July 22, 1852, and was married to Albert J. Washburn at Warsaw, Wis., March 10, 1880. The family moved to Roseland in November, 1895, where they have resided since that time.

The funeral occurred on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock from her late residence, Rev. W. H. Watson, officiating, and services were attended by many sorrowing friends. Interment taking place in Arcola-Roseland cemetery. The bereaved husband and daughter and other relatives have the sympathy of this community in their irreparable loss.

"What is so rare as a day in June," with ice forming on the ponds, furnace fires going full blast and men walking the streets in fur-lined and fur-collared overcoats. On Monday a local clothing merchant caused his friends to fruitlessly guess what he had sold that day. Mufflers, fur gloves, woolen socks, etc., were mentioned but he had them all stopped. Finally he announced, "a white straw hat." It is rumored that a new industry for Fulton for the purpose of making ear-mufflers to be attached to straw hats, is contemplated.

The Boost club met on Wednesday evening and since that meeting some members of the present city administration must feel that the Boosters to make good their avowed purpose for living, must believe that "every knock is a boost." The roadway in Third street was oiled last week and several pedestrians and wagons passing over the muddy stuff before it became set, were disgusted with the condition of things. The roads were closed as soon as possible after the placing of the oil and now it looks different to passers by and to housewives along the route. The oil has been a success in Syracuse and other localities and it will undoubtedly be the same here as soon as knowledge of its characteristics become known.

At the meeting of the Board of Public Works held on Monday evening Buell Brothers received the contract for installing the newly purchased water meters at a rate of 50 cents each. The water rate was not touched upon and it is presumed that no change in charge will be made until the beginning of the new year, when a rate will become general throughout the city. It would entail endless clerical work and much confusion if the rate should be established prior to the completion of the work.

A housekeeper who has been employing a colored washerwoman for several months was surprised to see her appear last week in a hat trimmed heavily with ermine.

"Why, Julia," she asked, "is any of your family dead?"

"No, no," was the reply, "but one of my best customers gave me this hat, and I didn't want her to think I don't 'preciate nothin'."

"It cured me," or "It saved the life of my child," are the expressions you hear every day about Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. This is true the world over where this valuable remedy has been introduced. No other medicine in use for diarrhoea or bowel complaints has received such general approval. The secret of the success of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is that it cures. Sold by all dealers.

Honesty.

Crown by Wholesale.

It is told of one of the ancient kings of Egypt that his coronation procession occupied a whole day in passing through the city of Alexandria and that 3,200 crowns of gold were carried by the servants. One crown was three feet in height and twenty-four feet in circumference. There were also carried in the procession sixty-four suits of golden armor, two boots of gold four and a half feet in length, twelve golden basins, ten large fasses of perfumes for the baths, twelve ewers, fifty dishes and a large number of tables—all of gold. Twenty-three of the 3,200 crowns were valued at $334,400, and it is not surprising that the procession was guarded by 30,000 soldiers.—St. James' Gazette.

Mr. Langdon's reputation as an artist of unusual ability has been firmly established in this city, where he has kept pace with all that is modern in photography—specimens of his work having been selected for exhibition purposes by professionals in Rochester, Albany and abroad. Mr. Mulhern is a young man of excellent reputation and business ability, who grapples his friends to him with hooks of steel. He has a wide circle of friends not only in Fulton but also in Syracuse, all of whom wish him and his firm unlimited success. The Langdon gallery in this city will not be abandoned, but will be continued under its present management. Mr. Langdon contemplating giving one or two days each week to "sittings." Home ties in Fulton will not be severed, as Mr. and Mrs. Langdon will continue to reside here.

IDLE RUMORS

Hospital Executive Board Resent Unjust Arrangement and the Publication of Erroneous Statements as Facts.

The necessity for the verification of idle rumors was never so great as it is today in this electric age of the world's history. Even in our own little hamlet the wheat and tares of gossip require intelligent discrimination to sift.

Those who have assumed the cares and responsibilities of the Hospital management in Fulton have been somewhat mortified at the publication in out-of-town papers of rumors which are stated as facts and which are a serious reflection on the executive board. In view of the foregoing, the following interview furnishes most interesting reading:

"There has recently been rather severe, and an altogether unjust arraignment, of the Board of Governors of the Albert Lindsay Lee Memorial Hospital by the correspondents of out-of-town daily papers," said Mr. H. L. Paddock, vice-president of the Board of Governors.

"It was asserted that a man, suffering from septic poisoning, had been refused admission to the Hospital because the necessary funds with which to pay his expenses were not forthcoming. This is wholly untrue, as the case was never brought to the attention of the Hospital officials."

No one, be he rich or poor, has been refused admission," continued Mr. Paddock. "Emergency cases are taken without question; other cases are taken upon application by a city physician; while those who may be dependent upon the city's charities are taken either upon application of the physician in charge of the case, the Commissioner of Charities, or some official in authority."

"It should be remembered that the Hospital is not self-sustaining. It is estimated that the expense of maintaining that institution will be at least $5,000 per annum. Of this sum perhaps $3,000 will be received for care and treatment; $1,500 will be contributed by the municipal authorities, leaving $1,500 to be raised by the charitably disposed."

"The effort is being made by the Board of Governors to apply the same business principles to the management of the Hospital, without meanness, that could be applied to private commercial enterprises, and that is the only way to keep the institution out of debt."

"It is rumored," said Mr. Paddock in conclusion, "that plans are being evolved for endowments, which, you may be assured, will be most heartily welcomed by all interested in Hospital work."

ENDS WINTER'S TROUBLES

To many, winter is a season of trouble. The frost bitten toes and fingers, chapped hands and lips, chilblains, cold sores, red and rough skin, prove this. But such troubles fly before Bucklen's Arnica Salve. A trial convinces. Greatest healer of Burns, Boils, Piles, Cuts, Sores, Eczema and Sprains. Only 25c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

A NARROW ESCAPE

FROM DROWNING

Donald O'Brien, the nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel O'Brien of Pine street, had a narrow escape from drowning Saturday afternoon. About 4:15 o'clock, his life being saved by Timothy Reynolds.

Donald was on the south side of the old North Side canal near the guard gates when his hat fell off into the canal. In reaching for it he tumbled into the water. The swift current carried him down stream rapidly and he was unable to keep above the surface.

Mr. Reynolds, although in a very weak condition from a recent operation for appendicitis from which he has not fully recovered, dropped off the lower side of the canal bridge and succeeded in locating the boy whose hands were clutching with a drowning grasp to a stone at the bottom of the canal beneath the bridge. He was able to loosen his grasp and bring him to the surface. In his weakened condition he was not able to bring him ashore against the strong current, but keeping a firm hold of the unconscious boy he drifted down stream, swimming toward the shore slowly. But for the courage of Mr. Reynolds and his prompt and plucky action, and the timely assistance of Mr. Gifford, the accident would have had a fatal termination.

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS

The Board of Public Works met yesterday afternoon and settled six claims against the city, the damage having been caused to their property by the change in grading the streets by the construction of pavements. W. H. Merriam compromised his claim of $400 for $225. Ambrose W. Reynolds will receive $375 against a claim of $600, while A. L. Vant asked $800 and settled for $400. These were for the change in grade of Ontario street. The first street claims settled are James Fletcher, W. P. Hall, and Jennie and Elizabeth Osgood. Mr. Fletcher filed his claim for $500 and will accept $300. Mr. Hall asked $400 and will compromise for $300, and the Misses Osgood claimed $800 and settled for $500.

The board awarded the contract for the construction of the reinforced concrete culvert over the Tanager Creek in Hannibal street to Z. T. Darrow & Son of Canandaigua for $2,231.

BAIRDS CORNERS

Harry Merritt's house with all its contents was burned to the ground last Wednesday morning. Mr. Merritt arose in the morning and built the fire in the kitchen stove, then went to the barn. His wife on awakening a short time later discovered the lower portion of the house in flames and barely escaped with her three children, all in their night clothes. Some of their immediate wants in the line of clothing and bedding were contributed by their friends and neighbors. The house and contents were insured in the Patrons Fire Relief Association.

FOUR HUNDRED LOYAL FANS SEE THE BIDWELL BOYS HANG
ONE ON NORWICH

Battle Fast and Exciting—For Five Innings Neither Team Got a Man Farther Than Second Base—Features of the Game.

Although the skies were threatening, more than 400 loyal fans were on hand to watch Bidwell's Boys "hang one" on Norwich Sunday at Stop 28. "Bob" Hyden, who works from the "port side," opposed Alberts, for Norwich, also a left hander. The battle was fast and exciting and for five innings neither team got a man farther than second base. In the last half of the sixth Taylor was out from short to first, Hyden swung mightily on one, producing a scratch hit down third base line which he beat out. McCollum caught one on the nose for a pretty glunge. Mendle grounded to first, the ball being played to second in an effort to make a double but the throw was muffed. Bases full, 1 out. Every body squeaked. Voeburg missed one to short who felled the throw cleanly and then heaved it to the fence. Hyden and McCollum scoring. Page struck out, ending the inning. The next three innings were repetitions of the first five; each side going out in one, two, three order.

Alberts struck out 8 men, gave 1 base on balls and allowed 2 hits.

Hyden fanned 3, gave one pass and 3 hits.

Almost perfect fielding featured the game. Voeburg in left field and McCollum at short being very busy.

J. Menzie, 3rd baseman, is an enthusiastic disciple of Isaac Walton. Jim specializes on sun fish.

Fulton will play a Syracuse team on the Old League Grounds Thursday. Friday and Saturday they play in Norwich and return home for a game at Stop 28 with Oswego Sunday.

HOME FROM EUROPE

Agent John W. Stevenson has returned from a most delightful European trip, during which he visited many of the larger cities and saw the points of interest, covering an unprecedented amount of ground in his absence.

Mr. Stevenson holds a very responsible position with the American Woolen company and this vacation trip was the first one he has taken in several years, confining himself to business closely and with an eye ever open for his employers' interests. The immense new factory just completed by the company and which eventually means so much to Fulton, was constructed under Mr. Stevenson's personal supervision; he is a member of the firm erecting a large number of new houses on the west side and the past year has been one so strenuous that rest was imperative. He has returned to the old stand with new courage and full of enthusiasm for the future of his company.

VETERANS HOLD REUNION

The following officers were elected: Honorary President, Colonel Robinson; Active President, Major W. D. Ferguson; Secretary, D. Robert Simpson; Treasurer, Amos Yonmans; Chaplain, the Rev. George M. Ward.

TWO DIVORCE CASES

Two out of five divorce cases heard by Justice Andrews in Syracuse Saturday were from Oswego county. Attorney L. W. Baker, of Oswego, representing the plaintiffs, Fulton women, desisted by their husbands.

In the case of Mrs. Carrie Keesler against Benjamin Kaesler, the first of the two, the evidence showed that the husband's residence is unknown but that it is believed he is somewhere in this State. They were married about eighteen years ago. The other case was that of Mrs. Anna E. Ottman against Herbert M. Ottman. It was claimed that the husband is living in Tennessee. They were married nearly twenty-five years ago.

FULTON WILL CELEBRATE

BOOST CLUB APPOINTS COMMITTEES TO PERFECT ARRANGEMENTS

Parade Promised to Cover Both Sides of the River—in the Afternoon An Excellent Program of Sports Will Be Held on Fair Grounds. Fire Works in the Evening.

The Boost club at a meeting on Monday evening appointed the following committees to arrange the details for the Fourth of July celebration, which they propose to hold in Fulton this year:

Reception—Mayor J. H. Connors, Howard Morin (others to be named).

Automobiles—J. C. Murray, N. L. Whitaker and D. E. Wadsworth.

Floata—J. E. Boland, Will McCormick, D. L. Lipsky.

Entertainment—F. H. French (other to be named).

Sports—J. D. McIntyre, E. L. Beckwith, M. A. Stranahan.

Music—E. P. Cole, J. M. Caffrey.

Parade—F. W. Richardson (others to be named).

Printing—F. M. Cornell, A. P. Bradt, E. J. Schom.

Cannon—E. J. Schom.

The parade is scheduled to cover both sides of the river; the afternoon sports will be held on the Fair grounds and the fireworks, etc., in the evening will be held on the east side of the river, giving residents of either side of the river an equal share in the celebration. It is proposed to ask all residents and business houses along the line of march to decorate.

The members present at the meeting voted to see to it that no cannon fire crackers are sold by any merchant and to prosecute anyone found violating this rule. If they will now vote to prosecute anyone found firing these dangerous nerve racking explosives greater interest may be taken in the proposed celebration of our National natal day.

REFUSED TO SETTLE

Three property owners, C. H. Hulett, Mrs. Margaret Fox and Mrs. Jennie Pomeroy, have refused to accept the terms offered by the city in settlement of the suits commenced against the city for change of grade in the street improvement work.

The trouble seems to be over some technicality as regards date upon which the placing of the properties to street grade shall be completed and it is thought that perhaps the disputed point may be overcome and the matter be adjusted without recourse to the courts.

ONTARIO & WESTERN

It is rumored that the Ontario & Western railroad company propose to expand their territory in this city and that they are trying to secure all property in Second street from State to Division streets, and all touching the railroad from Division street to the Nestle plant. An attorney who has been trying to secure an option on the several properties has not met with much success as the property owners along this line prefer to keep their holdings.

WHY HIS VETO

Governor Hughes formally vetoed the Meade-Phillips primary reform bill.

The Governor declares in a memorandum that "the bill is not a grant, but a denial of needed primary reform."

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Attorney and Mrs. Arvin Rice returned on Thursday from a months pleasure trip to the Bermudas.

A Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet from MacNamara's will make house seem much brighter and the work much easier. Special prices this week.

Mr. Wesley Wright, a student in the Rensselaer Polytechnic school, has accepted a position with Whitaker & Lovejoy for the Summer vacation.

Invitations have been issued to the marriage of Mr. Fred Wells, engraver in the Morgan jewelry store and Miss Fay Thomas, principal of Phillips Street School.

Manager H. A. Waldorf of the O. Henderson & Company store, leaves this week for a short vacation which he will spend with his mother in Hastings, Mich.

Miss Anna Clare gave a luncheon on Friday evening in honor of Miss Vera McCordy, who will be one of the June brides. Mrs. Oscar Hansen entertained on Monday evening for Miss McCordy, who is her sister.

Mr. Justin Morrill, who has always been deeply interested in photography, has recently become the possessor of a negative taken in colors. This was at one time thought to be impossible of accomplishment, but photography has made such giant strides within the past few years that constant surprises await devotees of the art, and Mr. Morrill has become a close student.

Pietro Massaro is anxious to discover the identity of the Italians, presumably, who attempted to set fire to his shanties and store at Battle Island on Friday evening. But for the fact that men unloading pulpwood saw the torch and gave chase the miscreant would have accomplished his purpose and much loss to Mr. Massaro would have ensued. It is thought that the firebug will be apprehended in the near future.

Children's Day exercises in the Presbyterian church last Sunday were of unusual merit, arousing the interest of the children and also the large assemblage witnessing them. The floral decorations on the pulpit platform excited most favorable comment and it is generally understood that Mr. John Hunter and Superintendent E. J. Penfield spent considerable time, not only in the arranging of the decorations, but also on the literary and musical program. A feature of special merit in this regard was the violin solo of Master Penfield.

Straw Hats—Faddy ones for the young man and sober styles for the fellow of more sedate taste. Full line just received at McKinstry's, Oneida street.

POLITICAL MATTERS

The warm weather has caused some active in political circles during the past few days and candidates for county offices are becoming more numerous. In the Senatorial and Assembly districts more activity is being displayed.

It is not thought that Assemblyman Sweet will have any serious, or, mayhap, any opposition to re-nomination. No confirmation can be secured of any rumors that he may have opposition.

Congressman Knapp it is currently reported, does not enjoy robust health. He has always been active in his representation of this district, securing more concessions and larger appropriations than have ever been secured before. If he should not care for a longer tenure of the exacting office it is believed that he would be pleased to use his influence throughout the district in favor of his close, personal friend, Mr. L. W. Mott of Oswego. When Mr. Knapp refuses longer to represent this district Oswego county plans to speak very strenuously for the office.

Lewis County, it is said, desires the county committee membership in the event of Congressman coming from Oswego County. The leaders have already commenced to put up the fences to secure the office for Editor "Mac" Phillips of Lowville.

There is strong talk of Senator Cobb becoming a candidate for Lieutenant Governor, and in the event Hon. Elton R. Brown of Watertown may become a serious candidate for the senatorship to succeed Mr. Cobb.

Of course these matters are only conjectured and each and every plan must be ratified by the people, but many of these suggestions have struck a responsive cord throughout the several districts.

Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument

To be unveiled at Syracuse June 21st next. The Monument was erected by the County of Onondaga at a cost of $700,000.00. Cyrus E. Dallin was the sculptor and Clarence H. Blackall the architect.

DEDICATION OF SOLDIER'S MONUMENT

Veterans to Make Last March Together Many High Officials to Be Present.

Syracuse, June 14. — With thousands of veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic keeping time in their last march together, between ranks of United States Regulars, National Guardsmen and Naval Reserves standing with present arms, Syracuse on June 21, will witness the most impressive spectacle in its history. On that day the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument, erected by Onondaga County at a cost of $700,000, will be dedicated. Vice President James S. Sherman will be the principal speaker, and distinguished men of civic and military life will be present. The city is preparing for the greatest day it has ever known. Mayor Schoenck, it is expected, will declare a civic holiday. The presence of the State Department, G. A. R., assembled for the State Encampment, will be one of the most fitting features of the dedication. It was at the request of the veterans that the unveiling of the handsome memorial was fixed on a date during the encampment. Hundreds of veterans asked that this be done, and it was arranged to have them take part. This will be the last time that the Grand Army will march in New York State, and the last march will be a fitting one. Thousands of school children will sing a greeting to the veterans as they approach the monument. The line of march for the veterans will be short, scarcely more than five blocks. The soldiers of to-day will pay the highest honor to the soldiers of yesterday. Major General Samuel S. Sumner, U. S. A., retired, will be grand marshal, heading the parade, and with him will be the commanders and past commanders of the G. A. R. Adjutant General William Verbeck, appointed recently by Governor Hughes, is chairman of the military committee.

The Twenty-fourth Infantry, U. S. A., the Third Regiment of the National Guard of New York State, and the Second Battalion of the State's Naval Militia will march in the parade. As they reach the section to be covered by the veterans in their march, the Regulars, Guardsmen and Militia Men will divide ranks and stand on each side of the street in a long line with arms presented, while the men of the Grand Army of the Republic march between. It will be an impressive tribute to the veterans. At the monument in Clinton square 2,000 school children will rise and sing a greeting to the veterans as they draw near. The men of '61 will be given special places of honor at the unveiling ceremonies, which will take place at 2 p. m. A score of bands will play and there will be concerts in the morning and evening.

The monument is the work of Cyrus E. Dallin, sculptor, and C. H. Blackall, architect, and is said by critics to be without question the most beautiful and imposing that has been erected in New York State. The designs for the monument, submitted by many famous sculptors, were passed upon by an eminent jury of award, including the late dean of American sculptors, J. Q. A. Ward; Daniel Chester French, designer of "The Minute Man" at Concord, Mass.; C. Howard Walker, architect and art critic; Mrs. Max H. Schwartz, organizer of the monument movement, and Supervisor Frank J. Carr.

Mr. Dallin, designer of the monument, is famous. He has been awarded several gold medals from various expositions, and honorable mention in the Paris salon. Among his principal works are: "Signal of Peace," Lincoln Park, Chicago; "Sir Isaac Newton, Congressional Library, Washington; "Pioneer," Salt Lake City; "Angel," in the Temple at Salt Lake City; "Don Quixote," "Cavalier Man" and others. The two bronze groups on the monument, "The Call to Arms" and "The Gettysburg Incident" by Mr. Dallin are probably the most inspiring in the country.

Mrs. Max H. Schwartz and several patriotic women of Syracuse began the movement to build a memorial to the soldiers of Onondaga about five years ago. After years of effort the movement was taken up by the Board of Supervisors, through a committee. This committee has devoted much time to the work and has succeeded in giving the country a remarkable monument, which will be classed with the most famous in the United States.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANK BILL PASSED

Bill Passed the House of Representatives by a Large Majority—Democratic Substitute Rejected.

The Postal Savings Bank bill, which has occupied the attentions of the National legislators for a considerable time, passed the House of Representatives last Thursday, and as it had already passed the Senate, the measure now awaits the President's signature.

The bill creates a board of trustees, consisting of the Postmaster-General, the Secretary of the Treasury and the Attorney-General, who shall declare what postoffices shall be come postal savings banks. Deposits in these banks made by any one person shall not be more than $100 a month, or exceed a total of $500. An account may be opened with $1, but stamps of 10 cents each will be issued for those desiring to accumulate money to be deposited. On deposits 2 per cent interest is to be paid.

Any depositor so desiring can exchange his deposits for government bonds to be issued in denominations of $20, $40, $60, $80, $100 or $500, to bear interest at 3 1/2 per cent.

Five per cent of the total deposits is to be retained by the Secretary of the Treasury as a cash reserve. Not more than 30 per cent of these deposits may be withdrawn by the government at any one time for investment in bonds of the United States, the remaining 65 per cent to remain on deposit in the banks.

The banks are required to give as security for the deposits they receive "public bonds or other securities supported by the taxing power," which restricts such securities to some form of national, state, municipal or other such bonds approved by the board of trustees in charge of the postal savings banks.

The bill passed by the House differs from the Senate measure in many particulars, chiefly in respect to the nature of securities which may be given by banks for the postal savings funds received by them. In addition to government, state and municipal bonds various other classes of securities, such as mortgage, etc., may be received.

BASEBALL

WELLS-COVERLY 5-FULTON 6

Longest Battle Ever Played in Fulton Thursday, June 18.

Only a few of the "old timers" were on hand to see the Wells-Coverly team of Syracuse, carrying in their line-up about the best that town can produce, and Bidwell's Ball Tossers engage in a three hour struggle for supremacy. In the mound for Wells-Coverly, Wortel worked 5 innings, being replaced by Ryan. For Fulton Hyden steamed them over throughout the entire game and in the seventeenth inning he was slugging them into "Red" Taylor's glove harder than ever.

Wells-Coverly scored 3 runs in the second, Fulton tied in the third, went two better in the fifth and were tied by Wells-Coverly in the eighth. From the eighth until the last of the seventeenth with one out no scores were made though Fulton filled the bases several times. Then, with two on, Menzie drove one over short. All Brown, tore across the plate with the winning run. The game was featured by the fast work of the Fulton team in 17 innings but one error being charged to them. Bidwell and Hyden were the stars for the Syracuse team. Menzie was pitched to short and Orth went in at third where he worked in big league style.

Batteries — Wells-Coverly, Wortel, Ryan and Thurlow; Fulton — Hyden and Taylor.

Oswego 6-Fulton 0

Saturday the locals played at Oswego losing 6-0. Bidwell, pitching for Fulton was hit hard in one or two innings. For Oswego, Hi Ganelli, had something on the locals, but one man reaching third.

Batteries — Fulton, Bidwell and Hooper; Oswego, Ganelli and Cooledge.

Oswego 2-Fulton 3

Before a large crowd at Stop 28 on Sunday, Fulton took Patterson's Pets into camp in a fast battle, every inning of which was filled with excitement. All Fulton's scores came in the fifth. Taylor was passed, went from first to third on Hyden's infield out, scoring on McCallum's hit. Menzie drove the next ball pitched, under the right field fence for a home run, scoring two more. This was the first home run of the season and gets Jim several prizes.

Bateman pitching for Oswego was out pitched by "Bob" Hyden. An exciting play occurred in Oswego's half of the fourth, when with men on second and third and two out a high fly was hit to right-center. In-gamella got under it but the ball went through his hands and striking him on the head bounded high in the air. Palge, who was backing him up promptly caught the ball, bringing joy to the fans, who a second before were down cast over what looked like two scores for Oswego. In-gamella was knocked down by the blow but quickly got up and remarking that he was "using his head that time" went on with the game.

Oswego scored one in the sixth on a three base hit by Gianelli and a "Texas leaguer." They also got one in the eighth on a combination of errors.

Batteries — Oswego, Bateman and Wood; Fulton, Hyden and Taylor.

Norwich 5-Fulton 0

On Tuesday, June 14, the Norwich team evened up for their defeat of the previous Sunday by beating the Fulton team 5-0. Orth, pitching for Fulton, did excellent work, but poor support at critical stages gave Norwich 3 of their runs. While the inability of the locals to hit Quinn consecutively made it impossible to overcome such a handicap. A fair sized crowd was in attendance.

Batteries — Butler, Orth and Hopner.

COUNTY CLERK MCCARTHY SUCCESSFUL

County Clerk A. T. McCarthy has been successful in his efforts to secure the County Clerk's Department and he is to be commended for his vigilance in the interest of the tax payer. Because of his activity the County of Oswego is to receive at least $1,500 for fees and probably a considerable amount more for work done for the Barge Canal Commission. For some time past the barge canal work has caused a number of searches to be made of land condemned for barge canal purposes and the Barge Canal Commission has been declining to settle for these searches with the county clerks in the different counties where the properties were located.

When County Clerk McCarthy went into office he found a number of searches in progress which were supposed to be on the free list for the Barge Canal. He promptly held these up until further notice and then interested a number of other county clerks in the question of fighting this practice. A test case was made of one of these searches and yesterday afternoon Justice of the Supreme Court LeBoeuf of Albany handed down a decision stating that county clerks need not furnish free searches in connection with the work on Barge Canal lands.

This will mean no little item to the receipts of the County Clerk's office during this coming year as there are still many searches to be made. It is also thought that fees can be recovered for those made in the past for which no pay was received.

SERMON TO GRADUATING CLASS

A union service was held last Sunday evening in the First M. E. Church, which was participated in by the clergy of the denominational churches of the city, the occasion being the sermon before the graduating class of the High School.

The Rev. W. L. Sawtelle of the First Presbyterian church delivered a masterly discourse from the text, "It is the spirit that giveth life."

The speaker said in part: "Without irreverence I would take this principle that Jesus displayed in his teaching concerning himself and make it serve a humble, but I trust a true purpose, in speaking before these young men and women to-night."

"It is the spirit that giveth life. This seems an inappropriate motto for this age. To declare this truth in Wall street would be to speak in a foreign and strange language. Judging from the emphasis in some quarters one would almost think that the only real things of to-day were gold, silver, bonds, houses, lands, airships, the North Pole and the chauffeur's automobiles. But the truth is essential and eternal, and the age that fails to do it reverence is at least a disappointing age."

"It is spirit that gives life to history. Without it history is simply time rolling on, men being born and then dying, kings and kingdoms succeeding kings and kingdoms. Without the life giving spirit history is simply day and night, youth and age, life and death, and then the repetition ad infinitum. But with the entrance of spirit, history takes on life and meaning, as canvas takes on beauty under the touch of the brush. History thus becomes a series of great human movements. Instead of a succession of dull years we have a succession of vital ideas. Instead of men battling with each other we see the conquest of thought and ideas. Spirit enters into the years, and we mark time not by centuries, but by mental and spiritual victories and emancipations. History instead of being an endless funeral procession becomes a moving triumph of spirit. We are not on a low dead level forever, but there is a march from the clouds to the stars. Thus spirit vitalizes the ages of men."

"It is the spirit that giveth life to man. Without it he is so much bone, blood and muscle, so many parts mineral, so many pounds weight. Without spirit man is a corpse waiting for interment. With it he is a vital force working out his destiny under the providence of God. Spirit is the sole explanation of man. It differentiates him from the beast of the field. Without spirit man eats when hungry sleeps when tired, fights when forced to and dies when his time comes. With it eating, sleeping, dying are but things incidental, for he now lives, labors, loves, aspires, prays, holds communion with kindred spirits and fellowship with God. The empire of his life is not material nor physical; it is spiritual."

"And so spirit gives life and meaning to all that man does. If it did not, why not die now and be done with it all, with all the labor and trouble that surely awaits us. But no, there is a spirit that shall interpret duty and labor so that all the toil and mold of life shall be not only tolerable but pleasurable."

"It is spirit that glorifies worship. Without spirit the worshipper is simply a knower and a perfunctory sayer of other men's prayers. He is a performer. With the spirit of worship animating him he really worships and, pure in heart, he sees God."

"There is a vast difference between work and the spirit of work. Work without the essential co-operating spirit of work becomes the barest drudgery. A workman goes through the motions, watches the clock waits for the whistle. He works to get money, with money he gets food, with food he gets strength to toil, with toil he gets weariness, with sleep he gets new energy, with new energy he works, with work he gets money, and so on, the unending cycle. But when he has the enlightening spirit of labor he plans, purpose achieves, accomplishes, succeeds and has his joy in doing his work, and his work is his life."

"And thus it is with ambition. The youth coming from the school and college is between two fires. On the one side he is told to forge ahead to succeed, to win his way. On the other hand he is admonished to minister to serve. Here is the exposition of the situation. Ambition without the life-giving spirit is unalloyed greed and utter selfishness. Ambition with no refining spirit to give it motive and purpose says to the youth: 'Yonder is the summit; get it under your feet; reach it at all hazards, even if you must use other men for ladder rungs.' It says: 'Yonder is the prize; seize it, even if you have to trip a competitor in the race.' It says: 'Yonder is the crown; wear it, gain it for your own head, even if you have to slay the royal heir.' But the correcting spirit comes into ambition and whispers in the ear of the youth, all prepared for life and waiting as a prancing steed waits. 'Yonder is life. Into it put yourself; in it do your best. Bring every fiber of brain and heart into honest action. Be content with nothing less than your best effort. Be true to the purposes of your life, men and let their victory be your inspiration.'" have said about all I had intended to say to you. While this sermon has been heard by all in the audience, at its making you were the only ones in my mind."

"It is a gracious thing to pose as a vendor of advice, and I refuse the part. What you have achieved in qualifying for your diplomas humbles me. I blush to think of the result if I should have tried your recent examinations. You would have graduated without me. But one cannot refrain from expressing his earnest desires for you all in the life that is before you. You have made no failures yet; faith in friends and men has not suffered any shipwrecks as yet; mistakes have not made you skeptical and timid; no bitterness has rendered you cynical. These things are not mentioned for the sake of suggesting discouragement to you. It is not necessary that you should experience them all. But your present situation in relation to life is a most happy and hopeful one. You have not made public your life plans. You may not have formulated them as yet. For present purposes it is not necessary that your many friends should know the programmes that you have mapped out and dreamed out for yourselves. But whatever you do it is not amiss for us to hope that the spirit will give life to all that you purpose and achieve. Life on the low level is easy and inviting. Life that is rated on a financial and material basis has captivated untold

FULTON'S FEDERAL BUILDING

Postmaster Hughes on Monday received a telegram from Washington, D. C., announcing that the Public Buildings Bill, carrying an appropriation of $75,000 for a Post Office building in Fulton, had been reported to the house. The bill was passed on Monday night, but five votes being registered in opposition.

In all probability the bill will at once become a law and in that event a new Federal building for Fulton within a twelve-month will be a probability. This has been one of Congressman Knapp's pet measures and he has been tireless in his advocacy of the much needed relief from the over-crowded conditions prevailing at the local office. Representatives from the government have yet filed all of Congressman Knapp's statements relative to the building and the project for this building is now being pushed for its speedy completion. It does not seem possible now that the measure will be vetoed.

PUBLIC SPIRITED CITIZEN.

Agent John W. Stevenson of the American Woolen Company is certainly a public spirited citizen and his example is one worthy of emulation by other citizens in that he confers a boon on a great number of residents as well as saves a considerable amount of water to the city which is seriously threatened with a water famine.

Mr. Stevenson has offered to furnish the goose necks and all other connections, as well as all water necessary to sprinkle the west side streets, the water to be drawn from the private supply of the company. This settles the west side problem of dustless streets until such a time as they may be oiled. A like generous offer from east side manufacturers would be accepted by Mayor Connors in the half of the city in the same spirit of appreciation.

COMMON COUNCIL

Last evening the Common Council confirmed the assessment against the Oneida street property owners in the matter of street improvement. The cost to the city is $4,755.46; to property owners $7,006.62. Objections to the assessment may be made to the Council on July 6, at 8 p. m.

DESERVING OF HEARTY SUPPORT

W. C. T. U., Take the Initiative To Secure Home for Girls. Hope to Make Project Self-Supporting Soon. Will Rent House for a Time. Flag Day for Benefit on July 4.

The members of the W. C. T. U., propose to open a Home for girls in this city which shall fill the need for a Christian home, with board and lodging cheap and clean. Strange girls coming to this city to work, attend school or for whatever purpose have always experienced difficulty in finding respectable lodging places and have frequently been driven into places far removed from respectable. The ladies intend to make the home as attractive as possible, expecting to accommodate twenty girls to start with, and they will be guarded and advised as though in their own homes. In the furthering of this plan the hearty co-operation of the public is earnestly solicited and confidently expected. The necessity for the project is so pressing that the ladies are not waiting for the coming of the summer to begin their work.

The use of furniture, dishes, glassware, tinware, pictures, books, bedding, etc., will be acceptable and money is indispensable.

July 4 will be taken advantage of as an excellent opportunity for a benefit and it will be the flag day of the W. C. T. U. Flags will be sold by individuals and the proceeds applied toward the Home. Tiny silk flags will be furnished by the hundred and sold as are the tags which have been disposed of for the hospital during the past two years. The event will be conducted in the same manner and it is hoped that the response will be liberal.

THE ROMANES LECTURESHIP

Many questions having been asked concerning the Romanes Lectureship, the following quoted from the London letter in the Saturday Times Review on the origin of the Lectureship and the addresses which so far, have been delivered, may have a timely interest.

It was founded to commemorate the name and work of Prof. Romanes, who died before he achieved his full greatness. He might, perhaps, be described as Darwin's natural successor in the mastery of the theory of natural evolution. Certainly he followed worthily in the steps of Darwin and among English scientific men generally there was a strong desire to testify as much. This desire found expression in the establishment of the Romanes Lecture, that not "Lectureship," is the official designation--and the request to Mr. Roosevelt that he should deliver one of the series means a high honor, as such will be seen when I give you a list, kindly prepared for me by the Oxford University Press, of the Lectures delivered in the past. Here it is:

- 1892--"An Academic Sketch," by the Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone.

PRIMARY BILL IS AGAIN BIG ISSUE

New York Legislature Opens Its Extra Session

SUCCESS SEEMS DOUBTFUL

Lower House Expected to Stand Pat on Refusal to Adopt Measure Urged by Governor Hughes, Though Change in Sentiment Is Possible--May Consider Supply Bill Also.

Albany, June 22.--Pursuant to a proclamation issued by Governor Hughes on May 17 the members of the legislature took their seats in the capitol at Albany on Monday night, June 20 at half past 8 o'clock to attend an extraordinary session.

While it is understood that the executive summoned back the lawmakers for the purpose of resubmitting to them for further consideration the so-called Cobb compromise direct nomination bill, there is a possibility that other matters will be sent to their attention. Rumor has been persistent that the supply bill will find its way to the desk of the clerk and that that weighty document will be given a thorough overhauling.

It is understood that the governor hopes to have the Cobb bill passed and believes that this can be accomplished. The senate is regarded as safe by virtue of the fact that it accepted the bill. Democrats aiding in its passage. The pressure has therefore been devoted to members of the lower house who repudiated the bill by a vote of 94 to 46 early in the morning of May 27, the closing day of the session.

Success Is Unlikely.

It is not believed that there will be many votes changed, the opinion having been expressed by those well informed upon political matters that the organization Republicans will use every means to again defeat the Cobb bill. Legislators who have visited the capitol in the interest of thirty day bills which are awaiting final action on the part of Governor Hughes have made the prediction almost to a man that it would be poor politics for any assemblyman to change his vote once having gone on record upon the proposition.

Governor Hughes still firmly believes in the Human-Green measure, but it is understood he would be satisfied with the Cobb direct primary measure. It is his belief, his closest friends say, that were this bill passed it would pave the way for further reform along direct nomination lines, which would be consummated by the members elected under the provisions of the Cobb bill.

In his speech at Batavia delivered on Saturday night, June 11, Governor Hughes declared that an irresistible sentiment for primary reform has been gathering throughout the state, which will increase and not lose in strength. He predicted that the movement to secure party principles which will permit true representation and safeguard the wishes of the people was as certain to progress and to succeed as democracy was certain to supplant despotism.

Leaders Against Measure.

The speech was widely reproduced, and its effect upon the impending reconsideration of the primary situation by the legislature may be material, but this belief is not generally entertained. With Speaker Wadsworth, Majority Leader E. A. Merritt, Jr., and Minority Leader Daniel D. Frisbie, who, when he explained his vote against the Cobb bill, declared that he stood for the Grady-Frisbie (Democratic league) direct primary bill and would accept no substitute, lined up in opposition to the measure, it can be seen that little short of the miraculous can bring about the consummation of the ambition of the reform executive. Add to this the resentment which is cherished by many members of the legislature who declare that they gave full consideration to the direct primary situation and that its failure to pass should be regarded as final by the executive and the situation as regards the probable passage of the Cobb bill becomes even less encouraging.

Governor Hughes has been unrelenting and successful in many of his reforms, however. He forced through the Agnew-Hart anti race track gambling bill at an extraordinary session in 1908. The memorable vote of Senator Pooler, who was carried to the senate chamber while still suffering from the effects of an operation, which won the fight, and the special election instigated by the governor in the Forty-seventh senatorial district to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Stanislaus P. Franchot so that another vote for the bills could be obtained illustrate the splendid fighting qualities of Governor Hughes.

Hughes May Yet Win.

The Republicans will undoubtedly "get together," as Senator George E. Cobb of Watertown, temporary president of the senate, put it when he left Albany after his last visit to that city following adjournment. The impending campaign, the uncertainty of Republican victory at the polls and the importance of the passage of direct primary legislation may all be thrust out in caucus with the result that the executive may triumph and leave office knowing that his views upon primary reform have been partially met with.

With the possibility of former President Roosevelt as a factor in the fight practically removed by virtue of his evident intention to remain silent upon the matter of direct primaries, another fabled weapon of the reformers has been torn from their grasp. Many legislators who have dropped into Albany from various points and who are opposed to the Cobb bill declare that this alone means the second deathblow to the measure.

Short Session Expected.

The length of the extraordinary session is enigmatical. One reason for this is that no one knows how many propositions will be sent to the legislature by the executive. Ventures are numerous upon this subject. Some say other matters than primary reform will be sent from the executive chamber.

The issue can be dodged by adjournment soon after the assembly has convened or by referring the Cobb bill and the other measures, if presented, to committees with instructions to report next year, but it is not believed that either of these things will be done. The opinion predominates that quick action will be taken and that a week or two will suffice to transact all business.

The supporters of Governor Hughes are firm in the belief that he will be able to change the minds of many of the assemblymen who voted against the Cobb bill. They base their belief upon public opinion, which they declare is with the executive. To offset this there are many who say that the governor acted beyond good judgment in calling back the legislators after they had given the direct primary situation consideration. In addition there are those who say that if there was a strong feeling for the Cobb bill after the Human-Green bill had been lost why did not the members representing the districts where such a sentiment was expressed vote for it? If they did not under such conditions then they may be considered politically dead so far as a renomination is concerned. If politically dead, then why assist the governor, who helped to put an end to their legislative careers, and change their votes and be considered vacillating into the bargain?

Opposition Is Nervous.

These and similar arguments are presented to offset the predictions that Governor Hughes is gaining strength, and yet there are few who care to make a wager as to the result of the extraordinary session so far as the passing of the Cobb bill is concerned, for that is the bill which it is expected will be presented by the executive.

The governor has been silent as to his intentions. Silence is his policy--silence and dogged determination to substantiate his convictions upon public questions of moment; therefore to date no inkling as to what will be submitted to the legislature when it meets June 20 has come from the executive chamber.

In almost every locality there has been a conservative sounding of sentiment. Assemblymen Whitney of Saratoga and Coffey of Westchester have said that they have heard of no changes and that the assembly will repeat its action of the May morning when the vote on the Cobb bill was taken after Assemblyman Bates of New York had insisted that the measure be read section by section.

Wants Further Consideration.

In calling an extraordinary session of the legislature the governor has been actuated, it is known, by the belief that the passage of the Meade-Phillips bill in both houses was not a fair consideration of the direct primary situation. He signified his intention of vetoing that measure before it reached him for the very purpose of showing his hand, so that there might be no misunderstanding as to the kind of direct nominations he advocated. A message to the assembly expressing his determination to veto the Meade-Phillips bill did not, however, deter the members of the assembly from defeating the Cobb bill, which the executive, as it was well known, would have gladly accepted and approved.

For sending in this message Governor Hughes was roundly scored by the enemies of the Cobb bill for what they termed "overstepping" his authority. They claimed that his action was premature and that he should have waited until he received the bill before making known his attitude regarding it.

It will be remembered that the Cobb bill was acted upon before it was printed and contrary to the wishes of Assemblyman George E. Green, one of the framers of the Human-Green bill. Assemblyman Green desired the bill debated on the closing day of the session, but his motion to this effect was voted down.

It will be remembered there were several bills bearing on primary election reform introduced during the session recently concluded: The Meade-Phillips bill, drafted by the special commission to study the results of direct primaries in other states; the Grady-Frisbie measure, instigated by the Democratic League of the State of New York; the Human-Green bill and the Cobb compromise bill.

The members of the assembly were not consulted as to the provisions of the Cobb bill, which may explain in a measure their resentment toward it.

The Department is advised that many letters mailed in the United States addressed for delivery in foreign countries, which are subject to our Postal Union postage rate, are prepaid only two cents; the senders of the letters being under the impression, it is presumed, that our two-cent domestic postage rate is applicable to said letters.

The only foreign countries to which the two-cent letter rate applies are Canada, Cuba, Mexico, Newfoundland, the Canal Zone, the Republic of Panama, the city of Shanghai, China, Germany (by direct steamers only), England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland. To all other countries the rate is five cents for the first ounce or fraction thereof, and three cents for each additional ounce or fraction thereof, which must be fully prepaid or the letters become liable on delivery to a charge equal to double the amount of the deficient postage. ### ROOSEVELT HOME AGAIN

The welcome from all—America which ex-President Roosevelt received on Saturday left nothing to be desired in its fervency and sincerity. The famous Dewey welcome after he had changed the map and made history, was tame in comparison to the reception tendered the plain citizen, Roosevelt. His sojourn abroad was a continuous triumphal march but his return home has never been equalled in the annals of any country. A million people in New York City showed welcome to him until the music of dozens of bands was drowned in the tumult. And the subject of the unprecedented demonstration went like a child and laughed and wept again from sheer happiness at the fervency of the affection displayed by the home people—the people he loved.

Now in the quiet of his home at Oyster Bay he but asks a brief respite from the world that he may contemplate the magnificent tribute paid him and send a message to the world of thanksgiving for it.

PRESIDENT TAFT'S

LEGISLATIVE VICTORIES

A forward step in the legislative process was taken today when the Senate passed the bill for the reorganization of the Interstate Commerce Commission. The bill, which was introduced by Senator Newcomb, provides for a complete reorganization of the commission, and a complete agreement on the railroad bill being reached by the Republican conferees of the Senate and House.

The important provisions of the Senate and House bills were contained in the conference bill, which is regarded as a stronger and better measure than either of the two bills from which it was drawn. It retains the long and short haul clause of the House bill, and that feature of the Senate bill which authorizes the Interstate Commerce Commission to suspend for eleven months any new rate, fare, charge or classification. The section relating to the power of suspension is to take effect at once. All other provisions of the bill, with the exception of that authorizing the President to appoint a commission to investigate questions pertaining to the issuance of stocks and bonds by railroads and the power of Congress to regulate or affect the same, are to take effect sixty days after the approval of the bill. The conference committee eliminated those sections of the House bill providing for the physical valuation of railroads and for the control of railroad capitalization. In lieu of the latter section a clause authorizing the appointment of a commission to investigate the subject was inserted. The commission is authorized to employ experts and to spend $5,000 in its investigation.

DID NOT SELL FRANCHISE

The Common Council met on Friday evening for the purpose of selling the electric franchise to the Niagara Oswego Power Company but an objection secured from Justice Andrews was served upon Mayor Conners and the alderman present, by Deputy Sheriff Stoneburg, restraining them from taking further action until the injunction is vacated by the Court. The matter is returnable on Saturday, June 25.

F. A. Gage was the plaintiff in the action and he alleged that the council was in collusion with the Niagara Oswego Power Company and that other corporations stood ready to bid on an electric franchise for Fulton, were it not for the clause, "The purchaser of the franchise must within one week deliver Niagara power at the city line."

COMMITTED SUICIDE

A Polish named Peter Okotowicz committed suicide at his boarding place on Riverside avenue, Thursday hanging himself with a woollen neck scarf which he had drawn over a book. Coroner Marsh was called and thought death must have ensued an hour before the body was discovered by a fellow boarder. The man suicided because of despondency brought on by lack of work.

MARRIED

Miss Viola Bidwell was united in marriage with Mr. Daniel Higgins of Geneva on Monday morning by the Rev. J. L. Lindsman. The bride was gowned in cream chiffon and was attended by Miss Jane Truax of Oswego as bridesmaid. Mr. and Mrs. Higgins left by trolley for a bridal trip.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McCordy in Third street was the scene of a pretty home wedding on Thursday at 11 a. m., when their daughter, Miss Vera May McCordy became the bride of Mr. Edwin H. Beebe. The home had been prettily decorated for the occasion and the Rev. C. G. Wadsworth was the officiating clergyman. The young couple were unattended. A bridal breakfast was served after the ceremony and congratulations and Mr. and Mrs. Beebe left for New York and Atlantic City. They will make their future home in Syracuse.

FAITHFUL SERVICE APPRECIATED

Once in a while one finds evidence that faithful service is appreciated in this work-a-day world. Such evidence was not lacking in the surprise tendered Miss Mary Hilling by about fifty members of Zion church and choir at the parish house on Thursday evening in observation of her birthday. Miss Hilling has for several years been one of the most active and hardest working members of the society, a loyal assistant to the cause and to the pastor, and upon this occasion she was tendered a banquet and presented with a gold piece in recognition of her excellent work.

DISASTROUS FIRE

Lightening during the electrical storm of Friday night struck the large barn of Supervisor Ouderkerk of Granby and the barn, its contents including six horses, a full blooded Holstein bull which he had purchased but a few days previous, agricultural implements, hay, etc., were totally destroyed. The lightning struck the ventilator and passed down to the section where the stock was confined. Mr. Ouderkerk managed to untie the horses but they refused to leave the blazing building. Mr. Ouderkerk was kicked by one of the horses and with difficulty made his escape. Two out-buildings were destroyed and the house was saved only by the fact that there was a tin roof upon which the sparks showered. The loss is roughly estimated at $6,000 with $2,000 insurance.

The barn of ex-Supervisor Hendrley was also struck by lightning the same night but the flames were extinguished by neighbors before a great deal of damage was done.

PARALLEL CASES

The following editorial from the Syracuse Herald of June 18 shows that Syracuse and Fulton are undergoing like conditions in the matter of electric franchises and the article gives the warning to the public and advises the authorities in a manner so convincing and in fact so indisputable that the Times republishes it for the benefit of any readers who may believe that competition, not consolidation, will be the ultimate result of a franchise owned by the Oswego-Niagara Power Company, providing the Public Service Commission would permit them to operate under it.

In acting upon the application of the Municipal Heating company's application for a franchise permitting it to distribute electricity, the Common Council should not for a moment forget that its consent will be of no value without the sanction of the Public Service Commission. The commission will attach no importance whatever to the plea that the company cannot make any money by the distribution of steam alone. The matter will not concern it at all; nor does it concern the Syracuse public at large. The only question for the commission to determine will be whether the public interests demand the introduction of a competing electric system in this city.

It is said that the ultimate purpose of the seekers of this valuable franchise is to "unload" on the Syracuse Lighting company, which is a branch of a very rich Philadelphia corporation. The theory is by no means a fanciful one. As we have already shown, an actual absorption by the Syracuse Lighting company of the new franchise of the Municipal Heating company could not be effected without the consent of the Public Service commission. But no matter what stipulation or proviso is inserted in such a franchise, there is nothing in the law to prevent individuals representing the Syracuse Lighting company from acquiring by purchase a majority of the stock of the Municipal Heating company and thus controlling it. This danger must be considered by the Council. So far as we can see, it cannot be averted by any condition or reservation that may be embodied in the new franchise.

There was a time when the people of our cities welcomed competition by public service corporations operating the same kind of utilities. But they are wiser now. They learned by experience that the usual outcome of the toleration of such competition was an amalgamation of the rival interests and an increased burden on consumers owing to the expansion of capitalization. Whatever excuse there may have been for such competition in the past is now invalidated by the creation of a system of State regulation which has ample power to protect consumers from the attempted extortions of any given public service monopoly. Where a public service corporation does not give a square deal the modern remedy in this State is found, not in a resort to competition, but in an appeal to the Public Service commission for relief.

Hence, when a corporation proposes to enter the field of public service corporation, its motives should be carefully scrutinized by the municipal authorities and the probable effect of its venture upon the interests of the consumers should be thoroughly debated. Frankly, we do not believe that it is within the power of the Corporation Counsel or of any other lawyer or lawyers to frame a franchise grant to the Municipal Heating company for the use of electricity that will prevent its owners from disposing of their holdings to men who will control it in the interests of the Syracuse Lighting company. The law is specific regarding the requirement that corporate mergers must be approved by the commission; but there are other ways of securing possession of a majority of the stock in a corporation. The law cannot prevent an individual owner of stock from disposing of his holdings to another individual. Such an inhibition would be plainly unconstitutional; so that there is abundant leeway for the transfer of the power of control from one set of individuals to another, without any hindrance.

from the Public Service commission, provided that the purchasers do not comprise a pre-existing corporate organization.

In no event should the Council grant this franchise without a proviso requiring the annual payment of a liberal percentage of the gross receipts of the grantee corporation. That requirement would, of course, go with the franchise; and no matter what would be the ultimate disposition of the franchise the city would be sure of a continuing compensation.

The following item relative to a well known and frequent guest in this city will be read with regret by a large circle of acquaintances: The article was clipped from the Oberlin, Ohio, News of last week. Barden of Quincy, Mich., and Miss M. S. Quereau of Los Angeles, Cal., and others to feel the loss of her loving presence. At the funeral Saturday, Prof. W. J. ### UNIQUE LUNCHEON FOR NEW YORK STATE MAYORS

Novel Feature at Conference to Be Held in Schenectady—Practical Demonstrations

Schenectady, June 15.—Seated on high stools around three immense horseshoe-shaped counters in the "Work's Restaurant" at the General Electric plant here the Mayors and other officials of the cities of this State will be fed in the same manner as the 17,000 employees of the plant a half hour after the regular dinner hour on Thursday, June 23. This luncheon, at which the delegates will be the guests of the General Electric Company, will be one of the novel features of the Conference of Mayors that will be held here on June 23 and 24.

The luncheon served will be identical with that which is given daily to the employees of this establishment, except that paper napkins will be furnished. This unique affair has been arranged so that while the Mayors and other city officials will be enjoying the hospitality of the company they will at the same time receive a practical demonstration of what can be done in the way of furnishing ample and wholesome food at a minimum rate of cost in industrial plants, this being a part of one of the subjects that will be discussed at the session following in the lecture room in the company's fire department building.

After this session at which Prof. C. E. A. Winslow of the College of the City of New York and the American Museum of Natural History, New York City, will discuss the subject, "Waste of Life Capital in American Industries," the municipal officials will inspect the sanitary appliances which have been installed in the plant, thus noting the evolution of industrial sanitation during the last ten years.

"It cured me," or "It saved the life of my child," are the expressions you hear every day about Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. This is true the world over where this valuable remedy has been introduced. No other medicine in use for diarrhoea or bowel complaints has received such general approval. The secret of the success of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is that it cures. Sold by all dealers.

NOTICE TO PHYSICIANS

The Board of Health of the city of Fulton wishes to call the attention of physicians and others to the fact that Section 17, of the Rules and Regulations of the Board of Health, as amended, read as follows:

Sec. 17. Every physician and midwife attending the birth of a child and no physician or midwife being in attendance, the parent or custodian of such child born, shall cause a certificate of such birth to be returned within THIRTY SIX HOURS thereafter to the local Board of Health or a person designated by it to receive the same, which shall be attested by physician or midwife if in attendance, and no physician or midwife being in attendance, by the parent or custodian of the child born.

And the provisions of the section shall apply to the dead born or still births.

The "given" or "fore" name of the infant, if not furnished in time for filing in the certificate, must be certified and registered as soon as given; the registering officer will supply the card, and instructions for making such returns of the delayed name of the infant, upon application. It shall be the duty of the physician last in attendance upon any person who may die, to fill out a certificate of the death, and the probable cause, and deliver the same to the local registrar of vital statistics, within TWENTY FOUR HOURS after the death occurs.

Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall forfeit and pay a penalty of $10.00 for each offense.

By order of the Board of Health,
William MacNab, City Clerk.

Five Years

of Heart Trouble Cured by Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy

"Before I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy I had been suffering from heart trouble for over five years. I had pains in my left side, and under my shoulder blade, could not sleep on the left side, and was so short of breath the least exertion would bring on the most distressing palpitation. I had scarcely taken a half bottle of the Heart Remedy before I could see a marked change in my condition. When I had taken six bottles I was cured."

MRS. C. C. GORKEY,
Northfield, Va.

If there is fluttering or palpitation it is an indication of a weakness of the nerves and muscles of the heart. It is not necessarily diseased—just weak from over-work. The heart may be weak just the same as the eyes, stomach or other organs. You can make a weak heart strong by taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy. Get a bottle from your druggist, take it according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

BUCKWHEAT AS A CROP

The growing of buckwheat in Oswego County has undeservedly fallen off of late years because of the slowly methods of preparing the land. Some farmers think that any old corner of the farm poorly plowed and once harrowed is good enough for buckwheat. Grain grown in this way is usually unprofitable and unsatisfactory, but with soil properly prepared and fertilized the grain can be grown to advantage on the very best land in this part of the State.

If the farmers of Cayuga and Seneca Counties can use their best land (and there is no better in the State than that about Auburn, Union Springs, Aurora, Venice, Ronulus, Trumansburg and Interlaken) for growing buckwheat, no farmer in Oswego need despise the growing of this grain. Good land well plowed early, thoroughly harrowed and pulverized until the seed bed is fine and deep, if seeded early, will ordinarily produce a profitable crop.

Again buckwheat grows rank, smothering weeds and leaves the soil in a loose friable condition. For a quick starting, rapidly growing, catch crop, we can recommend nothing better than buckwheat.

ANSWERED LAST ROLL CALL

Colonel J. V. A. Mattison of Oswego, answered his last roll call June 17, after a life full of repetition with the hope of being a patriot, a good citizen and a loyal friend. The deceased had been at his pension office on Thursday and expected to again receive duty on Saturday but heart trouble, from which he had long suffered, caused his death on Friday. Friends had known that death might come at any time during the past five years and they were not surprised, although shocked and grieved, when the grim destroyer claimed him.

Col. Mattison was one of the best known residents of this section of the State. For 25 years he had been Commandant of Post Porter, G. A. R., of Berlin and every reunion of the old soldiers found him an interested, interested attendant. He was for several years president of the Old Settlers Association of Oswego County and he took a keen interest in the preservation of all historic relics and records pertaining to the history of Oswego County. Col. Mattison was a member of Frontier Lodge, F. & A. M.

He was prominent in politics; for twelve years was Assistant Librarian in the Senate Chamber, Albany. The only surviving relative is a daughter, Mrs. Charles Scoville, of Oswego. The funeral was conducted with Military honors. Members of the G. A. R., the Forty-Eighth Separate Company, Schilling's Third Battalion and a company from Fort Ontario. The committal services were conducted by Comrade H. P. Dutcher.

DEPUTY ATTORNEY

GENERAL SMITH Attorney N. B. Smith of Pulaski was last week appointed Deputy Attorney General by Attorney General O'Malley, the office carrying with it a salary of $4,000 per year. Mr. Smith is one of the best known members of the Oswego County Bar and his many friends throughout the county are delighted at his appointment.

FIREMEN VERY BUSY

A number of small fires have kept the fire ladders quite busy this month, seven fires so far having taken place within the city limits. Several have been still alarms of which the public knew nothing. A run to the "Volney" paper mill to care for blazing paper stock; a run to the Fort Stanwix Canning factory to put out some blazing refuse; a call to extinguish the flames on an awning in front of French's meat market; the stairway at Mr. G. H. Fassel's home in Cayuga street had been set on fire by an exploding lamp and the fire at first looked rather threatening although the flames were subdued without much loss to the house or contents.

W. C. T. U. FLAG DAY

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. are perfecting plans for their flag day for the benefit of the Home for girls which they propose to establish in the near future. In this city the plans for which were outlined exclusively in last week's Times-Flag will be on sale during July 4. There will be wee silk flags for the individual to wear, larger ones for homes, automobiles and other purposes. The prices asked will be whatever you please to give, nothing less than a stipulated sum.

Young women, young men and children will be pressed into the service and it is expected that a large sum will be secured for the project by this patriotic and novel method.

President Richardson of the Boost club has cheerfully pledged the assistance of the club in the work and the hearty co-operation of all sorts and conditions of people is expected. The Home will be non-denominational and therefore it is broad in its scope and none should feel disbarred from participating in its establishing and maintenance but rather all should feel impelled to aid so vitally necessary a cause.

Buy flags as liberally as your means will permit on July 4; buy them from the advocates of the Home and thus help as far as in your power lies at this time.

That no unscrupulous person may receive money intended for the Girls Home, the ladies of the W. C. T. U. will provide their solicitors with boxes for the money, each box plainly stamped W. C. T. U. and if any persons found fraudulently soliciting funds for this purpose will be promptly dealt with.

An Advertisement by Elbert Hubbard

LIFE insurance eliminates chance through the operation of the Law of Average. The knowledge of the Law of Average as applied to the duration of human life is gained in but one way and that is through statistics. Now, there are accurate statistics, not only as to the average life of individuals, but also as to the life of a family; that is, how long five thousand, ten thousand, or twenty-five thousand dollars will last the average person who is not used to handling such sums. A widow with money as a shining mark for the mining-shark. I am sorry to say it, because I think well of woman's ability to manage her affairs; but the fact is five thousand dollars usually lasts a widow three years, and ten thousand is dissipated in five years. Doubtless, the average man, not used to having such lump sums come to him, would do no better. Money in a lump sum in the hands of those not versed in finance is a burden and sometimes a menace. It lays them open to the machinations of the tricky and dishonest, also the well-meaning men who know just how to double it in a month. Realizing these things, and to meet a great human need the Equitable is now issuing a policy which instead of being paid in a lump sum on the death of the insured, gives a fixed payment every year (or more often) to the beneficiary as long as she shall live. On her death any unpaid installments are to be paid to her heirs in one sum or in payments, as may be desired. Here is a plain, simple, safe plan whereby you can insure those dependent upon you against want and temptation, by insuring them against their indiscretion, and yours. It is the Equitable Way.

VETERANS MEET AGAIN

On June 14 the Reunion Association of Company B, 110th Regiment, New York Volunteers, held its nineteenth annual gathering, in Grand Army Hall, Pulaski, which was well attended by the old veterans and their families.

Thomas Moore, Oswego, President of the Reunion Association, welcomed his fellow comrades and their families and gave a patriotic address, response to which was made by several of the members.

A bounteous dinner was served by the Woman's Relief Corps. A poem on the death of Lieutenant Valorous L. Randall, of this city, was read with much feeling and impressiveness by Mr. Nicholas Lester. A memorial letter on the death of Mrs. Anna Randall Dield, written by her daughter, Mrs. Jessie Mazzanovich, New York, was read by George H. Lester, Oswego.

The speaker of the afternoon was a well known former Oswego county man, Captain James K. P. Correll, Albany, Assistant Adjutant-General, who spoke at some length on the memorable charge of Fort Hudson, La., in which the members of Company B participated, and also related many interesting incidents of the Civil War.

The following officers were elected: Honorary president, Leader Thiller, Mexico; President, Wilfred S. Sweetland, Mexico; First Vice-President, George H. Lester, Oswego; Second Vice-President, George Hitt, Central Square; Third Vice-President, Isaac N. Scramm, Howardville; Chaplain, Robert Aird, Mexico; Secretary and Treasurer, Henry B. Whitney, Pulaski.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Burdick, Fernwood, and Mrs. Winfield D. Pond, Pulaski, were named as a Music Committee.

PRIMARY BILL FATE AWAITED.

Attention Directed Toward Roosevelt-Hughes Contab.

MANY OPPOSE MEASURE.

Assemblyman Green, Who Voices His Opposition to Caucus, Expresses Doubts of Its Success in the Lower House—Federal Income Tax Proposition Will Not Be Aired at Extraordinary Session—The Hill-Merritt Measure Providing for State Tax of Property to Meet Interest on Highway and Canal Bonds May Be Taken Up.

Albany, June 27.—When Governor Hughes returns from Oyster Bay after his conference with Theodore Roosevelt the fate of the direct primary proposition, which will again be voted upon by the legislature in extraordinary session, presumably on Wednesday next, will be learned.

While many reasons are given why the direct primary proposition should not be the main topic between the former president and the reform governor, it is pointed out by those who are following the tangle that that question will be more than merely touched upon.

In the opinion of many legislators the intervention of Roosevelt will be the only means whereby the Cobb direct nominations measure will be passed. With the former president silent and inactive upon the proposition its defeat is regarded as certain.

There are those who are opposed to the Cobb bill who are not averse to declaring that the vote against the measure will be greater when cast at the extraordinary session than it was at the regular session, provided Governor Hughes receives no support from Roosevelt.

Green Fears Short Vote.

Twelve Republican senators are mentioned as having declared against a caucus, while Assemblyman George H. Green, who introduced the Cobb compromise direct nominations bill in the lower house, has openly stated that he was opposed to a caucus for the reason that he did not think that enough votes could be secured to insure the endorsement of that bill in the assembly. With the senate, which passed the bill during the regular session, in doubt and the assembly solidly arrayed against it, the passage of the Cobb bill at this writing appears to be impossible. An announcement from Oyster Bay, however, may materially change its prospects.

Senator George H. Cobb of Watertown predicted on the first night of the extraordinary session that its duration would be about a week and that a final vote upon the direct primary matter and, in fact, upon the other measures recommended by the governor should be taken on Wednesday, June 29. He saw no reason for delay, he said.

No one is paying any attention to the Grady-Frieble direct primary bill, which has been offered in both houses again. It is practically conceded that it will do well to get the entire Democratic vote. The Ward bills, aimed to create reform in New York city primaries, are likewise regarded with indifference, yet it is not improbable that some may pass. These bills were all introduced during the regular session and freely debated. The senate did not accept them.

To Effect No New Laws.

Aside from the inheritance tax and direct state tax propositions recommended by Governor Hughes and the possible introduction of a state income tax bill, which may also go through, it is predicted almost universally that no new laws will be added this year to the statute books of the state as the result of the extraordinary session of the legislature.

The extension of the powers of the commission to be appointed for the purpose of inquiring into alleged corrupt practices, which is desired by the governor, will probably not be possible. The members of both the senate and assembly seem to feel that the governor can scarce expect that a resolution adopted by both houses and which did not require his signature will be amended. In his message to the legislature Governor Hughes said that he recommended that more ample authority be given the proposed commission, inasmuch as the disclosures of the past session in the inquiry held by the senate and the result of the examinations conducted by the superintendent of insurance created a general conviction that there should be a full and complete investigation with regard to abuses of legislative methods. The governor stated that his examination of the investigation resolution had led him to the conclusion that it was important to the public interests that the authority of the committee should be enlarged.

Only "Verified" Charges Received.

Acting upon the recommendation, Assemblyman Bates of New York sought to have adopted a resolution carrying on the idea of the committee. This resolution removed the provision that the only charges which may be received by the committee shall be those "verified upon knowledge of corrupt practices," allowed the governor to name three members of the commission and required that any investigation commenced against a candidate for election be completed two weeks before election and the recording of the opinion of each member of the commission. In addition the commission was authorized under the Bates resolution to limit the time of its proceedings so that its proceedings might not be unduly delayed.

Assemblyman Merritt, majority leader, objected to the reception of the resolution, and Speaker Wadsworth declared that, inasmuch as the rules of the extraordinary session by agreement were to be the same as those which governed the regular session, the objection was taken. Assemblyman Bates then gave notice that he would at some future time move to suspend the rules.

Assemblyman Dana Falls.

Assemblyman Dana of New York then endeavored to offer his bill of the regular session, which provided for an investigation committee, but he, too, was unsuccessful.

Prominent members of the legislature declare that the proposition to increase the powers of the proposed investigating committee is as hopelessly dead as the direct primary issue.

All of the bills presented, with the exception of the Hill-Merritt measure providing for an inheritance tax, are printed and on the floor, and on Monday night this bill will be ready for the scrutiny of the members also. The measure provides for a progressive transfer tax based upon the amount of the transfer to the individual legatee, transferee or donee. Under the bill these transfers are exempt from taxation:

Property to the amount of $100 or less transferred to a collateral relative or stranger.

Property to the value of $500 or less to a husband, brother, sister or the wife or widow of a son or the husband of a daughter.

Property to the value of $5,000 or less to a father, mother, widow or minor child.

Scale of Transfer Tax.

Under the bill individual transfers to collateral relatives or strangers exceeding $100 in value are taxed at the rate of 5 per cent, as under the present law. If the transfer exceeds $25,000 the rate is 10 per cent on the excess up to and including $100,000, if the transfer exceeds $100,000 the rate is 15 per cent on the excess up to and including $500,000, if the transfer exceeds $500,000 the rate is 20 per cent on the excess up to and including the sum of $1,000,000, and if the transfer exceeds that amount the rate is 25 per cent upon the excess.

Individual transfers to a husband, brother, sister, wife or widow of a son or the husband of a daughter in excess of $500 and individual transfers to a father, mother, widow or minor child in excess of $5,000 are taxable at 1 per cent up to and including $25,000. The following scale is provided for larger amounts: Two per cent for over $25,000 up to $100,000, 3 per cent for over $100,000 up to $500,000, 4 per cent for over $500,000 up to $1,000,000 and 5 per cent in excess of $1,000,000.

The bill is based upon the statutes of California and Wisconsin. It is hoped that the revenues of the estate will be increased by the passage of the measure under consideration from $3,400,000 to $4,000,000.

Income Tax Bill.

The federal income tax proposition will not be aired during the extraordinary session, but it is probable that a bill providing for a state income tax will be forthcoming. It is understood that if a bill of this nature is introduced it will provide for an annual tax upon the incomes of all persons who maintain a residence in the state for three months. Incomes of persons up to $2,500 are exempt. On all net incomes above this amount 1 per cent is to be charged on the first $10,000 above the amount of exemption; above $10,000 and up to and including $25,000, 2 per cent; above $25,000 up to and including $50,000, 3 per cent; over $50,000 up to and including $100,000, 4 per cent; over $100,000 up to and including $200,000, at the rate of 5 per cent. On all incomes over $200,000 the tax proposed is to be 6 per cent. It is proposed to have the law, if created, to be administered through the office of the state comptroller. Banks, which are returnable, are to be furnished containing questions as to name, occupation, residence, business address, the full amount of the income derived from any profession or calling, whether each income be from a salary, commissions, fees, etc., and if such income be from more than one source. The particular amounts that are to be derived from each source and like information will be required.

Important as is the financial situation, the real issue which confronts the members of the legislature appears to be the stand of the governor for primary reform. The fact that the appropriation bill aggregated this year $42,258,224.36, nearly $4,000,000 in excess of the amount which it is estimated will be received by the state in revenue, the immediate adoption of bills to meet this deficit is expected.

Another of the financial bills which has been introduced is the bill offered by Senator Hill and Assemblyman Merritt providing for a state tax of 2705 of a mill on each dollar of assessable property to meet the interest on highway and canal bonds. It is estimated that $2,605,000 will be raised by this tax.

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eye, blotchy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangements, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, a constant tired feeling—mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help. They work in nature's own way. They do not merely mask the trouble but force up the liver and stomach to fulfill their proper functions. So mild that they have been used by the sick and feeble to help them to eat and sleep. They can be relied upon to relieve indigestion, constipation and dizziness. Sold everywhere. Price 25 cents.

E. K. HUGHES, Editor
W. E. HUGHES, Proprietor

Entered as second class matter, April 12, 1886,
at the postoffice at Fulton, New York, under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Official Paper of City of Fulton.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 29, 1910.

With the admission of the two new states to the Union, it is thought that it will be a long time before the question of statehood will again come up. There are other territories, like the District of Columbia, and there are other distant possessions such as Alaska and Hawaii, not to mention Porto Rico, Guam and the Philippines, which have provisional governments and where American citizenship is in a state of formation. The Isthmian Zone, ten miles in breadth, but with a "cone of influence" much wider, is a national possession and it is not improbable that owing to the civilizing influence incident to Canal work, it may at no remote day claim admission to statehood. It is possible that the Flag of the Union may in time hold more than forty-eight stars, but that time will certainly be remote.

The appraisal of the estate of the late Fannie H. Bristol filed Monday shows its net value to be $10,748.33. A daughter, Miss Bristol Palmer, gets $1,165; H. A. Bristol, a son, $1,200; a sister, Eliza A. Merriam, $135; Jean Thompson, of Cambridge, Mass., $20, and Almon Bristol, husband, life use of $8,228.38. At his death this goes to the two children.

MOST INTERESTING MINIATURE

Every reader should make an effort to see the miniature of Andersonville prison in the W. H. Patterson store window this week where it will remain until after July 4. This model has only been exhibited twice before, once in the window of the Waterman Pen Company and during the week of the encampment in a store window in Syracuse, where it was viewed by thousands. The Times reproduces Mr. McCully's own description and key to the miniature. This miniature of the notorious Andersonville Stockade Prison of the Civil War was made from a piece of one of the original timbers, which were 21 feet long and set 6 feet in the ground. After the war the Stockade was cut down and with but few exceptions, the underground pieces have all been dug out or decayed. The piece from which this miniature was made was secured by Mr. McCully, November 25th, 1898, down in the swamp on the east side. It was 5 feet long, 3 1/2 inches wide, and 2 inches thick. Its original size underground in 1864 was 6 feet long and 12 to 16 inches in diameter. The Stockade was built to hold 5,000 prisoners. There were 25,000 crowded into it before it was enlarged. It contained originally 13 acres, including about 4 acres of swamp, creek, and dead-end enclosure. In July it was enlarged 8 acres. There were at one time in August, 1864, between 35,000 and 35,000 prisoners. There was no shelter provided—not even the shade of a tree. All were cut down when the stockade was built. Over 13,000 men died in this prison, of which 2,544 were from the State of New York.

- Key of Model

HIGH SCHOOL EXERCISES

Class Night in the Foster Theatre on Wednesday evening was attended by a crowd of friends of the participants in the play, that filled the house. The different characters as delineated by the students were presented with ability, the liberal applause with which their efforts were greeted being merited by the manner in which the work was done. Miss Daisy E. Lounsbury who holds the chair of elocution in the local schools, did systematic and consistent work with the students to the end that the play presented by the class of 1910 was a finished production and worthy of all the praise bestowed upon it.

The class night exercises which preceded the play were very attractive and elicited much merit as the telling prophecies and clever rhymes were rehearsed by various ones.

Commencement night in the First Methodist church filled the edifice. Twenty eight students receiving their diplomas from President John Hunter of the Board of Education, Kayendatsyona Chapter, D. A. R., had offered prizes of $2.50 in gold to the Fourth street, Phillips street and State street students maintaining the highest averages in history during the year. This award was made by Prof. Fairgrieve to Frances Allen of the Fourth street, James Fairgrieve of State street and Clarence Bray of Phillips street schools.

The prize speaking awards were made at this time by Prof. Fairgrieve, the first prizes going to Miss Vera Codonier and Mr. Alfred Edgerton; the second to Miss Mary Farley and Mr. Edward Carroll. They were gold lockets engraved with the names of the successful contestants, the only difference between the first and second prizes being that the former were a trifle larger than the latter.

The address of the evening was made by Rev. C. L. Peck, pastor of the First Methodist church, and his scholarly effort was attended with marked attention by all present and has been the subject of favorable comment ever since.

The paved streets are very slippery and every day horses fall in First, Onondaga and Cayuga streets. On Friday as many as five horses were seen to slip and fall in these streets by one person. The bricks have worn very smooth with the constant friction upon them, and with the oil from automobiles they are doubly treacherous. Indeed after they are sprinkled or a rain has fallen upon them, locomotion is almost impossible for the smooth-shod beast. It is decidedly worse than ice.

Messrs. E. J. Penfield, W. H. Patterson and W. J. Loveloy last year purchased from the Wells estate Whiskey Island, south of this city in the Oswego river. The owners will erect Summer homes on the island as soon as the barge canal work at this point is concluded.

THIEVING OF MILL

Agent John W. Stevenson of the American Woolen company has known for some time that there was a leakage in the mill cloth lengths made up at the mill but he could not find the slightest clue to the guilty parties. About two weeks ago he engaged two detectives who located the guilty ones and their pals, secured the necessary evidence and on Friday arrests were made.

On Saturday morning Victor Bennett, Bennett and Flanders pleading guilty. They were fined $50 and sentenced to six months in Oswego jail, the sentence suspended upon payment of the fine. Young Baker plead not guilty and he will be given a jury trial on Thursday morning. These boys are young, their extreme youth making all in authority lenient with them in the matter of sentence. It appears that hundreds of yards of the high grade weights taken have been sold to local parties for suits at prices in some instances way in advance of what they would have paid at a store for the goods. In other instances the prices paid have been very low. The boys would secretly the goods under their coats, roll it about their bodies or sneak it from under the eyes of the foreman, keeping it until a customer was located when the sale would be consummated.

HISTORIC SOUVENIR

Mr. G. F. Schenck, who has been spending the past winter in Texas, has presented to the Public Library two pieces of adobe brick which were portions of historic buildings at San Antonio, Texas.

One piece was taken from the old "Teramendi palace" which is now being taken down for removal. This building was the home of the beautiful Ursula Vermendi who became the wife of the brave James Bowie, one of the heroes who gave his life for the freedom of Texas, at the defense of the Alamo.

The other piece is from the Alamo itself—that "Shrine of Texas Liberty." A great deal has been written concerning the heroic struggle which occurred there in March 1836, yet never fully portraying this exploit which one historian calls the "most heroic in American history, and one of the most heroic exploits in any history."

The inscription on the monument erected to the defenders of the Alamo, at the state capital, Austin, is entirely true. "Thermopylae had its messenger of defeat, the Alamo had none."

Mr. Schenck writes the Library Board that it was after two days of tact and diplomacy together with a friend's aid that he was able to secure this simple reminder of the men who there have their lives for freedom.

A traveling man told a Times representative that he consumed three valuable hours on Monday morning going from Syracuse to Baldwinsville and it had taught him a lesson.

Richardson—Rappole
Stealing away from relatives and friends on May 18, Mr. Harold L. Richardson, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Richardson, and Miss Nellie Rappole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Rappole of Volney, were united in marriage at Niagara Falls. Mr. and Mrs. Richardson returned to Fulton the same day and the secret might still have been their own had not the young wife confided in a friend. The parents of the youthful pair extended forgiveness and their friends extend the wish that they may live happily ever afterwards.

Wells—Thomas
Last evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Thomas, in Granby Center, occurred the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Elizabeth Thomas and Mr. Fred Matsumura Wells, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Wells. The spacious home had been elaborately and effectively decorated with ferns, palms and other green stuffs while red being used throughout the decorations. Red Japanese lanterns were used for lighting. The bridal service was conducted by the Rev. F. J. Rathbun of Watertown, a personal friend of the happy couple. An arch of evergreens and red roses was erected under which the bridal party stood during the ceremony and congratulations.

Prior to the appearance of the bridal party, Miss Lucie Hillick rendered, "O, Promise me," and Miss Blanche Hall played the wedding march, also playing softly during the ceremony and congratulations. The guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. Wells. The bride was exquisitely gowned in white crepe-de-chene over tulle with garniture of pearl bands. Her long tulle veil was caught with a coronet composed of ropes of pearls and white rose buds. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and her only ornament was a sunburst of pearls and diamonds, the groom's gift. Her sister, Mrs. Henry Bush, officiated as matron of honor and she wore a gown of green silk, puffed and carried an arm bouquet of red roses. The ring bearer was Miss Esther Fairchild of Rochester, who wore white mull and red ribbons. The ribbon bearers were the Misses Osa Ramsey, Lucie Hillick, Helen Kirby, Ethel Knapp, Gertrude Finch and Ruth Kesar. The young ladies wore white batiste with lace trimmings and red hair ornaments. The pages were Masters Russell B. Bush of this city and Elmer Fairchild of Rochester.

The groom was attended by Mr. Harold Coon of Canastota, as best man. The bride's gift to her matron of honor was a pearl brooch; to her ring bearer, a gold bracelet and to her ribbon bearers coin brooches.

The groom presented his bride with a pearl and diamond brooch; his best man with a coin watch fob and the pages with coin tie-pins.

After the ceremony and congratulations, the guests were served luncheon in a large tent on the lawn. Red Japanese lanterns and red and green decorations were used in the tent as in the home, and the ribbon bearers served the guests to the delectable viands. During the time that the guests were being served the bridal pair managed to make their escape to parts unknown. After a bridal trip they will return to the home of the bride where they will spend the Summer, going to house keeping in the Fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Wells are both natives of Granby where they have spent the major portion of their lives. Mr. Wells is employed as watch maker and engraver in the W. C. Morgan jewelry store and he has a host of friends in this vicinity. Mrs. Wells has taught for several terms in Phillips street school, for two years having efficiently held the responsible position of principal of Phillips street school. She has a multitude of friends who have been feeling her during the past few weeks, many social functions having been given in her honor. The heartiest congratulations are extended to the happy couple.

The out-of-town guests present at the ceremony were Mrs. Harry L. Horne, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fairchild, Esther and Earl Fairchild, and Mr. Elmer Hewitt of Rochester; Mr. Harold Coon, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Coon, Miss Esther Wing, Miss Anna Thomas, Canastota; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Treat, Auburn; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whitman, Weedsport; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Dooling, Utica; Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Faulkner and Miss Mildred Faulkner, Oswego.

STATE SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE

For the purpose of studying the State School of Agriculture at St. Lawrence University and those who are interested in the farms of Northern New York together, for the study of plant growth in the field, three visitation days have been fixed: June 23rd, July 28th, August 26th. A short program will be given in the assembly room each day. The chief purpose of these meetings, however, is to study methods that are already in vogue on the school farm, and to advise concerning those which have not been inaugurated because of a lack of time and money.

The R. W. & O. and the Rutland Railroads will give a reduced rate equal to a fare and one-half. The State is spending money for demonstration purposes to work out methods adapted to Northern New York. A large delegation should take advantage of this opportunity.

The three days mentioned will quite well cover the crop growing period. The State Grange officials are giving this movement their support. Some member or representative will attend each meeting and take part in the program. Watch out for railroad advertising. Keep in close touch with your local papers. Members of the school faculty will be ready to explain and discuss methods. The newspapers are kind in giving notice. We trust some reader will give them a news item when they return from these visits.

These meetings will occur during school vacation, offering as they do a splendid opportunity to get in touch with the modern agricultural movements that are fully as advantageous at the present time as the so-called professions. The meeting will be held as a basket picnic. Do not be afraid of a shower, we have floor space to accommodate 2,000 people and give space to eat dinner.

For further information address your local grange secretary, your local railroad ticket agent, or The State School of Agriculture, Canton, N. Y.

Headache For Years

"I keep Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills on hand all the time, and would not think of taking a journey without them, no matter how short a distance I am going. I have a sister that has had terrible headaches for years, and I coaxed her to try them, and they helped her so much, she now keeps them by her all the time. From my own experience I cannot praise them enough."

MRS. LOU M. CHURCHILL,

Many persons have headache after any little excitement or exertion. They cannot attend church, lectures, entertainments, or ride on trains without suffering. Those who suffer in this way should try Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. Assistant Fire Chief Rude is a generous with his knife and he whistles away unoccupied hours in carving miniature horses, wagons, teddy bears, etc. His latest creation was a racer, bulky and driver all carved from wood, painted in the natural colors and polished to a high degree. The horse is harnessed with patent leather and the spokes and rim of the wheels as well as all other details, are perfect.

Ex-Mayor Edward Quirk is to be commended for his prompt action in stopping a disgraceful fight on First street on Friday afternoon between a young man and an older one, both intoxicated. He scooped his car between the combatants and sent them upon their respective ways to the delight of some and the disappointment of other spectators. The patrolmen on duty were all engaged in John Doe and out-of-town work at the time and it would have meant bloodshed if the row had not been halted.

Just at this time the mail order houses are active in flooding the country with big handsome gotten up spring catalogues, quoting at attractive prices on staple articles and making all sorts of big sounding claims for your cash. They do not offer to exchange their goods for the farmers' eggs, poultry, butter or other produce. They don't trust a penny's worth but make you pay cash before you get the goods and wait for the goods besides. They pay no taxes into your village or county treasury, with which our schools are maintained, roads bridges built and other improvements made possible. They do not contribute to our churches, charitable institutions, nor to our poor. Money spent at home reverses the whole situation. Think it over. — Nunda News.

PEOPLE TELL EACH OTHER ABOUT GOOD THINGS

Sixteen years ago few people in the world knew of such a preparation as a powder for the feet. Today after the genuine merit of Allen's Foot-Ease has been told year after year by one gratified person to another, there are millions who would as soon go without a dentifrice as without Allen's Foot-Ease. It is a cleanly, wholesome, healing, antiseptic powder to be shaken into the shoes, which has given rest in all parts of the world. It cures while you walk. Over 30,000 testimonials of cures of smarting, swollen, perspiring feet. It prevents friction and wear of the stockings and will save in your stocking bill ten times its cost each year. Imitations pay the dealer a larger profit, otherwise you would never be offered a substitute when you ask for Allen's Foot-Ease the original antiseptic powder for the feet. Imitations are not advertised because they are not permanent. For every genuine article there are many imitations. The imitator has no reputation to sustain—the advertiser has. It stands to reason that the advertised article is the best, otherwise the public would not buy it and the advertiser could not be continued. When you ask for an article advertised in this paper, see that you get it. Refuse imitations.

SUPERVISORS HOLD SPECIAL SESSION

A special session of the Board of Supervisors was held on June 15, the entire membership being present. The session was called for the purpose of appointing a Sealer of Weights and Measures for the county. Clerk Spencer called the board to order and on motion of Mr. Barker of New Haven, F. E. Sweetland was made temporary chairman.

The following memorial resolutions on the death of Supervisor E. B. Abbey were presented by Mr. Hamer.

In Memoriam
On May 18, 1910, in the city of Fulton, there departed from this life Edwin B. Abbey, an honored member of this Board of Supervisors, a man whose genial disposition and upright character had won from all our members the highest admiration and esteem. Therefore be it

Resolved, That we the members of the Board of Supervisors of Oswego County, take this means of expressing our sincere sorrow in the death of Edwin B. Abbey and that we thus convey our sympathy not only to the city of Fulton in the loss of one of her most faithful and painstaking officials, but also to the sorrowing widow and son, who have been called upon to part with one whose loving care and genial companionship will ever be sorely missed from the family circle. Be it further

Resolved, That these resolutions have place on the records of the Board, and that a copy of same be forwarded to the family.

Adopted by rising vote.
On motion of Mr. Jackson the appointment of Karl Chiler as superintendent of the fall farm was ratified and the County Treasurer directed to pay him quarterly at the rate of $55 monthly.

The fixing of the compensation for the County Sealer of Weights and Measures created considerable discussion and it was only after due deliberation that $1,000 per year, the official to pay all of his expenses, was decided upon. Mr. Frank H. French of this city was appointed to the office prior to the placing of the office under the Civil Service and he will commence his official duties as soon as his seals, etc., are ready.

NEW POSTAL MONEY ORDER IS NOW READY

By a change in the form of the postal money order and the elimination of the mail advice to postmasters of the issuance of money orders, Postmaster General Hitchcock expects to save to the government approximately $500,000 a year. The order making the change was issued last week by the Postmaster General. The new money order form is two and a half inches longer than the one now in use. It consists of a stub, order with marginal check coupon to be retained by the postmaster who makes the payment and a receipt for the remitter. The order and coupon both are to be mailed by the remitter to the person in whose favor the order is drawn. The new form will be put into use as soon as the public printer can obtain the necessary supply of "safety" paper.

PASTOR AND WIFE VISITED

Last week Monday at 5 p. m. there was something doing on Onondaga street as the air resounded with college yells and hoots hoots that came into as it halted in front of the First M. E. Church parsonage. The car contained nineteen Watertown people. The load included the Rev. C. L. Peck's former Sunday School Superintendent and members of his official board. They at once took possession of the parsonage which being large and commodious could accommodate the entire crew. Extra mattresses were placed on the second and third floors for a part of the jolly bunch and a special room was given the tired chauffeur on the first floor where he could be quiet.

The following article clipped from a Watertown daily will explain the trip — S. D. Gardner.
"A party of nineteen of the former parishioners of Rev. C. L. Peck, former pastor of the Asbury Methodist Episcopal church here, returned late last evening from a two days auto trip to Fulton where they visited Rev. and Mrs. Peck. The party consisted of Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Hoyt, Dr. and Mrs. S. C. Jones Dr. and Mrs. G. R. Danforth, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Gould, Mr. and Mrs. Ross C. Rich, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Sater, Misses Cora Ormsby, Lela Holiday and Ida Knapp, Mrs. Arthur Stokes and John T. Peck.

The trip was made Monday in W. L. Gould's big auto and the party started from Watertown shortly after 8:30. Excellent time was made and Richland was reached about noon, where dinner was prepared by the ladies in the grove. The remainder of the run to Fulton was made and the whole party were entertained by Rev. and Mrs. Peck at the parsonage. An idea of the home of the former Watertown parson can be gained from the fact that there was room to accommodate all of the party.

"After a very enjoyable evening in Fulton the party were entertained for a time Tuesday on the Oswego river by the Pathfinder club. The men in the party gave some good sporting exhibits and John Peck, S. E. Jones and Dr. Danforth were said to have shown great adeptness in endless cable riding. In the afternoon at 4 the big car headed for Oswego, Mr. and Mrs. Peck accompanying them. They visited the former church of Rev. Johnson, who is now pastor of the Asbury church here, and also paid Rev. E. H. Joy, a former pastor, a visit. Oswego was left at 6:30 and Mexico Point was reached at 6:35. There the party enjoyed luncheon and then pushed on for Watertown arriving here at 11:30.

MR. MOTT ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY

Oswego, N. Y., July 2, 1910.

To the Republican Voters of the 28th Congressional District:

I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for member of Congress from this district and ask for the support of the voters. If nominated and elected I shall do everything in my power to give our district good, clean, and honest representation at Washington. It will be my constant and zealous endeavor to look after the interests of the district, first of all. I expect to support Republican principles, but I want to represent and serve all the people, and their wishes will govern my conduct.

It is many years since a congressman has been elected from Oswego County. While we have been so ably represented that we have lost nothing by this fact, still it is generally felt that Oswego County should have a Congressman, since a change is to be made, caused by the retirement of Mr. Knapp, who has done such splendid work for all the counties and is justly entitled to the greatest praise therefor. But I pledge my friends in Jefferson and Lewis Counties that their interests will receive the same attention from me as do those of my own home. If I am nominated it will be without a pledge or promise to any one save the single pledge that I shall try to do my duty in a manner to reflect credit on the people I shall represent.

LUTHER W. MOTT.

FAREWELL GIVEN PASTOR AND WIFE.

The First Presbyterian church was well filled on Wednesday evening by church members and other friends of Rev. and Mrs. W. L. Sawtelle, the occasion being a farewell reception tendered them by the Ladies Aid Society of the church prior to their leaving for their new home in Elmira. The church parlors had been prettily decorated with plants and flowers and presented a festive appearance.

During the evening Attorney Arvin Rice with very appropriate remarks presented the departing pastor and his wife with a magnificent Oriental rug which was purchased with the proceeds from the $200 free will offering tendered by the church people, its selection having been entrusted to Hon. and Mrs. N. N. Stranahan upon their going to New York city prior to sailing for Europe. It was purchased by Mr. Stranahan from an expert in these rugs and was secured at a $50 concession owing to the friendly relationship existing between Mr. Stranahan and the expert. Mr. Rice also presented the pastor and wife with a finely executed and framed copy of Hoffman's head of John the Baptist.

Mr. and Mrs. Sawtelle were greatly surprised and touched by the substantial token of affection and esteem evidenced in the presentation of the gifts, and Mr. Sawtelle voiced their deep appreciation in beautifully chosen words. He assured his hearers that in their new home would always be found a "Fulton room," and a cordial welcome for the journeyer to it. A poem descriptive of the feeling of pastor and people in the severing of the tie that bound was read by Mr. John Hunter.

Ice cream and cake was served by the ladies.

JOHN CAIN KILLED INSTANTLY.

Bystanders were powerless to aid in any way as everything was done in an instant.

VERNER JENNINGS PAINFULLY INJURED.

One more plea for a safe and sane celebration of the Nation's natal day is Verner Jennings, son of Mailing Clerk and Mrs. F. L. Jennings, pale, scarred and pain-racked, lying on a bed in the Lee hospital as the result of an explosion of some chemicals which he was mixing at his home in Broadway on Sunday morning, that he might have a sufficient supply of red fire with which to welcome the sunrise on July 4. The young man is a chemistry student in the local High school and he thought he understood which chemicals would mix with safety and which chemicals would not not stand contact.

Mr. Jennings was attending to his duties in the Post-office and Mrs. Jennings had just returned from early service in the Episcopal church when a terrific explosion, one that shook the house to its foundations and startled the neighborhood for a long distance, called her attention. Mrs. Jennings hastened up stairs and opened her son's door to find the window panes shattered, the hard wood furnishings of the room reduced to splinters, the walls littered with a mixture resembling blood, and her son lying in an unconscious heap upon his mattress, his face covered with blood and bits of different kinds, one hand horribly crushed and lacerated and he was bleeding from many cuts and lacerations. The frightful sight nearly prostrated the mother but she sent out a call for help and neighbors summoned Dr. H. P. Marsh and Mr. Jennings to the injured boy. He was taken at once to the Lee hospital where his injuries were dressed and his physician is hopeful that his injured hand may be saved to such an extent that it will be of some service to him, although it is expected that the ring finger will be stiff, the tendon having been torn by the explosion, necessitating a foreign connection. The thumb on the left hand was entirely severed from the hand and the palm of the hand was horribly lacerated. Anti-tetanus serum was administered, and the boy placed under anesthetics and the crushed and mangled member was dissected and the several parts restored to their normal positions.

The burns and lacerations upon the face were found to be superficial and it is not thought they will disfigure greatly. The only reason that life was not extinct as a result of the attempted mixing of chloride of potash, gum shellac and salt peter is that the body offered no resistance to the assault, being flung across the room and upon the wrecked bed in the corner.

It is safe to predict that Verner will carry marks to his grave to remind him of July 4, 1910, and the hostility of these chemicals to one another.

ROOSEVELT REFUSES TO ENTERTAIN PROPOSITION.

Utica, N. Y., July 2.—The boom designed to make ex-President Roosevelt the Republican candidate for Governor of New York State in the fall election launched by the Republican club of Utica two weeks ago, came to an abrupt ending to-day when it was learned that Secretary Fred B. Adams had received a personal letter from Mr. Roosevelt asking the club to cease any agitation to have him nominated for Governor. The letter follows:

"My Dear Sir—May I, through you, cordially thank the Republican club of Oneida County for its message of appreciative good will. Believe me, I appreciate it and I trust you will make the club understand that I do appreciate it. But I also ask that the club at once stop any agitation to have me nominated for Governor. It would be an absolute impossibility for me to accept. With high regards, Sincerely yours, Theodore Roosevelt."

F. Riorden of Fulton.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE IN OSWEGO.

Monday the immense lumber yard of the Standard Oil company and adjacent to its box shop, caught fire and before the flames were subdued over $40,000 worth of damage was sustained. It took the united efforts of every man in the department, every piece of apparatus in the city and the huge fire pumps of the Diamond Match Factory and the Standard Oil Box Shop, as well as a splendid lead of hose from the new lake water power house to gain control of the flames.

The force of fire fighters was augmented by the employees of the Diamond Match Company and of the Box Shop as well as by hundreds of men hired at the rate of from 50 cents to $2 an hour. These paid volunteers carried lumber out of the danger zone for the sum of 50 cents an hour while those who held the streams from the top of other piles and faced the almost unbearable heat were given $2 per hour.

Neat and attractive office stationery printed at the Times office.

DEPLORABLE ACCIDENT BEFALLS JOHN YOUNG.

A most deplorable accident at noon on Monday leaves City Hall Janitor John W. Young a cripple for life and a large element of danger yet to be combatted in his case. To Mr. Young had been entrusted this year, as for many past years, the dangerous responsibility of saluting the sunrise on July 4, with cannon shots. He drew the antiquated machine to the corner of First and Rochester streets where the salute of 21 guns was fired between 4 and 6 a. m. As the parade proceeded down First street at noon the cannon again boomed forth. Several shots had been fired when two in close succession started every body and Young was seen to leap into the air, waving his hands, and to run frantically toward the river. His shirt burst into flame at the same moment. Patrolman Edward Dyer grasped the situation and quickly tore the blazing clothing from the man, others restraining him from running from his rescuers in agony. At this point the procession reached the Rochester street corner and Marshall Dr. Marsh and his aides, Drs. E. A. Chadman and Walter were called and they left the line at once, rendering first aid to the injured. Dr. E. J. Conack wheeled from the line and in his automobile the injured man and the physicians were hurried to the Lee hospital where Dr. Marsh operated upon the sufferer. Young's left thumb and forefinger were blown entirely off by the premature explosion caused by too quickly placing the powder bag in the cannon and without swabbing it out; his left arm and left wrist were broken and every bone in the hand and fingers were reduced almost to pulp. The forefinger on the right hand was also badly mangled and torn. Several painful burns were sustained on neck and chest.

While everything possible has been done for Mr. Young, he is so dreadfully injured that it will be several days before the outcome will be definitely known. A son will attend to his City Hall duties pending his recovery.

Fortunately, if the price of dining tables rises, we can get along with a smaller one for the little we have to put on one these days.

LIFE insurance eliminates chance through the operation of the Law of Averages. The knowledge of the Law of Averages as applied to the duration of human life is gained in but one way and that is through statistics. Now, there are accurate statistics, not only as to the average life of individuals, but also as to the life of a family; that is, how long five thousand, ten thousand, or twenty-five thousand dollars will last the average person who is not used to handling such sums. A widow with person who is a shining mark for the mining-shark. I am sorry to say it, but the fact is five thousand dollars usually lasts a widow three years, and ten thousand is dissipated in five years. Doubtless, the average man, not used to having such lump sums come to him, would do no better. Money in a lump sum in the hands of those not versed in finance is a burden and sometimes a menace. It lays them open to the machinations of the tricky and dishonest, also the well-meaning men who know just how to double it in a month. Realizing these things, and to meet a great human need the Equitable is now issuing a policy which gives a fixed payment every year (or more often) to the beneficiary as long as she shall live. On her death any unpaid installment is paid to her heirs in one sum or in payments, as may be desired. Here is a plain, simple, safe plan whereby you can insure those dependent upon you against want and temptation, by insuring them against their indiscretion, and yours. It is the Equitable Way.

TWAS EVER THUS

(Palladium)
The announcement that the telephone exchange has decided to increase the rates of phone used by dentists, doctors and veterinarians to almost double what they have been paying is not surprising, and it will not be surprising if there is a general increase to all phone users announced. That is the way big corporations when they secure a monopoly do. They know when they have the people in their power and they squeeze them for every dollar they think they will stand.

Prior to the time when the Ontario Telephone Company was organized by local capital the Bell Telephone gave a most indifferent service and charged big prices for their phone. The new company brought competition and with it a better service and lower prices on the part of the Bell Company. The people of Oswego gave the Ontario Company their most loyal support expecting that they would remain permanently in the field. But the Bell people offered the price and the Ontario Company sold out to the trust and gave the latter a monopoly in this city.

Oswego is now at the mercy of one telephone company. The people must either pay the price for phones which the trust asks or discontinue the service, and the telephone has become a mighty important factor in the life of every business place and the majority of private residences.

HUGHES SUFFERS FIRST DEFEAT

Cobb-Green Direct Primary Bill Beaten Decisively.

HAMILTON FOR GOVERNOR

Chief Executive Accepts the Result as Final So Far as He is Concerned. Graded Inheritance Law Passed. Other Revenue Measures Fail to Go Through—Mr. Roosevelt's Aid of No Avail.

Albany, July 4.—Resigned to the first defeat of his remarkable and active political career, Governor Charles E. Hughes, who endeavored to force the passage of the Cobb-Green direct primary bill as the result of an extraordinary session just ended, will step out of his high office shortly leaving one ideal unattained.

Rumors of a second extraordinary session have been set aside by the qualifying of Robert H. Fuller, secretary to the governor, as a state water supply commissioner and the practical admission by the governor of defeat.

The defeat of the Cobb-Green direct primary bill by a vote of 25 to 19 in the senate and its death in the assembly as the result of that house having accepted the adverse report of the judiciary committee by a vote of 80 to 63 left no doubt in the mind of the executive that, firm as was his belief in the need of primary reform, his conviction was not shared by the legislature, the members of which he had called back to reconsider the question.

Unique Political Struggle. The shadow of Colonel Roosevelt, impressive though it was, added the situation but little. His telegram to Chairman Lloyd Griscom of the New York Republican committee stating that he favored the several amendments to the Cobb bill and the appearance of Chairman Griscom at Albany were inadequate to affect a sufficient number of legislators to carry through that measure.

It was a political struggle which was both unique and strenuous. In its bitterness both the governor and the former president were vilified upon the floor of both houses. The attitude of the governor in summoning back the legislature upon the proposition of direct primaries was severely criticized, while the intervention of Colonel Roosevelt was roundly scored. So caustic were the remarks of Assemblyman O'Connor that he was censured by Assemblyman McInerney.

Letters from Congressman William S. Bennett and other men prominent in public life and a petition signed by eminent Republicans, among whom were William Loeb, Jr., collector of the port of New York; Congressman William W. Cocks and William M. Calder and Otto T. Bannard, who ran for mayor of New York last election, were brought into play, but still the assemblymen opposed to primary reform stuck to their guns.

Assemblyman Green strove to postpone action upon the adverse report of the judiciary committee on his bill, but was unsuccessful. The vote upon this proposition was significant of the impending defeat of the measure, so far as sustaining the adverse report of the judiciary committee was concerned, which would mean its death. Previously the Gray-Frisbie bill had been given its deathblow by a vote of 28 to 102.

Mr. Merritt's Stand. In opposing the motion to postpone action upon the judiciary committee's adverse report Majority Leader Edwin A. Merritt said:

"If it had been intended that we should be treated fairly the measure we were to consider would have been ready in its final form on June 20, the day that we were summoned to reconvene here. It is broadly hinted that we may be called back again. I don't care if we are called back. I am ready to meet this proposition whenever it may arise."

"Talk about danger to the Republican party! Why, the most unfortunate thing that possibly could happen to the party would be the adoption of this crazy bill. It is neither flesh, fowl nor good red herring."

"I don't propose to write myself a member of any Ananias club. Nobody has the right to command this legislature to reverse itself in the face of its deliberate action."

"If we must have a direct nomination bill, for heaven's sake give me the Hiaman-Grise bill, which at least has some pride of ancestry and possibly some hope of posterity. But don't give me a mongrel bill that was originated to take care of a precarious situation in a single senate district."

Vote on Adverse Report.

The vote upon the adoption of the adverse report of the judiciary committee on the Cobb bill follows:

Yeas—Republicans: Boshart, Burroughs, Callan, Coffey, Connell, Dana, Delano, Ebbels, Fowler, Goodwin, Gray, Greenwood, Haines, Himmans, Howard, Lucman, Lowman, Macdonald, Marjatt, Merritt, Nolan, Parker, C. W. Phillips, J. S. Phillips, Shea, M. Smith, Stivers, Toombs, Vickers, Vorburgh, Walters, Waters, Weinstein, E. H. White, Whitney, Whitney, Wilman, Yale, F. L. Young. Speaker Wadsworth—40.

Democrats: Boylan, Brennan, Coughlin, Donnelly, Farrell, Fay, Foley, Friend, Frisbie, Gerhardt, Gerken, Gillen, Goldberg, Granger, Grout, Hearn, Herick, Hoey, Jackson, Joseph, A. J. Lary, J. Lary, Manley, McCue, McElligott, McKee, Metzendorf, Neupert, O'Connor, Oliver, J. J. O'Neill, M. A. O'Neill, Rozan, Sanner, Shortt, A. E. Smith, Spielberg, Walker, Wende, Zora—40.

Grand total against the bill, 80.

Nays—Republicans: A. F. Allen, H. E. Allen, Argersinger, Barden, Bates, Broun, Bennett, Bralper, C. F. Brown, G. W. Brown, Cheever, R. H. Clarke, S. C. Clark, Colne, Cross, Feeley, Filley, Garfield, Glone, Goodspeed, Green, Higgins, Holden, Kopp, Lansing, Lee, Lupton, MacGregor, McInerney, J. L. Miller, W. G. Miller, Murray, Odell, Perkins, Pitkin, Reed, Roberts, Shephardson, Stevenson, Sullivan, Sweet, Thompson, Thorne, Van Glinde, Ward, Weber, Welland, Wemert, Wilkie, Wood—50.

Democrats: Abbey, Chandler, Conard, Crocker, De Long, Evans, Keller, McGrath, Patria, Trombly, L. H. White, Wright—12.

Independent: Donovan.

Grand total in favor of the bill, 63.

The Supreme Issue.

The assembly disposed of the primary proposition first. Shortly before 4 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, June 30, a concurrent resolution to adjourn the following day at 2 o'clock p. m. was adopted. Speaker Wadsworth gave out the following statement:

"The action of the assembly should not be construed as a gratuitous slap at the ex-president or at the governor. The assembly feels that it gave the fullest and most deliberate consideration to primary reform at the regular session. There never has been a more honest verdict rendered than that by the assembly in the various roll calls of the regular and special sessions."

"The supreme issue is whether the assembly shall swallow its convictions and deliberately reverse its honest judgment and thereby announce to the legislature of the future that the legislative branch of the government, supposedly independent, can be coerced and forced to occupy a secondary position in our system of government. It is a question far beyond that of the merits or demerits of direct primaries. The prestige of this legislature and of all legislatures to come is at stake."

"It should be understood that the assembly is actuated in its action by the sincerest convictions and is willing to present the broad question of its rights and prerogatives, in addition to that of the merits and demerits of the primary bills, to the people next fall. That is the logical tribunal."

The Senate's Action.

On Thursday night the senate met to act on the Cobb bill. Twenty-three of the thirty-four Republican members went into caucus and voted unanimously to make the Cobb direct primary bill, with the amendments endorsed by Colonel Roosevelt, a party measure. At the caucus it was also decided not to concur in the assembly adjournment resolution. After a long debate upon the direct primary proposition, which lasted until early morning, the senate adjourned, having accomplished nothing.

On Friday, July 1, the Cobb-Green direct primary bill was defeated in the senate.

The Inheritance Tax.

The many side lights of the extraordinary session, embracing every known parliamentary effort to strengthen their positions on the part of the advocates and those who opposed the direct primary proposition, coming as it did practically on the eve of a gubernatorial campaign, made the third extraordinary session called within the administration of Governor Hughes a memorable one. There are many high in political life who declared when it ended early Friday afternoon that its result would seriously endanger the success of the Republican organization at the polls next November.

Although several matters dealing with finance were recommended by Governor Hughes in his message to the members attending the extraordinary session and a number of bills carrying them out were introduced, but two bills were passed, the graded inheritance tax bill, which is expected to bring the state $2,000,000 in revenue, and the measure appropriating $25,000 for the expenses for the extraordinary session. Numerous measures to provide revenue for the state failed even to be reported by the committees to which they had been referred.

The extraordinary session lasted ten days, having convened June 20 as a result of a proclamation issued by the governor on May 27.

Senator Hamilton a Likely Candidate for Governor.

During the closing days of the special session considerable talk was heard in both houses of the legislature concerning who would be the Republican candidate for governor next fall. The friends of Senator Charles W. Hamilton of Chautauque county have developed a large sized boom for him among the members of both houses of the legislature.

Senator Hamilton is one of the constant followers of Governor Hughes and has the entire confidence and regard of the chief executive. It is understood that the governor would be delighted to see Mr. Hamilton nominated at Saratoga.

Mr. Hamilton was born on Jan. 23, 1874, in Ripley and was educated at the Ripley high school, the Fredonia Normal school and the Pennsylvania Military college. In 1906 he was nominated for the assembly by the Republican party and was elected by a large majority. After a second term in the assembly he was elected to the senate, where he has served with distinction. He is one of the ablest members of the upper house, and his advice has been continuously sought by the other Hughes leaders.

PULP WOOD COMING

Notwithstanding the difficulty of locking boats to Minetto through the Oswego canal because of its incompleteness, this year promises to be a banner one in the amount of pulp wood carried. The steamer Key West is to arrive a Friday, with over a thousand cords aboard from the Saguenay. On Sunday the steamer Key Storm arrived with a like amount. In all about 25,000 cords more will be brought for the Battle Island Paper Company. This will be 5,000 cords in excess of what has been brought during any previous season.

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eye, blotchy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health. Where constipation, liver derangements, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion, bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, constant tired feeling—mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help. They work in nature's own way. They do not merely flush the bowels but tone up the liver and stomach to fulfill their proper functions. So mild and gentle do they act that one hardly realizes that they have taken medicine. Chamberlain's Tablets can be relied upon to relieve biliousness, indigestion, constipation and dizziness. Sold everywhere. Price 25 cents.

THE FULTON TIMES

E. K. HUGHES, Editor
W. E. HUGHES, Proprietor

Entered as second class matter, April 12, 1898,
at the postoffice at Fulton, New York, under the act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Official Paper of City of Fulton.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 6, 1910.

DEFEAT OF THE COBB BILL.

Colonel Roosevelt, it is conceded, possesses as keen political intuition as any representative American in this age, and it was his judgment that the Cobb Direct Primary bill, which has recently been defeated in the State Legislature, should become a law. While it is true that Mr. Roosevelt is now a private citizen, yet he is a most eminent one, and his opinions on party questions are entitled to grave consideration. It has been stated that he has assumed the State leadership of the party on incident that can not fail to bring satisfaction to all loyal Republicans. His action also carries with it an assurance that the party will bays to put itself abreast of progressive public sentiment and free itself from individuals who have a disposition to clog the wheels of the organization. It may be found a perilous undertaking to oppose the judgment of Messrs. Taft, Roosevelt, Hughes and Root—a fact which will probably penetrate the perceptions of those who have systematically arrayed themselves in opposition.

SOMETHING MUST BE DONE.

Cannot some way be devised for the safety and comfort of the horses compelled to traverse our paved streets? It is not only horrible to see them falling each day by the dozen on account of the slippery condition of the bricks, but it is a menace to the life and limb of drivers.

Horsemen say that sharp shodding would not remedy the trouble, there not being any foothold for the sharp shoes. In the meanwhile the beasts suffer.

The large majority of Republicans in the Senate and Assembly last week were in favor of passing some kind of Direct Primaries bill, preferably the Cobb bill, but the minority, in collusion with the Democrats, defeated the measure. The little band of opponents to the measure has driven itself into political oblivion.

PENSION APPROPRIATION

ABOUT SAME.

Before Congress adjourned the bill to abolish the eighteen pension distributing agencies throughout the country and have a central distributing agency at Washington was defeated, so that Northern New York pensioners will continue to receive their checks from Buffalo and New York. The pension bill as passed carried an appropriation of $156,000, 400, or about the usual amount.

TELEPHONE MATTERS.

The recent agitation in regard to the arbitrary raising of the telephone rates, business houses $6 per year and residences $4 per year—has resulted in a meeting of the Board of Directors on Tuesday afternoon at which time telephone matters were freely discussed, the leading topic and the one upon which there was the widest difference of opinion being the rate raising, its cause and its probable effect.

A large percentage of the directors and investors were present and a committee was appointed to thoroughly investigate the matter and to report back to the Board at its next meeting relative to whether or not in their opinion the rates must be raised. The committee consists of Messrs. John Hunter, Edward Quirk, T. C. Sweet, H. L. Paddock and A. W. Wilsie. This committee will go over the condition of the company's affairs and will then be in a position to fairly and equitably adjudge the matter.

Manager Powell states that the rates published in the new directory only related to new phone users and that he finds upon investigation that very few if any of the contracts of the old users of the service expire before this time next year and that it will be impossible to raise them until their contracts expire. Certain it is that in comparison with the service given by the old company now extinct, the present service is good. In comparison with the service given during the two first years of the Independent Telephone company's existence, the service is far removed from ideal. Taking this fact and the method of making known that the rates were to be increased, the paying public is not in a very even temper and does not take kindly to the proposition.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH.

At the First Methodist church next Sunday evening the services will be appropriate to the summer season, and the pastor will discourse briefly from the theme, "Living out of Doors; or the Gospel of the Open Air." There will be a brief opening service of Congregational Chorus singing of attractive sacred songs.

MARRIED

Hackett-Gomph

Mr. William George Hackett and Miss Marion Helen Gomph of Syracuse were married on June 30, in Syracuse, having stolen a march on their friends and thus escaped the annoyances attendant upon the home wedding these days. After a brief bridal trip Mr. and Mrs. Hackett will make their home in this city where the groom is employed by the Morris Press.

Wednesday evening Miss Ethel E. Wilson and Mr. Herbert J. Rogers, both well known and popular residents of this city, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's sister in Baldwinsville, the Rev. J. C. York officiating. The home had been prettily decorated by friends of the bride, ferns, roses and lilies predominating in the floral decorations. A bell of white lilies was suspended from the ceiling and under it the young couple pledged their troth.

As the guests were assembling Mr. Arthur Duryea of Baldwinsville sang, "O Promise me," and as the bridal party entered the parlor and during the ceremony he played the bridal march on the violin, accompanied on the piano by Miss Lella Church of this city.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white messaline satin over tulle, and she wore a tulle veil with coronet of white rose buds. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses and maiden hair fern. She was attended by her sister, Miss Ruth Rogers, and Mr. Hume Hunter was best man.

Following congratulations a bridal luncheon was served to the guests in the delightfully decorated dining room, during the serving of which Mr. and Mrs. Rogers made good their escape from their friends and the many stunts they had planned for their annoyance, and before their absence was noticed they were well on their way to Syracuse. They are making an extended trip to Chicago and spend several weeks. Upon their other western cities where they will return to Fulton they will reside for the present at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Rogers in Onondaga street. The young couple have a host of friends in this city who extend hearty congratulations and best wishes.

SAGAMORE HILL CONFERENCE

A "Mecca" Toward Which Insurgents and Others are Wending Their Way—Gov. Hughes a Guest.

There is every indication that the political pot will begin to sizzle before the dog days are over. Certainly the workers are looking forward to a great deal of activity during this gubernatorial year, possibly not later than the middle of next month.

The result of the conference between Governor Hughes and Ex-President Roosevelt, at Sagamore Hill, is looked forward to with keen interest by politicians all over the State. It undoubtedly will have a momentous bearing on the Republican situation, which may now be fittingly described as rather perplexing to the average elector.

The conference between Governor Hughes and Mr. Roosevelt, it is presumed, will embrace a general discussion of the political situation, viz: Direct nominations, the advisability of an effort to secure the control of the delegates to the State Convention, candidates for the office of chief executive of the State, and direct nominations, platform, the organization of the Republican State Committee, and the general state investigation about to begin.

Regarding direct nominations reform, Governor Hughes has expressed the opinion that it will be the dominant issue in the next campaign. He also considers that the Republican party is committed to such an issue, and the Governor hopes to see such a plank inserted in the next Republican State platform.

Mr. Roosevelt is regarded as the one man in this State who can take up the Governor's work on the foregoing lines and carry it on. The real issue which confronts him in this State is that which faces him in the nation.

Progressive Republicans, or Insurgents, are clamoring for his leadership. Conservatives, or "reactionaries," are protesting that for him to take up the progressive of insurgent cause would ruin the party in state and nation. Progressives in this state, at least, are rallying to him for refusal to carry on the Governor's work would cost the Republican party its supremacy and deliver the party machinery over to the absolute control of the party bosses.

Progressives considered that Mr. Roosevelt is in the fight already up to his armpits. They say they expect a plan of campaign to result from the Governor's visit which may put Mr. Roosevelt squarely on record regarding the control of the state convention and reorganization of the state committee, and regarding a candidate for Governor.

NEW MOTOR LAW.

Chauffeurs Must Attach Photographs to Applications.

The chauffeur who proposes to drive an automobile after August 1 will find plenty of red tape in the new law. Applications for licenses must have their papers in by July 20 if they expect to drive on August 1.

The car owner does not require a license as a driver.

The new application blanks, both for chauffeurs and cars, have been distributed freely throughout the State. In this city they may be found at garages and in some automobile salesrooms. The chauffeur's blank requires answers to a large number of questions dealing with the personal description of the applicant, his experience in driving, convictions under the motor vehicle law, addition to liquor or drugs, and names of employers, present and past.

It is also required that the applicant paste his photograph, circular in shape and two inches in diameter, taken within thirty days of the application, in a space provided. In fact, three duplicates are necessary. The second must be enclosed loose with the application and the third retained for the final formalities.

L. W. Mott to Visit Roosevelt.

Mr. L. W. Mott of Oswego, candidate for Congress from this district, one of the most ardent supporters of the policies of Governor Hughes, and a very close personal friend of Congressman Knapp, has been invited to become the guest of ex-President Roosevelt at his home at Oyster Bay in the near future. Mr. Mott, who is vice-president of the State Bankers' Association, which organization holds its annual convention at Cooperstown this week, will arrange his plans so that he may accept the invitation at the conclusion of the convention.

That in the political situation in the State will be the subject for discussion between host and guest is a foregone conclusion.

Elopers Captured at Watertown.

Mrs. Ephraim Brown left husband and two children some time ago and her disappearance was coupled with the sudden disappearance of Walter Seim, aged 18, who had been a boarder at the Brown home for some time. The elopement was kept as quiet as possible and the arrest of the guilty pair in Watertown on Saturday was the first that was publicly known of the adventure. Seim was identified by a patrolman as he passed him on the street, a photograph having been the means of identification. At first he denied his identity but when confronted with the photograph he broke down and told all.

Mr. Brown and a friend left for Watertown on Saturday.

County Entitled to Money.

County Clerk McCarthy is keeping right after the money which he believes is due Oswego County for searches made for the State in the matter of condemning lands taken for large canal purposes, and he believes that the county will receive a neat sum from past and present searches. Mr. McCarthy has consulted with eminent lawyers and in their opinion the county is entitled to the money.

Frank, a son of Ellphalet Guile of this city met death in the deep raceway at the Granby mill on Tuesday afternoon and the body was not recovered until 9 o'clock at night when Martin Lewis pulled it from the river with a grappling hook near the middle of the stream and about one hundred feet below the lower bridge.

As near as can be ascertained the boy crawled out under the bridge to hunt birds' nests and when he reached the west end of the bridge his hand came in contact with a live wire and he was thrown from his footing, the boy being electrocuted. The two bodies were placed in one box and taken to the morgue. There were no eye witnesses to the accident so it will never be known how it happened but the supposition is that they attempted to swim and went to the bottom.

New House Destroyed.

The fire department was called on Friday to Seventh street where a fierce blaze was raging in the newly erected home of Mr. George Ingraham. The house was not yet completed although it was occupied by the family. The origin of the fire is unknown and there was no insurance. The firemen made a stubborn fight and with difficulty prevented the flames from spreading to an adjoining house. Very little was saved from the burned property, two or three pieces of furniture constituting the total. Mr. Ingraham was working in the northern part of the city and did not know of the fire until informed by a neighbor.

GIBBONS AGAINST PICTURES.

Baltimore, July 7.—Cardinal Gibbons declared to-day his opposition to the exhibition of the Johnson-Jefferson pictures in Baltimore or elsewhere, saying:

"It would be wrong to show these horrible pictures, first, because the children have to be protected, and it is the children that would be most seriously affected. The pictures would have a bad effect on the men and women of the community also, and would, I think tend to induce attacks upon the blacks."

The original petition for the probate of the will which bequeathed everything to the husband of the deceased, Anthony LaGrange, was filed in January last and objections were made to the competency of the deceased by F. T. Cahill in behalf of other heirs. These objections have now been withdrawn and the will will be admitted to probate.

A final decree was granted in the estate of Roger Slater on Monday. Letters were issued to J. T. Hargrave, on the estate of his wife, Sarah A. Hargrave, who died in Fulton, June 22d. She left $1,100 personal property.

A Fiery Wife.

Dr. Andrew Bell of educational fame had a heavy matrimonial cross to bear.

"Most men," said De Quincey, "have their enemies and calumniators; Dr. Bell had his, who happened to be his wife." Certainly she afforded him a lively time both before and after he divorced her. Subsequent to their separation she persecuted the doctor with the most scurrilous letters, addressed, on one occasion, "To that supreme of rogues, who looks like the hangdog that he is, Doctor (such a doctor?) Andrew Bell." Among the other darning forms of address applied to the doctor by his wife was, "To the ape of apes and the knave of knaves."—London Chronicle.

HELP FOR THOSE WHO HAVE STOMACH TROUBLE

After doctoring for about twelve years for a bad stomach trouble, and spending nearly five hundred dollars for medicine and doctors' fees, I purchased my wife one box of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, which did her so much good that she continued to use them and they have done her more good than all of the medicine I bought before.—Samuel Boyer, Polson, Iowa. BIRDS OF PARADISE

Their Dancing Parties and Arrows With Blunt Heads.

Birds of paradise molt about January, and in May, when they are in full and gorgeous new plumage, the males assemble each morning for their dancing parties. Certain trees are selected, being chosen on account of widespread branches and scattered leaves, and in one of these trees from a dozen to twenty of the birds will assemble. They raise their wings, stretch out their necks and elevate their exquisite plumes, keeping them in a continual vibration. The birds hop or fly from branch to branch apparently in the greatest excitement, so that the tree appears to be seething with golden orange plumes. The long, plummy tufts which are the pride of the bird of paradise spring from the sides beneath each wing, and when the bird is in repose they are partly concealed, but during the "dance" the wings are raised vertically across the back, the head is bent and stretched out, and the long plumes are expanded until they resemble two magnificent golden fans, striped with deep red at the base and fading off into a pale brown tint at the finely divided points.

It is hard to determine just what is the motive of the dance of the birds of paradise, but the natives take advantage of the occasion to secure specimens of the birds without injury to the feathers. As soon as it is found that the birds have fixed upon a particular tree for their dances a native builds a little hut or blind of palm branches among the leaves and here announces himself just before daylight armed with a bow and a number of arrows with a round knob upon the end, instead of a sharp point. A boy waits at the foot of the tree, and when the birds have assembled and begun their dance the hunter begins to shoot. The blow of the blunt arrow stuns a bird, which falls to the ground and is secured by the waiting boy, not a drop of its blood being shed and the plumage being uninjured. The other birds rarely take any notice of those that fall until their number has been considerably reduced.—Harper's Weekly.

The Secret of Harmony.

Young Mrs. Mead, whose experience of married life had been brief and happy, had just engaged two servants, a man and his wife.

"I am so glad you are married," she said to the man, with whom she had made terms. "I hope you are very, very happy and that you and your wife never have any difference of opinion."

"Faith, ma'am, I couldn't say that," replied the new servant, "for we have a good many, but Oh don't let my wife know of this, and so we do be getting along well."

ILL TIMED APPLAUSE.

It Distracts the Players and Annoys the Audience.

Applause, the strongest tonic to the actor, sometimes annoys your true artist. If it halts the action of the play too long or if it drowns the sentence just begun it is exasperation to the judicious in the audience. The brighter the dialogue the more irritating is anything that distracts from it. It is the fashion at our theaters, especially on first nights, to greet each player vociferously in such a way as to mar the pleasure of the performance, if it contains any.

Here is a practice from which the thoughtless or the overenthusiastic should forbear. It may take the mind of the actor off his work in hand if he is the object of a great deal of applause and may have the like effect on some who do not receive any such mark of esteem when others are getting a too generous share of it.

There is plenty of time between acts for this handclapping, which the players can appreciate much better than when they are taxing their memories for the text of their parts and trying to concentrate on their work. It is not in good taste to approve with mere noise a scene or a situation when the enjoyment of it by one's neighbor may be heightened by the absence of such distraction. There is vast room for the improvement of general playhouse manners, but inconsiderate and promiscuous approbation of acting while the story is flowing from the stage is one of the chief drawbacks to enjoyment of the drama. Encouragement by managers to such custom in the mistaken belief that it adds to the general pleasure of patrons is largely responsible for its increasing bane.—New York Press.

Hoped He Might Improve.

Husband (venerably):—I was an idiot when I married you, Mary.

Wife (quietly):—Yes, Tom, I knew you were. But what could I do? You seemed my only chance, and I thought then that you might improve a little with time.

A Goat's Answer.

"Why do you wag your beard so?" asked the dog of the billy goat.

"Because I chew," bleated the goat.

been the announcement of Luther dacy for congressional honors. This followed closely on the announcement of Congressman Knapp that he would not again be a candidate for the office.

Mr. Mott spent Saturday in Watertrip in his Ford car. To his friends

Mr. Whitney said he would not be a candidate for congress as has been intimated in some quarters. Several other candidates for congress have been mentioned in Jefferson county.

A FREE SCHOLARSHIP.

to applicants from each congressional district in New York State, valued at $100 each, and good for the term of twenty weeks beginning with the opening of the school year, Sept. 15, 1910, in any of the following departments: Voice, Violin, Piano and Elocution. These scholarships are awarded upon competition which is open to any one desiring a musical or literary education.

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should keep with care the good points nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eyes, blotchy complexion, who pays proper attention to her health.

Where constipation, liver derangements, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion,
bright eyes and sprightly movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves sooner or later on the surface. Headache, dark rings around the eyes, sallow skin, a constant tired feeling—these are the signs that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help.

They work in nature's own way. They do not irritate the bowels but tone up the liver and stomach to fulfill their proper functions. So mild and gentle do they act that one hardly realizes that they have taken medicine. Chamberlain's Tablets can be relied upon to relieve biliousness, indigestion, constipation and dizziness. Sold everywhere. Price 25 cents.

GERMAN CUSTOMS LAW.

It May Not Always Be Expensive, but

It Does Take Time.
"If you travel in Germany you want to be careful to declare all dutiable goods at the border, even down to a toothpick," said a former attaché. "It may not save you much money, but it will save you vexatious delays."

"With a friend I came over from St.
Petersburg by way of Stockholm to Kiel on our way to Berlin. I had bought in Russia half a dozen gun metal holders for tea glasses, not worth over 15 cents apiece, and I had packed them in a Russian helmet. The latter had a spike on top of it.

"The customs officer at Kiel asked whether I had anything dutiable, and as the holders were of insignificant value I said 'No.'"

"That did not satisfy him. He thrust his hand down into the bag roughly, and the first thing he came into contact with was the spike of that helmet. He jumped back, with a German oath, and then he reached down more cautiously, grabbed the spike and pulled the helmet up, the contents dropping out.

"Aha! So," he exclaimed in triumph, transfixing me with a look.
"Then he charged me with evading the law and with smuggling. He left us under guard, and there we stayed while we saw our train pull out. Finally the Herr Oberinspektor, in brilliant uniform and with sword clanking, came along back with him. He pompously inquired who we were. We explained.

"I believe you gentlemen," he replied after some questioning and considerable deliberation, "but you are amenable to the law and will have to pay the duty and a fine equal to the amount of duty." Then he hurried away to get the articles appraised.

"We felt we had got into a mixup.
We counted over the German money we had between us, and it amounted to less than $3. We had nothing besides our drafts on Berlin, and if the duty and fine amounted to much we were in for it. It sorts of trouble.

"Finally the Herr Oberinspektor came back with a bundle of papers in his hands. He informed us that we could be liberated upon the payment of 60 pfennigs, which is about 15 cents.
For this we had lost three hours."

COSTLY ACCIDENTS.

A Lost Tin Mine and a Lead Mine's Bottomless Pit.

Immense plans which seemed about to be completed, but have been brought to disastrous failure at the last moment, are frequent enough in the history of industry.

London Answers tells the story of a tin mine in England which might have yielded a fortune but for a storm.

With the finding of a new vein of ore running off toward the sea a new level was driven out below the water;
then it was found that the level had run up too near the sea bottom for mining to be safely carried on. Undiscouraged, the owner borrowed money, built a sea wall to cut off the water, erected pumps and again went to work.

On the sixth day, just as an shormous mass of rich ore was being tapped, a gale came up, a ship was blown upon the wall, which went to pieces at once, and the sea drove the heavy stones in upon the tin roof of the mine. In a moment the workings were hopelessly flooded and the owner was a ruined man.

A story equally tragic is told of the Speedwell lead mine in Derbyshire.
Believing that a rich vein of ore existed in a nearby hill, the owner risked his entire capital to bore a tunnel 3,000 feet long into the heart of the mountain. Suddenly the miners broke through a wall of rock into a vast hidden cavern, through which flowed a stream of water.

They began to dump rock into the stream, and after 10,000 tons a bridge began to rise out of the darkness, and then their further progress was stopped. Month after month they toiled, and at last, after 40,000 tons in all had been cast into the cavern, they gave it up.

That narrow rift is known to this day as the Bottomless Pit.

The Elements.
Of the seventy-one elementary substances of earthly matter enumerated by chemists thirty-two are known certainly to exist in the sun's atmosphere or fifteen more can probably be traced there, and there are only six or eight as to which in the present state of our knowledge there is negative evidence that they are not present there. The elements whose presence is proved comprise many of those which are the most common in the composition of the earth, and the fact is pre-tremely established that matter is the same throughout all space, from the minutest atom to the most distant star.—New York American.

His Fair Mindfulness.

"Why do you insist on reading that newspaper? It always seems to offend you."

"Because," answered Mr. Sirius Barker, "I believe in always looking at both sides of a question. I rely on that publication for arguments on the wrong side."—Washington Star.

In College.

Freshman—Rah, rah, rah! Rah, rah, rah! Rah, rah, rah! Sophomore—Is that kid new? Senior—No; that's "Tee" Smith, so called because he's the pup; that cheers, but does not inebriate.—Cleveland Leader.

Naturalization Qualifications.

It has been a policy of this enlightened nation that opportunity should be afforded every alien of good character to become a full-fledged citizen of the United States as soon as he has qualified himself according to law. The process of inquiring into the applicant's qualifications is a good one and should be placed in the hands of Federal officials, whether Commissioners or others, competent to attend to it properly. The present system of calling in the services of the State courts is a relic of the time when the activities and resources as well of the Federal Government were limited. It was due in part also to the fact that the bestowal of the right of suffrage was a State function and the examination of would-be voters was supposed to be logically connected with the exercise of this function. Certainly disposition should be used to see that aliens who apply for the high privilege of citizenship should be fitted for the exercise of the prerogatives to which they aspire.

Condition of the Cereal Crops.

Authorities state that the condition of the Spring wheat crop is the worst for a decade, and if anticipations are realized there is a prospect of a loss of at least 100,000,000 bushels. However, it is comforting to know that there is now in the bins or in process of harvesting, a yield of Winter wheat large enough to make a good beginning toward offsetting the loss of Spring wheat, if it shall be realized. If a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush, then an unexpected increase of 20,000,000 in Winter wheat makes good half the theoretical loss reported recently in Spring wheat.

The crop indication strengthens hopes for the best. There are indications again that three-billion-bushel crop which never has been realized. There are five million more acres under cultivation than a year ago, with a condition almost as good. There are thirteen million more corn-bearing acres this year than in 1908, and the condition is better than then. And the weather which has damaged wheat has benefited corn. Corn is the more important crop, and especially so to the railroads, since we have taken to eating wheat instead of exporting it.

Senator Confers With Roosevelt.

Watertown, July 7. — Senator George H. Cobb has received an invitation from Colonel Theodore Roosevelt to come to Oyster Bay for a conference in regard to the direct primaries bill and also in regard to the political situation in this State.

Senator Cobb will accept the invitation and it is expected that he will leave Watertown tomorrow or Saturday to become the guest of the former president at Sagamore Hill.

Senator Cobb is delighted with Roosevelt's direct primary statement in the Outlook.

Badly Cut Tongue.

Wayne, the 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Walling of West First street, sustained a serious injury to his tongue last week as the result of falling upon the stairway at his home, his chin striking the steps and his teeth nearly severing his tongue. The father heard the child's cries and when he picked him up blood was streaming from his mouth. Dr. Anderson was called and it required several stitches to repair the damage done.

The physician is hopeful that the child's speech will not be impaired by the accident.

AMERICANS IN MEXICO.

That there is an anti-foreign sentiment in Mexico none can deny. It is the more often called anti-American sentiment for the simple reason that there are possibly more Americans in the Republic than of all the other nationalities combined. To the larger classes and many of the middle classes all foreigners are Americans. With but few exceptions Mexico can well be proud of her foreigners; they are a credit to their native lands and have given much toward the uplift of the domain of their adoption.

Probably second and third in numerical order after the American population in Mexico, are the French and Germans, and almost without exception they are "caballeros," men of sound business principle. This also can be truthfully said of the English, the Italian, the Scandinavian and several other of the foreign country citizens in Mexico.

In comparison with other foreign population in Mexico, the United States necessarily suffers by reason of its geographical location to the other country. The Rio Grande is not as wide as the Atlantic ocean and it is easier for the American to go and tough to cross the border than for the seam of Europe to cross the pond. In the face of this indisputable fact the percentage of America's undesirable element in Mexico is surprisingly small.

It is a safe statement that not a single foreigner in Mexico is there because he loves the country or its people better than his own. In the large majority he is in Mexico for the same reason that the Mexican is in the United States—because he is after the mighty dollar and believes his chances are better there than at home.

There is a great difference between the Mexico of to-day and the Mexico of 30 years ago, and for this the foreigner is largely to blame. True, many have grown rich, but many more who have money invested have grown poor. The millions of foreign dollars invested in mines, railroads and other industries in Mexico have benefited and made the nation. The penn who received from nothing to a 50 cent piece, (then worth about 25 cents in gold) for a day's labor, is difficult to find now at $2 per day. Then there was no middle class, now there is. The foreigner who went to Mexico without money to invest is there now because his services as an expert were needed and to him must be given the credit for teaching the native how to do things. And beside all this the foreigner has paid his way. If the anti-foreign element cared to surprise itself, this element should simply investigate and see how much the foreigners contribute toward the wealth of the nation and the support of the country.

Perhaps in no other country on earth does the foreigner interfere as little in the politics and the administration of government as in Mexico, although, on account of the amount of money he has invested there, he is most vitally interested. Thus on this score there can be no reason for the anti-foreign sentiment. The real fact of the matter is that the anti-foreign sentiment has been stirred and aroused for political ammunition by those who would aspire to the reins of government. They secure the help of a few unimportant newspapers whose editors are as incompetent as are the average office seeker there, and the agitation is thus kept alive.

Property Owners Object.

Alderman Johnson is being importuned by his Third Ward constituents to use his influence with the Common Council to prevent the granting to the O. & W. R. R. the right to place tracks in Fay, Pratt, Division and South Fourth streets, claiming that the laying of the tracks will be injurious to the value of their property.

PULASKI TO CELEBRATE.

The little village of Pulaski will, commencing August 7, celebrate its settlement centennial and old home week with elaborate and appropriate exercises. The Publicity Committee has sent out hundreds of letters to residents and former residents of the village as follows:

With characteristic respect for her institutions which have passed, with confidence in her institutions of the present and unbounded hope for her institutions of the future, Pulaski extends to you and yours, and to all whom you may possibly believe to be interested in her, a most urgent invitation to participate in her "Settlement Centennial and Old Home Week" to be held during the week beginning August 7, 1910.

You will be glad to see old friends, either resident here, or like yourself, assembled from distant points. You will also be interested in comparing the physical aspects of our beautiful village with your memories' picture of it in former times.

Our citizens will constantly strive to make you welcome and at home.

Aside from the pleasure of visiting with old friends there will be provided for your entertainment, public receptions, public addresses by old friends who have become famous for ability as entertaining speakers, field sports, parades, dances, and most important of all the unveiling of a boulder monument with a suitably inscribed bronze tablet in memory of the pioneer settlers and of the Centennial of the settlement of the village.

Our invitation is urgent. Let us hear at once that you are coming, as we wish to publish lists of expected guests so that distant friends may anticipate the pleasure of meeting you.

Very Cordially Yours,

THE PUBLICITY COMMITTEE.

SAVED AT DEATH'S DOOR

The door of death seemed ready to open for Murray W. Ayers, of Transit Bridge, N. Y., when his life was wonderfully saved. "I was in a dreadful condition," he writes, "my skin was almost yellow; eyes sunken; tongue coated; emaciated from losing 40 pounds, growing weaker daily. Violent liver trouble pulling me down to death in spite of doctors. Then that matchless medicine, Electric Bitters, cured me. I regained the 40 pounds lost and now am well and strong." For all stomach, liver and kidney troubles they're supreme. 50c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

Fly Travelers.

Among the things that furnish occupation for the eyes and minds of transatlantic voyagers are the bousies that accompany the great steamships from one side of the ocean to the other. In fine sunbathing weather the flies buzz cheerfully about sheltered places on the decks, and when the wind blows high they take refuge in cabins and saloons. Flies often remain with the ship while in port and return with her on her next trip, thus crossing the ocean several times in succession and perhaps spending the entire season at sea.—New York Tribune.

Handicapped.

"Fain would I write a poem on the delights of fishing," sighed the poet, "but woe is me. I can't find a word to rhyme with anglerworm."

"But why use that word at the end of a line?" queried the friend.

"Because," hissed the poet between his set teeth "an anglerworm is always at the end of a line."

And for an hour the silence was so still that one could have heard a pin drop.—Chicago News.

The "Big Dipper"

In astronomy the Big Dipper, so called, is in the constellation of Ursa Major, or the Great Bear. The stars forming the tail of the bear also form the handle of the dipper. The first star in the handle is Benetnasch, the second Mizar, the third Alkoth. The other four, which go to form the bowl of the dipper, are Megrez, Phad, Merak and Dubhe. The two last named are called "the pointers," because they point or guide the eye to the pole star, which is distant 29 degrees. The top bowl stars are 10 degrees and the bottom ones 8 degrees apart.

Senator Cobb Hopeful.

Watertown Times.

Senator George H. Cobb discussed to-day the editorial of Theodore Roosevelt on direct primaries which appears in the current issue of the Outlook. Senator Cobb said that he believes the editorial expresses the best sentiment of the State, and in the statement which he made to-day he gives expression to his opinion at the present time concerning the status of the direct primary movement in the State.

"I have read Mr. Roosevelt's statement in The Outlook and believe he correctly reflects the best sentiment of the State upon the subject of primary reform," said Senator Cobb. "I have long been satisfied that the people of the State desire to test the efficacy of the direct primary idea, and the fact that more than two-thirds of the Republicans in the Assembly supported a measure drafted along these lines is convincing evidence of the existence of this sentiment. If the people want to inaugurate a reform of this character or any other they ought to be permitted to do it, and will be. I have no personal pride as to the form of the bill bearing my name. If any one will prepare a better or more comprehensive measure he will have my support. I have no misgivings as to the ultimate result. The Republican party in convention will respond to public sentiment and recommend a measure that will give general satisfaction. Presumably the party made a mistake in not putting a measure at the last session along these lines. Six months, however, will soon pass, and the agitation and discussion may result in much good."

IMPORTANT LEGAL DECISION

Justice Andrews Refuses to Entertain Motion to Con- tinue Injunction in the Mat- ter of Electric Franchise.

In a decision handed down on Monday Justice William S. Andrews refused the motion made by Attorney Claude E. Gule of Fulton to continue the injunction granted in June last preventing Mayor Joseph H. Connors and the members of the Common Council of the city of Fulton from selling and offering for sale a franchise for supplying the city with electric light and power, which requires the purchaser to furnish electricity generated at any particular place and which is so worded and drawn as to completely exclude competition.

The action in which the decision was rendered was that brought by Frederick A. Gage, a taxpayer of the city of Fulton, against the Mayor and Common Council. In the complaint it is alleged that on March 1st, 1910, application was made to Mayor Connors and the members of the Board of Aldermen for permission to supply electricity for light, heat, power, etc., to the city and to construct, maintain and operate poles, towers, wires, cables, etc. On May 3d the Council voted to grant the franchise and the Board of Public Works was requested to fix a fair price for the same, which was later set at $2,000.

The charter of the city of Fulton provides that no franchise for highways, bridges, etc., may be granted except upon payment of a fair compensation. The complaint alleges that the proposed franchise is so drawn and worded that there can be no competition and that the conditions can only be complied with by the Niagara-Oswego Power company. The eleventh paragraph of the proposed franchise, it is further declared, gives the Niagara Power company an exclusive right within Oswego county.

The act of the defendants in offering for sale a franchise so worded and conditioned that none but one company can bid, is held by the plaintiff to be a violation of the provisions of the statute and would have the effect of rendering the same inoperative.

It is further stated in the complaint that the Niagara-Oswego Power company applied in 1909 and failed to obtain a franchise.

It was further alleged that the subject of Niagara power was an issue in the municipal campaign of November last and it is charged that the defendants, with the exception of one man, were assisted in their selection by the officers and agents of the Niagara-Oswego Power company, and that collusion existed between the defendants and the officers and agents of the company. It having been agreed before election that in consideration of help to be rendered the terms of the franchise to be sold should be so worked that no other corporation could meet the conditions. Attention was called to the provisions that the grantees of the franchise were required to have Niagara power at the city line within a week after the granting of the franchise, which it is claimed was illegal.

In his decision refusing to continue the injunction, Justice Andrews says: "The motion to continue the injunction must be refused."

"Section No. 232 of chapter 62, laws of 1902, requiring the sale of franchises for use in the streets of the city of Fulton, is not to be construed so strictly in the city as a somewhat similar section providing for the sale of contracts to the lowest bidder."

"There are several reasons for this. Franchises usually are not exclusive, but there is no such need for competition. The Board of Public Works fixes a fair compensation which must be paid. What is granted is the franchise applied for, ordinarily by some person or corporation proposing to render a defined public service. Often, as where, for instance, it is proposed to link together two lines of railways or telephones, no competition is possible. At other times, when the applicant is a public service corporation, the city may have a legitimate preference as to the source of supply. Because of its abundance and parity, the water of one stream might excel that of another."

"Finally, there is an absence in Section 232 of certain provisions as to specifications and other matters contained in the sections with regard to letting contracts upon which much of the requirement in cases bearing on these sections were based. Within reasonable limits, therefore, a franchise may be adopted, even if the effect is to exclude competition. This is such a case. A speedy supply of power may be thought important. A large source of supply, the possibility of increase with growth of demand, the need of guarding against interruption—all may be considered. These are things upon which the prosperity of the city is dependent and no damages recovered because of a breach of the bond given as security would indemnify the city and its inhabitants in case of failure."—Herald.

STATE BANKERS' ASSOCIATION

L. W. Mott, Esq., of Oswego, Elected President for the Ensuing Year—Youngest Man Ever Elected to That Office.

During the 17th annual session of the State Bankers' Association held in Cooperstown last week, Mr. L. W. Mott, vice-president and cashier of the First National bank, Oswego, was elected president of the association, being the youngest man ever elected to that office. Mr. Mott is also the first Oswego man to have held the office.

For some years past Mr. Mott has been actively interested in the affairs of the association and has held several of the important offices at various times. His first position of importance in the association was that of chairman of Group IV which comprises all of the banks in this section of the State. Last year he was honored with the position of vice president of the association and was made a member of the executive council, a position which has required frequent trips to conferences.

That he has proven a strong man in the positions already held is well shown by the fact he is now president of the association. This is the highest office in the gift of the bankers of the State of New York, the wealthiest State in the Union. It is a position which carries weight, power and prestige in the world of finance, and is an honor sought by many but obtained by few.

All of the banks of the State are members of this association and some idea of the importance of the office of president can be gained by a glance at the list of presidents. For the past four years for instance such men as Elliott C. McDougall, president of the National Bank of Buffalo; Charles Elliott Warren, president of the Lincoln National Bank of New York City; E. S. Tefft, president of the First National Bank of Syracuse, and last year Leland Cogswell, president of the New York State National Bank of Albany has served as president. In 1895, the Hon. George B. Sloan of Oswego was vice president.

The association has a membership of over 600 banks. A press dispatch says: "Luther

W. Mott, first vice president of the First National bank of Oswego was today elected president of the New York State Bankers' association. The other officers elected were: Vice president, Walter H. Bennett, cashier of the American National bank of New York; treasurer, H. C. Morgan, president of the First National bank of Cuba, N. Y., and secretary, William J. Henry of White Plains.

INSPECTOR KENNEDY'S REPORT.

Meat and Milk Inspector Kennedy's report for June shows the condition of meat and milk sold in this city to be of most healthy and cleanly class. Every carcass of meat has been rigidly inspected and in but two instances was any disease detected. In both of these instances the entire carcass was thrown away at a total loss to the owner.

The wagons peddling cream and cones throughout the city are closely watched and the wagons and cream are clean and pure, according to Dr. Kennedy's report.

Milk, too, is kept free from contamination. All cans containing milk must be kept closely covered from dirt and microbes, thus insuring a good condition of the product when delivered to the consumer.

FAIR ATTRACTIONS

Secretary Allen of the Oswego County Agricultural Society is booking many fine attractions for the Fair to be held in this city on Aug. 16, 17, 18 and 19. The list is not complete enough to give out for publication this week but will soon be ready for the amusement-loving public.

Miss Dorothy DeVonda, the female triple-parachute jumper will give an exhibition at the grounds every day, making her perilous descent from a height of 5,000 feet. This hazardous feat is a hair raising one and is sure to attract a large crowd.

Other attractions, as unusual are scheduled to entertain the throngs.

O. U. A. M. Install Officers.

Last week Stars and Stripes Council O. U. A. M. was visited by Deputy State Councilor, R. Quackenbush of Syracuse, and the following officers were installed: Councilor, William H. Thompson; vice councilor, Clinton Horstington; senior ex-councilor, Martin Fish; junior ex-councilor, Herbert Guyer; inductor, H. A. Parke; examiner, Adrain Guyer; inside protector, Bert Slauson; outside protector, Orlando Caswell; representative to the State convention at Johnstown, D. J. Reed; proxy, Myron Foster.

Independents Reorganize.

The old Independents have reorganized their baseball nine and are doing good practice work in readiness for the season which will open at Stop 28 on Sunday, July 24.

Harry O'Brien has been elected manager of the team and Will Sturping captain. The line-up will be, Sturping, Scudder, Taylor, Belts, Kilburne, Ingamells, Barnes, Page and Brown.

Several interesting games are scheduled to be played before the close of the baseball season and local fans may yet be able to see professional ball played by non-professional players.

MINISTERIAL OUTING.

On Tuesday of last week the pastors of the city churches together with their wives held their annual outing. Through the courtesy of the Hunter Brothers the party was taken by automobiles to the Pathfinder Island club house where an excellent supper had been prepared. On account of the hard rain of the afternoon and evening the outing was confined to the ample piazzas of the club house. Nevertheless the evening was thoroughly enjoyed. Those present were Rev. and Mrs. W. L. Sawelle, Rev. and Mrs. Charles Olmstead, Rev. and Mrs. C. L. Peck, Rev. and Mrs. F. A. Miller, Mrs. Sitzer, Revs. York, Bassett, Wadsworth, and Mr. Hopper. Rev. W. G. Atwell and family of Antwerp were guests of the occasion.

New Candy Factory.

Mr. D. D. Long, manufacturer of the famous Ox-Heart chocolates, proposes to erect a second candy factory in Oswego in which a line of 3c and 10c candies and penny novelties will be manufactured. Mr. Long will continue the manufacture of the Ox-Hearts at the old stand and the two plants will be under the same management.

Are you insured against fire? If not better see C. W. Streeter, agent. Ask!!!

Sewer Contract Awarded.

At last it would seem that the west side residents were to have the benefit of a sewer system, and this year, the contract for the construction of the laterals having been awarded on Monday night by the Board of Public Works to Swift & Hookway of Syracuse at $16,353.65. The contract carries with it a cash penalty for every day after Dec. 1, that the work is not completed.

There was one bid, lower than this submitted but it was the sensus of opinion that this bid best cared for the city's interests.

New Postal Ruling.

A new and important ruling of the Postal Department has recently gone into effect. Heretofore the sender of a registered letter or package has obtained a return receipt on a red card containing the addressee's signature. Now such a return receipt can only be obtained when the sender of the registered letter or package demands it—the request to accompany the letter or package when handed to the clerk at the Post Office for mailing.

DEFICIT CUT $10,000,000.

New Postal Record Made for Part of Fiscal Year.

Washington.—More than $10,000,000 reduction in the postal deficit has been made in the first nine months of the fiscal year now ended, according to final returns just received by Postmaster General Hitchcock from the Auditor for the Postoffice Department. Such a reduction is unprecedented in the history of the department. The deficit for the nine months was $2,709,000, as against $12,822,000 in the same period of the preceding fiscal year.

In the third quarter of the last fiscal year, the quarter ended March 31, the postal service earned a surplus of $1,362,000, the revenues for the quarter amounting to $58,934,000 and the expenditures to $57,561,000. The former showed an increase of 10 per cent over those of the same quarter last year, while the latter showed an increase of less than 4 per cent.

TRADE IN HUMAN HAIR.

Consul General Frank D. Hill finds that human hair is in great demand at Barcelona, owing principally to present styles of hats, which require a certain amount of false hair.

Hairdressing, as practised in Spain, also increases consumption of human hair, the "peñados" (styles of dressing hair) being made up with the aid of false curls, etc. Human hair sells here at from 100 to 150 pesetas—about $18 to $27 per kilo (2.3 pounds)—according to quality. Hair imported from China is used to some extent.—Consular Report.

This medicine is for sale by All Druggists. Samples free.

The stomach and liver must be restored to a healthy condition and Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets can be depended upon to do it. Easy to take and most effective. Sold by all dealers.

SENATOR BROWN FOR CONGRESS

Watertown, July 15.—Former State Senator, Elton R. Brown, today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Member of Congress from the 28th District. This announcement is made in a formal statement addressed to the people of Jefferson County. Mr. Brown preceded Senator George H. Cobb in the State Senate. His statement follows: To the People of Jefferson County:

I would like to go to Congress if the congressional convention approves and shall ask that Jefferson County present my name to the congressional convention. The important questions, domestic, foreign and colonial, to be worked out at Washington offer a great opportunity for a patriotic and efficient public service. If elected this opportunity shall be welcome to me.

Some of the questions of national import, like the tariff and conservation of national resources, have a local bearing that make them of first rate importance to our district while local legislation effecting commerce and local improvements for the use of the national government have assumed great importance in recent years. I should not think of offering myself as a candidate if I were not positive of being in complete harmony and sympathy with the interests of the people, from the entire district upon these questions and the thought would not have occurred to me but for the unexpected retirement of our present able and popular representative.

ELTON R. BROWN.

POSTAL SAVINGS STAMP OUT.

Issued for New Banking System by Postoffice Department.

Washington.—The first distinctive stamp for the postal savings bank system has been approved by Postmaster General Hitchcock. It is an unpretentious looking emblem, resembling an ordinary 2-cent stamp, except that it has no portrait on it, and will be used exclusively on the official mail in conducting the postal savings system.

The first order for 500,000 of these stamps has been given. The value of 2 cents each is placed on the stamps in order that an account may be kept of the expense attending the administration banks. Until the system is installed the stamps will be used exclusively on the official mail of the board of trustees.

Official Paper of City of Fulton.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 20, 1910.

Of all the legislation that has passed Congress in the last 10 years, the act establishing the Postal Savings Banks is by far the most popular. From all over the country come letters demanding that these Banks be established in every Postoffice, so that the people with small sums of money may deposit the same with "Uncle Sam," and draw a small per cent of interest thereon, and at the same time rest assured that "Uncle Sam" is a good, honest banker, who pays his depositors dollar for dollar. The Postmaster General is making tremendous efforts to establish these banks for the people in all parts of the country, and in a few months it is predicted that Postal Savings Banks will be "going business" in every county in the United States.

When the Democratic started that talk of capturing the House of Representatives this Fall, they evidently overlooked the possibilities of Generalship under our three great republican marshals, Taft, Roosevelt and Hughes. None of these three ever lost a battle.

The Woman's Suffrage bill, by a vote of 199 to 190, has passed to a second reading in the British House of Commons. The bill provides for the granting of the Parliamentary franchise to women who are possessed of the property qualification and already exercise the franchise in municipal elections. The unexpected large majority of 109 gives an important impetus to woman's suffrage, but many obstacles must be overcome before the principle is legalized by the necessary majority of 145. The House subsequently referred the bill to a committee of the whole, which means that the bill will be shelved until next year.

It is encouraging to note that more than $10,000,000 reduction in the postal deficit has been made in the first nine months of the fiscal year just ended, according to final returns received by Postmaster General Hitchcock from the auditor of the Postoffice Department. Such a reduction is unprecedented in the history of the department. The deficit for the nine months was $2,709,000, as against $12,832,000 in the same period of the preceding fiscal year.

Supervisors Picnic Plans.

July 30 is the date upon which the first annual picnic of supervisors and ex-supervisors of Oswego county will be held, and plans are being perfected for a gala day for all who attend. The picnic will be held at Mexico Point and the Mexico band will be on the job all day.

Among the sports scheduled are a ball game and many field events. A big dinner will be served at The Inn at the Point.

Clerk W. W. Spencer is very anxious that all who desire to go on the outing notify him so that dinner arrangements can be made. There will not be many speeches, Senator Cobb being the only speaker as yet decided upon for the occasion, and a royal, informal time is anticipated.

Republican State Convention.

Timothy L. Woodruff, Republican State Chairman, said last week that the Republican State Convention at Saratoga would probably be held on September 27. The lateness of the date, which in the past usually has been fixed in August, will make the campaign the shortest one in recent years.

"The law fixing the date for primaries for the election of delegates, provides," said Mr. Woodruff, "that they should be held in cities of the first class on the eighth Tuesday before election. This is September 12 this year. In other cities the primaries will be held one week later. Then convention probably will be called to meet a week after the second primary day, or September 27. That will make the campaign only six weeks long, but I see no way to get around it."

"I shall call a meeting of the State Committee for some time in August."

At this meeting it is expected that the question of the reorganization of the State Committee will be brought up. Mr. Woodruff did not care to discuss that phase or to say whether he and Colonel Roosevelt talked of the question of the State chairmanship.

Strike on Grand Trunk.

Fifteen thousand employees on the Grand Trunk Railroad system walked out on Monday night and a strike of magnitude which bids fair to be far-reaching and stubbornly fought was commenced. Each side is determined and no one can foretell the end.

The strike vitally affects New England, Canada and the great west and incidentally it affects every State in the Union. All attempts at mediation have thus far failed.

Tartans of Scotch Clans.

Many Scotch clans have several tartans, such as a common tartan, a hunting tartan and a full dress tartan. Early in the day a highlander of position dons a kilt of plain tartan, and in the evening for dinner he puts on his full dress tartan with sporran and richly jeweled dirk. For example, the Macpherson dress tartan is black and white, with a narrow red line, and the hunting Macpherson is a small blue and black and red check. The Stuarts have three tartans, and the design of their hunting tartan in dark blue and green is particularly fine. Each clan has its own badge. The Duff men wear holly, the Gordons an ivy leaf, the Stuarts an oak leaf, and so on.

Provoking a Husband.

A Mohammedan woman cannot of herself separate from her husband without his consent. He may divorce her with a few words spoken by himself. If she is clever, however, she will take him by surprise at an unguarded moment and contrive to do or say something which will make him so angry that before he can exercise sufficient self control to stop himself he has uttered the wished for words.

COST OF MAINTAINING A TUBERCULOSIS SANATORIUM.

At Daily Average of $1,669. County Could Save $150,000,000 Yearly.

In the preliminary bulletin on the cost of maintaining a tuberculosis sanatorium, the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis announces to-day that the average cost per patient per day in thirty semi-charitable sanatoria scattered in all parts of the United States is $1,669. These institutions represent an annual expenditure of over $1,300,000 and over 875,000 days of treatment given each year. The bulletin, which is part of an extensive study the National Association is making for its bureau of information, points out how the country could save annually at least $150,000,000, if the indigent consumptives were properly segregated.

It was found that the food cost in most institutions represented one-third of the annual expenditures. The average daily food cost per patient was $0.544. The expenditures for salaries and wages represented nearly another third, being $0.481 per day per patient nearly another third, being $1.669. The fuel, oil and light cost was $0.206 per capita per diem or about one-eighth of the total cost.

The daily cost in the several institutions ranged all the way from $0.946 per patient to $2.555. In the far West and Southwest, as in Colorado and New Mexico and California, the cost was higher than in the East. In New York and New England, being $2.025 per patient against $1.743.

The total expenditures of the thirty institutions were $1,363,958.23, while the total receipts from all sources were $1,548,526.74. More than 70 per cent of the receipts were received from public funds and private benefactions, only 28.8 per cent being from patients. Stated in another way, only 35 per cent of the total expenditures were received from patients, the remainder being made up from other sources.

Computing that there are in the United States at least 300,000 indigent consumptives who should be cared for in charitable or semi-charitable sanatoria and hospitals, the National Association estimates that the annual cost to the country for the treatment of these persons would be $50,000,000 at the rate of $1.669 per patient. At the lowest possible estimate, the country loses $200,000,000 a year from the incapacity of these indigent victims of tuberculosis. This would mean a net saving of $150,000,000 a year to the United States if all cases of consumption who are too poor to afford treatment in expensive sanatoria were cared for at the expense of the municipality, county or State. And this annual gain does not include the enormous saving that would accrue from the lessened infection due to the segregation of the dangerous consumptives in institutions.

The Eastman-Kodak Company will have about 250 Prize Winning Photographs and Bromide Enlargements, and will do Expert Demonstrating in Printing, Developing and Enlarging at the City Hall, Thursday and Friday, afternoon and evening.

DEATHS

Edmund, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray VanSantford, died on Monday at the home in Emory street. The funeral was held on Tuesday.

John V. Sheldon, aged 35, died at his home on the Whitaker Road on Monday morning after a long illness. The funeral services will be held from the late home on Thursday morning at 11 o'clock. The deceased has been ill for some time and his death was not unexpected. Beside the widow the deceased is survived by one child of four years; his father, three brothers and one sister.

Elwin W. Chubb, aged 32, a life-long resident of this city, passed to rest on Monday at the home of his father-in-law, Mr. William P. Hall, after a long illness from tuberculosis. The immediate survivors are the widow, five daughters and one son, and two brothers, Edgar of Syracuse and Bernard of Dwight, Ills. The funeral services will be held from State Street church on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Rev. F. A. Miller officiating, and interment will be made in Mt. Adnah. The deceased was a member of Utoka tribe of Red Men and a delegation from that order will attend the services.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. James Keeler extend deepest sympathy to them in the unexpected death of their son, Francis Lee Keeler, aged 19, who passed to rest at the Lee Memorial Hospital at 9 o'clock on Monday morning following an operation on Sunday as the one hope of saving the young man's life. Lee was stricken with appendicitis two weeks prior to his death but he seemed on the road to recovery and it was thought that he would recover without the use of the knife. On Saturday night he was taken suddenly worse and Dr. F. E. Fox, assisted by Drs. H. P. Marsh and E. J. Cusack operated, only to find the gravest conditions existing. He rallied nicely from the anaesthetic but his condition was not such as to make recovery possible. The deceased had been employed in the clothing store of Setz & McCormick for over a year and had a host of friends who are shocked at his untimely death. The funeral services will be held from the late home this (Wednesday) afternoon at 3 o'clock and interment will be made in Mt. Adnah. Beside the parents, two brothers, Harold and James, survive.

An Appreciation.
An old sea captain was turning over the leaves of a friend's album when, coming to the photograph of a young lady of whose acquaintance the family was rather proud, he was asked what he thought of her. "Awful," was the old sea rover's reply, "if I were going to make a rare stroke of business I'd buy that girl for what she was worth, an' sell her for what she thinks she is worth!"—Ideas.

MRS. D. BAKER, Cleveland, O.
"My little daughter who was afflicted with St. Vitus' Dance is now entirely well after taking Dr. Miles' Nerveine only four months."

MRS. C. G. BENNETT,
Alma, Mich.

Epilepsy, Fits, St. Vitus' Dance and Spasms, are all nervous diseases. They have been cured in so many instances with Dr. Miles' Nerveine that it is reasonable to conclude that it is almost sure to cure you. With nervous diseases of a severe type, persistent use has almost invariably resulted in a complete cure or lasting benefits, worth many times the cost of the remedy. The best evidence you can get of its merits is to write to those who have used it. Get a bottle from your druggist. Take it all according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

The distribution of certified milk in this city has been discontinued, the demand not warranting the outlay. The milk was certainly of the highest quality, the percentage of cream being far in excess of that required by law. ## ENFORCEMENT LIQUOR-TAX LAW

Chief of Police W. H. Ross has received the following instructions from Excise Commissioner Clements relative to the enforcement of the Liquor Tax Law, as provided by the Conklin Bill. Copies of this law will be given each liquor dealer by Chief Ross so that ignorance of the law cannot be pleaded as excuse for its violation.

Attention of all persons engaged in the traffic of liquors in the City of Fulton, is called to the fact that the "Liquor Tax Law" has been materially amended by three bills (the Conklin Bills), which were recently passed by the Legislature and approved by Governor Hughes. These amendments are now in force and your attention is called to the following provisions therein contained:

Traffic in liquors is prohibited in any place where a liquor tax certificate is held until six o'clock in the morning.

All certificated places must be closed in cities of the first and second class at one o'clock in the morning; in third class cities and in villages of over five thousand population, at twelve o'clock midnight; and in all other places at eleven o'clock at night.

That it is unlawful to have during the hours when the sale of liquor is forbidden any screen or blinds, or any curtain or article or thing, except the liquor tax certificate, covering any part of any window of the bar or room where liquors are sold or kept for sale.

That it is unlawful for the keeper of a hotel, boarding or lodging house, who also traffics in liquors thereat, or who sells or gives away liquor, to rent more than once a bedroom or other similar room between the hours of nine o'clock in the evening and six o'clock in the morning, to allow any such room to be occupied by more than one party of one or more persons during that period, or to rent such room or rooms for the purposes of prostitution or to a woman known or reputed to be a prostitute.

That a register shall be kept containing the name and home address of each person occupying such room and the time of day or night when rented, which register shall be signed by the guest in the presence of the hotelkeeper, room clerk, or other employee having charge of such register at the hotel office or other similar public room, and not elsewhere.

That no such room shall knowingly be rented or assigned to a person signing a fictitious name or writing a fictitious home address on such register.

That such register shall at all times be subject to the inspection of a special agent or any peace officer of the city, borough, village or town in which the hotel, boarding or lodging house in which it is kept is situated.

One of the purposes of the "Liquor Tax Law" as now amended is to ultimately reduce the number of Liquor Tax Certificates for traffic in liquors, until the ratio of population shall be to the number of Tax Certificates issued as seven hundred fifty to one. The practical operation of this law will result in a great reduction in the number of tax certificates hereafter issued, and those who lose their certificates through violation of the law will probably be unable to secure another tax certificate.

All persons desiring to obey the law should through their attorneys or otherwise secure copies of the "Liquor Tax Law" and examine the same carefully. Ignorance of the law will excuse no one and it is much better for persons engaged in the traffic in liquors to study and familiarize themselves with the "Liquor Tax Law" and to obey its provisions than to suffer the consequences of a violation thereof.

Dated at Police Headquarters, Fulton, N. Y., July 19, 1910.

Chief of Police.

Soldiers Like Oswego.

Uncle Sam's soldier boys like Oswego and the hospitality of its residents and they look forward to being stationed at Fort Ontario at some period in their history; to being stationed there at some time when they have been transferred. Sergeant Moore, who served with Company K, writes Oswego friends of this fact as follows: Probably you are not aware of the fact, but Oswego is considered by soldiers to be one of the most desirable military stations in the United States.

"It is common to hear soldiers make the remark that they intend to try and get stationed there, for the reason that every soldier who has done duty at that place appreciates the kindness shown to them by the people of the city, consequently the city has a good name among them. All soldiers who receive kind treatment appreciate it and they are not as a rule as well treated as they are in Oswego.

"I am afraid that you, nor in fact any civilian, can understand what good fellowship means to the soldiers and when one takes into consideration the kindness and friendly spirit shown soldiers by the people of Oswego it is readily explained why enlisted men have a high opinion of your town.

"Speaking for myself I can only state that in no town that I have ever served as an enlisted man have I found such a congenial class of people as you have in Oswego. Don't think that this is 'hot air,' it is my honest opinion."

Mr. Edison may go ahead with his scheme for a "clerkless store" but let him begin to try to invent something to make a stenographerless office and his blood will be shed.

Dumas, Father and Son.

A story is told about the two Dumas, father and son, which illustrates the pleasant relations between the two. The son had written his first successful novel, and the father wrote him a letter of congratulation, which he began in the formal manner of "Dear Sir." This letter throughout read as though addressed to a total stranger and merely thanked the author for the pleasure the book had given him. Dumas fils answered in this manner:

Sir—I thank you most heartily for your kind letter. Praise from you is especially appreciated by me, as I have always heard of you as the most enthusiastic admirer of my father, who also makes some pretension of being a novelist.

CHARACTER.

Character is the diamond that scratches every other stone.—Bartol.
Character is human nature in its best form. It is moral order embodied in the individual. Men of character are not only the conscience of society, but in every well governed state they are its best motive power, for it is moral qualities in the main which rule the world.—Samuel Smiles.

Division Engineer Moulton Here.

Division Engineer Guy F. Moulton of Syracuse has been spending a few days with Resident Engineer T. M. Ripley inspecting the local work and incidentally looking up several matters of interest. One matter Mr. Moulton investigated was the unhealthy condition that exists in the rear of the South First street business houses, a year's accumulation of filth from the sewers lying exposed upon the banks back of the stores. This condition was brought about through the breaking of the trunk sewer during the barge canal construction work. A complaint was made the State Board of Health relative to the condition which is a menace to life and health, and this department referred the matter to Mr. Moulton who personally investigated it and admitted the wretched condition, but cannot find an immediate solution of the problem.

Mr. Moulton assured a Times representative on Monday that his office would request all speed on the part of the contractors in getting the retaining wall from the upper section of the city to this point completed and the cut filled in, to the end that the city may re-lay its trunk sewer at this point and abate the nuisance.

Until the wall is completed, Mr. Moulton stated, nothing could be done by either city or State to abate the nuisance, although it should be exacted of the Board of Health or Board of Public Works that they use disinfectants copiously along the section complained of.

Health Officer Cusack informs a Times representative that there is no available fund in his department with which to purchase enough disinfectant, lime or what ever might be decided upon, to make any impression on the condition—that barrels and barrels would be necessary.

The odor wafted into back windows is nauseating and health destroying and yet the problem is no nearer of solution than before. It would seem that the matter was serious enough to warrant the attention of the Chamber of Commerce and the Boost Club. An epidemic of disease is not pleasant to contemplate and may cost the city far more than the necessary disinfectant to prevent it.

"A discord," answered his father.

John P. Leonard, aged 73 years, passed to rest on Tuesday, July 12, after a lingering illness of several months. The deceased was an honest, upright man and had lived in this vicinity for the past fifty years. His funeral was held from his late home on Friday at 2 o'clock. Rev. W. A. ### The Verdict.

The coroner's jury made a careful examination of the body and questioned the attending surgeon.

"What was he shot?"

"Square through the heart?"

"Dead in the center of the heart?"

"Right in the center?"

"Who shot him?"

"Jake Daniels."

A dozen witnesses declared that Jake fired the shot, and Jake himself admitted it. The jury consulted softly for some time.

"Well, gentlemen of the jury," said the coroner, "what's your verdict?"

"Waal, jedge," answered the foreman, "we've come to the conclusion that Jake Daniels is the dandiest shot in town, and don't you forget it!"

How the Town Was Honored.

The native pride of small American towns is one of the most delightful things about them. The Louisville Courier-Journal is the authority for quoting this conversation:

"Did the presidential train stop at Plunkville?" asked a visitor of the mayor of that place.

"No, it did not," replied the official, "but one of the party threw out a burnt match as they passed through."

GOOD HUMOR.

Laughter has sunshine in it. What sunshine is to earth good humor is to man. Take the smile and the laugh away and it would be the end of man. Men can't fight while they enjoy a joke. Death itself recoils from the laugh. The man in a good humor has an enormous advantage over the man who is angry. Good humor, with the smile and the laugh, is sunshine in which objects are plain and distortion disappears and where phantoms become nothing.

PROSPECTIVE NEW INDUSTRIES

Manufacturing Concerns of Good Reputation Desire to Locate in Fulton—One Practically Secured.

A manufacturing concern of excellent reputation is desirous of selecting Fulton as a permanent location for their plant. This concern is incorporated and has been in business for many years, having successfully passed all the incidents that befall an infant industry, and it is sound financially. There is a steadily increasing demand for the product of this manufactory. Employment is now given to nearly 200 men but the hope is entertained of increasing this number many fold if it is decided to remove the plant to Fulton.

The present capital stock of the company is $35,000; the plan under contemplation is to increase the stock to $50,000. Canadian capitalists, if this arrangement is completed, have agreed to invest to the extent of from $50,000 to $75,000, but before doing so the company desires to sell $15,000 of its stock at a discount of 10 per cent interest.

Many of the conditions are not conducive to the growth of the plant in its present location; the buildings cannot be enlarged owing to restricted site, and more room has become imperative owing to the increasing demand for the product.

President Penfield of the Chamber of Commerce, as soon as the proposition was submitted to him, called a meeting of the Chamber's members in the Council room at the City Hall, to meet the representatives of the company. He was successful in getting together quite a large representation and after listening to the report submitted, the consensus of opinion was that the required amount of capital could be obtained and the industry secured.

The final adjustment of the matter was placed in the hands of the Committee on Manufactures and Industries, of which Mr. N. L. Whitaker is chairman, and the hope is entertained of a satisfactory arrangement and the landing of this desirable industry for Fulton.

Arrangements are practically completed for the transfer to this city of another large industry employing a number of skilled mechanics and manufacturing a standard article of merit.

Death Came Instantaneously.

Edward McCarthy, aged 9, of Oswego, was instantly killed last week while playing with comrades at the New York Central car shops in that city. ### DISASTROUS FIRE.

Friday morning at 11:15 o'clock the fire department was called to the barn belonging to Manager M. S. Powell of the telephone company. In the rear of his property in Rochester street. The response was immediate on the part of the firemen but the frame structure was found to be a mass of flames and all energy was bent on saving the houses and the Catholic church which completely surrounded the blazing structure. An automobile belonging to Mr. Jess Allen had broken down in Pennsylvania and had been shipped to the Fulton Garage Company for repairs. The garage was full and Mr. Powell, who is a member of the company, had offered the use of his barn in which to store the machine and do the necessary work. George Lewis, an employee of the company, was sent to the barn to take the machine to pieces in readiness for repairs and it is not known definitely how the accident occurred but the supposition is that a small quantity of gasoline had settled in a damaged section of a lead pipe, the gasoline having all been taken from the tank. When the blow lamp was used in unscrewing the pipe the gasoline ignited and set the car on fire. Everything was dry about the wood work in the barn and the fire spread rapidly, being compelled to run for its life but never losing its presence of mind.

When the fire department reached the scene of the conflagration it was found that only ten feet of water could be thrown and it was several seconds before a stream could be played upon the flames, the heat preventing the firemen from going near enough to make the effort effective. Fireman Merriam in his zeal to combat the flames went so near the blaze as to be overcome with the heat and it was some time before he was able to return to duty. Fireman Quince and Keck were also injured when a stream of water came in contact with a live wire, the electricity following the water back to the men who held the hose, thus burning their hands quite painfully.

The fire in the burning barn was the least the firemen had to combat, the rear of the Catholic church caught fire several times and considerable damage was sustained there; the Powell house caught in several places at different times; the rear of the F. E. Goodson house was badly charred by the flames and the roof of the Tourney home nearby was on fire more than once. How the fire was confined to the area in which it expended its fury with the insufficient water and the inadequate fire fighting material is not known.

As one man remarked, "It may have been subdued by the firemen's sweat." The ears of Chief Waugh and his little band of fire fighters must have burned frequently from the words of commendation and praise for their work which were heard freely on all sides.

The automobile was a complete loss; Mr. Powell carried a small insurance on his barn but none on any valuable tools contained in the barn.

Are you insured against fire? If not better see C. W. Streeter, agent.

COLONEL MOTT SELECTED.

Col. John T. Mott of Oswego was last week named by Governor Hughes to serve as a member of Perry's Victory Centennial Commission, pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Legislature in January. The other members of the Commission are Ogden P. Letchworth, George B. Emerson of Buffalo and Dr. Clinton Bradford Herrick, Troy, president of the society of the Second war with Great Britain.

They will co-operate with the commissioners appointed by several other States in celebrating the anniversary of the victory of Commodore Oliver H. Perry at the battle of Lake Erie in the war of 1812. The centennial will be held during the summer of 1913, on Put-In-Bay, Lake Erie. Put-In-Bay is an island about twenty miles from Sandusky in Lake Erie.

ST. LAWRENCE HOSPITAL

H. Putnam Allen of this City Appointed Member Board of Managers by Governor Hughes.

Governor Hughes on Wednesday of last week notified Mr. L. W. Mott of Oswego that he had that day appointed Mr. H. Putnam Allen of this city, a member of the Board of Managers of the St. Lawrence State hospital at Ogdensburg, to succeed Mr. Frank M. Bosworth of Watertown, who was appointed in 1907. Mr. Allen has been in charge of the detail work in every Republican campaign in this city for years; he has served as County Committee man and as City Committee man, being at present chairman of the city committee, but this is the first recognition of his value to the party that has ever been accorded him. He has not been an office-seeker but has been entering in his labors for his friends and his party. This appointment, which will give him a State-wide acquaintance, was most commendably and fittingly bestowed. Fulton has never before been honored with a membership on this important State Board, and with Mr. Allen's appointment Oswego county has two members, Mr. S. M. Coon of Oswego being at present a member.

Mr. Allen is proprietor of the largest grocery store in this city; he is secretary of the Oswego County Agricultural society, secretary of the Fulton Savings bank, and he is also a member of the Executive Committee of the Republican County Committee. To the office to which he has been appointed he brings a mind well trained in business principles and he possesses the very qualifications most necessary in the administration of the duties which naturally devolve upon a Board. His counsel and advice will prove invaluable to his colleagues.

Mr. Allen has been kept very busy since the news of his appointment became public, receiving the congratulations of his large circle of friends in this section of the State, the designation bringing the keenest pleasure to all.

The entertainment committee of the Baraca Class of the Baptist church has decided upon a series of entertainments for the coming winter. D., the renowned lecturer and orator, the Welsh Prize Chorus, and the Ruby Gray Kelley Concert Company. More details will be given later.

The course given by this class last winter was of the highest order and it is stated that this course is of as excellent character.

HARRY O'BRIEN APPOINTED.

The appointment of city Sealer of Weights and Measures has been given Mr. Harry O'Brien of the Third Ward one of the most popular young Democrats in that ward and the one who stood highest in the Civil Service examinations for that position. Mr. O'Brien is competent to fill the position accurately. The office carries with it a salary of $50 per month.

IMPORTANT BUSINESS COMBINE

Oswego Falls Pulp & Paper and Skaneateles Paper Companies Consolidate Their Interests.

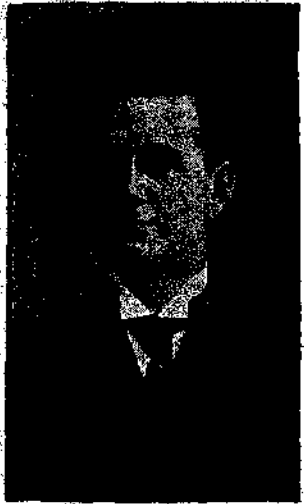

The controlling interest of the Skaneateles Paper company, owned by the late Charles G. Weeks of Skaneateles, has been acquired by the owners of the Oswego Falls Pulp & Paper company of this city and the plants will be operated under the same management.

This will bring together property and business interests said to be worth more than $1,000,000. The control will be in Oswego Falls Pulp & Paper company. The officers of the company are H. L. Padock of this city, president; Mrs. Nellie W. Weeks of Skaneateles, vice-president; Charles W. Tooke of Syracuse, secretary; and Forest G. Weeks of Skaneateles, treasurer. These and John H. Hollingsworth of Fulton comprise the Board of Directors.

Mr. Padock when asked regarding the transactions, said that the parties identified with the Oswego Falls Pulp & Paper Company had acquired of Mrs. Nellie W. Weeks, widow of Charles G. Weeks, and executrix of her husband's will, the controlling interest in the Skaneateles Paper Company, which owns the Lakeside Paper Mills and the Skaneateles Paper Mills on the outlet of Skaneateles lake.

"The new management," said Mr. Padock, "expects to operate the mills as they have been conducted in the past. We hope to maintain the high standard on quality which the products of the industries achieved during the many years the late Mr. Weeks was in charge. The Skaneateles Paper Mill is one of the most modern and up-to-date plants of the kind in the country. It was built in 1885 by Mr. Weeks after the old mill was burned and is thoroughly equipped."

Forest G. Weeks, treasurer of the Oswego Falls Pulp & Paper Company, controls the Draycott Paper Mills on the outlet of Skaneateles lake. This is regarded as one of the most valuable plants on the stream. His relations with the other company, it is believed, will bring the Draycott Mills into co-operation with the other properties, but it was said yesterday that it will remain distinct from the other three.

H. LESTER PADDOCK

The Skaneateles Paper Mills manufacture a high grade of folding board, and the Lakeside Mills puts out what is known as mill wrappers, a heavy quality of paper. At the Fulton plant is manufactured pulp and white paper.

The Skaneateles paper industry was practically started by the late Forest G. Weeks. He retired from active business some fifteen years ago. Charles G. Weeks and Forest G. Weeks, Jr., are his sons, and Mr. Padock and Mr. Tooke are sons-in-law.

Surrogate's Court.

Surrogate Clayton I. Miller held the last session of court Monday morning before adjourning for the summer vacation. He filed a decision in the will contest of Job Fones, of Fulton, deciding that Fones was sane when he made his will and was not unduly influenced in the making of it. He decreed that the cost of contesting his granddaughter, E. May Fones, be paid by the estate. The Fones case has been in the Surrogate's Court for two years. The estate consisted of a farm and $4,000 personal property.

NEW BRIDGE AGITATION.

The annual call for a new upper bridge has been sounded and indeed the demand is imperative. With new industries to be added to our present list and more heavy traffic over the bridge imminent, the antiquated structure grows more and more a menace. It was condemned many years ago and yet is traversed more and more each year.

The new bridge advocates want a street wide bridge, one that will do away with the dangerous and inconvenient steep factory hill and one that will stand the test of the heavy traffic demands upon it. The contention of the business men interested in pushing the project to completion is that steel is cheaper than for years and cheaper than it probably will be in years to come, so why delay.

At any rate a new bridge is a crying necessity and the cost would not exceed the cost of one suit in the event of the bridge collapsing with travelers upon it.

Helping Saloon Keepers to Observe the Law.

State Excise Commissioner Maynard N. Clement will make a trip through the State next week to investigate local conditions in cities in reference to the new excise law and see what is being done by the saloon keepers in the matter of complying with it.

Letters containing copies of the changes which were made in the law, were sent to all of them by Chief Ross, and the law has been in effect since June 16.

Attorney McNamara Appointed.

Albany, July 23.—Frank J. McNamara of Fulton, has been appointed as a Court and Trust Fund Examiner at a salary of $2 a day when employed and his necessary traveling expenses. He was appointed by State Comptroller Williams.

POSTAL BANK IN CAPITAL.

Washington Will Have One of the First Savings Institutions.

Washington.—One of the first experimental postal savings banks will be established in Washington this fall. It is the desire of the officials charged with the administration of the postal savings bank law to have one of the experimental banks here, so that they may keep in close touch with the operations of the new system.

The new commission of seven appointed by the trustees to work out the plans for the organization of the new system is making rapid progress, and it is probable an official announcement regarding the experimental banks will be made soon after Postmaster General Hitchcock returns from Europe.

STARS OF TURF RACE AT FAIR.

State Offers $50,000 in Grand Circuit Races.

LARGE ENTRY FOR STAKES.

Campaigners of Biggest Stables of Country Headed For Syracuse—Horse World Futurity With Rich Purse a Feature—Incentive Offered to Breeders of State.

With a revival of light harness horse racing in the east and the grand circuit again represented by a chain of tracks from the western states to New England, racing of a high standard is promised for the state fair, which has for several years formed one of the strongest links of the chain.

Regardless of any effect of legislation upon betting interests, which some associations have looked to for revenue, there is assurance from the size of the entries the rich stakes and purses have attracted and an unmistakable interest on the part of the public that this will be a season of successful racing in the grand circuit. With an unusually strong program of events and nominations for the fair stakes, promising competition between the best stables from Maine to California and from Canada to the Gulf, State Fair Commissioner DeForest Settle, who directs the racing feature, looks for the banner meeting of the year.

Close to $50,000 will be given at the fair in stake and purse races and for special race features. It is the largest amount ever offered and will mean contests of a spirited character between the kings and queens of the turf.

The statement that nearly $50,000 is offered for the racing feature does not mean that it will cost the state anything like that. The track has come to be so important to racing interests that the entry is always large. Some years the entrance money exceeds the amount given in purses. When the receipts from the paddock and grand stand are taken into account it is seen that the races furnish the big revenue producing feature of the fair.

The officers of the fair in planning the grand circuit meetings are not actuated solely by the desire for a strong attraction for the fair. Within the Empire State are horse breeding establishments representing investments of many thousands of dollars, and it is important that the state furnish some incentive to these breeders. Besides, the state must have racing worthy of its magnificent racing plant.

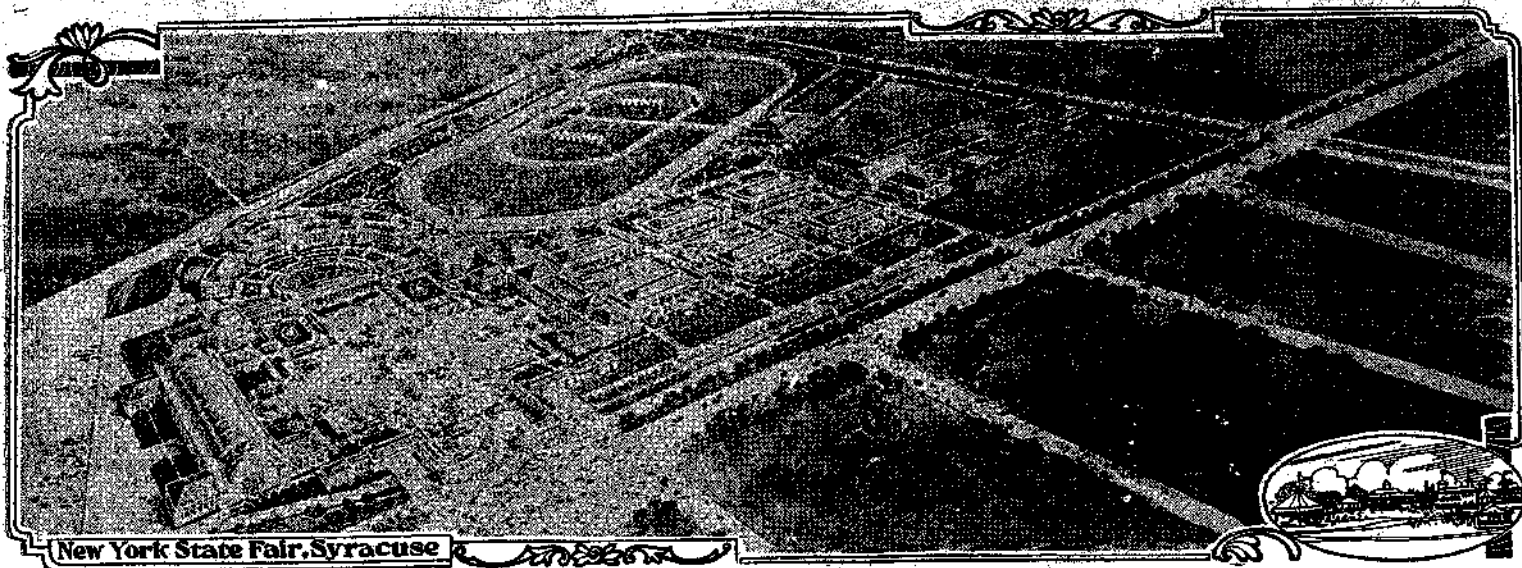

A new feature of the program, and one which will catch the interest of the breeders of the country, is the Horse World Representative Stallion stake for foals of 1907. It will be the first futurity race at the fair, and it will mean a notable start in this department for the greatest colts of the year will be seen in the trotting and pacing divisions. Until the last payments are due from the nominators it will be impossible to determine the value of the stake, but it is felt by racing authorities that it will be in the neighborhood of $10,000.

The Empire State stake for $10,000, for the past three years the classic event of the racing program, will bring together the best trotters in the country which were eligible on May 1 to the 2:14 class. The nominations number thirty-two, and they represent the strongest grand circuit stables.

The other early closing events are the Chamber of Commerce 2:00 trot, $2,000; the Syracuse 2:12 pace, $5,000; the Onondaga 2:06 pace, $2,000; the Ka-noo-no 2:25 trot for three-year-olds, $1,000.

The class races, all for purses of $1,200 or over, will be announced early in August. With a big stake entry support is assured for the class events, as the campaigners are not in the habit of dividing their stables.

There are plans on foot for additional features of a spectacular order. If it appears from the speed of any of the more sensational performers of the year that there is a chance for a new world's record an effort will be made for a special exhibition during the fair.

New York State Fair, Syracuse

President Taft Opens State's Greatest Fair.

New Attendance Record Looked For at Annual Exhibition at Syracuse in September.
Biggest Attractions Ever Secured.
Unprecedented Demand For Exhibitors' Space.

THE thousands who attend the opening of the New York state fair at Syracuse Sept. 12, when President William H. Taft is to speak, will be impressed with what the state has done in the way of providing a permanent home for the institution to which it looks for the promotion of its agricultural, breeding, commercial and other interests.

Representing an investment of over $300,000, the new buildings with their great walls of light gray brick and towering white columns, unquestionably the grandest fair buildings in the world, tell much of a movement to have the Empire State lead in the equipment of its fair plant as it leads in many things.

President Taft will deliver an address in the Empire State court, a broad plaza where it is possible for 60,000 people to assemble. Forming the south side of the court is the Manufacturers' and Liberal Arts building, a mammoth structure of rare architectural beauty, erected in 1908 at a cost of $220,000. At the north are the new buildings devoted to the purposes of the state grange, the dairy industry, state institutions and the state press. These buildings, similar in character to the Manufacturers' and Liberal Arts building, are connected with colonnades 200 feet long. They were completed barely within time for the last fair and will appear to much better advantage this year because of the improvement of the approaches and surrounding lawns and the general development of the Empire State court. This year for the first time visitors to the fair will see the complete development of a portion of the grounds after the permanent plan adopted in 1908 by the state legislature upon the recommendation of the state fair commission.

When the legislature provides the remainder of the appropriations called for in the $2,000,000 grounds scheme there will be buildings of brick and stone for horses, cattle, sheep, swine and poultry, adequate judging rings and the most complete racing course in America. The complete transformation of the grounds will, provided the demands upon the state revenue from other directions are not too burdensome, be brought about within five or six years.

Members of the state fair commission, recently appointed by Governor Charles E. Hughes under an amendment to the state fair act, declare that the exhibition in September will in all respects be the greatest ever held under the name of the state, and it must be considered that there has been a state fair annually since 1840, although it is only during the past eleven years that it has been directly in the control of the state. Never before has there been the interest manifested by exhibitors. Months ago all of the space in the Manufacturers' and Liberal Arts building was allotted, and an idea of the demand may be gained from the knowledge that the Manufacturers' and Liberal Arts building has more floor space than Madison Square Garden, New York city.

Every square foot of space out of doors available for exhibitors will be taken, and the display of farming and other machinery will be the finest ever seen in the state. The classes for horses, cattle, sheep and swine have record entries, and the competition will show a healthy condition of the breeding industry. The plans for the dairy, domestic, fruit and flower features tel-

portant in the chain of grand circuit meetings, extending from the western states to New England and then to Lexington in the south, will attract the leading campaigners of light harness horses in the country, and the races will bring out the greatest trotters and pacers of the year.

One of Glenn H. Curtiss' aeroplanes will be seen in daily flights over the fair grounds. It will be the first appearance of a heavier than air machine at the fair. Daring aviators will give trials and speed and exhibitions of soaring, diving and altitude climbing. The automobile races on Saturday of the fair will bring out the fast-away, but its growth did not become rapid until six years ago. It had been possible by that time to put a system of management in smooth working order, and New Yorkers had come to realize what a state fair really meant to them. The gradual increase in attendance, the variety and character of exhibits and the favor with which special attractions were received no longer left any doubt about the future of New York's annual exposition.

When this year it would appear the Empire State is to have the greatest fair it is fitting that it should be opened by the president of the United States.

PRESIDENT TAFT AND MANUFACTURES' AND LIBERAL ARTS BUILDING, STATE FAIR.

of a growing interest in these departments of the fair.

The preparations for special features for the entertainment of the crowds were never on as elaborate a scale. The race meeting, one of the most important motorcars in the country of both American and foreign manufacture. The attractions as a whole surpass anything ever arranged for any state fair in the country, which furnishes a basis for the feeling in the commission that all attendance records will be broken.

The largest attendance at a New York state fair was that of last year, when during the six days 188,000 people passed the turnstiles. This bettered the best previous mark by 20,000. This year, the prophecy goes out, the figures will climb to over 200,000, which will mean a good sized surplus for the state treasury and speedier action probably by the legislature toward the completion of the permanent plant. In consideration of the remarkable growth and development of the fair in recent years, its history is interesting. Up to eleven years ago, when the legislature went to the assistance of the fair, it had been managed by an agricultural society. Promoted since 1840, it had always been dependent upon the state, to which it looked annually for help. For many years the fair, little more than a country agricultural show, was moved about to different sections of the state until 1889, when Syracuse offered it a permanent home just outside of the corporate limits of the city. Under the system of management the State Agricultural society conducted the exhibition with the help of the state and turned the profits into the improvement of the grounds.

Even after securing an ideal location at Syracuse, the geographical center of the state, where it has the Lackawanna railroad on one side and the West Shore on the other, the growth did not come up to the expectations of those who believed the fair had a right to a place with the fairs of western states which cannot boast of the breeding and agricultural interests of New York, so eleven years ago the state was asked to take over the fair plant, to place the management with a commission and to make it a fair such as the people of the Empire State had a right to expect.

CONCERTS AT THE FAIR.

Arthur Pryor's Famous Company Will Be Heard Daily.

Arthur Pryor and his American band, which have entertained the most critical audiences of all of the large cities of the United States, will contribute a pleasing feature of the New York state fair. Band concerts will be given daily at the Empire State court, the programs opening at 10:30 o'clock in the morning and in the paddock during the races in the afternoon. They promise rare treats for music lovers.

Mr. Pryor is recognized as a leader of exceptional ability, and he has surrounded himself with some of the ablest musicians in the country. The programs will include many of the leader's own compositions, which have delighted audiences at Asbury Park and other seashore resorts this summer. The selections will range from the heavy classical to the extremely popular, and the tastes of all will be satisfied.

LARGE CATTLE CLASS AT STATE FAIR.

The Holstein-Friesian cattle interests will be well represented at the New York state fair this year. To the state's premiums, which are larger than ever, the Holstein-Friesian Cattle Breeders' association has added $400 in prize money. The picture shows a class of Holstein cattle being judged at the fair last year.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY'S

ANNUAL MEETING.

Unique and Interesting Gathering of the New York State Historical Association.

Albany, N. Y., July 26.—The New York State Historical Association will hold its annual meeting, October

4th, 5th and 6th on Lake Champlain, as a house boat party on the steamer Vermont, visiting the many points of historic interest, including the world-famous battle grounds and fortresses at Ticonderoga, the celebrated Forts St. Frederic and Amherst at Crown Point, Valcour Island, Cumberland Bay, Isle La Motte

and Plattsburg.

There will be with the association at this meeting historians of international fame whose scholarship and research along historical lines will give the papers they are to present an authority, the competency of which will be recognized throughout the world.

The unveiling of tablets at Ticonderoga and Fort St. Frederic, the dedication of the site of Forts St.

Frederic and Amherst as a State cattlefield park, and other interesting ceremonies during the time of the meeting, will add in large degree to the pleasure and patriotic interest of this annual gathering.

The steamer Vermont, the largest and finest on this inland water, has been chartered for the exclusive use of the association and its guests for the entire period covered by the meeting.

Admission to State Fair.

Announcement is made that the general admission fee to the New York State Fair will be fifty cents hereafter, placing it on the same basis as all of the State fairs of the country and many smaller exhibitions. Twenty-five cents has been charged as general admission at the fair throughout its history. Decision to increase the price of tickets at the main gates was reached at a meeting of the State Fair Commission attended by every member. The proposal had been discussed for several years and only decided upon after careful investigation.

While the general admission fee will be increased the charge for the admission to the racing inclosure

will be abolished. This has been 25 cents. There has been general criticism of the practice of making an extra charge for an opportunity to see the Grand Circuit races and other special features. The fences which have barred the general public from the racing inclosures will be torn down and one general admission ticket will admit the holder to all the big fair attractions, including the Grand Circuit races, the automobiles and motorcycle races, the aeroplane trials and flights, the band concert and the horse show. The charge of 50 cents for admission to the grand stand will be continued as heretofore.

Children between five and twelve years of age will be admitted to the grounds for 25 cents, children under five years will go in free and the special charge of carriage and automobiles will be abolished.

Miss Minnie A. Brennan of Syra-

A Handsome Woman

Every woman may not be handsome, but every woman should

keep with care the good points

nature has given her. No woman need have sallow skin, dull eye, blochy complexion, who pays

proper attention to her health.

Where constipation, liver derange-

ments, blood impurities and other irregularities exist, good complexion,

bright eyes and sprightly

movements cannot exist. Internal derangements reveal themselves according to the surface. Headache, distaste, and feeling mean that the liver and digestive organs are needing help and correction. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets give this necessary help.

These work in nature's own way. They do not merely flush the bowels but tone up the liver and stomach to fulfill their proper function. So mild

and gentle do they act that one hardly realizes

that they have taken medicine. Chamberlain's

Tablets can be relied upon to relieve constipation, biliousness, indigestion, and all ailments of the "Assistant President" of the United States His Job

To be assistant president of the United States is better than being private secretary to the president. This is the new job for Charles D. Norton, who is officially known as secretary to Taft, but is known among the politicians and friends of Taft as "assistant president."

Mr. Norton, who was an insurance agent in Chicago a few years ago, has been assistant United States treasurer until he took up his new duties. The political leaders of the Republican party advised President Taft, according to Washington gossip, that he needed a good "press agent," a "sort of an assistant president who will see that you get an even break," as one politician put it. This is Mr. Norton's job among other things, and his friends declare he will more than make good.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 27, 1910.

The splendid work of the fire department at the fire on Friday morning should be commended by all citizens. The result attained in the face of the most tremendous odds should be very gratifying to Chief Waugh and the paid and volunteer firemen. The fire department is the poorest equipped department in many ways of any of the several departments in the city and when one sees such a threatening fire in the heart of a residence section it calls forth the demand for better equipment and better facilities in the hands of the men who are responsible for the city's safety from destruction by flame.

A new era of prosperity has dawned for our city and it is only necessary for a united effort on the part of all classes to permanently increase the manufacturing and commercial prosperity of our beautiful city, so splendidly endowed by nature.

Board of Directors Submit Report Concerning New and Old Contracts

Fulton, N. Y., July 15, 1910.
At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Oswego County Independent Telephone Company held today the following Report of the Special Committee recently appointed to investigate the raising of telephone rates was unanimously adopted.

Report

To the Board of Directors of the Oswego County Independent Telephone Company, Fulton, N. Y. Gentlemen:

Your committee, appointed at a recent meeting of the Board of Directors, for the purpose of investigating the question of whether the advance in telephone rates as published in the July Directory was warranted, beg to report as follows:

This Company was organized in the year 1906 for the purpose of giving to the city of Fulton and vicinity a first class telephone system. The movement was largely a citizen's undertaking and seemed necessary because of the deplorable condition which existed in our city at that time. The Bell System had only 25 subscribers and the Independent System with a list of about 200 gave very inadequate and poor service so that our citizens generally recognized the fact that conditions were becoming intolerable and that something must be done to give us a complete and adequate telephone system.

With the idea, therefore, of giving such facilities, the Company went ahead and built a complete plant covering Fulton, Phoenix and adjacent rural territory at a cash outlay of practically $125,000. Bonds bearing interest at the rate of 5 per cent. were sold to the amount of $96,400, the balance of the money required being borrowed on the notes of the Company having the personal endorsement of some of the Directors, and although the system now has about 1400 subscribers, this floating debt has not been materially reduced the past year. The plant and equipment were the best in every way, including a permanent building for the central office, an ample sized switch board of the latest and most approved kind, a cable system of wires through this city, thereby reducing the annoyance from storms and other interference to a minimum, and in short, building the best plant that could be constructed of the kind. The plant has now been in operation about three years and from time to time extensions have been made so that practically all the adjacent rural community is covered by this system.

During the period of construction and up to the present time, no salary has been paid to any director excepting a moderate salary to the manager, nor has any dividend been paid to the stockholders.

We find in nearly all the cities and towns of the State of New York and in many other states, there are usually two systems, the Bell and the Independent Systems, so that most business firms and many residences are obliged to have both telephones. Our Company however, was able to make a unique and original arrangement whereby a traffic agreement was made with Bell and Independent Companies and also with the rural companies, so that the subscriber was enabled by installing one phone to have all the different telephone systems of the country at his command. We believe this is a feature which should be and is appreciated by the people of Fulton who are using our system. During the period of construction, the rates established were the same rates as were in use by the old Independent System, but that company was not able to maintain its position in the city on these rates and finally went into the hands of a receiver. We find further that the rates in the cities and nearby towns average as a rule, higher than the rates now fixed on by this company, as a glance at the list below will demonstrate.

New York State Telephone Company Prevailing Rates.

	Business Residence
Auburn	$60.00 $33.00
Binghamton	60.00 30.00
Canastota	36.00 24.00
Cooperstown	36.00 24.00
Norwich	36.00 21.00
Oneonta	42.00 30.00
Oneida	42.00 30.00
Ogdensburg	42.00 30.00
Syracuse	60.00 36.00
Watertown	48.00 30.00

Regarding the Oswego rates it can be said that the whole system is now being rebuilt and when that is finished the rates will undoubtedly be advanced to the present standard of Bell rates in other cities.

Your committee have also spent some time in investigating the financial affairs of the Company, going over the items of receipts and disbursements and examining same for the purpose of ascertaining whether the company was being operated in an economical and business like manner. We find the books and records are carefully kept and show clearly the different items of expense in connection with the cost of operation, etc., and that for the calendar year of 1909, the net profits, after deducting fixed charges, the cost of operation maintenance, interest on bonded debt and borrowed money, and a suitable depreciation charge was less than $500. This amount we believe is entirely inadequate to keep up and maintain such a plant, and altogether too small a return on the money for the investor in view of the responsibility assumed and the hazardous nature of the undertaking, for a severe electric or sleet storm may in a few minutes do thousands of dollars worth of damage to wires and switch board.

We submit therefore, that the proposed rates as stated in the July directory are not only eminently fair to the subscriber, being actually less than the average rates of the Bell System as shown on above schedule, but that these rates are necessary to insure a continuation of the service and to put the Company in a sound financial condition.

Respectfully submitted,

John Hunter

Committee.

Fulton, N. Y., July 15, 1910.

Only about 35 per cent. of the telephone users are effected by the increased rates and on account of the contracts with subscribers it will take more than a year to complete the readjustment of rates. The business private line is increased $6.00 per year. The private line residence rate is increased $4.00 and in the case of a few contracts the increase will be $5.00. The increase in two party rates will be $2.00 per year. There will be no increase in the four party rate which is the most popular service, fifty per cent. of the Company's rural lines service will remain the same as before. The increased rates are expected to produce an added revenue of about $1600.00 per year which manifestly is a very small increase in income for the company.

TRYING OUT THE DOMINE.

Greeley, Col., July 23.—Because he delivered a sermon from his pulpit denouncing the city officials for not enforcing the laws and expressing the fervid hope that he could be chief of police for a while, Rev. J. J. Lacey, a Methodist minister, has "had his bluff called."

The city council to-day offered him a job as policeman with a fine chance to become chief of police. In offering the job, the council asks the preacher:

"Can you distinguish between a woman who is bad and one who is just giddy?"

"Can you tell the difference between a poker game and plain cribbage?"

"Can you tell when a man is drunk enough to be sent to jail, and when he is only hilarious enough to be sent home?"

"Can you distinguish between young couples, innocently spooning in the park and those who should be arrested?"

"Will you walk your beat from 6 in the evening until 7 the next morning?"

If the minister qualifies, the council makes this offer: "After a year if you have demonstrated your ability to detect criminals, catch boot leggers and keep your own skirts free from muck, the council will come to you with open arms and ask you to take the job of city marshal."

VACUUM CLEANING A LUXURY

One who has never seen a vacuum cleaner at work in the home, is naturally inclined to look upon it as a luxury that the household can very well get along without. But when he sees what one of these machines will do he generally changes his mind. He discovers that it will remove large quantities of dirt that would otherwise remain in the carpets. He knows that such dirt is the favorite lurking place of disease germs and it sets him to thinking. He watches it remove by the pint the dirt that the carpet sweeper and broom couldn't touch and soon reaches the conclusion that it is worth much more than it costs to own and operate one of these machines to have that dirt out of the house, thus removing a constant menace to health.

Where there are children there is all the more reason why the carpets should be kept clean. The child, playing about the house, comes into closer contact with the carpets and at the same time is made more susceptible to disease.

Vacuum cleaning is a sanitary precaution that those who want to prevent sickness and doctors' bills cannot afford to disregard. The vacuum cleaner makes the domestic load much lighter, but it is not a luxury any more than pure food is a luxury.

One may just as well eat dirt and disease germs as to breathe them.

Good cleaners can be had at moderate prices and the cost of the electric current to operate them, taken from a lamp socket, is too small to consider.
